CHAMPION FRANK GOTCH MAY WRESTLE IN PETERBOROUGH

Is Being Communicated With Through New York Telegraph—His Answer and Terms are Awaited With Interest—Has Two Big Matches on Now.

Information is to hand that there is a possibility of Frank Gotch being brought to Peterborough to wrestle. Whom the "lion tamer" will have to oppose in case he comes here has not been decided upon. Gotch is so superior to all the domestic heavyweights, even including Yankee Rogers, Lundin, Jinkins and the rest of them, that he would be sure to trim any of them, although any of the above would give him a great match.

If the world's champion comes here he will draw a big house. No man who ever held the highest honors in the wrestling world, with the possible exception of Hackenschmidt, has ever attracted so much attention as the Iowan.

Gotch states that at present he is very busy, and in the near future will wrestle two important matches both for $10,000 a side, with Raoul di Rouen and Yussif Mahmout, the wonderful Turk. Nothing definite has been decided upon, but Gotch is being communicated with through the New York Telegraph, the leading sporting sheet of the Metropolis.

His definite answer will be published in The Review as soon as it are gives.

"JERRY" EDMUNDS TO PLAY FOR THE WINNIPEG TEAM

"Jerry" Edmunds, the popular back stop of the Peterborough baseball team, which won the Midland League championship last year, will not be seen in a uniform here this season. Jerry has received a flattering offer from the business manager of the Winnipeg baseball team, which is in the Northern Professional League, finishing a close second in the race last season. The management have been trying hard to land the local man, and he has decided to play with the western team this coming season. During his stay here Jerry has made a large number of friends, both by his clever work behind the bat and his quiet, unassuming manner off the diamond. Peterborough fans will congratulate him, and while sorry to see him leave, will be glad to hear of his continued success in the west.

TRENT VALLEY FINALS WILL BE PLAYED HERE WEDNESDAY

Norwood and Stirling will play here on Wednesday for the championship of the Trent Valley Hockey League. Norwood are winners of district No. 3, and Stirling of District No. 2.

The Trent Valley League has furnished great hockey this season and has aroused more enthusiasm than in any previous year.

A big crowd of supporters will accompany both teams, as excitement over the match is at fever heat. It should be one of the most interesting games here this season and a lot of local interest is shown in the announcement that the game will be played here.

SIMPSON'S OPPORTUNITY FOR MARATHON RACE

Early next month an outdoor Marathon open to the world, will be run off at the Polo grounds. It will be a professional sweepstake, and it is expected that the field will include the greatest distance men in the world—Shrubb, Hayes, Simpson, Dorando, White, Svanberg, Longboat, and Maloney and possibly one or two of the crack amateurs.

Such a race was hinted at a couple of months ago but nothing definite had been settled at that time. Now everything has been arranged but the date and that will be made public in the very near future.

Powers and Pollok are promoting the event and this insures the appearance of Longboat and Dorando, at any rate. As Charley Harvey, Johnny Hayes' new manager, is mighty close to the combine, the little Irish-American can also be numbered among the probable starters. Unless the tour Ernie Hertberg is arranging for him interferes, Svanberg will most likely start, and Tom Eck is so confident of Simpson's ability to show a clean pair of heels to the best of them that Fred may safely be counted upon to start. White and Maloney are both seeking matches. Shrubb still believes that he can go the route—and he is not alone in his belief.

WERE MANY "200" SCORES LAST WEEK

Last week was unique in some respects at the P.B.C. alleys. More "200" scores were made during the six days that during any one week since the alleys were opened. Over twenty-five scores higher than the 200 mark were hung up. George Cairns and Herb Martin getting the largest share.

RUNNING

Bouchard, of Paris, beat all competitors in the great international cross-country run for the championship of Europe. France now holds all records, amateur and professional.

Fred Simpson is in the city to-day shaking hands with his many friends around town. Fred is looking well, and fit enough to give any of the fast runners a go for the money. Simpson is to run in a race at Riverdale rink Friday night and should give a good account of himself.

CURLING

The Scotch curlers have given up the heavy curling stones for lighter ones, which weigh 34 and 35 pounds. The use of besoms instead of brooms was a surprise that London Scotchmen insisted on springing on the Canadian curlers.

HOCKEY

Two teams composed of members of the Fresh Air Club will meet at the Brock street rink tonight, and after the game will gather at the club rooms, where they will be entertained by the hockey team, which has represented the club this season.

THE RING

London, March 7.—Tommy Burns writes Sporting Life from Australia, maintaining that it was a shame that the police stopped his fight with Johnson.

"I have had bigger punishments before now and won. I was fresher at the finish than in the second, third or fourth rounds, and I know it, and it was in me to beat Johnson. I certainly want another chance."

Burns encloses cuttings, which Sporting Life says shows his extraordinary popularity in Australia.

HAVE RETURNED FROM THE SOUTH

Mr. and Mrs. Cressman Home After Trip to Florida and Cuba

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Cressman have returned to the city after a delightful trip of four weeks to Cuba and the Southern States. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Henderson of Norwich, and spent one week in Cuba and four weeks in different parts of Florida.

The party returned by Washington and were in the capital on the occasion of the inauguration of President Taft. As has been stated in the papers there was a big snowstorm on that day and Mr. Cressman says the trains were blocked, the wires blown down and great inconvenience caused generally to the large number of visitors who were assembled for the celebration planned in honor of the new President.

Mr. and Mrs. Cressman and their friends spent a most pleasant vacation in Florida at Miami the southermost part of the State, Palm Beach and Daytonia. The weather was as balmy as that of the month of June in Canada. Sea bathing, fishing and boating were the principal pleasures indulged in by the party.

Mr. Cressman said they visited a Florida alligator farm, in which ten thousand of these reptiles of all sizes were herded to be killed and the hides tanned and used for purses, valises, etc.

"It's surprising," said Mr. Cressman, "how many visitors to Florida take home small alligators with them as souvenirs of their visit, but I had

EXTENSIVE CHANGES

At Cressman's Store—Alterations and Additions on the Different Floors

During the past three weeks extensive alterations and improvements have been made to Cressman's store. The general business of the establishment can now be carried on with considerably more convenience and facility. The improvements have taken place in all three floors and have been made with a view to better service to Cressman's numerous customers and for the general convenience of the management and employees.

On the main floor, in place of the arch between the semi-ready and main store being practically closed by the office, it is now open and to the left of the arch is a large showcase for the display of linens, etc.

The cash desk and the cash carriers' station is now at the rear of the store on the main floor and the music department is given a permanent place to the right at the rear of the store.

The shelving and counters of the staple department have been extended to the rear of the store. Before they were cut off considerably by the entrance to the receiving room.

The men's shoe department has been moved from the side to the rear of the Semi-Ready Wardrobe, where the fitting and fishing room formerly was.

SECOND FLOOR.

The office has been moved from this floor to the main floor. The shelving has been replaced to a large extend and too much advantage. The alteration and finishing department for both the semi-ready wardrobe and ladies' ready to wear department are now at the rear of the second floor.

HOME FURNISHINGS.

In addition to the home furnishing department on the second floor, a home decoration department has been opened. Conspicuous here is a fine range of wall paper manufactured by the leading wall paper makers of America, M. H. Birge and Son, Buffalo, N.Y. The papers are of the most artistic patterns and effects and include everything from the daintiest bedroom paper to the most substantial and rich appearing leather wall coverings.

QUICK WORK BY CONSTABLE

Man From Near Havelock Accused of Non-Support of Wife and Child

County Constable Cochrane did some fast work on Saturday. He sent word to the constable at Havelock to arrest Sanford Hubble on the charge of non-support of his wife and child. Constable Brill brought the man to Havelock, from his home, about twelve miles from that town, and Mr. Cochrane went to the railroad town on the local train in the evening and brought the accused back to Peterborough on a freight, arriving here at 10.15.

Hubble came up before County Magistrate Edmison this morning and was remanded till March 15th.

HAVING HARD TIME GOING OVER BRIDGE

Farmers coming to and returning from town with heavy loads are having a hard time getting over Hunter street bridge to-day. There is practically no sleighing, and the best efforts of the horses are needed to get their loads over the bridge. One farmer with a heavy load of hardwood got stuck this afternoon, as the horses were unable to make the grade and it was necessary to procure another team, and even then with the combined strength of the four horses the farmer could only get his load across the bridge in very slow time.

WEST PETERBORO' ELECTION PROTEST

Special to the Review.

Ottawa, March 8.—The judgment in the Peterborough Protest case anticipated to-day, was not given. At opening of the Supreme Court it was announced that Judge Girouard is rather seriously ill with pleurisy and as a result the judgments that were to have been made public to-day will not be announced for a day or two. All the evidence has been heard and decision was to have been made known to-day.

Walkerton Orangemen are already preparing for the 12th of July, and expect to make this year's celebration a record breaker.

A LAYMEN'S CONFERENCE

For Presbytery of Peterboro' to be Held Here on March 23rd

A laymen's missionary conference for the Presbytery of Peterborough will be held in Peterborough on Tuesday, March 23rd. It will likely be held in St. Andrew's church, and word has been received from a large number of congregations in the Presbytery stating that they will send delegates. It is expected that there will be a large attendance. The speakers will be Messrs. A. E. Armstrong, M. Parkinson and Thomas Finlay, of Toronto. A morning and afternoon session will be held.

OBITUARY

MRS. GEORGE RICKEY

Mrs. George Rickey, one of the city's oldest residents, passed away at noon today at the family residence 106 Aylmer street. She was sixty-eight years of age and had been in poor health for over a year. Deceased's maiden name was Ann Jane Armstrong and she was born in Ireland on October 31st, 1841, being a daughter of the late John Armstrong, and a granddaughter of Corporal George Wiggins, of County Fermanagh, Ireland. She came to Peterborough in 1859 and was married to Mr. George Rickey on October 24th, 1861. Mr Rickey passed away a year ago last September.

Mrs Rickey is survived by four daughters, Mrs George Davis, Hinton, West Virginia; Mrs Jas Greer, Bailieboro; Mrs Geo Wanless, West Toronto and Mrs E A Welsh, and two sons, John T., of West Toronto, and Bruce of Peterborough. One brother, Mr Wm Armstrong, of Smith, and two sisters, Mrs John McCaw, and Mrs K E Welsh, of Welland are also left to mourn her loss.

Mrs Rickey was a member of All Saints' church and had a large number of friends who will regret to hear of her death.

The funeral will take place to Little Lake cemetery on Wednesday afternoon.

EMYLINE LOSEY.

The death occurred yesterday of Emyline Losey, at her late residence, 217 Cady street. The deceased was only 7 years of age and had been ailing for some time. The funeral took place this afternoon to the Roman Catholic cemetery.

OLD RESIDENT CALLED AWAY

The death occurred yesterday of Mrs. Narcisse Lemoir, at her late residence, 479 Mark street, after a short illness. The deceased lady, who was 70 years of age, was born in Ireland, but she had lived in Peterborough for the past 54 years. The late Mrs. Lemoir was twice married, her first husband being the late Wm. Morgan, of Otonabee. Eight daughters and won son are left to mourn her loss. The daughters are Mrs. F. Brown, California; Mrs. F. G. Mahoney, Grand Forks; Mrs. T. McCarthy, Winnipeg; Mrs. F. Hair, St. Catharines; Mrs. P. J. O'Brien, Cleveland; Mrs. Wm. O'Brien, Ashburnham; Mrs. J. H. Breaul and Mrs. John Duignin, of town, and the son is W. J. Morgan, of Winnipeg. The funeral took place this morning at nine o'clock to St. Peter's Cathedral where requiem was said by Father Kelly and thence to the Roman Catholic cemetery, Father Galvin officiating at the grave.

PERSONAL

Mr. Thomas Mathers of Mathers' Corners, was in the city to-day attending the funeral of his aunt, Mrs. Narcisse Lemoir, which took place this morning.

Directoire Gown Unpopular.

London, March 8.—It was noticeable at the last two courts that there had been a perceptible diminution in the depth of the courtesies made to the sovereigns. The reason is that the present sheathlike dresses do not permit the wearers to bend the knee with the same facility as more ample skirts. A slight bend is all that most women now attempt to accomplish. It is said that this rather displeases the King, who has always admired a deep, graceful courtesy. It is therefore not impossible that the directoire will become unfashionable for court wear.

Will Release Cuban Criminals.

Havana, March 8.—The General Amnesty Bill has been signed by President Gomez and will take effect immediately. It provides for the release from prison of those persons who have been convicted of other than crimes of grave atrocity. This will result in the freeing of many professional criminals.

Winnipeg Debentures Take.

Winnipeg, March 8.—Mayor Evans has received a cablegram from London saying that the new issue of $2,500,000 of Winnipeg debentures placed on the London market Saturday was quoted from par to half per cent premium.

Railroad to Electrify Terminals.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 8.—The Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co. here has started work on a $5,000,000 contract given by the Pennsylvania Railroad for the electrification of its New York terminals, including the tunnels and terminals at Jersey City and Long Island.

The "Slocum" Goes Down.

New Brunswick, N.J., March 8.—The barge Maryland, formerly the steamboat General Slocum, on which more than 1,000 persons lost their lives a few years ago, sank at South River yesterday. The barge was loaded with 500,000 brick.

Rev. L. H. Kirby, rector of Aurora, while attending the Synod meeting in Toronto recently, was presented with a fur-lined coat and set of furs by some old Collingwood friends.

THE FUNERAL OF CHAS. N. DUSTY

The funeral of the late Chas. N. Dutsy took place this morning to the Grand Trunk Station, where the remains were taken to Lindsay for interment. The funeral service held at his late home yesterday afternoon were very impressive and were attended by a large number of friends. The floral tributes which were very beautiful, bespoke of the high esteem in which the late Mr. Dusty was held by a large number of friends and acquaintances.

HAVE BEEN LET OUT ON BAIL

The hearing of the three firemen who were remanded last week on a charge of assaulting Dept. Fire Chief Grange will not take place to-morrow morning as arranged for, but will be heard later on in the week. The prisoners were let out on bail Saturday, the amount for Craig being $1,000 and for Hawes and Chapman $500 each. The condition of the injured man has so improved that he will likely be able to attend the trial.

A LUNATIC IS SUSPECTED OF THE KINRADE MURDER

Prepartions Are Now Complete and Evidence is Said to be Directed Toward Someone Who Knew Dead Girl and Suffered From Insanity.

Hamilton, March 9.—The City Council last evening approved of the action of Mayor McLaren in offering a reward of $500 for the capture of Miss Ethel Kinrade's murderer.

George Tate Blackstock, K.C., will likely conduct the examination of Miss Florence Kinrade at the inquest Wednesday evening. The police intimate that they do not expect any developments until after the inquest.

The police theory seems to be:

(1) That Miss Florence Kinrade's memory cannot be trusted for any effective help in solving the mystery.

(2) That a considerable time must have elapsed between the firing of the first shot and the giving of the alarm.

(3) That no casual tramp or housebreaker would stand over the body, waiting to see if life remained. The inference is almost inevitable that the murderer knew that he or she would be recognized by Ethel Kinrade should she recover.

The statement which, it is said, Drs. Balfe and Edgar will make at the inquest to-morrow, is to the effect that, as shown by the flow of blood, fully 15 minutes must have elapsed between the shots fired in the face and those which were discharged into the girl's breast.

Dr. Victor Carmichael, who assisted Dr. Balfe at the postmortem, says he will defy anyone who says that any great time elapsed between the firing of the shots.

Estimates are now given that eight bullets were used.

Speaking generally, the evidence to be presented will point to a resident of Hamilton whose actions have at times indicated a form of insanity which frequently results in homicide. If in seeking a solution of the mystery the detectives have had to look elsewhere than right in the city of Hamilton, the evidence needed has been sought in but three other places, Buffalo, Norfolk, Va., and Toronto, and was in part obtained by calling in the help of Provincial Detectives Greer and Rogers, who worked elsewhere while Provincial Detective Miller has been working on the Hamilton and Toronto ends since the tragedy.

NEW HOUSE OF PROVIDENCE MAY BE BUILT IN CITY

Father McColl Presented the Matter at Committee of Whole Council—City is Asked to Contribute Towards Support of Inmates.

The House of Providence management are considering the erection of a new institution that will accommodate the Catholic poor of Peterborough for twenty-five years to come. Those in charge are desirous of securing a grant from the city to assist in the maintenance of the inmates. Rev. Father McColl appeared before the committee of the whole council last night and presented the matter in detail. He said that the inspector was here last week and he stated the government grant would be withheld unless more accommodatino was provided. The House of Providence was now overcrowded. In fact the building was only large enough to accommodate the number of children they have. The law will not allow them to keep children and old people together.

Now, Father McColl stated, they were prepared to erect a new House of Providence providing they could get some assistance from the city. They could not afford to bear all the expense which is growing rapidly. If the city would give them a guarantee to pay so much per week for the keep of the poor they would go ahead with the enterprise. The building would cost probably $30,000 to $35,000. They would like to have a guarantee but would prefer to have a written bargain signed by both parties. They would at least guarantee to provide for all the Catholic poor in the city. At the same time they would not refuse to take others in it they had room. They would not build for just the present alone, but would last for 25 or 30 years. What he wanted was to have the city agree to pay so much per head per week or month.

If the city refused then they would in the near future be obliged to turn the old people out. They would certainly look after the children as they are the most important, as they are to be the future citizens of the country.

Asked if the present arrangement of $1.50 per week would be satisfactory, Father McColl said it would, but he wanted an agreement to stretch over a period of 25 years. He added that $1 50 per week would not meet all their expenses but he expected his people to do something in charity and thus relieve the city of a portion of the burden.

It was moved by Ald Hicks and Ald. Buller that this matter be taken up by the committee of the whole at a special meeting and that Father McColl be present.

ONE MILLION FOR CROSSINGS

Ottawa, March 9.—Mr. Graham's promised bill to provide for the protection of the public at level crossings will apportion the cost between the federal, provincial and municipal authorities. He has given notice of a resolution to set apart a million dollars to be expended in five years for this purpose.

The resolution says: "That it is expedient to provide that the sum of $200,000 each year for five consecutive years from April, 1907, be appropriated in the consolidated fund for the purpose of aiding in the providing of protection, safety and convenience for the public in respect of existing highway crossings of railways at rail level, and that the sums be placed to the credit of a special account to be known as the railway grade crossing fund and be applied under the authority of the board of railway commissioners for Canada."

LECTURE AT THE NORMAL SCHOOL

Prof. Coleman of Toronto University Will Speak on "Mountain Building" on Friday Evening

The third of the series of lectures at the Normal School will be given on Friday evening, when Prof. Coleman, of Toronto University, will give an address on "Mountain Building." Prof. Coleman has almost a worldwide reputation as a mountain climber, and has visited nearly every part of the globe. He has made a life-long study of mountains and his lecture in this connection should be exceedingly interesting. The public is invited.

FIRST IMMIGRANTS NOT OF GOOD CLASS IT IS SAID

Immigrant Train Passed Through Peterboroegh Early Monday Morning—Haven't the Required Amount of Money, It is Reported From Toronto

Immigrant trains are again passing through Peterborough, carrying newcomers from over the sea to points in the west. The first immigrant special passed through here early Monday morning and concerning its arrival at Toronto a despatch from that city yesterday says:

The first immigrant special of the year arrived this morning about one o'clock by the Canadian Pacific, bringing about 200 people from the British Isles. The Empress of Ireland brought them over, docking at St. John on Friday, whence they came by special composed of six cars.

The British Welcome League said this morning that about 15 men, women and children of this party were quartered with them. Nine of them had the required amount of money to entitle them to land. When asked as to the general condition of those under their protection, the secretary said that they were a very ignorant class, being scarcely able to write their names. There are a few tradesmen among them, but very few. "Hucksters" seems to be a more fitting name.

One man and his wife with one child have between them $10; another trio $15; a third $20; a fourth $30, and single men run about $10 each.

"I think there is too much laxity both on this side and the other side with regard to letting these people land with this small amount of money, and I think attention should be brought to this fact in the press."

About 100 of the number will remain in Toronto, while the balance will be distributed throughout the province.

Bible Not Infallible.

Winnipeg, March 9.—Attacking the infallibility of the Bible, Dr. S. P. Rose, formerly of Ottawa, now pastor of the Broadway Methodist Church, the most aristocratic Methodist congregation of this city, contended that they proved it was not historically infallible, and ventured the assertion that, owing to his serious doubts on this matter, he at one time thought of retiring from the Christian ministry. He would have done so but for the advice of Rev. Dr. Nelles.

MAY BE DEARER

Bread May go up in Price as Result of Advances in Flour.

There is a possibility that bread will increase in price within the next few weeks. The continued advance in the price of flour, according to bakers, make such a step necessary.

Within the last fourteen months flour has increased 75 per cent. a hundred in price. Manitoba flour, the best for bread-making, has increased from $1.90 a bag to $2.75, wholesale car lots while the price of bread has remained the same.

Ontario flour, which is little used in the making of bread, has increased 40 cents in the last three months.

One local baker favors a reduction in the weight of a loaf from a lb. and a half to one pound selling at the same rate, five cents, rather than raising the price of the present loaf to six cents. He argues that in a family where there are only two, a pound loaf is all they require, and if the price is raised to six cents for a pound and a half loaf they are paying the increased rate for what they really don't require. By making a pound loaf at five cents, those with larger families could buy two instead of one.

The only probability of dearer bread depends upon how the spring opens up in the west. If it opens up early and favorably, so that the western crop is gotten under way in good shape, with prospects of a good harvest, prices will remain normal, but should there be any prospect of a shortage in this year's crops then up goes the price. At present there is little profit for the baker in pound and a half loaves at five cents.

Militia Notes

Recent militia orders contain the following notices of local interest:

WATCH THE REVIEW'S POPULARITY CONTEST

The Contest Now on the Homestretch and all Candidates Going at a Fast Pace.

The voting in the Review's popularity contest is nothing if not lively. A number of the candidates improved their scores very materially since yesterday. If the contestants wore "the smile that won't come off" on Saturday, last evening many of them had the "laugh that won't subside."

Miss Birdie Dawson easily leads all competitors today with over 80,000 votes. It is very plain that there are a number of candidates in this race who are already going at a fast pace and the speed is not likely to decrease. Herb McMillan made the greatest gain for the day and boasts of 60,000 votes. This young man entered the contest at the very last minute and is now looking "down" on all the other men. The certificate voters, in addition to those already named, were: Miss Perry, Miss Bell, Mrs Jones, Miss Adams, Bruce W Kemp, and P G Towns, the total certificate vote being over 76,000.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS RED-HOT FROM WIRES

Liberals Gain Lead.

Edmonton, Alberta, March 9.—With nomination day just one week off, Liberals still hold the advantage in the large number of candidates in the field.

There has up till yesterday been 34 Liberals nominated and 25 Conservatives. There are also six Socialists and Independents, who have announced their intention of entering the contest. Present indications are that four or five seats will be given to the Liberals by acclamation. One seat in Edmonton has already been conceded and it is probable that Lacombe, Sturgeon, Victoria and Sedgewick, will also go by the boards.

Marine Association Protest.

Ottawa, March 9.—A deputation representing the Dominion Marine Association waited on Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Hon. Messrs. Graham and Pugsley yesterday morning to protest against the proposed scheme of a New York company to dam the Long Sault Rapids in the St. Lawrence river for power purposes.

Elevator Fell.

Brantford, March 9.—Compressed air compartment at the foot of a four-storey elevator shaft saved the life of John Van Camp at the Massey-Harris works yesterday. A drive pin broke, letting the elevator fall the full distance. The platform rebounded several times when it struck the air at the bottom. Van Camp was unconscious from fright, but sustained no injuries.

Manitoba Club Licenses.

Winnipeg, March 9.—Some radical amendments were made in the Liquor License Act in the law amendments committee yesterday morning pertaining to the regulation of clubs.

Three hundred dollars for annual license was agreed on, while for clubs elsewhere in the province a license of $100 was cut down to $50.

Stabbing Affray.

Quebec, March 9.—At about 11 o'clock last night, while quarreling together on King street, St. Roch, a young man named Nolan was stabbed four times in the abdomen by Alfred Dube.

Avalanche Kills 27.

Vienna, March 9.—An avalanche has destroyed a workman's shelter at Sankt John, in the Pongau district of Salzburg, killing 27 persons.

"All Red" Wouldn't Pay.

London, March 9.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—The Glasgow Herald says there is a good deal of misplaced sentiment in the demands, such as they are, for the all-red mail and passenger route. The dominating question is, will it pay? And the answer must be, no.

Referring to the proposed external department for Canada, The Herald thinks in theory this sounds ominous of discussion and disruption, but in fact is doubtful of it. The new scheme means very much.

There seems no reason why Canada should not take more direct interest in the settlement of her frontier difficulties with the United States.

Voters' Lists Not Stuffed.

Winnipeg, March 9.—The report of the committee appointed to investigate the charges against the Manitoba election lists has been prepared. The report states that the statements of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Hon. Clifford Sifton that the lists were stuffed were absolutely unfounded. A few cases where names were left off were discovered, but in every case it was shown that it was purely an error.

Negro Burned at Stake.

Rockwell, Texas, March 9.—After burning Anderson Ellis, a negro, who attempted to assault Mrs. Arthur McKinney, at a stake in the public square of this little town late Sunday night, the crowd quickly dispersed. As the flames licked about him the man did not utter a cry nor show any symptoms of losing his nerve. Ellis had resisted arrest, firing seven shots at the posse in pursuit.

Stole Electric Light Bulbs.

New York, March 9.—Following patient detective work covering a period of nearly two years, five men were placed under arrest here yesterday, chargd with having stolen between $25,000 and $30,000 of incandescent light bulbs from the Edison company. The thefts are said to have been committed uninterruptedly since September, 1907.

Turkish Consul a Grafter.

Washington, March 9.—Three hundred thousand erstwhile Ottoman subjects, now living in the United States, have petitioned Kaisim Bey, Turkish ambassador to the United States, to urge that Munji Bey, Turkish consul in New York, be deposed for acts termed by them "grafting," in overcharging for passports, etc.

LUMBER DUTIES

The United States Tariff Will be Halved by Congress.

Washington, March 9.—A cut of one-half in the duties on lumber and manufactures of lumber is understood to be one of the changes provided by the new tariff bill, which is printed preparatory to its final revision by the Republican members of the House Ways and Means Committee. Another change that has been made, according to information from reliable sources, is that hides have been placed on the free list. There has been much contention over the duties on these two articles.

During the hearings on the lumber schedule it was claimed that the forests of the country could only be conserved by admitting foreign lumber free of duty. It is understood that Gifford Pinchot, chief forester, is preparing figures for this committee in a further effort to have lumber placed on the free list. Champ Clark, the House minority leader, claimed at the hearings that the profits of the lumber interests were unduly large. Representative Fordney of Michigan, a member of the committee, has championed the cause of the lumber men, and the latter have been working energetically to prevent the free entry of lumber. They contend that the rates of duty should be increased in order that the American industry may compete with the cheaper labor employed in Canada, and because of the better facilities for transportation afforded by the proximity of the Canadian lumber camps to waterways.

LATE TICKS FROM WIRES

The population of St. Thomas is 14,578.

John Rumley, aged 20, was killed at Owen Sound by falling down a hatchway.

The U.S. battleship Illinois is to be overhauled at Charleston, at a cost of $2,000,000.

Judge Jay Ketchum, junior judge of Northumberland and Durham, died at Cobourg, in his 74th year.

William Jennings, aged 50, of St. Catharines, was sentenced at Buffalo to six months for theft.

Mr. J. A. D. McCurdy made five successful flights in his aerodrome Silver Dart at Baddeck, C.B.

Dan Sipplane, a Boston policeman, shot his wife and himself. He had brooded over a daughter's death.

Justice R. M. Meredith will likely be appointed chancellor of the new Western University Senate at London on Friday next.

The Vancouver World says Finance Minister Tatlow (B.C.) will probably quit the Government soon to look after private interests.

The Bell Telephone Co. have promised to try and complete a line from North Bay to the Soo, a distance of 200 miles, within the next two years.

Irene Smith, six years old, was killed in New York by an automatic weighing machine which fell as she put a penny in the slot to find her weight.

A young lady from Woodstock, who had been employed as a stenographer in Buffalo, was turned back at the Falls as she was returning to Buffalo from a visit home.

All that now remains of the St. Johns, Que., straw works are a few isolated portions of the walls and the smouldering ruins. The loss is heavy; insurance about half.

WANTED TO SEE STREET PARADE

Peterborough Man Expected Orchestra to Perform on Way From Station to Theatre

A member of the executive staff of the Toronto Symphony Orchestra had an experience here on the day of the concert by the orchestra at the Grand Opera House that must have jarred him mildly.

The members of the orchestra had got from the train when an inquirer asked the gentleman referred to above if "the orchestra would give a parade on the way from the station to the opera house."

When he was informed that they would not he probably thought Guy Bros. carried a better show after all.

Hats off to the Hay

The "Rueben and His Sweetheart" band paraded the streets to-day at noon. When near the Pym House they met a load of hay, and the musicians doffed their hats, much to the astonishment of the spectators.—Lindsay Post.

OBJECTIONABLE FEATURES ARE REMOVED FROM BILL

Mr. Fielding Presents His Proposed Insurance Measure—Greater Latitude is Allowed in Matter of Investments—Officials May Borrow Money.

Ottawa, March 9.—Hon. Mr. Fielding brought down the revised insurance bill yesterday. It draws the teeth of the bill submitted a year ago and withdrawn after discussion in the banking and commerce committee.

As foreshadowed, there is more freedom allowed the insurance companies in the way of investments.

There was no change, Mr. Fielding said, with respect to assessment insurance. A proposal in relation to these institutions was made in the bill of last year, but even if that bill had been gone on with, the proposal with regard to these institutions would have been withdrawn. The principal companies in that line represented that they recognized the need of strengthening their position and desired to be left to themselves for that purpose.

There had been some changes in respect to investments. Section 60 of the new bill provides that any life insurance company which derives its corporate powers from an act of the Parliament of Canada, or which is within the legislative power of the Parliament of Canada, may invest its funds, or any portion of them, in the purchase of: (a) The debentures, bonds, stocks or securities of or guaranteed by the Government of Canada or Great Britain, or any dependency thereof, or guaranteed by the Government of any foreign country, or any state forming a portion of any such foreign country wherein the company carries on, or is about to carry on, its business of life insurance, or any school or municipal corporation in Canada or elsewhere, were the company is carrying on business. This is substantially the bill of last year.

Another change is instead of it being required that debentures must be of seven years' standing it is demanded that the company which had paid regular dividends for five years, last year's bill provided that such stocks were a proper field for investment if they had paid four per cent. for seven years. The new bill drops the four per cent. restriction and provides that the company shall have paid regular

TORONTO PROFESSORS MAY PARTICIPATE IN THE FUND

Toronto, March 9.—Premier Whitney introduced a resolution in the Legislature yesterday which will enable retiring professors of Toronto University and University College to take advantage of Andrew Carnegie's $10,000,000 fund for superannuated professors. Premier Whitney pointed out that no college with religious affiliations was entitled to participate in the benefits of the fund, so that Toronto University was the only institution of the kind in Ontario that could derive any advantage from it. In order to do so the consent of the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council and of the Legislature was necessary.

Hon. A. G. MacKay in seconding the resolution remarked that no legal responsibility was involved and he thought it would be clear that no moral responsibility was either.

The resolution carried.

In reply to Hon. A. G. MacKay, Hon. Frank Cochrane stated that $391,950 timber dues, and $1,594 ground rents paid in 1908 were due as arrears and properly payable in 1907. No timber bonuses were so paid.

Hon. A. G. MacKay obtained an order for a return showing when a branch or sub-department of forestry was established under the Government of Ontario. The names and duties of all officials and employes, names of any and all officials whose duty it is to deal with forest conservation or reforestration or either of them. A statement in detail of the lands that have been set aside as forest reserves and for reforestration since 1905.

Mr. MacKay briefly considered the areas under forest reserve. It was estimated that the Mississagua Reserve had three, the Temagami Reserve five billion feet. The Algonquin Park, established in 1893 had 1,001,000 acres, so that the total forest reserve area was 6,922,000 acres. Thomas Southworth, when clerk of forestry, had calculated an increase of 150 feet board measure per acre annually, which on 40,000,000 acres in Ontario was worth $30,000,000. Mr. MacKay believed the annual loss was very substantial, and almost equal to the increase. He was not adversely critical and was not suggesting any immediate danger of the forests running out, but he doubted if they were in as good a position as the City of Munich which for 1,000 years had drawn its supplies from the forest which was now in better condition than at first. He approved of the idea of natural reforesting and suggested that larger timber be left for the purpose of reseeding depleted areas.

BOARD OF TRADE ANNUAL MEETING

Will be Held To-night—The Attendance Should be Large

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Board of Trade will be held tonight in the city council chambers at eight o'clock. In addition to the election of officers, the waterworks dam bylaw and the power question will be discussed. There are two important questions before the ratepayers at the present time and there should be a large number present when they are considered. The meeting is open to the public.

BLACKSMITH SHOP FOR SPRINGVILLE

Springville is to have a blacksmith shop. A smithy will be opened there in the near future, a stand having been purchased. The gentleman who is opening the shop has rented the house of Mr. Gibson.

Tan Bark From Africa.

London, March 9.—The Canadian Associated Press learns that a scheme is afoot for shipping Natal wattle bark to Canada in place of the large quantities of mangrove bark from West Africa at present imported for tanning purposes.

Roosevelt Jabbed Again.

Washington, March 9.—The order of the Secretary of the Navy, given at the direction of President Roosevelt, abolishing the navy yards in Pensacola, Florida, and New Orleans, La., was yesterday revoked by Secretary Meyer.

Mail Car Burned.

Boston, March 9.—A carload of westbound mail, by way of the Fitchburg division of the Boston and Maine Railroad, was destroyed by fire yesterday.

HE FASTS TO CURE CANCER

Marlboro, Mass., March 9.—Adelford J. Bastien, ill from cancer, is trying to carry out a fast of forty days, in the hope of curing himself. He has already fasted thirty-eight days, and yesterday he prayed that God would give him endurance to fast two days more. Eight months ago he weighed 155 pounds. To-day he weighs 50 pounds.

For thirty-nine days Bastien has taken only a quart and a half of water. Last week a clairvoyant told him that if he lived over Saturday he would regain his health. Each day he has smoked a cigar, but has taken no food. Six months ago specialists told him he could not live a week.

CHARITY BOARD HELD A MEETING

A meeting of the Charity Board was held last night when several matters in connection with the relief of the poor in Peterborough were dealt with. There were several requests for charity and action was taken in connection with them.

Those present were: Mr Rush, chairman; Rev. Dr Langfeldt, and Messrs Fowler, Cochrane, Brawnd, Batten, Miller, Collins and Buller.

INJURED MAN IS RECOVERING

Deputy Chief Grange is improving rapidly and it was expected that he would be able to be out for a short walk this afternoon. He will be able it is almost certain, to give evidence at the preliminary hearing of the three firemen who are charged with assaulting him. The case come up before Police Magistrate Dumble on Thursday.

A NEW WITNESS FOR THE KINRADE MURDER CASE

Special to the Review.

Hamilton, March 9—The latest development in the Kinrade murder mystery is the discovery of a new witness who will give evidence at the inquest to-morrow night. This is Charles Hossack, 140 Herkimer street, who lives about a block west of the Kinrade home. On the afternoon of the murder between 2 and 2.30 o'clock Mr. Hossack was painting his front porch when he saw Miss Ethel Kinrade walk past his house. The girl was alone and soon passed out of sight. Mr Hossack did not see her return. This is the first [illegible] that the unfortunate [illegible] had been out of the [illegible] hour before she was [illegible]

RURAL CANADA

The recent action of the authorities in Britain tending to the beautifying of country homes and home life should be imitated here. Little villages are numerous in rural England, and the houses of farm laborers dot the road in every direction. That these tenements of those who receive the lowest wage should exhibit much in the way of beauty for good taste and the influences of refinement is not to be supposed. But a little encouragement goes a long way with them. A little help goes a longer way. Women are anxious to have pleasant surroundings. In the old land there is a native fondness for flowers that cannot be said to exist here. Where the lord of the manor is both wealthy and wise his tenants will be well housed. Where, however, he himself is short of funds, as many of the more extravagant of the aristocracy are, it is not possible for much to be spent upon the preservation of the holdings, let alone the beautifying of them. For the government, therefore, to intervene means the increasing happiness of the greatest number, and when the day comes, and it is coming, that intensive farming and gardening will make Britain big enough for her teeming millions, we may expect to see her literally blossom as the rose.

THE NEW CULT

If it were not that it is a product of the age, it would not occur to anybody to refer to the new movement amongst women in Russia which is strongly allied to that in the United States. Such a movement under other circumstances would be relegated to the scandal waste basket. But unfortunately, it demands and requires consideration. The Russian women desire to throw off all restraint, that of marriage amongst the rest. It is to be the "triumph" of human liberty! When all this is consummated, if unhappily it ever come to fruition, the individual will, restrained by statuary enactments only will be the guide of men and women. What a prospect! In the best of those whom the world has to offer of its humanity, who is there that has not felt the necessity at some time or other of the restraining power of some convention or conventionality? Possibly the way to treat this world-madness becoming rapidly characteristic of mankind is to let it spend its fury in the usual way; but after all, since no social storm has ever passed without doing its "irreparable damage," the same may be said of this one. It is likewise possible that for the restraining influences of Religion we may have substituted the force of Public Opinion, but what sort of a public opinion will that be which itself is not founded on moral restraint and the Highest Ideal. It is customary for the plain man to scoff at the frills and affectations of idealists, or theorists, as they are contemptuously termed, but it is in Idealism that the safety of the people lies. Are not kindness, fairness, honesty, magnanimity, ideal? It is not possible to lay one's hands upon them and say of each one that this is a practical fact and that one a practical fact. Pure practicalness is pure animalism below even that of the dog which cherishes an affection for its master, sometimes long after that master is cold in his grave. So that if we are to drift farther and farther towards the practical everything, even humanity itself, will be expressible only in terms of money, the great standard of materialism. The Russian wolf is a type of a creature without restraint. It is cunning and ferocious. It is intensely practical. Between it and human beings such as we have referred to there is no real difference. The idea that the highest faculty of the mind, that of thinking in abstractions, is to play second and inferior place to the instinct of self-preservation or to the greed for money presupposes a low, not a high form of civilization. Manifestly this can never recur.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Examiner remarks that King Solomon deserves credit for having (in spite of the "seven hundred wives," etc., etc. Solomon had only 300 wives. It is such mistakes as these that throw doubt on the whole affair as described by our contemporary. It is quite possible that a few wives make no material difference, but a few hundred—!

The action of the Laurier Government in capitulating to the G. T. P.'s demand for a loan of $10,000,000, shows, if not where we are, at any rate where we are coming to. It is true that a loan of $30,000,000 was guaranteed by the Macdonald Government, but things were entirely different in these days. But the G.T.P. is a hold-up game from the drop of the hat all through the west. They own everything connected directly or indirectly with the enterprise. There is nothing to be made out of the building of the National Transcontinental for anybody, not a member of this grasping corporation, whose builders will make millions, which the people of Canada pay, while the laborers receive very moderate pay, which a Japanese immigration, it was hoped, would lower, while the dead are piled in a nameless mound and left "unknelled, uncoffined and unknown." Truly the G. T. P. is a Standard Oil Company on wheels.

$100 REWARD, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

G. T. P. TO BUILD CITY AT MELVILLE

Construction Work on Two Branch Lines Will be Started in April

Winnipeg, Man., March 8.—It is learned that the Grand Trunk Pacific—Canada's new transcontinental railway—has decided to build a city at Melville, Sask., for its western headquarters.

Thirty years ago the Canadian Pacific Railway adopted Winnipeg as its western headquarters and now the Grand Trunk Pacific is creating Melville. The new railway has acquired property at that town and is now laying out yards which will be the largest between Winnipeg and the Pacific Coast. The Hudson's Bay line of the Grand Trunk Pacific will end at Melville, at which point European immigrants and freight will be distributed over the lines of the company. The Chief Dispatcher, Superintendent and other head officials of the western lines of the company are now located at Melville, where the company intends to build up a large city. Melville is named after Charles Melville Hays President of the Company.

Already the plans of the company have become known in certain quarters and the Dominion Bank wishing a site on which to build was obliged to pay $2,500 for a 25 foot lot, which is considered a big price for property in a pioneer town, even though it has the prospects of Melville.

In April construction will be commenced on two branch lines from Melville one northwards to Hudson's Bay, and the other southwards to the American boundary to connect with transcontinental systems to the south of the line near North Portal,

LINDSAY IN 1910

Mr. Mehall Pappakeriazes, of Peterborough is in town looking over the ground with a view to securing premises for a line of business in which he is interested. He is proprietor of two cigar stores, two pool rooms and a barber shop in the Electric City, together with the palatial Royal Theatorium, which is said to be one of the finest of its kind in Canada.

Mr Pappakerizes said he was undecided whether to start an up-to-date restaurant or moving picture show.

In connection with the foregoing item a subscriber send us the following poetry:

While looking o'er the Evening Post,
And through its columns running,
I came across the joyful news,
Hurrah, Pappas is coming.

He's coming right to Lindsay town,
And I bet there will be fun.
For to judge by what the papers say,
He's going to make things hum.

He's going to start a picture show,
The finest in the land,
And he's going to knock the jeweller out,
And the man who runs the band.

And then he will start a restaurant,
And it's going to be a "whaler,"
And when he turns the lights on Good-bye to "Freddie" Taylor.

But then, he's just commencing,
He's bound to make things hot,
Across the road he will open up
A big Greek barber shop.

And now look out for him,
He's rolling up his sleeves,
A great big billiard parlor next,
All off with "Charlie" Reeves.

Then up the street he's going
In search for something more
The next thing on the programme—
A big tobacco store.

Now you know that's badly needed,
He will make money by the barrel,
And when the blinds he rolls them up
"Your finish," Joey Carroll.

You bet, he's going to spread himself
He has lots of helping hands
On every corner he will start
Shoe-shines and peanut stands.

Oh, he is going to hustle,
All others will shut down,
And in 1910, boys,
He's going to own our town.

So hout out the joyful news,
In the course of a few weeks
The Canadian town of Lindsay
Will be captured by the Greeks.

TORTURED BY RHEUMATISM?

Zam-Buk Will Give You Ease!

Just at this season when the cold, dry winter is giving way to a milder yet more humid season, the germs of rheumatism, sciatica, and allied ailments come upon their victims with renewed force.

As soon as you feel any deep-seated pain in the joints, back, wrists, or elsewhere, place a liberal supply of Zam-Buk on the fingers or on the palm of the hand and rub it well into the part affected. The penetrating power of this "embrocation balm" is exceedingly great, and once having reached the seat of the pain it removes it speedily. It also ends the stiffness which is so unpleasant.

Frequent rubbings of the afflicted parts with Zam-Buk will not only drive out the pain, reduce swelling, etc, but will strengthen the skin and tissues and enable them to resist cold and damp. The following case will show how Zam-Buk brings ease to those tortured with rheumatism.

Mr P G Wells, of 336 Ogden street, Fort William, Ont, says: "Following my duties in attending to passenger trains I often get wet through with rain and steam—the latter in winter. This with hours of duty in icehouses in summer was no doubt the cause of my contracting rheumatism in both knees, left arm, and shoulder. This got so bad that I could no longer work and was laid off on three different occasions for several weeks, during which I was under the treatment of my doctor. I seemed to get little if any better, no matter what I tried, and this was my state when Zam-Buk was recommended to me. I laid in a supply, and to my great joy it began to cure me. I rubbed it well in every night, and when a few boxes had been used, found I was free again from the stiffness of rheumatism. I have had no more trouble from the disease and unhesitatingly recommend Zam-Buk to all who suffer from rheumatism, muscular stiffness, etc."

Zam-Buk is also a sure cure for eczema, ring worm, ulcers, abscesses, piles, bad leg, suppurating wounds, cuts, burns, bruises, chapped hands, cold cracks, and all skin injuries and diseases. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. per box, or post-free from Zam-Buk Co. Toronto, upon receipt of price.

THE SEA BAT.

Specimen of a Fish That Is Both Queer and Rare.

One of the rarest specimens of the fish kingdom known to waters contiguous to the North Carolina coast was captured in a seine at Masonboro sound by William Hewlett, a fisherman, says the Wilmington Dispatch. The fish, which was brought to the city, is what is called "the sea bat," and it is a perfect reproduction of a leather wing bat on a large scale. The fish is about fifteen inches long and about thirty inches across the back.

Strange to state, it had a thin, threadlike tail about fifteen inches in length, and on each side of the rear appendage were two perfectly formed gloved feet, with a smaller dimension having the exact appearance of a thumb with the other part of the hand mittened. The mouth of the strange specimen was about five inches across, and on each side of the mouth or the underside of the body there were five "strainers," or holes, through which the fish is said to rid itself of refuse products resulting from the forage it picks up at the bottom of the sea. The top of the fish was a dark slate color, and the under part of the body was white.

One old negro fisherman more than seventy years old declared that this was only the second specimen of the sea bat he had ever seen in his long experience as a fisherman. The specimen, which had a truly uncanny appearance, will probably be sent to the state museum at Raleigh.

Frying Pan Stage.

"The late Mrs. William Astor," said a colonial dame, "took, after all, an optimistic view of American society. She criticised our faults, but she believed in our future. American society, she used to say, would eventually be the finest in the world. Once she declared at a dinner that it was the proper social sequence to get, like us, the money first and the refinement and culture afterward. She said that when she looked at the uncouth millionaire of today and thought of the splendid creature to come after him she felt as optimistic as the fisherman who, casting his line, brought up a frying pan and said:

"'Oh, that's a good beginning—a frying pan! I have only to catch a fish now and I shall be all right.'"—Washington Post.

Ancient Mariners.

That the Egyptians made sea voyages long before the time of Solomon, hitherto considered the first ocean traveler on a large scale, is declared by Professor James H. Breasted to be conclusively proved by a tablet found by him in Palermo, Sicily, during the three years' exploring trip from which he recently returned. Professor Breasted asserts that the inscriptions on the tablet show that the Egyptian king who built the first pyramids made a voyage with forty ships across the Mediterranean to Lebanon to obtain cedar for a temple. This journey, according to the professor, was made in the thirtieth century B. C., or 2,000 years before Solomon made his voyage for a similar purpose.

An Ocean Sanitarium.

Some particulars are given in the British Medical Journal of a proposal to provide an ocean sanitarium for tuberculosis. The suggestion is to fit up a sailing ship of about 2,000 tons for not less than fifty patients, each to be provided with a large and well ventilated cabin. The deck would be used for what is commonly called the veranda treatment. The intention of the promoters is that the ship shall cruise in the neighborhood of the Canaries, where it will have the advantage of the trade winds and of an equable climate, while a port will not be far distant in case of the onset of bad weather.

A Majestic Ice Wall.

In a letter from Professor Edgeworth Davis, a member of the British antarctic expedition now seeking a way toward the south pole, there occurs a vivid description of the great antarctic ice barrier, which was encountered by the little ship Nimrod. "It is a sight," says Professor Davis, "that beggars all description. Imagine a continuous ice wall 500 miles long and one to two hundred feet high, the exquisite blue of the crevasses contrasting finely with the dazzling white of the weathered ice on either side of them."

Good Word For Veils.

"It is those big veils that fasten down tight under the chin and ears that I want to put in a good word for," said the bacteriologist. "It may be that they ruin the eyes and shut out a lot of fresh air, as some folk claim, but they prevent women from putting dirty pieces of money into their mouths and so keep enough germs out of the system to make up for the other disadvantages."—New York Press.

Bull of the Irish Secretary.

A genuine bull is credited to Augustine Birrell, secretary for Ireland, by a Bristol correspondent of the London News.

"It is easier," Mr. Birrell affirmed in the course of a public speech at Bristol, "to face your foes in front of you than your friends behind your back."

The outbreak of a number of cases of fever at Pembroke has led to anxious questionings as to the healthfulness of the water supply.

Cheese—Firm; receipts, 1275; state, full cream, specials, 15½c to 16½c; do., fancy, 15c; do., good to fine, 14½c; winter made, small, best, 13½c; do., good to choice prime, 12½c to 13½c; do., common to fair, 11½c to 12½c; skims, full to specials, 2½c to 12c.

Eggs—Barely steady; receipts, 12,227. State, Pennsylvania and nearby fancy selected white, 25c to 26c; do., fair to choice, 23c to 24c; brown and mixed fancy, 23½c to 23c; do., fair to choice, 20c to 22c; western first, 20c; seconds, 19c.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Cables Unchanged—Hogs 10c to 15c Higher at Buffalo and Chicago.

LONDON, March 8.—London cables for cattle are steady, at 12½c to 14c per pound, dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted at 10c to 10½c per pound.

Toronto Junction Live Stock.

TORONTO JUNCTION, March 8.—Receipts of live stock at the Union Stock Yards were 38 carloads, consisting of 716 cattle, 7 hogs, 48 sheep and lambs, 12 calves and 160 horses.

Exporters.

Export steers of good quality sold at $5.25 to $5.50; medium light weight, export steers, $5 to $5.25. Export bulls sold at $4 to $4.50.

Butchers.

Prime picked butchers, $5 to $5.25; selected loads of butchers', $4.90 to $5; loads of good, $4.60 to $4.85; medium, $4.25 to $4.50; common, $3.75 to $4.15; cows, $3.25 to $4.25; canners, $2 to $2.50; butcher bulls, $3.25 to $4.00.

Milkers.

Very few milkers or springers were on sale and prices quoted were steady at $35 to $60 each.

Veal Calves.

A limited number sold at $3 to $7 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

Receipts light, prices unchanged. Export ewes, $4 to $4.50; rams, $3.25 to $4 per cwt.; lambs, $5.50 to $6 for common, and $6.50 to $7 per cwt., for choice grain-fed, with one lot of extra fine at $7.10 per cwt.

Hogs.

One packing house quoted $7 for fat and watered at the market, and $6.75, f.o.b., cars, country points; another representative of a city packing house said he was paying $6.80, f.o.b. cars, country points.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, March 8.—(Special.)—At the Montreal Stock Yards West End Market, the receipts of live stock for the week ending March 6 were 1530 cattle, 121 sheep and lambs, 2050 hogs and 207 calves. The offerings this morning were 1125 cattle, 75 sheep and lambs, 1550 hogs and 125 calves.

The supply of cattle was somewhat larger than a week ago, but this fact had no depressing influence on the market, owing to the improved demand from exporters who bought about 150 head to complete shipments with, from St. John, N.B., this week, which relieved the market of its surplus stock, and in consequence prices were maintained.

Cables from Liverpool reported the market firm at an advance of ¼c to ½c per lb., but stated that trade was slow. In addition to the above there was a large gathering of local and out of town buyers and as the weather continues to be favorable, for keeping stock, they showed a disposition to operate a little more freely on account of the fact that the prospects are that values will rule higher in the near future, consequently trade on the whole was fairly active and a good clearance was made. Choice steers sold at 5¼c; good, at 5c to 5¼c; fair, at 4½c to 4¾c; medium, at 4c to 4½c; common, at 3½c to 3¾c; choice bulls, at 4½c to 4¾c, and lower grades, at 3½c to 4c per lb. An easier feeling has developed in the market for lambs, in spite of the continued small receipts and prices have declined ½c to ¾c per lb. The demand was good and sales of choice lots were made at 6¾c to 6½c, and good at 5¾c to 6c per lb.

The market for sheep was unchanged and trade was quiet, at 4½c to 4¾c for choice, and at 3½c to 4c for culls per lb. There continues to be a good demand for calves, of which supplies are increasing some and in consequence an easier feeling prevails in the market and prices are lower than they were a week ago at from $2 to $10 each, as to size and quality. The undertone to the market for hogs continues strong and prices have scored a further advance of 25c per cwt. The supply was fair, for which the demand was good and sales of selected lots were made at $7.75 to $7.90 per cwt., weighed off cars.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

dividends for five years, without specifying the rate.

There was a proviso as to the percentage of money which may be invested in the securities of any one company, said Mr. Fielding. The object of that was to provide that the company should not create a subsidiary company and obtain a controlling interest. It was found, however, that the words of the clause seemed to be too broad. Last year's bill limited the investment to 20 per cent. of all the stocks or securities of the company. In the present bill he was distinguishing between the stocks and bonds, and it was provided that the investment may not exceed 20 per cent. in stocks, but left the company free to invest in the bonds if deemed to be good security.

Mr. Fielding next discussed expenses of management. In the last bill provision was made for limitation of the expenses on new business and at one stage it seemed that such a provision was called for. In the investigations abroad great importance was attached to this question, but when it came to be discussed with insurance men it was urged that it would be exceedingly difficult to apply a limitation of that kind without interfering with the volume of insurance. A provision had been inserted not to put any limitation on the expense of new business, particularly but to provide a limitation upon the expenses generally. Provision is made for new companies to be incorporated hereafter, thus limitation shall begin when they have had ten years of existence.

The provision in the present law that no life insurance company shall loan any of its funds to any director, shareholder, officer or clerk, is modified by a stipulation that it shall not be held to interfere with the ordinary loan to any policyholder who is entitled to receive this merely because he is an officer of the company.

Henceforward all life insurance companies shall provide for their policyholders as well as for their shareholders, having directors. A certain number of directors shall retire annually. Policyholders and shareholders are to have an equal number of directors and two of each class are to retire every year. Last year's provision that proxies shall be recognized is continued with a proviso that proxies shall not be good for more than three months. Shareholders will not be eligible to be policyholders' directors.

With respect to the classes requiring publicity of returns, Mr. Fielding said the companies objected that some of the restrictions proposed were not necessary, but it was held that publicity was the best guarantee which the public could have.

Mr. Fielding said he would ask to have the bill referred to the banking and commerce committee and in that committee the bill might again be referred to a sub-committee.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier yesterday tabled the correspondence between Earl Grey and the Imperial Government relative to the delay in submitting the waterways treaty to the Canadian Parliament. On Jan. 29 Earl Grey cabled: "Following sent to Bryce international boundary waters treaty. No copy received here. When can I expect copy for my Ministers. Unfavorable comment in Canadian House of Commons because no copy available, the treaty is before United States Senate.'"

Lord Crewe's reply to this was read in the House some days ago.

On Feb. 18 Earl Grey cabled: "As text of boundary treaty already published in United States press Ministers desire to present it to Dominion Parliament. Have you any objection?"

Lord Crewe's reply to this is dated Feb. 28 and reads: "With reference to your telegram of Feb. 18 Bryce reports that boundary waters treaty has not yet been published in United States, though parts have leaked out and United States deprecate publication till passed by Senate."

CABLES DAMAGED BY TRAWLERS

Crews of Steam Fishing Boats Often Cut Cables to Free Nets.

In the last few years a great change has taken place in the methods of fishing with trawls or drag nets. Small nets drawn by fishing boats have given place to great machines towed by steamers. Steam trawlers originated in England. They have multiplied rapidly, and now France possesses a fleet which, after having been tried in French waters with remarkable success from the fishermen's point of view, though not from that of persons interested in the preservation of marine fauna, has extended its field of operations to Iceland and Newfoundland, where it is rapidly destroying the time-honored industry of fishing with hooks and lines.

This is not the only damage done by the steam trawlers. Their heavy nets become entangled with telegraphic cables, and either break them or drag them to the surface, where the fishermen often cut the cables in order to free their nets. The hooks of the old Newfoundland fishing boats never inflicted any such damage, for they were not dragged along the bottom; and if a hook happened to foul a cable, the line simply parted and the hook was lost, while the cable remained uninjured.

As the steam trawlers mark wide furrows on the sea bottom in every direction they cannot fail to encounter the cables and break them, to the great injury of the cable companies and their service. It has cost the Commercial Cable Co. $100,000 to repair the damage caused by trawlers in three months. In May last there was an almost daily interruption of service on some one of the 13 cables which connect America with Europe, and these interruptions occurred 40 miles from shore in the waters frequented by the trawlers.

The cable companies demand laws prohibiting trawling in the vicinity of their cables, and the fishermen complain that the cables interfere with their work and damage their nets.

LAZIEST MAN IN THE WORLD.

Remarkable Case Where a Man Stayed In Bed For Three Months.

There have been many lazy men, but none to equal Archibald Dehan, of Suffolk Place, West Green, England, who was accused at Tottenham, England, of neglecting his four children.

Mrs. Dehan said her husband had done no work for fourteen months, although he had been offered employment.

"Instead of looking for work he lies in bed until all hours of the day," she stated. "Once he stayed in bed for three months, although nothing was wrong with him.

"I have tried to persuade him to bestir himself, and I have even dragged him out of the bed, but he went back to it again. One day I took him a letter containing an offer of employment. He read it and said he would not go out until the next day, as it was raining.

"When he was offered another situation he stated he could not take it until he obtained a new set of teeth and had his hair dyed.

"He was in the workhouse in the early part of this year. After he came out he took to his bed again, and remained there for a week."

"I suffer from insomnia," Dehan pleaded in an injured tone.

"No body can expect to sleep all the 24 hours of the day," remarked the magistrate drily, in sentencing him to six months' hard labor.

Perilous Sleepwalking.

There is a curious case told of an old gentleman living in London who every morning when he awoke could not find his nightcap. This continued for two months, and as no one could find any trace of his missing nightcap his relatives came to the conclusion that he must be a somnabulist. So one night he was watched. About one o'clock in the morning he rose from his bed, proceeded to the top floor, opened a window, climbed out of it on to the eaves of the house, along which he made his way with the greatest agility. Then he climbed up the chimney pot, pulled off his nightcap and carefully placed it in the pot. The next day on investigation his relatives found dozens of his caps hidden away in that spot. When the old man saw the route of his perilous walk he shuddered, and yet he had made that trip night after night without evincing any sign of fear.

Ancient Japanese Iron Making.

The Japanese were acquainted with iron from very early times. A sword that was used by one of the ancestors of the present emperor about 800 B.C. is still in existence. Later, when the great civil war broke out in the sixth century, sword smiths and armor smiths came to occupy a prominent place. Many interesting stories are connected with sword smiths, although this is no place to go into these. From this time on down to about 300 years ago no noticeable progress had been made. At the beginning of the seventeenth century, when the Tokugawa dynasty came into possession of the political power and peace was restored, all branches of industry began to prosper. The demand for iron implements increased, and the scarcity of iron supply began to be felt.

Birds as Ventriloquists.

Many birds form their sounds without opening their bills. The pigeon is a well-known instance of this. Its cooing can be distinctly heard, although it does not open its bill. The call is formed internally in the throat and chest and is rendered audible only by resonance. Similar ways may be observed in many birds and other animals. The clear, loud call of the cuckoo, according to one naturalist, is the resonance of a note formed in the bird. The whirring of the snipe, which betrays the approach of the bird to the hunter, is an act of ventriloquism. Even the nightingale has certain notes which are produced internally and which are audible while the bill is closed.

"That's what I call some package," cried Hosmer proudly as he held aloft a round metal package decorated with a smiling face which was sandwiched between the legend "You can smile—if you use Dentola."

"It is pretty," conceded the head of the firm as he took the can into his hands and inspected it more carefully. "Some actress, don't it? Her face seems familiar."

"Actress nothing," was the contemptuous retort. Hosmer could afford to be flippant when he scored a success. "That's the little typewriter over in the shipping room. I caught her smiling like that one day, and it made a hit with me. I invented the powder to go with it. It's the old 'Saponica,' with a little carmine put in to make it look different. I tell you, Mr. Powers in a week that Dentola girl will be known all over the country, and the sales—well, I'll be around for a raise in salary in about five weeks."

Powers smiled and nodded. Hosmer had a regular scale of self praise. When he suggested that the firm owed him a hat for an idea it was only an ordinary hit. The hint that he lunched about 2 o'clock was a sign that he had greater confidence in an idea. The last time that Hosmer had announced that he was worth a raise in salary was when he had introduced "sunburn cream" which eventually had brought the cosmetic company very nearly a quarter million.

Dentola seemed destined to enjoy a more permanent success. Within two months the Dentola girl smiled upon the entire nation. Even in the tiny hamlets Dentola placards adorned the general stores.

The Dentola girl smiled life size upon the city throngs, and more than life size she beamed at train tired travelers along the trunk lines.

Vaughn, the head of the shipping department, was rather vexed over the incident. He had supposed that the picture was merely to be used to decorate the cans of powder.

It became something of a nuisance when visitors to the model factory of the cosmetic company insisted upon seeing the original of "Miss Dentola." Vaughn, resentful of the admiring glances of the masculine visitors, protested to Hosmer.

"It's all a part of the campaign," declared the sales expert, with a laugh. "Miss Dentola is the best saleswoman that ever was. We sold more than a million boxes last month, and the orders are still piling in. I tell you, Hen, it pays to advertise when you advertise right."

"Sure," assented Vaughn, "but you're overdoing it. We wanted to sell the tooth powder, not to bring people to the factory to see Miss Dentola. There was a chap in yesterday who said he had seen the pyramids and the Sphinx and the tower of Pisa and all the other show spots of Europe, but he felt he couldn't go back to Montana until he'd seen Miss Dentola. By the way he looked at her I guess he would have liked to take her back to Montana with him. He's only one. There's hundreds. It's all Miss Pryor can do to keep her work up."

"I'll take her over in my department," offered Hosmer, with suspicious readiness. Vaughn shook his head.

"She would have to learn an entirely new line of work," he objected. "She knows the shipping game now. Let her stay, even if your ads are a nuisance and worse."

"But I think she ought to be in my department," urged Hosmer. "It is in the advertising end that people would expect to find her."

"You get out of here," demanded Vaughn, half in friendliness and half very much in earnest. He had had Minnie Pryor in his department for more than two years and had given her scarcely a look until Hosmer had made her nationally famous.

When men in Alaska began to send proposals of marriage to the girl, Vaughn began to realize that his assistant was decidedly pretty, and as this knowledge came to Hosmer about the same time there ensued a pretty race for favor.

Minnie Pryor, finding herself in demand for the first time, developed into a beauty. So long as she had been merely Minnie Pryor, typist, she had gone her quiet way, but now Joseph Powers, president and practical owner of the corporation, insisted that she be given a royalty on the use of her picture, and, though this was but a fraction of a penny per box, the generous use of lithographs enabled her to dress becomingly for the first time in her narrow life.

With the purchase of better clothes she had seemed to acquire that indefinable charm which belongs to the woman who knows herself to be in demand. She did not develop what Hosmer was wont to term "big head," but she held herself well, and the apologetic little typist of the shipping room had become the belle of the cosmetic company's works.

Hosmer had his room papered with her pictures, and the more he saw them the more deeply in love with the original did he sink. Vaughn had but one of the posters in his office, for he did not need them with the girl herself bending her shapely head over the desk by the window, and he, too, was very much in love.

In the office both men made the best use of their time, but once the closing time arrived Miss Pryor disappeared.

Early in the campaign Powers had suggested that the liberal use of her face had rendered the girl rather conspicuous, so the company paid for a carriage that took her to and from her work.

At first Hosmer had approved the suggestion, but now he went to the other extreme. There was no chance to walk home with Miss Pryor, and his request for permission to call was met with a polite negative.

He and Vaughn could only fight it out during office hours, and when Vaughn objected to Hosmer's continued presence in the shipping department and asked Powers to give Hosmer a hint to that effect the sales expert retaliated by again reverting to his suggestion that Miss Pryor should be transferred to the sales office.

The constant bickering could have but one effect. From surliness they passed to open warfare, and at last they brought the matter to the head of the firm.

Each pleaded his case, and then they stood waiting the decision with an anxiety that showed plainly in their faces. Each felt that a victory with the chief would aid his fight, and the moments that passed after the case had been stated were painful to them both.

Powers glanced slowly from one to the other, and his face broke into a smile.

"You both say that you have the right to Miss Pryor's services," he began slowly. "I'm afraid that you will both have to hire other typists. Miss Pryor tells me that you both are—er—rather cordial to her. It seems that you, Vaughn, have suddenly discovered that you need Miss Pryor. Only a little while before the advertising campaign was started you told me that you should have to put on another girl, as Miss Pryor was willing, but slow. I fancy that the way out of this will be to get another Dentola girl and another typist for the shipping department."

"There's no reason for such drastic action!" cried Hosmer, but Powers only smiled again.

"There is an excellent reason," he said slowly. "I am to marry Miss Pryor. She did me the honor to accept me, and as soon as the Dentola craze is forgotten we will be married. Meanwhile she has her royalty from the use of her picture, and she will not need her position. She would have told you this, Vaughn, had you waited until this afternoon."

Vaughn, too dazed to speak, turned and left the office, and Hosmer was about to follow when Powers detained him with a word.

"You said that you would win a raise on Dentola, and you have," he said kindly. "It pays to advertise, Paul."

"Yes, when you have something to sell," agreed the expert, "but I was trying to sell Dentola, not Miss Dentola. The next time I get out a good article I'm going to marry the original first and advertise afterward."

"Miss Pryor and myself are very grateful to you," said Powers, with a cordial hand clasp, "and I hope that you find another Dentola, Paul."

"And I bet I won't lose her to any other man," was Hosmer's grim reply.

Cretan Seals.

Some of the greatest scholars have used their learning more as a weapon than a means of illumination. Professor Lewis Campbell's gentleness and courtesy may be illustrated by the following true story: Some years ago he was in the chair at a meeting of the Hellenic society when Dr. Arthur Evans described the results of some of his first excavations in Crete. Among his finds were a number of seals and other relics showing traces of affinity with early Egyptian art. Discussion followed, in the course of which a venerable admiral, who had been present at the battle of Navarino, rose and said that he did not know whether he was in order, but he would like to state that in the year 1828, when he was cruising in the Levant, he saw a herd of seals off the coast of Crete—a sight which he had never seen before or since. The situation was delicate, but it was staved by the chairman, who rose immediately to express the thanks of the meeting to the admiral for his interesting reminiscence. "Here," he said, "we have another link with Egypt, for all of us must remember the story in the Odyssey of Proteus and his herd of seals on the island near the mouth of the Nile."—London Spectator.

Sick Folk's Fancies.

"Isn't it funny," said the brown eyed woman, "how important some things are to you when you are sick and how trivial they seem when you get well? When I was ill awhile ago I could not take any water to drink, although I nearly died of thirst. But late every night the nurse would bring me a small glass of cracked ice. Oh, how I anticipated that thing through long and painful hours, and when I could hear her cracking up the ice the sound was the most beautiful thing in the world. When I was eating it if one little scrap got lost in the bedclothes I almost wept, so precious it was. And now that I am well and have the icebox at my command I wouldn't eat a piece for anything.

"A friend of mine, a strong man, told me that when he was recovering from typhoid and couldn't eat anything he would lie for hours composing menus. He would call out his orders in a loud voice and then nearly burst into tears when no waiter appeared with loaded tray. Sick people certainly are funny, though they can't always see it at the time."—New York Press.

WONDERS OF THE HUMAN BODY

Why Many People Never Need a Doctor.

You have a natural laxative in your body. Why, then, should you use a false purgative to move the bowels?

Bile is nature's laxative. It is bile—and bile alone—which moves the bowels as they should be moved. The liver is the store-house for the bile. The liver pours forth the bile into the bowels, which stimulates them to move, and thus causes the waste matter to pass from the body.

Constipation is a disease, OF the bowels, but CAUSED by the liver. When the bowels do not move regularly and naturally, it is because the liver is not giving up enough bile. And the only possible way to cure Constipation, is to cure the liver.

Calomel, cascara, salts, senna, common pills and sweet losengers and all the other purgatives do not act on the liver at all. They merely irritate and inflame the bowels.

"Fruit-a-tives" cure Constipation because they act on the liver. The fruit principles stimulate the liver to secrete and give up enough bile to move the bowels, while the tonics and antiseptics tone up and invigorate the muscles. "Fruit-a-tives" are the only medicine ever discovered that will cure Constipation, Biliousness and all other troubles due to a Torpid or Disordered Liver. 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial box, 25c. At dealers or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

Man-Eating Tigers.

About 4,000 men were eaten by tigers in India between 1900 and 1904. A large proportion of these unfortunates perished during periods of famine, when the beasts are made bold by hunger and are driven to the plains in search of water. The deaths caused by tigers in India constitute 87 per cent. of the whole number due to wild beasts. All tigers are not man-eaters, but when a tiger has once tasted man's flesh he will not be content until he has had more of it. Where flocks and herds abound, however, man is rarely a victim of the tiger. An old man-eater is usually very clever and tricky and can avoid the most skillful hunters. It is affirmed that a single tiger in southern India has killed 200 men, and that one in the Himalayas has killed more than 300.

GIVEN TIME TO SETTLE

Evidence Heard in Connection With Horse Case--Magistrate Gives Parties Time to Settle

Ernest Buck of Norwood, who was remanded yesterday morning on a charge of obtaining a horse from Allan McCarthy under false pretences, came up before Magistrate Dumble this morning. He was remanded for eight days and if an agreement can be reached by both parties the case will be dismissed.

The first witness called was Allan McCarthy, the complainant, who stated that he had advertised a horse for sale and the prisoner had come to purchase it. He had wanted $50 for the animal but Buck had stated that as he was just starting in business for himself he would like a little time in which to pay for the horse. He consented to this and received two notes from the prisoner, one of which came due on the last of February but had not been met by Buck, and this led to the charge.

Mr. McCarthy's wife was called and stated that she was present at the transaction and verified the statements of her husband.

J. P Francis told the court that he had traded horses with the prisoner and was to have received some money by the trade, but had not received it. He knew Buck had got the horse from McCarthy but did not know anything about the agreement between the two parties.

Several other witnesses were called, but could not give any information as to how Buck obtained the horse. They knew he had one and had been in the ash business.

Mr G. N. Gordon appeared for Buck and stated that the young man had always held a good reputation and asked that the case be dismissed if restitution was made.

The Magistrate enlarged the case for eight days to allow the parties to reach a settlement.

OBITUARY

MRS C. McAULIFFE.

The death occurred yesterday at her late residence, 906 Water street, of Mrs. Margaret McAuliffe, relict of the late C. McAuliffe. The deceased lady, who was 65 years of age, had only been sick a short time, having been stricken suddenly with a paralytic stroke, which proved fatal. The late Mrs. McAuliffe was born in Enrick, Ireland, but had lived in Peterborough for over forty years, her husband predeceasing her fourteen years ago. Four sons and two daughters are left to mourn her loss. Mrs. S. Connors and Mrs. A. L. Talbot of town, are the daughters and the sons are Jack and William, of town, James, of Sudbury, and Florence, of Montreal. The funeral will take place Thursday morning at nine o'clock to St. Peter's Cathedral, and thence to the Roman Catholic cemetery for interment.

A Woman's Sympathy

Are you discouraged? Is your doctor's bill a heavy financial load? Is your pain a heavy physical burden? I know what these mean to delicate women—I have been discouraged, too; but learned how to cure myself. I want to relieve your burdens. Why not end the pain and stop the doctor's bill? I can do this for you and will if you will assist me.

All you need do is to write for a free box of the remedy which has been placed in my hands to be given away. Perhaps this one box will cure you—it has done so for others. If so, I shall be happy and you will be cured for 2c (the cost of a postage stamp). Your letters held confidentially. Write to-day for my free treatment. MRS. F. E CURRAH, Windsor, Ont.

PETERBORO' PRESBYTERY

Meeting at St. Andrew's To-day —Important Sessions

Many matters of importance were reported upon at the regular quarterly meeting of the Presbytery of Peterborough which met in St. Andrew's school room at nine o'clock this morning. The session adjourned at 12.30 o'clock and was resumed at two o'clock this afternoon.

Those in attendance were;

Rev G A McLennan, Norwood, Moderator; Rev. Burns, Lakefield; Currie, Warsaw; Stirling, Havelock; Thompson, Hastings; McDonald, Keene; Johnston, Millbrook; Abraham and Brokenshire; Port Hope; Beattie, Cobourg; McLeod, Brighton; Stewart, Grafton; Skene, Baltimore; Black, Bobcaygeon; Keith, Hague and Potter, Peterborough; R. Sherman, Colborne.

The following elders were in attendance;

J. P Clark Port Hope; W R Butters, Hastings; W Madill and R Leay, Peterborough; G Mitchell, Campbellford; T Spear, Cobourg; R Harrison, treasurer of the Presbytery.

The report of the status of ministers, evangelists, and assistant pastors was presented by Rev Robt. Laidlaw; the report on aged and infirm ministers and widows, and orphans' fund by Rev McKenzie. It dealt with the act of the last general assembly revising the provisions of this fund. The Presbytery sustained the action at the assembly.

The report on systematic giving was given by Rev Mr McLeod. It showed decided progress along the line of the weekly offering.

A very interesting report was given by the committee appointed to consider the deliverance of the assembly regarding church union.

Rev Mr Abraham, of Port Hope, spoke of the doctrinal side.

Mr Clark of Port Hope spoke on the financial aspect and Rev Mr. Beattie of Cobourg dealt with the policy.

The spirit of the committee in charge was exceedingly hopeful. This matter will be referred to the general assembly in June and will then be sent down to the Presbyteries for final decision.

The closing item of the morning sederunt was the call from Campbellford to the Rev G A Brown, of North Bay Presbytery. The call was largely signed and was sustained by the Presbytery. Inasmuch as the time for procuring signatures to the call had been limited it was thought wise to give the opportunity to the whole congregation for further signatures.

At this afternoon's session, reports will be given on home missions, by Rev R S Burns; on augmentation, by Rev Jas Skene, foreign missions, by Rev J A G Stirling; Sunday schools by Rev H J Keith; church life and work, Rev Wm Beattie; moral social reform, by Rev J G Potter.

The appointment of commissioners to the general assembly will take place. Four ministers and four elders will be chosen. The assembly meets in Hamilton in June. The nominations will take place, of two professors, one for Pine Hill Theological Seminary, Halifax; and one for the Presbyterian College, Montreal.

At this morning's session the proposal to hold a laymens' missionary conference at St Andrew's on Tuesday, March 23rd, was heartily and unanimously sanctioned.

MR. R. B. ROGERS TO BE ENGAGED

At the meeting of the Committee of the Whole Council last night it was moved by Ald. Morgan and seconded by Ald. Phelan that Mr. R. B. Rogers be engaged to make a report on the Auburn dam as regards power and also to make a report as to the power available at the new waterworks dam.

Ald. McIntyre brought up the matter.

ARE DISMISSED BY MAGISTRATE

The case of George Sexsmith, charged with the theft of four heifers, was dismissed by Magistrate Dumble this morning at the police court. There was not much evidence taken, and in summing up the magistrate did not think the accused had any intention of doing wrong. He could not bring a conviction against him. Mr. A. P. Poussette conducted the case in the interests of Sexsmith.

THEATRICAL

"Birdie" Luttrell, the well known young Toronto girl who was seen here as "Ada" in "Three Little Maids," is in "The Little Mouse" Company. She went to New York last season to begin her stage career.

At last Evelyn Nesbit Thaw has found something to do. No longer do the bright lights of the Gay White Way allure her. No more does she dally with wine suppers, automobiles, and light-headed Gotham gentry.

She is a sculptor now. In a little studio on 33rd street, New York, she spends most of her time, and she actually has orders for some of her works of art.

"This is the thing I think I can best do and this is the thing I intend to do," said Evelyn Thaw. "I will not remain idle and I will not do useless things. I have a sense of proportion and I know that with hard work and the latent ability I have I can make myself recognized as one worth while in sculpture."

It is a case of cutting out the old crowd entirely with Evelyn Thaw. The "Rector bunch," mentioned so frequently during the Thaw trial, has been forgotten. The lights of the Great White Way are only a short distance away but they no longer attract.

It is a slightly older Evelyn Thaw—an Evelyn Thaw more mature than the principal figure in the great murder trial—who is now mistress of the studio in 33rd street.

"I am spending much of my time reading books and I think I am reading to advantage," she said last night. "I have found that there are other things in life than those things I regarded so highly a few years ago."

The following whatever it may mean is from the Port Hope Guide:

SECURED $700 FROM THE GOVERNMENT

To Assist in Paying for Sewer and Sidewalk to Serve the Normal School

Ald. Phelan drew the attention of from the Provincial Government to making an effort to secure assistance council last fall in connection with to the proposition brought up in the the committee of the whole last night pay for the sewer and sidewalk to the Normal School. Ald. Phelan stated that when in Toronto last Friday he had, in company with Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., interviewed the government and had been successful in securing $500 for the sewer and $200 for the granolithic walk. He added that Mr. Bradburn had been of great assistance to him in securing these two grants.

It was moved by Ald. McIntyre and Ald. Butler that a vote of thanks be extended to Ald. Phelan and Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., for their efforts in bringing this matter before the Ontario Government.

In connection with the above it may be stated that the sewer has been built and the cost of it was $500. The sidewalk has not yet been constructed but Ald. Phelan secured $200 from the government to pay for it when it is built.

Ald. Phelan deserves great credit for his work in this connection. He has been working on the matter since last summer and by his efforts has saved the city $700.

WEDDING BELLS

NELSON—HENDERSON

Special to the Review.

Keene, March 9.—On Wednesday, 3rd March, a very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. David Henderson, Otonabee, when his eldest daughter, Elizabeth, was married to Mr. Wm. Nelson, of Otonabee. Miss Jennie Nelson of Keene, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid, and Mr. John Henderson brother of the bride, supported the groom. Miss Mary Bryce of Keene, played the wedding March as the party entered the parlor. The bride's gown was of pale gray eoline trimmed with lace and seed pearls while the bridesmaid wore pink eoline.

Rev. Mr. McDonald of Keene, performed the ceremony after which the guests, to the number of about 40, sat down to a dainty wedding breakfast. The bride's going-away gown was of brown broadcloth with hat to match.

The young couple will reside near Keene on the farm which Mr. Nelson bought recently from Mr. Jas. Elmhirst. The best wishes of their numerous friends go with them to their new home.

WEDLOCK—McLACHLAN

On Wednesday evening, March 3, at the Methodist Parsonage, Keene, the marriage took place of Miss Flora McLachlan only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry McLachlan, Keene, and Mr. Wm. Wedlock, eldest son of Wm. Wedlock sr., Keene. Miss Maggie Wedlock sister of the groom, acted as bridesmaid, and Mr. Albert Stillman was groomsman.

The bride was becomingly attired in a navy broadcloth suit with cream silk waist and navy hat.

After the ceremony the party repaired to their future home on Mill street where about 30 guests awaited them. After partaking of a sumptuous repast, the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing. The bride was the recipient of many very choice wedding presents. The best wishes of many friends are extended to the happy pair.

The absolute purity and delicious flavor, the refreshing and invigorating qualities of "Salada" Tea have made it the daily beverage of millions of satisfied users.

MARKET SOCIAL GREAT SUCCESS

The market-social held last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Wright on Albert street, under the auspices of the B.Y.P.U. of Park street Baptist church, was a great success socially and financially.

It was held for the purpose of securing funds for the new piano which the young people of the church are buying for the Sunday school of the new church. The pastor of the church the Rev. W. C. Riddiford, occupied the chair and afterwards the following programme was rendered. The evening was spent in pleasant social intercourse, after which light refreshments were served, and all went away feeling that Mr. and Mrs. R. Wright are ideal hosts.

The programme was as follows:—

Chairman Address—Rev. W. C. Riddiford
Solo—Mr. Dawson.
Recitation—Miss Ethel Hill.
Duet—Miss Maud Smith, Mr. C. J. Miller.
Instrumental Quartette—Messrs. Garside Griffin, Elliott, Griffin and MacCulla Solo—Miss Kennedy.

"A JOURNEY TO SKYLAND"

Will be Subject of Lecture at the Collegiate Institute This Evening

The lecture this evening in the Collegiate Institute will be entitled "A Journey to Skyland," and will be open to the public. There will be no charge.

Mr. G. Parry Jenkins, F.R.A.S., of Hamilton, who will be the speaker of the evening, has the happy faculty of making his talk plain to all, and in conjunction with the many views to be shown on the canvas, produces a lecture of interest to everyone.

This lecture is the second in a course of some seven which have been arranged for by the Royal Astronomical Society, and as they are particularly for beginners the public are cordially invited. It is to be hoped that the efforts of the society to bring these eminent men to Peterborough will be appreciated by all, and that the attendance will be large.

The great majority of people and a very large proportion of even well educated individuals are woefully ignorant of the most elementary facts of astronomy. The local society is endeavoring to correct this feature by a course of free lectures. Students at the Normal and High schools will find these illustrated talks of great value to them particularly.

Mr. Jenkins is a fellow of the British or parent Royal Astronomical Society, and as there are to-day but three fellows in the Dominion the honor is significant. Dr. Marsh also holds a place in this trio.

TRIED TO GET HIS MONEY

Flim Flam Game Nearly Caught an Ottawa Man---Was Warned by His Friends

A story is going the rounds of the narrow escape of a well-known young man of the city from the loss of $6000. It is claimed that three men, one of whom is a crook, of international prominence, were staying at a leading hotel here for the last few weeks with their eyes open for a prospective victim who might be separated from his money. It is said they made the acquaintance of the young man, who is well-to-do, and unfolded a scheme to him by which the four could work a get-rich-quick game on the other side of the line. It looked good to the victim, who is said to have provided himself with $6000 as his share of the investment, and on Friday afternoon last the four left Ottawa for across the border.

His friends, however, found out what was in the wind with the aid of Detective J. Rogers of the Attorney-General's office, and he was followed and made wise to the character of his companions. He returned to the city with his money still in his possession, while the three crooks finished their journey across the border in disappointment.

OBITUARY

Cobourg, March 8.—Mr. Jay Ketchum died here at 6 o'clock this evening. He was Junior Judge of the united counties of Northumberland and Durham and had held office for many years. The late judge was in his seventy-fourth year. He had been ill for about a week with peritonitis and heart trouble, and his death was not unexpected. The funeral will be held at Lakeport, and will be private. The late judge was a brother-in-law of Rev. Canon Davidson, of St. John's.

EZEKIEL DARKE

The mortal remains of the late Ezekiel Darke were laid to rest in the Union cemetery on Saturday last in the presence of sons, daughters and friends. The deceased was a familiar figure in Port Hope, having been a resident for 66 years. He was born in Cornwall, England, April 12, 1833 and came to Port Hope when ten years old. Fifty-three years ago he was married in Port Hope to Jane Moore who survives him. There were born to them three daughters, Mrs W H Burley, of Newtonville Station; Mrs Frank Bird and Mrs W. Welsh of Port Hope and five sons, Melville of Chicago; Henry of Clayton, NY.; John, of Detroit, Mich.; Hugh, of Peterborough, and Richard of Port Hope. Deceased was a Methodist [illegible] disposition and highly [illegible] by those who knew him.—Port Hope Guide.

EX-DIRECTORS OF BANK DISPUTE LAWYER'S BILL

Toronto, March 8.—Arnoldi and Grierson have taken out a taxing order in connection with a bill of law costs rendered to the old directors of the Ontario Bank and to-day before the Master-in-Chambers it was moved by some of the directors to set the order aside. The motion was enlarged until the 8th.

The Master was informed the defendants denied that they were either collectively or individually retained. Frank Arnoldi, K.C., to "protect" them in connection with the prosecution of President Cockburn and Manager McGill. Mr. Arnoldi had acted for President George Cockburn but in no other capacity. Further, the late Donald Mackay was a defendant and his estate ought to be represented. Then, too, two of the defendants were out of the city.

"So far as we are concerned," suggested Mr. Arnoldi's lawyer "a judgment against any one would be enough."

"Subject to the action now pending against the directors" remarked the Master.

The lawyers smiled.

"But I am serious," said the Master." "The action is for $2,500,000, is it not?"

The defendants disputed the retainer, objected to a reference to the taxing officer, and were willing to have the issue tried but without examination for discovery.

Arnoldi and Grierson claim $760. The surviving defendants are G. R. R. Cockburn, Thomas Walmsley, Richard Harcourt, R. Glass, John Flett and R. D. Perry.

PHILOMATHEAN SOCIETY

The regular meeting of the Philomathean Society was held in the Assembly Hall of the Collegiate, on March 8th. A large number of the pupils attended.

The meeting was opened by the reading of the minutes of the preceding meeting.

Miss Katharine Burnett then gave a piano solo, which was rendered excellently, and was much enjoyed.

This was followed by a humorous reading by Vincent McCabe. Miss Bessie Read next gave a vocal solo.

Then came the most important part of the programme, the debate. "Resolved, that theatres should be abolished." The leader of the affirmative was Bruce Lees and Miss Stella Cuff supported him. Mr. G. Hogan and Miss Mary Potter were on the negative side. The affirmative was taken by I.C. and the negative by I.B. The contest was close but the judges decided in favor of the affirmative.

A violin solo was then rendered by Miss Edwina Palmer in her usual skilful manner and it was much appreciated. Following this came a recitation by Miss Byers.

Mr. Hodgson then criticized the meeting.

The singing of the National Anthem then closed the meeting.

WILL NOT CHARGE CITY FOR THE WATER SERVICE

Agreement is Reached at Ottawa Whereby Waterworks Committee Will Not Charge City for Service

Ottawa, March 6.—The city will not have to pay out of the current revenue for the water it uses from the hydrants and for sprinkling purposes and in the civic buildings. This will mean that the general taxation rate will not have to be increased. The increase in the rate would have been inevitable if the Waterworks Committee last night had not given Mayor Hopewell a fair hearing and finally agreed to make a compromise on the question.

The Mayor said that if the waterworks carried its claim for $34,000 from the city an increase in the general taxation rate would be unavoidable. He pointed out that at present there were some properties which paid for fire protection practically only in the water rates. If the water rates were lowered at the expense of the general rate conditions would not be fair. The water-works was now paying no more than its fair share of the salaries of the heads of the civic departments. He suggested that for this year a set of books be kept showing all the earnings and expenditures of the waterworks and this would also show just how things would stand if it were operated as a separate department.

Ald. Hinchey wanted to know if the mayor would agree to a compromise. Let things stand as heretofore for the present year and let the city next year enter into the new management whereby the waterworks will be paid for services rendered the municipality.

The mayor replied that he could not undertake to say what the Council next year would do.

Ald Grant and Rosenthal spoke in favor of compromising. They suggested instead of asking the city to pay $34,000 for water from hydrants and salaries, that only $7,000 be asked. This $7,000 would be the amount of the salaries of several of the City Hall employees, which was borne last year by the waterworks, but which it is now proposed to have paid out of the current revenue. This suggestion was finally unanimously approved by the committee when presented in the form of a motion.

SIMPSON AND SHRUBB ARE MATCHED TO RUN FIFTEEN MILE RACE IN TORONTO

Toronto, March 9.—The negotiations for a fifteen-mile race between Alfred Shrubb and Fred Simpson, the Ojibway thunderbolt, have come to a head, and the chances are that articles will be signed this afternoon binding a race a race to be held in Toronto Armouries in two weeks.

The fifteen-mile relay race between Simpson and W. F. Cumming and Henry Jackson, the Midland Indian, scheduled for Wednesday night, is off.

In Simpson the Englishman will find the toughest sort of opposition. Simpson's phenomenal time a week ago is still fresh in the minds of the public. His ten miles under 53 minutes presages a clinking race for Shrubb and Tom Flok has money to wager that his Indian will beat the peerless Shrubb at fifteen miles.

Simpson came to town from Hiawatha today, and will commence his training immediately for this race.

Alf. Shrubb's supper to the unemployed will be given tomorrow night. A few more tickets are still available. They may be obtained from Mr. Chadwick, the secretary of the British Welcome League.

CHURCH LEAGUE WINDS UP AFFAIRS FOR THE SEASON

The executive of the Church Hockey League met last night in the Y.M.C.A. parlors and wound up the affairs of a most successful season. The secretary reported 96 players registered and 19 games played which provided some good sport for the fans. Financially the season was also a success, the treasurer showing a balance of $18.00.

In the senior series St Andrew's were returned winners and All Saints' carried off the honors in the junior division, both teams having to go every inch of the distance to win out.

The one regretful feature of the season was the default of St John's juniors in the middle of the season, but this was excusable as their team was broken up owing to the loss of several players who were barred by playing in City League games.

Guarantee deposits were ordered to be paid back to all teams who finished their schedule.

A committee of Messrs C N McWilliams, J H Reed, H Campbell and H Reed was appointed to make arrangements for a banquet to be given St Andrew's club when the Burnham trophy emblematic of the League championship will be presented that club.

A vote of thanks was tendered the YMCA. for the use of their parlors for the evening.

The meeting then adjourned (the banquet committee to meet next Tuesday night at eight o'clock in St. Andrew's lecture hall

ST. ANDREW'S HOCKEY CLUB EXPLAINS THE SITUATION

Sporting Editor Review.

Dear Sir,—In your issue yesterday you published a letter from the Strathcona hockey team accepting the challenge of the St Andrew's. The Straths also stated that they could not play for the championship of the city as the Lakefield club are champions of the City League.

I might say that in issuing the challenge to the Straths we did so under the impression that it would be up to the Straths, Quakers and St Andrew's, to fight it out for the championship of the city, inside the city limits.

As the Straths do not feel that they could conscientiously play for the city championship there is no need for our playing them, so we will withdraw our challenge, with the hope of meeting and putting it over them in the City League next year.

Signed—

St Andrew's Hockey Club.

ATHLETICS FOR NORMALITES

Club Has Been Formed at the School — Tennis Will be Among the Games

An athletic club has been founded at the Normal School. At a meeting of those interested held on Monday evening the following officers were elected and committee appointed:

Hon. president—Mr. D. Walker.
President—Colin W. Lees.
Treasurer—Miss L. Cadwell.
Secretary—Roy Gimney.

Committee to look after grounds, courts, nets, schedule, etc.—Messrs. Keyes, Learoyd and Patterson, Misses Park and Turner.

Committee for excursionists, etc.—Mr. Cornish, Mr. Welsh, Miss Dunn, with the officers of the club.

Committee to select name and form rules and regulations — President, treasurer and secretary.

It is expected that there will be three tennis courts at the school.

HOCKEY

Geale's team and Conroy's seven put up an interesting game of hockey at Brock street rink last evening. These two teams have met before, and have always furnished some good fast hockey. Last night was no exception and both teams worked hard to win the game, but only one counter was secured, and it went to Geale's team.

The P. C. I. will play a picked team at Brock street rink to-night from five to six, in preparation for their game with the junior O. H. A. team Thursday night, and the following players will represent the Collegiates: Meldrum, goal; Denison, point; Wallace, cover; Crane, rover; Geale, centre; Conroy, right wing; Fortye, left wing.

Hockey fans will see some good hockey this week, if the ice remains good and hard. Stirling and Norwood are billed to play Wednesday night for the championship of the Trent Valley League; P.C.I. and the junior O.H.A. team will meet Thursday night and Strathconas and St. Andrew's on Friday night. This will pretty nearly finish the hockey season for this year, and no doubt a large number will be on hand to see the games.

THE QUAKERS WERE DINED

Champions of Mercantile League Guests of Mr. T. H. G. Denne

A very pleasant event took place last night at Coleman Bros., when the Quakers' Hockey team, champions of the Mercantile League were the guests of Mr. T. H. G. Denne. Mr. Denne has always taken a great interest in the sports of his employees which has been greatly appreciated by them, and they have always put forth their best efforts in any sports they have taken part in. A large number of the players and officers were present last night, and all spent a pleasant time. After the party had done full justice to the good things that had been prepared for them on the well filled tables short speeches were made, in which the hockey team were congratulated on the fine showing they had made this year in the Mercantile League. During the evening the company was entertained by mandolin selections by Mr. Jack Brightman, songs by Messrs Henry and Coleman, and Mr. Cecil Williamson presided at the piano. Those present at the gathering were Messrs. T. H. G. Denne, W. Cochrane, E. Carr, J. Sullivan, H. Callaghan, J. Gilman, M. J. Kirn, F. Heaslip, J. Heffernan, D. Rightmeyer, Leo Derocher, Cecil Williamson, W. Pratt, Ira Moore, W. Henry, Jack Brightman.

WONDER WHO'S STAKEHOLDER?

W. B. Naylor Said to Have Backed Kid Batten for $500

Friday at the wrestling bout at Riverdale Rink, W. B. Naylor, on behalf of "Kid" Batten, the South African featherweight wrestling champion, challenged Artie Edmunds, of Toronto, to a match to a finish. Edmunds accepted on the spot. Batten wanted $250 side bet, but Edmunds wanted it doubled. Naylor immediately acquiesced. The chances are that the match will come off about March 26th.—Toronto Star.

REGULARS WON FROM "HAS BEENS"

Two teams composed of members of the Fresh Air Club met at Brock street rink last night from 7 to 8. The team that has represented the club this season played the Has-Beens and the result was a win for the regulars by ten goals to one. The score at half time was 3—1, and in this period the Has-Beens played a great game, but they faded away in the latter part of the contest, and the Regulars scored pretty much at will. Mr. J. Titterson gave good satisfaction handling the bell. The teams were:

REGULARS.		HAS-BEENS.

LETTER FROM A FORTY-NINER

Here is a simple, interesting and sincere letter from a rugged pioneer of '49, who braved the dangers and hardships of the overland trail to California. It should appeal to all catarrh victims.

Santa Rosa, Cal., May 5, 1908.

Booth's Hyomei Co., Buffalo, N.Y.

Dear Sirs;—I was afflicted with catarrh and tried a number of remedies, but received no relief. I purchased an outfit of Hyomei, and before I had used the bottle I noted a marked relief. I used it for a month or so, and thought I was cured, and stopped using it for a year or so. Thought I was getting catarrh again, and started using it again. I used it every morning, and keep myself clear of catarrh. I consider it the best catarrh medicine that is used. I have often recommended it to my friends. I am 81 years old. I came to California in 1849, and of course am not as vigorous as I was 58 years ago. My address is 841 4th street. Yours truly, W. Mock.

Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me) is guaranteed by Wm. Madill, druggist, Hunter-st., Peterborough, not only for catarrh, but for grip, coughs, colds, bronchitis and croup. A complete outfit, including inhaler, costs only $1.00; extra bottles of Hyomei, if afterwards needed, cost but 50 cents.

Marriage Record Not Altered.

Madrid, March 9.—The Criminal action in connection with the claim of Ernest Henri Batiste West to the Sackville peerage and estates, came to an end yesterday with the acquittal of Rolfir and Sanchez. These two men were accused of having altered the church records of the marriage of Josephine Durand de Ortega to a Spaniard named Oliva. This woman was the mother of the present claimant, and her alleged marriage to Oliva was relied on to bar his claim.

Taft's First Move.

Washington, March 9.—Simplified spelling is to exist no more in White House correspondence except as an antique and a curiosity. There is to be no more puzzling over sonorous sounds, and Presiden Taft's message to Congress and his other correspondence will contain words "spelled out" just as Mr. Taft spelled out his words when he wrote essays at Yale.

President Taft practically began this change in his inaugural address.

Grain at Port Arthur.

Port Arthur, March 9.—Grain is again beginning to come to the local yards in large quantities. There are now 150 cars in the Canadian Northern yards being transferred to elevators. This is mostly sold for May shipment. It is expected that the movement of grain will now reach such proportions that it will be necessary to increase the elevator staff.

Fatal Quarrel.

Winnipeg, March 9.—A special from Devil's Lake, N.D., says: Cashier Bryant of the Great Northern freight depot, yesterday shot and fatally wounded Agent O. J. Hoeper, and then shot himself.

There had been ill-feeling between the pair. Both were married and have families.

Soo Votes Bonus.

Sault Ste. Marie, March 9.—Only 12 voted yesterday against the bonus of $5,000 a year for 20 years for the proposed drydock. Of this amount one-half will be repaid in school taxes.

PRIMITIVE FOOTBALL.

With Goals Miles Apart Whole Parishes Would Take Part In Game.

It is interesting to read descriptions of the game of football as it was played in the olden times. In Carew's day, two, three or more parishes would challenge two or three other parishes. The goal was houses or villages two or three miles apart, and the side that reached the goal with the ball, whether by brute force or strategy, won the game. Bystanding villagers would inform the straggling players where the ball was being played, by crying, "Ware east!" "Ware west!" etc. The players, or "hurlers," as they were called, ran over "hills, dales, hedges, ditches, yea, and through bushes, briars, mires, plashes and rivers whatsoever, so as you shall sometimes see 20 or 30 lie tugging together in the water, scrambling and scratching for the ball."

Sometimes a whole town was used as a field and the party with the ball would sneak around corners and alleys in order to lose their opponents and gain the goal. One writer says he was "not a little amused to see, upon entering Leddington, all the inhabitants securing the glass of their front windows by placing hurdles before them and some by nailing laths. At Twickenham, Bushy and Hampton Wick they were all engaged in the same way. Having to stop a few hours at Kingston I had an opportunity of seeing the whole custom. At about 12 o'clock the ball is turned loose and those who can, kick it. I observed some persons of respectability following the ball. The game lasts about four hours, when the parties retire to the public houses."

Foot-ball has had as turbulent and warlike a history as is the game itself. As far back as 1314 it was expressly forbidden by Edward II. and in 1389 another act was passed by Richard II., outlawing the sport. This statute was re-enacted at various intervals by succeeding monarchs and twice during the reign of Elizabeth proclamation was made that no "foteballe play be used or suffered within the city of London and the liberties thereof, upon pain of imprisonment."

A Versatile Sculptor.

Mr. George J. Frampton, the well-known sculptor, upon whom the King has bestowed a knighthood, is one of the most versatile men in the world of art. Not only are there statues from his chisel of the late Queen in places as far apart as Calcutta and Winnipeg, but all over England many specimens of his handiwork are to be found, including figures and statues at Winchester Cathedral and on the beautiful spire of the University Church of Oxford. There are, of course, very many examples of Mr. Frampton's work scattered about the metropolis. The terra cotta decoration on the Constitutional Club is his; so is the sculpture on the exterior of Lloyd's. Nothing if not versatile, the artist has done much fine work in ivory, silver, and enamel, besides being the designer of the coronation and other medals.

The Shadow.

Being hissed by a public meeting of Athenians, the Greek orator Demosthenes quieted them by announcing that he had a short story to tell them. "A certain youth," he said, "hired an ass in summer time to go from here to Megera. About noon, when the sun was very hot, and both he that hired the ass and the owner were desirous of sitting in the shade of the ass, they each thrust the other away. The owner argued that he lent only the ass, but not the shadow. The hirer replied that, since he had hired the ass, all that belonged to the ass was his." Demosthenes turned as if to go away, but the mob called him back and begged him to proceed. He began with this retort, "How comes it to pass that you are desirous of hearing a story of the shadow of an ass and refuse to give ear to matters of greater moment?" The orator then made his speech, but he never told how the question was decided.

Where Everything Grows.

The tuberose flourishes amazingly in the open air in the Transvaal with but the smallest attention and cultivation. The bulbs shoot up their three or four foot stems, each bearing very sweet smelling flowers in an incredibly short space of time. In Pretoria roses are prolific—in fact, most of the streets are bounded by rose hedges throughout their length—and they bloom with a frail, pink monthly rose blossom for three-quarters of the year. In public places, such as the park, the profusion of roses, lilies, carnations and tuberoses is bewilderingly beautiful. The wild orchids of Swaziland are famous. They are of at least twenty different kinds. They are extremely curious, and with a little care and extra heat they can be induced to develop into very wonderful plants. Everything grows in the Transvaal if the trouble is taken to plant it.

Old Cache Found.

The workmen engaged in remodelling the old Hudson Bay fort at Edmonton recently unearthed 40 pounds of ammunition, of ancient manufacture. The find consists of about 160 shells and 380 pounds of powder which had been cached at the foot of one of the stairways which is now rotten.

The shells are of peculiar make, used only in the old Ballard service rifle weapon years ago. The date on the covering of the box was 1865. The cache was probably made when a band of Indians threatened the fort.

A Knock-turn.

When J. A. MacNeill Whistler lived in Chelsea, England, his peculiarities soon made him a familiar figure even among the bargemen, who got to know him as the artist of their beloved Thames. One afternoon, while sauntering along the embankment, Whistler was confronted by a man who had one eye most effectively blackened. The artist stopped and inquired, "What's the matter, my good fellow?" The man touched his hat. "Oh, nothing, sir—merely a knock-turn in blue and green."

John A. Munro, assistant registrar of South Grey, and for nearly fifty years a resident of Grey and Bruce counties, died at Durham on Feb. 22.

CROWNED HEADS AND CLOISTER.

Kings and Queens Who Would Get as Far From the Throne as Possible.

Viewed as a profession, being a king, queen or prince must be one of the hardest, most unenviable jobs on earth. How can this be proved? Easily, by the fact that, though the most honorable and one of the best-paid positions, yet great numbers are always "throwing up the job" of wearing a crown.

Whenever a king or a queen feels that pride and conscience will permit, he or she promptly descends from the throne and gets as far away from court as it is possible to go, which usually means the convent or monastery.

It is said on excellent authority that Queen Maria Cristina, mother of King Alfonso of Spain, will take the veil within the next few months. She has long said that as soon as her son was happily married and an heir to the throne established she would escape from the hated ceremony of court forever.

The Dowager Queen of Portugal would leave the court and the world at once if the tangled state of the little nation's affairs did not make it her duty to help keep the tottering dynasty on the throne.

If Mexico were to think better of its murder of the Emperor Maximilian, and decide to re-establish a monarchy, it would have to seek its new emperor in a monastery. A few weeks ago Prince Augustine de Iturbide the heir to the throne, joined the Third Order of St. Francis.

In the fashionable society of most of the European capitals Prince Augustine was prominent for many years, but, as in the case of the Grand Duchess Elizabeth of Russia, an assassination preyed on his mind and after a recent severe illness he decided to retire from the world.

The other day the Cardinal Archbishop of Cologne received in private audience a Dominican monk, who gave his name as Brother Raymond. The cardinal and the monk remained for some time in prayer.

Many were surprised at the unusual honor done to a poor priest, until it was whispered that the monk was none other than Prince Charles of Lowenstein, in whose veins flows the blood of kings and crusading princes.

It is only a few weeks since his highness took the vows. Several reasons have been given for the step. One is that the prince is a victim of unrequited love, the other that he is disgusted at the small progress made by his antidueling campaign.

The first reason is rather absurd, for the prince is nearly 75 years old and is still passionately devoted to the memory of his late wife.

The second reason may have something in it, for though the prince found converts in the Kings of Saxony and Wurtemberg and the Grand Duke of Hesse, it was known that the Kaiser himself disapproved secretly of the Antidueling League and the crusade has made comparatively little progress.

Four of his children are in convents; one is a poor sister of charity of St. Francisca of Aachen; another is in a lonely convent among the mountains of Bohemia; a third is in a Hungarian convent of the strictest rule, and a fourth is a Benedictine nun at Ryde, in the Isle of Wight.

The last has as her companion the widow of an ex-King of Portugal, the Archduchess Adelaide, who married the Duke of Bragana, after he had been forced to abdicate from the Portuguese throne.

The Modern Herring.

"Extract of smoke," said the canner, dipping his brush into a pot of brown fluid.

"Extract of smoke?" repeated the dazed reporter.

"Smoke extract," said the canner.

He took up a fresh herring, painted it with a dark mixture and laid it on a board, beside a long, long line of brother herrings.

"Now, in the past," he explained, "you smoked herrings by hanging them up for days in smokehouses wherein smouldered fires of costly aromatic woods. That process was slow and expensive; we have quite improved it out of existence. We paint our herring now with this really quite harmless chemical extract of smoke—a coal-tar product—and as soon as he is dry he is ready for the market."

The reporter tasted one of the herrings.

"But this isn't half as good as the smoked herrings of my boyhood," he protested.

"Not as good, perhaps," agreed the canner, "but ever so much more profitable."

Jerome's Appearance In Pantomine.

Jerome K. Jerome, the humorist and playwright, whose successful play, "The Passing of the Third-Floor Back," has been transferred to Terry's Theatre, London, knows from long experience much of the ins and outs of stage life. One of the early vicissitudes of his life as an actor was to be offered his choice of playing the part of either a soldier or a donkey in a pantomine—a real donkey with four legs. After careful consideration he thought the red coat the more becoming disguise, and chose the part of the soldier. Apparently he made a mistake, from the point of view of success, at all events, for a few days afterwards the manager came to him and said, "You made a great mistake, Jerome, in not taking the part of the donkey. It would just suit you, and there's five shillings a week more in it."

Uses For Alcohol.

There is no end of things that alcohol is good for. It should always be kept in the house. It is excellent to rub on the head for headaches, and it is an excellent tonic to rub on the skin if you are tired. It will almost always remove medicine stains.

Blind Lady's Sight Restored.

Miss Alice Hollis, of Port Huron, Michigan, who had been blind for 36 years, has just had her sight restored by Dr. Pagenstecher, of Wiesbaden. "I am no happier now," she declares, "for I never allowed my blindness to make me unhappy."

G. B. Little and W. G. Rennie were elected president and vice-president respectively of the East York Plowing Association at the annual meeting.

CANNIBALISM.

Awful Practice Has Now Given Way to "Pig Feasts."

Though cannibalism used to be practiced to a great extent in Papua it has now given place to "Pig Feasts," which are extremely popular. "The preparation for these feasts," says a writer, "often takes days beforehand, for they are nothing if not movable. The feast is announced for a certain day, but at the appointed time all the necessary pigs may not have been brought in, or some expected visitors may not have arrived, or a pig already present may have struggled free from its bonds and have to be hunted for a day or two. But no one ever seems to mind the delay. With well-bred calmness they wait until everything is quite ready and then the feast begins.

"On one such occasion there were nearly 1,000 people present, and 50 pigs, 2,000 cocoanuts and huge piles of taro were distributed. The feast-givers got nothing; that is a universal custom. The recipients likewise neither cooked nor ate a morsel until they got home, for it is considered good form in Papua to eat nothing but to carry away everything, thus practically reversing our notions of hospitality. There was a great heap of dismembered pigs lying on the ground, and the presiding genius of the feast, with his assistants, threw these violently toward the guests. Each important man had retainers, who ran forward and bore the joint off, while the less fortunate ones kept up a running fire of comment—identifying a pig's head as having been the contribution of some particular man, or reproving the hill-folk for their awkward gait, telling them not to fear precipices on the coast, and so on."

Police Dogs Capture Three Men.

New York, March 9.—Max and Nogi, police dogs stationed at Parkville, in the outskirts of Brooklyn, distinguished themselves early Sunday morning by running down and capturing three men who were escaping from the police. For the first time since they were put on the force a year ago the highest hope of Commissioner Bingham for them was realized. They tripped the fugitives by running between their legs and held them until their masters could come up and arrest the men.

CLOTHIERS AND FURNISHERS TO MEN WHO KNOW

MISS BIRDIE DAWSON WOULD WIN THE REVIEW'S EUROPEAN TRIP IF THE CONTEST ENDED TO-DAY

IF the Candidates Did Not Have Any Votes Held Back and IF To-day's Score Included all the Votes of all the Candidates, the Grand Prize Would go to Miss Birdie Dawson—The Diamond Rings Would go to Miss Maude Adams, Miss Rose P. Moore, Herb McMillan and P. G. Towns—The Gold Watches Would go to Miss Maud Perry, Miss Lila Finlay, W. G. Rundle and Sidney Smithson—BUT—The Contest Doesn't Close To-day, and Almost Any of the Candidates Could Cause a Great Shake-up by Voting Some of Their Reserve Vote.

If you did not get in on the special ballot offer you should profit by the experience and see that you benefit by the bonus given with "cash clubs" on both new and old, which will be in force during the remainder of the contest. The extra votes given are a little less than the offer which closed last night, but the chance is still open for candidates to increase their reserve. Every contestant starts off with a clean slate—that is, no business previously turned in will count. The regular scale of votes will remain in force, and the "special" is given in addition. When a candidate has turned in $10 worth of NEW subscriptions, Daily or Weekly, an extra certificate for 4000 votes will be given; for each $10 worth of OLD subscriptions an extra certificate will be issued good for 2000 votes. Turn in the subscriptions as you get them and when the amount reaches $10 the certificate will be issued at once, and you may either vote or hold it. Candidates will please read these few lines again.

Yesterday was the biggest, busiest day the contest man has had during the Review's demonstration of its interest in its subscribers. The special ballot club offer was the incentive that directed the eager feet of a score of hustling, aggressive candidates toward the Review office as late as 9 o'clock. Extra votes, new subscribers and club ballots were the words ringing in the contest man's ears all day and evening. When he finally found time to slip out for a few minutes to a quick tea he thoughtlessly but naturally ordered "A couple of fried subscribers and a cup of club ballots." And the smile on the face of the waitress brought him back long enough to wrap himself around some "ham and—"

But all this is purely incidental. The one big, interesting fact that is submerged in this ocean of detail is that this contest is just a little the greatest and most interesting that has ever been held in this section of the province. The public in general and the candidates in particular have awakened to the fact that there is an opportunity which comes but once in a life time. The immense volume of business brought to this office yesterday is a most gratifying indication of the seriousness with which candidates have taken up the work.

Opportunity—what a queer element it is in human affairs. Most men claim to have missed it. Some miss it through a want of prompt decision, while others through plain defective vision. Procrastination is the besetting sin of about two-thirds of mankind. To-morrow is rosy with hope, but in the calendar of wisdom there is but one day—the present. The close of last week's business has demonstrated this fact in about twenty different cases.

The men and women who seized the chance to get in on the ground floor now feel that they have an even chance to win one of the Review's nine magnificent prizes. A few who no doubt missed the special ballot offer will take full advantage of the bonus given from now until the finish of both new and old business. While it is not as good an offer as the one just closed, by a little extra effort it will be a boon to those who fell short of securing their quota of "sleeve votes" for the finish.

It is an old maxim that the plucky man is usually the lucky man. Of course, a man's own success is due to his ability, but the other fellow's success is just pure luck. No Micawbers win a prize in this contest. Nothing is going to "turn up" unless the candidate puts a crowbar beneath it.

NATURAL ZOO FOR ROME.

Hagenbeck Plans Garden In Which Animals Will Live as If Free.

Ground has already been measured in Rome for an innovation over which Romans are most enthusiastic—a zoological garden is to be built on up to date lines, so that the visitor might fancy himself in the wilds of Africa or in the snows of Siberia.

Charles Hagenbeck, the animal tamer and merchant, has undertaken the plan. The idea is to give each animal as much as possible its natural surroundings and allow it to live in the open. For instance, lions will have miniature jungles, bears caves, and so on each individual little world being inclosed either by high iron palings or deep and wide ditches, as the case may require, but so concealed by vegetation as to be unnoticeable.

Paths for visitors will be carefully guarded so the student of animal life will have every facility in perfect safety.

The new zoo will be part of the Villa Borghese. It is estimated that it will cost $240,000 without the land. Ten cents will be the ordinary entrance fee. One day in the week it will be 20 cents and the last Sunday in every month five cents. Seventy-five thousand tickets will be given yearly to school children, for which the city will pay.

What She Thought of the Stage.

A good story is told of Mr. Beerbohm Tree, whose "Pinkie and the Fairies" contributed largely to London's Christmas enjoyment at His Majesty's. The famous actor was once prevailed upon in kindness of heart to engage a servant girl out of the workhouse. She was desperately untidy, and, after various attempts to teach her method, Mrs. Tree told her husband that it was no use, the girl must really go. "Oh, try her a little longer," urged Mr. Tree. And she was granted a respite. However, it was all in vain, and to Mr. Tree, as he had engaged the girl, fell the task of getting rid of her. He told her that if she did not mend her ways she must return to the workhouse. "Oh, no, I sha'n't," she snapped out, rudely. "I'll get another situation." "But I cannot give you a character," returned the actor, "and you will find it very difficult to get another situation without a character." "Perhaps!" was the insolent retort. "At all events, if the worst should come to the worst, I can always go on the stage."

Jane Cable

...By...

GEORGE BARR McCUTCHEON,

Author of "Beverly of Graustark," Etc.

COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY DODD, MEAD & COMPANY

He went out and bought the evening papers. The thought came to him that Graydon had heard the stories and was deliberately staying away from him. Perhaps the Cables had been talking to him.

"By heaven," he grated as he paused in front of his home, "if she's turned him against me I'll turn this city into anything but a paradise for her. What a fool I've been to wait so long! I've given her the chance to tell her side of the case first. She's made the first impression. What could I have been thinking of? Droom was right. I should have demanded less of her. A man is never too old to be a fool about women. Oh, if she's turned that boy against me I'll"—

He did not finish the threat, but started off swiftly through the night toward the Cable home. He had no especial object in view; it was simply impossible for him to conquer the impulse to be near his son. Like a thief he lurked about the street in the vicinity of Cable's house, standing in the shadows, crossing and recrossing the street many times, always watching the lighted windows with hateful eyes. It was after 8 o'clock, and the night was damp with the first breath of spring. There was a slight chill in the air, but he did not feel it, although he was without an overcoat.

The lights on the second floor, he knew, were in Mrs. Cable's room. In his mind's eye he could see Graydon there with the others listening to the story as it fell from prejudiced, condemning lips—the pathetic, persuasive lips of a sick woman. He knew the effect on the chivalrous nature of his son; he could feel the coldness that took root in his boy's heart.

A light mist began to blow in his face as he paced back and forth along the short block in which the Cables lived. He was working his imagination up to a state bordering on frenzy. In his fancy he could hear Graydon cursing him in the presence of his accusers. At the end of the street he could see the break in the sea wall where Cable and his wife had met, and he could not help wishing that Droom had not pulled her from the water. Then he found himself wondering if they had told Jane the story of her origin. The hope that she was still undeceived flashed through him; it would give him a chance for sweet revenge.

He confessed to himself that he was reckless. The transactions of the past few days had left him at the edge of the abyss. He recognised his peril, but could not see beyond his own impulses.

"I believe I'll do it," he was muttering to himself as he paused across the street from their door. "Graydon ought to hear both sides of the story."

He crossed the street with hesitating steps. His thin coat collar was buttoned close about his neck; his gloveless hands were wet and cold from the mist. As he stopped at the foot of the stone steps a man came hurrying along, glancing at the house numbers as he approached.

"Do you know whether this is David Cable's house?" he asked.

Bansemer saw that he was a young man and an eager one.

"I think it is."

The other bounded up the steps and rang the bell. When the servant opened the door Bansemer heard the new arrival ask for Cable, adding that he was from one of the newspapers and that he must see him at once.

Bansemer stood stark and dumb at the foot of the steps. The whole situation had rushed upon him like an avalanche. Harbert had filed his charges, and the hasty visit of the reporter proved that David Cable was an instrument in them. The blood surged to his head. He staggered under the shock of increased rage.

"Graydon is against me! They've won him over! Open the door! I want my son!" He shouted the demand in the face of the startled servant as he pushed rudely past him.

"You stay here, young fellow, and you'll hear a story that will fill a whole paper. I am James Bansemer. Where is Cable? You!" to the servant.

"Sh!" cried the frightened servant, recognizing him. "Mrs. Cable is resting, sir."

"What are you doing here?" Bansemer demanded of the reporter, exerting all his crafty resourcefulness in the effort to calm himself.

"Cable has been elected president of the"— began the young man just as Cable himself started down the stairway.

"Cable, where is my son?" demanded Bansemer loudly, starting toward the steps. He had not removed his hat and was indeed an ominous figure. Cable clutched the stair rail and glared down at him in amazement. Before he could pull himself together sufficiently to reply Graydon Bansemer hurried past him and started in alarm at the unexpected figure below.

"What's the matter, dad?" he cried. "What has happened?"

"Ah! You think something could have happened, eh? You shan't be taken in by them. Come down here, boy!"

"Father, are you crazy?" gasped Graydon, rushing down the stairs.

"Get him away from here, Graydon, for God's sake," exclaimed Cable. "Take him away! He's your father, but if he stays in this house a minute longer I'll kill him!"

The man from the newspaper was shrewd enough to withdraw into a less exposed spot. He saw a great "beat" in prospect.

Graydon stopped as if stunned by a blow. Bobby Rigby came running to the head of the stairs, followed by Jane and another young woman. James Bansemer could not have been expected to know it, but Rigby and Miss Clegg had come to tell these friends that they were to be married in December.

"Kill me, eh? Not if you can't do a better job than you did the other night. Here, you reporter, ask Mr. Cable to explain the mystery of that affair on the lake front. Oh, I know all about it! You've started in to ruin me, but I'll be in on it myself. We'll have a general cleaning up."

"Father! What are you talking about?" cried Graydon, aghast.

"They haven't told you about the lake front, eh? I should think not. See him cringe!"

Cable had indeed fallen back against the wall, halfway up the steps, white and trembling. His eyes were raised, and he was the first to see Mrs. Cable as she came from her room.

"Go back!" he whispered hoarsely to her. She reached the banister and leaned over, her eyes filling with terror after a swift glance at Jane.

"Take Jane away," she murmured, realizing that the blow was to fall.

"I'll stop his infernal tongue!" shouted Cable, leaping down the steps, his eyes blazing. James Bansemer laughed as he braced himself for the shock. They did not come together, for Graydon threw his big frame in the path of the assailant. For an instant there was a frightful uproar. Rigby and the servant rushed to the young man's assistance. The women were screaming with terror, the men were shouting, and there was a violent struggle which played havoc in the hallway.

"Call the police!" shouted Rigby.

"You infernal traitor!" hissed James Bansemer. "You claim to be Graydon's friend, and yet you are the one who has led the plot to ruin me."

"What does it all mean?" cried Graydon, holding the shaking Cable tightly.

There was a moment of intense silence, except for the heavy breathing of the men. Graydon was staring wide-eyed at his father. He saw the cruel, sardonic smile spread over his face and shuddered.

"I've simply come to take you out of the clutches of these people. I've waited to see if that scheming woman up there would tell you of her own accord. She hasn't told you, so I will. You cannot marry that girl, for your haughty Jane Cable was picked up on a doorstep, cast off by the woman who bore her!"

The crash had come. The heartless accuser stood like a tragic player in the center of the stage, pouring out his poison without a touch of pity for the stricken girl, who, after the first thrill of indignation and horror, had shrunk back into her mother's arms, bewildered.

"Call the police, if you like," laughed Bansemer, at the end of his tirade. "It isn't a criminal offense to tell the truth. It will sound just as well in court, Mr. Rigby."

"Jane, Jane," Mrs. Cable was murmuring, "I might have saved you all this, but I couldn't—oh, I couldn't pay the price."

"You snake," groaned Cable, weak and hoarse with rage. "Jane, he has lied! There is not a word of truth in what he says. I swear it to you."

"Ho, ho. By heaven, she hasn't told you, after all!" cried Bansemer. "You still think she is yours!"

"Father!" exclaimed Graydon, standing straight before the other. David Cable had dropped limply into a chair, his hand to his heart. "I won't stand by and hear you any longer. Take back what you've said about her or I'll forget that you are my father and"—

"Graydon!" exclaimed Bansemer, falling back, his expression changing like a flash. The smile of triumph left his face, and his lip twitched. "You forget I—I am doing this for your sake. My God, boy, you don't understand. Don't turn from me to them. They have"—

Extending Public Service.

Port Arthur, March 9.—It is understood T. H. McCauley, former manager of the Twin City Street Railway, discharged when the Fort William interest got control, is likely to be appointed to the management of a new system at Calgary. Extensions of the local telephone and street railway systems into the townships are being considered.

A bold attempt at purse-snatching occurred Sunday evening just after nightfall, when a man grabbed a bag carried by Mrs. Whittaker. The woman held on until hauled into the roadway, when the would-be robber, frightened with the screaming, ran.

THINKS VAUDEVILLE HOUSE HERE IS A PIPE DREAM

ment moving picture and vaudeville man of Buffalo, was in the city today on his way to Toronto where he has business with Mr. (Shea) of Shea's Theatre. Mr. Stewart does not think anything of the idea of establishing a vaudeville house in Peterborough and says he is of the opinion that any reports to the effect that one would be located here were purely imaginary.

"The only way that I see that vaudeville could be worked here," he said "is in conjunction with moving pictures. No performers of the big circuit would be willing to stop off here for a night or even two nights and the town is not large enough to support a vaudeville house putting on a week's performance."

WAN WHO DIED IN BIBWABIC, MINN., SAID TO BE FROM PETERBORO'

Mr. Ted Cavanagh has received the following letter from a man in Bibwabic, Minnesota, informing him of the death of a John Patterson, who is supposed to have lived here at one time. Mr. Cavanagh has not been able to receive any information as to the relatives of the dead man, and has placed the letter in the hands of the local authorities, and any information will be gladly received by the chief. The letter is as follows:

March 6th, 1909.

Bibwabic Hardware Co.,
Bibwabic, Minnesota.

Mr. Ted Cavanagh:

Dear Sir,—A man by the name of John Patterson died here on the 22nd of February last. I could not find any letters or papers among his effects that would give any clue as to who his friends or relatives are. Today a man by the name of Morris Erwin, who was acquainted with him, told me that his former home was in Peterborough, Canada, and gave me your name and address. If you know of his friends and will inform them, and if they wish to learn further particulars they can write me.

Yours respectfully,
H. G. SEELEY,
Dep. Coroner,

CHAMPIONS WILL BE BANQUETTED

Meeting of City League Held Last Night..Past Season Was a Successful One

The City Hockey League meeting was held last night at the Oriental Hotel, and all the teams were represented but High Lifes and Lakefield. The league has had a very successful season, and the championship has gone to Lakefield. The gate receipts have not been as large as in some former years, but the teams will receive a considerable amount. The arrangements for the banquet to the Lakefield team were discussed, and a committee composed of Messrs. Metheral, Butcher, Picard, Clark and Hall was appointed to look after them. The banquet will probably take place in two weeks, when Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P., the donor of the cup, will be present and present the trophy to the champions. The committee who have charge of the arrangements will endeavor to make this the most successful banquet of the City League.

A SCRAP OF PAPER.

Charred and Discarded, It Brought Wealth to a Poor Widow.

Some years ago a poor widow kept a small shop in a Berlin suburb. One evening as she was serving a customer a workingman stepped into the shop and asked permission to light his pipe. Drawing a piece of paper from his pocket, he twisted it up and, after lighting his pipe, threw down the spill and walked off with a word of thanks.

When sweeping the floor the following morning the widow took up the charred paper out of idle curiosity and, unfolding it, saw that it was a lottery ticket, only a portion of which had been burned. She folded it up, put it away in her pocket and had almost forgotten it, when the result of a large lottery drawing caught her eye in the paper.

She then remembered the crumbled ticket in her pocket, and on producing it found, to her amazement and delight, that it had won a prize of $50,000. She claimed the prize, and, although she advertised widely for its original owner, with the intention of sharing it with him, she was left in undisturbed possession of her fortune. —Exchange.

When John Was in Doubt.

John was a coachman who took life most seriously and, being very particular, would return frequently in the course of the day to make sure he understood the orders that had been given him in the morning. One afternoon he presented himself before his mistress and began:

"Mrs. T., Oi'm not quite certain as to Mr. T.'s ordher this mornin'. Oi was droivin' him to the thrain, an' he noticed that the horse was lame, an' he told me to do somethin' fo him, mum; but, sure, Oi don't know whither he told me to shoe him or to shoot him. Mebbe ye can till me."

A shoeing was evidently required, but the execution of the order and likewise of the horse was deferred until Mr. T. returned.

Albert T. Patrick appeared again before the Appellate Division in Brooklyn and made an earnest plea for liberty, or death.

HERO AND BURGLAR.

Gallant Career of English Laborer Smirched by Crimes.

A tragic example showing how men can fall from heroism to crime was given recently at the Old Bailey Police Court, London, in the history of George William Owens, a Walthamstow laborer, aged 31, who pleaded guilty to two burglaries and to stealing in all jewelry worth $1,360. He was sentenced to eighteen months' hard labor.

The police evidence showed that Owens had been sent to the Cornwall, a reformatory ship, as a boy for a petty theft. From the date of leaving the ship to the end of last year he had striven to live honestly, but had been unfortunate in losing his work. During the year 1908 he had become an expert burglar and shopbreaker, and there was reason to believe that he had made a considerable sum by his crimes.

The prisoner's counsel, Mr. Metcalf, told a touching story of his earlier and nobler career. In the Cornwall he distinguished himself by his good conduct and rose to the rank of a band sergeant. He saved another boy from drowning at the risk of his life, and a dinner was given in his honor by the officers of the ship, at which Gen. Buller was present.

In the disaster at the launch of the Albion at Blackwall in 1898, when a sudden backwash swept 200 people into the water, he once more displayed splendid courage. He plunged gallantly in to the rescue of the drowning and saved three persons from death—one a girl who afterwards became his wife. For his behaviour on this occasion he was awarded the Royal Humane Society's medal. Thus from first to last he saved four lives only to end in the dock. He did not take to crime until he had tried cornet playing in the streets, after all hope of obtaining employment had been lost.

"There never was a bad man that had ability for good service," said a great thinker. Judging by the good service which Owens had rendered at the risk of his life there will be hope for him yet when his sentence is served. Such a man cannot be incurably bad.

PREMIER'S DOUBLE.

New Zealander Is Mistaken For the Prime Minister of Victoria.

A New Zealand gentleman, who happens to bear a close resemblance to Sir Thomas Bent, the Premier of Victoria, had some amusing experiences while in Melbourne recently. This gentleman is Edmund Wickes, of Greymouth. The story he tells was related to a Christchurch reporter on his return to New Zealand.

On landing in Melbourne, Mr. Wickes was astounded and amused to see the policemen salute him. He boarded the Wainui, of which steamer his son is engineer, and his son was greeted with the remark: "Hullo, you're in good company; you've got Sir Thomas with you."

For five weeks Mr. Wickes underwent similar experiences. At that time Sir Thomas Bent was ill, and Mr. Wickes was being continually stopped by Melbourne citizens, who shook hands with him and congratulated him on his recovery. At his hotel there were numerous people who wanted to be introduced to "Sir Thomas," and even a close personal friend of Sir Thomas Bent was deceived by the resemblance.

One night Mr. Wickes decided to stay at his son's hotel. Rising at his usual time (6 a.m.) he found that breakfast would not be ready for some time, and he decided to get the meal outside. Entering a restaurant, he sat down at a table, but was invited by a waitress to go to the private room. Nothing loth, he complied with the request. Hearing some feminine giggling outside the door, he invited the waitresses in. To his astonishment, one of them remarked: "We know you, Sir Thomas; you have been out all night. Oh, fie!"

A Fish Which Is a Mimic.

Two species of fish belonging to Cuvier's family of perches, named the lesser weever, otterpike, or stingfish, are not uncommon on the English coast. Both have a detachable portion of the dorsal fin, consisting of six or seven rays, which, The Lancet points out, when trodden upon or handled, can cause a painful wound, which takes a long time to heal. Dr. A. T. Masterman points out that the intense black color of the membrance of this portion of the fin must act as a danger signal, especially as it is in marked contrast with the rest of the skin and of the sand, in which the animal half buries and conceals itself, ready to dart out on the small crustaceans which form its prey.

Now, the right pectoral or upper fin of the sole has, especially in the young sole, a large, deep, black patch, the possession of which, the doctor suggests, constitutes a well-marked example of mimicry. The smaller fry of soles, like the weevers, inhabit sandy bays and shallows, and also partially bury themselves in the sand. Dr. Masterman has found that, unlike the turbot and plaice, which when disturbed make active efforts to swim or escape, the sole lies quiescent even to the point of simulating death, but at the same time erects sharply and spreads its upper pectoral fin, which thus forms a motionless black flag held upwards in a menacing attitude.

"Pig-Killer-in-Chief."

Dr. Montague Stone-Wigg, who is retiring from the Bishopric of New Guinea on account of ill-health, has had an adventurous life and many queer experiences. Once, not so very long ago, he acted as pig-killer-in-chief at a great carnival of savages. The bishop had objected to the native method of slaughtering swine for their great banquets, for it involved at least ten minutes' agony to the wretched animals, and he offered to show them a better way. There were 150 to be slaughtered for 2,000 savages. The bishop and one of his clergy set to work to shoot the animals, and in a very short time they had killed fifty

THE MILITIA TO ECONOMIZE BORDEN DEFENDS ESTIMATES

Liberal Member Severely Criticizes Morals of Annual Camps and Says Mothers Will Not Allow Sons to go—Senator Ross Against Elective Senate.

Ottawa, March 10.—At 10 o'clock last night, Sir Frederick Borden concluded a three-hours' speech in defence of his militia estimates.

Several Conservative members spoke in reply, but perhaps the most sensational criticism was that made by Mr. Robb, the new Liberal member from Huntington, Quebec, who said that no self-respecting mother would allow her son to attend a militia camp, where he would learn nothing but to smoke cigarettes and to drink bad whisky.

Sir Frederick announced that to economize, many corps would be drilled at local headquarters this year instead of being sent to camp, and certain corps in disorganized condition would not be trained at all.

The report of the militia council presented to Parliament last night mentioned that advantage was taken of the visit of the first cruiser squadron to Halifax to obtain expert naval opinion regarding certain matters connected with the defence of that fortress, and thanks are due to Capt. Sir Robert Arbuthnot, for a very valuable report drawn up under his direction.

The report proceeds to say that: "Questions connected with the military situation, both at home and abroad were carefully studied. The general scheme of defence was in part amended; and the allotment of units to field forces and garrisons revised and brought up to date."

Special mention is made of the cadet corps and the fact is referred to with satisfaction that the movement shows steady growth. On March 31, 1908, there were under the control of the Department of Militia 145 corps of cadets with an enrolled membership of 9,000 boys.

Sir Frederick Borden in making his annual statement on the militia estimates, said that, like in all other branches of the public service, the Militia Department had been obliged to frame its estimates under the limitations imposed by falling off national revenue. However, he would point out that since the expenditure, entailed by taking over the defence of Halifax and Esquimault, had been assumed (in 1905-06) there had been not an increase, as commonly stated, but a decrease in the militia expenditure. Thus, in that year the total outlay was $5,594,000; in the nine months of 1906-07, $4,322,967; in 1907-08, $6,796,088, while for 1908-09 the amount voted was $6,749,275. For the fiscal year 1909-10, Parliament would be asked to vote in main and supplementary estimates, the sum of $6,113,000.

The Minister referred with satisfaction to the steady increase in number of men trained, while in 1895-6 the number was 19,000 men and 1,125 horses, in 1908-9, 47,500 men and 8,500 horses were drilled. Should the same number be drilled next summer the vote asked would fall $215,000 short of the required amount.

Considerable attention was paid by the Minister to criticism of the increased cost of the headquarters' staff, which had grown from about $92,000 in 1904-5 to $144,000 in the present fiscal year. Previous to 1905 the staff, founded on an obsolete system, was inadequate, regulations and correspondence had fallen into arrears and there was wasteful expenditure that could not be controlled. Therefore, the extra expenditure upon the staff was justified, while its work was performed now upon a system almost identical with that of the Imperial army.

As to the permanent corps, it had been reduced to 2,905, making a reduction in pay of $28,000. The Minister defended the existence of the permanent force, principally upon the ground of its value as an instructional body. Out of the total permanent force of about 3,000, more than half, namely, 1,600, are maintained for garrisoning Halifax and Esquimault, an Imperial obligation.

As to the army of 100,000 men as a first line of defence, the Minister went into detailed explanations, observing that it would be necessary to increase the force of artillery, an expensive arm to equip, but as to the re-armament with the new 10-pounder guns progresses more guns will be made available wherewith to arm additional batteries.

Since 1896, according to a return brought down in the House yesterday, the Government has paid for discount and stamp duties upon temporary loans the sum of $1,874,901.

Two temporary loans have been negotiated in 1909, one for five millions for 82 days and another for $5,000,000 for a month.

The discount paid on them was $32,339. Both loans were negotiated with the Bank of Montreal in Ottawa.

Senator G. W. Ross took strong ground against a partially elective Senate in continuing the debate on Hon. R. W. Scott's motion in the Upper House yesterday.

He declared the Senate must either be independent or subservient. If the Senate were made elective he doubted if its independence would be as great as at present constituted. An elective Senator would be likely to seek re-election and in doing so would be not unlikely to pander to public opinion—a thing which the Senator would not do.

During the three sessions he had been associated with the Senate he had been surprised to see how insignificant the political element in the Senate is. He did not know how men could be gathered who would discuss bills with greater impartiality and with less political feeling than that is shown by the present session in dealing with bills from the lower House.

WANTS DR. McNICHOL TO TESTIFY IN KINRADE CASE

His Evidence Regarding Sister's First Story of Tragedy is Required—Brother of Murdered Girl Gives Out Statement—No Family Troubles.

Hamilton, March 10.—The body of Miss Ethel Kinrade was exhumed yesterday afternoon after resting in its grave since a week ago Sunday.

Aside from the fact that the crown wants to find out exactly how many bullets and wounds there are in the body, there is nothing sensational in this move, according to the explanations of the authorities. They say they want to use Dr. McNichol, the first medical man who saw the girl after she was murdered, as a witness, and as it would have been irregular for him to have acted as a witness and a coroner, too, it was decided by the Attorney-General's Department that it would be better to have everything done in a regular and legal manner.

Dr. McNichol is wanted as a witness by the crown, not altogether on account of his medical testimony, but because he was the first to hear Miss Florence Kinrade's story. Her story to him differed from her subsequent stories. Amongst other things, she told him that the man who shot her sister had red hair and a red moustache. Not long after, to detective Bleakley, she said that the man was of medium dark complexion, and had a large wavy drooping black moustache. To the doctor, she said also that when the man entered the hall he forced her back to near the dining-room, and that her sister came downstairs, and that the man getting frightened turned around and shot her. She made no mention to him of going upstairs to get the $10.

Brother Makes Statement.

Toronto, March 10.—Earl Kinrade, in a signed statement given yesterday says in part:

"The man, I take it, was a common thief or burglar, armed, and a stranger to the city.

"From my knowledge of our family affairs I am quite positive that there was no situation which could lead to anyone wanting to get into the house and shoot any member of the family. Not only was there no quarrel or any jealousy between my sisters, but they got along all the time much better with each other than do most girl chums. Neither was in the least quarrelsome."

WAREHOUSE COLLAPSED

Montreal, March 10.—The interior of the building, 19 William street, collapsed some time during the night, three floors and their various contents descending to the basement in a great mix-up. The building is owned by C. H. Catelli, Limited, manufacturers of vermicelli, who occupied the top floor. The second floor was used as a storehouse for woodenware by Laporte, Martin & Co., wholesale grocers, and the ground floor by A. D. McGillis & Co., commission merchants. It is supposed the top floor was overweighted with flour and machinery, causing the collapse.

Presbytery Report To-morrow.

Owing to lack of space it was not found possible to publish the account of the proceedings at the meeting of the Peterborough Presbytery held yesterday at St. Andrew's. A full report will appear in to-morrow's issue.

Jumps, and Then Jabs Throat.

Morton, Ont., March 10.—E. Young, attempted suicide by jumping from the upstairs window to the ground below.

Failing in this and when forced into the house, he then secured a knife by which he tried to cut his throat. The knife being forced from him, he then secured a pair of scissors, and before these could be taken from him succeeded in inflicting a deep wound in the neck.

His condition towards recovery is reported favorable. He has for some time been in poor health.

Students Support Eakins.

Toronto, March 10.—A memorial, addressed to Dr. Hoskin, chairman of the board of governors of Toronto University, has been signed already by nearly every student who has been receiving instruction in "Religious knowledge" at University College.

It certifies that they have received a great deal of assistance from the lectures of Rev. Dr. Eakin, that they have been entirely non-sectarian, solely intended to give the students a better knowledge of the Bible.

THE PROPOSITION FAVORED BY THE BOARD OF TRADE

Resolution Passed Endorsing By-law For New Waterworks Dam and Increased Pumping Capacity—Discussion Brought Out Much Information For the Ratepayers.

Moved by Dr. Morrison, seconded by Mr. D. Hughes Charles, "That this Board is of the opinion that the Water Commissioners should carry forward their scheme to build a new dam and pumping station at the earliest moment possible, and that this project of the commissioners should receive the loyal support of the ratepayers of the city."

The above resolution was passed at the meeting of the Board of Trade last night, when the waterworks dam by-law and the power question were discussed at considerable length. The debate was rather lively at a few spots, Messrs. Jas. Kendrey, W. H. Moore, T. F. Matthews and W. H. Meldrum figuring in some cross-firing that amused those present. It was of a friendly nature, however, and the discussion brought out some valuable information. Regret was expressed that there was not a larger attendance of the ratepayers.

President Gillespie brought up the subject, and asked Mr. T. F. Matthews, one of the Water Commissioners, to open the discussion.

Mr. Matthews said that the impression had got abroad that the commissioners wanted $10,000 to [illegible] new drain. This was not correct. The dam would only cost about one-third of this sum. It was imperative that the pumping capacity be increased at once as the present pumping equipment was not adequate for the city. The Underwriters' Association had given notice that the city of Peterborough should have a pumping capacity of ten million gallons a day, whereas the capacity of the present equipment was only four and one-half millions a day. Last July and August the pumps were frequently working at full capacity, and had a bad fire occurred in the city at that time the ordinary water supply would have had to be shut off in order to fight the flames.

Engineer Kennedy, of Montreal, one of the leading engineers of the continent, was secured to make a report, and after going into the matter fully he reported in favor of building a new dam 500 feet down stream from the present one, and put in new pumping equipment. Mr. Kennedy reported that the new dam would provide for the development of 1,200 horse power. Five hundred of this would be reserved for the Water Commissioners and the remainder would be at the disposal of the city.

Mr. Matthews said that the improvements to the waterworks system brought up the question of a filtration plant for the city. A filtration plant would be a necessity before many years in order to keep the water supply pure, and the commissioners had given the matter some consideration. The commission had a surplus of $33,000, and while reducing the water rates had not failed to make provision for the future. The Water Commissioners would look after the payment of the $120,000. There would be no extra cost to the ratepayers.

Mr. Jas. Kendrey, who was the next speaker, differed from Mr. Matthews. He accused the Water Commissioners of rushing into this matter too hastily, and of not enlightening the ratepayers sufficiently. He did not believe that 1,200 horse power could be developed at the new dam and in this respect he did not think the commissioners had enough information.

"Are you an obstructionist or have you something to substitute for our scheme, Mr. Kendrey?" asked Mr. W. H. Moore.

TOTAL VOTE HAS NOW REACHED 750,000 MARK

In the Review's Popularity Contest—Candidates in Each List Putting up a Great Fight.

Yesterday was rather a quiet day in the voting line, excepting a great spurt by Wm. A. Mowry, who secured second place by a very few votes, passing Bruce Kemp and W. A. Rundle. The changes in the men's city list are frequent, and some exciting times may be expected among the "boys" before the finish.

Miss Lila Finlay was the next heaviest voter yesterday, tightening her hold on second place in her list. There are less than 20,000 votes separating Miss Moore, who is in first place, and Miss Finlay. The struggle in the country, according to the published score, lies between Misses Moore, Finlay, Colin and Holcombe. However no one should get the opinion that the other candidates should not be considered. Those with low scores often make a driving finish.

Mr. Towns has gradually drawn away from his other competitors in the country, but his margin is not so great that it cannot be overcome in a very short time. But while his competitors are "going," what will Mr. Towns be doing?—"going" too, maybe.

The ladies in the city are continuing their see-sawing tactics. Every day the uncertainty increases as to who will win out in the ladies' list in the city. The spirit of rivalry is at fever heat, but the best of feeling prevails; in fact, all the contestants are working for themselves, and not "knocking" on the others.

While the contest man was "plugging" away at his desk last night a gentleman came in to get a copy of The Review. His only remark was: "This contest is a hot affair. Why, it is more exciting than the Boer war." And so it is—and not a bit dangerous.

DEBATE ON THE BUDGET

Hon. Col. Matheson and James McEwing Engage in a Dispute.

Toronto, March 10.—Yesterday's session of the Legislature was taken up with the debate on the budget and the discussion was carried on until late in the evening, but beyond a passage between Col. Matheson and James McEwing (West Wellington) the Opposition had little of moment to say.

Mr. McEwing declared that the money expended on good roads in Wellington County did not appear in the accounts. A dispute arose on the accuracy of the statement, and a scene was nearly created, but finally the Opposition member assured the House that he did not mean to doubt the word of the Provincial Treasurer.

Resuming after the supper recess, Mr. Ross lined himself up with the Opposition in demanding the estimates be brought down for the university as for other institutions. He attacked the Government for extravagances.

"Consider the result," suggested George H. Ferguson.

"The Conservative party forgets that they are on the crest of the wave, and the higher they go now the lower their fall will be," retorted Mr. Ross. "They cannot increase the expenditure of the province $3,200,000 in four years and expect to retain the confidence of the people." Mr. Ross concluded by figuring out a deficit of $254,000, and paying a tribute to Allan Studholme as a labor leader.

C. R. McKeown, who is a skillful speaker with a fine voice, made good points on several of the issues raised. He avowed himself a temperance man, and reminded the Opposition that while some of the temperance men objected to the three-fifths clause, as a body they preferred to trust the Government rather than the Liberal party, which had always blocked temperance reform. Not only the first eleven chapters of the Liberal Genesis, but thirty-three of them had been discredited.

During the day's sitting eleven private bills were thrown out because their sponsors had been dilatory in presenting them.

Determined to Die.

Madoc, March 10.—Arthur Cronk, a delivery driver attempted to commit suicide yesterday afternoon with strychnine.

He went into a hotel sitting room already occupied by two or three other people and declared his intention. One man took the glass from him, emptying the contents on the floor. Cronk drained what he could get out of the bottom of the glass and scraped up what he could get off the floor on his hand, and licked it off. He then threatened that he would get a revolver and shoot himself.

He has just recently recovered from smallpox.

LATE TICKS FROM WIRES

Ruth Bryan Leavitt, eldest daughter of W. J. Bryan, was yesterday granted a divorce against W. H. Leavitt.

Booth Tarkington and Harry Leon Wilson are writing a play for Mabel Taliaferro, to be known as "The Return of a Soul."

The bill forbidding the purchase of lands in Cuba by aliens was defeated in the House of Representatives by a vote of 49 to 11.

Word was received here yesterday from Wanipatea, Ont., of the death of John McNabb, who was killed by falling off a bridge.

A Rome despatch says: The Pope, who has been suffering from a cold, is much better. The beautiful spring-like weather has had a good effect on the patient.

George T. Oliver of Pittsburg was named as the Republican candidate for United States Senator to succeed Philander C. Knox, by the joint caucus of the Senate and House.

The new St. Catharines City Council at its first meeting passed a resolution requesting the Provincial Secretary to instruct the city license commissioners to carry out the will of the people by cutting down the number of licenses from 19 to 12.

A Washington special to The New York Times says it is generally assumed that Whitelaw Reid will not continue as ambassador to England, and the presence in Washington of Timothy L. Woodruff, chairman of the Republican state committee of New York, has led to the coupling of his name with that post.

800 Off For West.

Toronto, March 10.—Two sections of C.P.R. train No. 59 carried over 800 people out of the Union Station last night, bound for the West.

The first section, which left the depot at 10.20, was composed of seven passenger coaches and sleepers, and four baggage cars. The second section left some time later, and was made up of seven colonist cars.

The passengers in the first section were the usual tourist passengers. In the second section, however, the passengers were settlers bound for the West to take up land. Probably 500 settlers went out.

Woman's Death by Fire.

Halifax, March 10.—With a hip broken and anchored to her bed with a heavy weight, used to keep the broken limb in place, Mrs. Wm. Bell of Wallace Ridge, was burned to death.

Neighbors had been in the habit of seeing that she was fixed up for the night and one of them stayed with her, but through some misunderstanding no one stayed Thursday.

Her house is some distance from the neighbors, and, after the flames were seen, help was some time coming. She was dead when found.

INDIAN IS ON TRIAL

Thomas Smart Faces Jury on Charge of Murder.

Belleville, March 10.—"I expect to hang," is the way Thomas Smart, the young Mohawk Indian of Tyendenaga Township, views his chances with the jury in the case that is being tried before Justice Teetzel, starting at 9 o'clock this morning.

Smart is to be tried for the murder of his step-uncle, James Sero, about 60 years old, who was shot down in the night while on his way to his house after putting his horses out.

The above quotation is vouched for by William Hughes, who spent ten days in close companionship with Smart on a charge of petty theft.

Hughes swears: "If God should strike me dead, that's what he said."

Hughes further explains the motive for the shooting as received from the accused's own lips in the fact that the uncle was too intimate with the prisoner's 15-year-old sister.

Considerable interest is manifest in the trial, as it has been intimated that defence's counsel, W. L. Harrington, will dwell largely on the moral aspect of the case, and play up the unwritten law very strongly.

Quite a bit of speculation is going the rounds as to whether Dorothy Smart, the prisoner's sister, will stick to the story she told at the preliminary trial. She was married in January to Arthur Brant of the reserve, and on this account it is hinted she might be moved to pity, and alter her evidence in order to shield her brother.

C.P.R. Hurries Work.

Montreal, March 10.—It was officially announced yesterday that the first section of the Canadian Pacific's double track grain route from Montreal to Victoria Harbor on the Georgian Bay will be completed from this city to Smith's Falls, 129 miles, by Sept. 1, and that a good deal of work will also be carried forward on the remaining sections during the year.

Mrs. Teal Loses Appeal.

New York, March 10.—The application of Mrs. Ben Teal for a certificate of reasonable doubt from her conviction of attempted subornation of perjury, was denied by Supreme Court Justice O'Gorman yesterday.

Hat Out of Date.

New York, March 10.—An unidentified man entered the hat store of A. Wheeler in Brooklyn yesterday and shot and badly wounded a clerk named Norman Bush, 23 years old, and then killed himself with the same weapon.

Bush was taken to a hospital, where his injuries were said to be dangerous.

To a note found in the dead man's pocket the name of Charles Loeffler, Newark, N.J., was signed.

The note made the charge that the store had sold him a hat "of a style in vogue 20 years ago."

ORWELL HOTEL CHARGES ARE BEING INVESTIGATED

Inquiry Demanded by East Elgin License Inspector is Conducted by Eudo Saudders—C. A. Brower, M.P.P., Declares Hepburn Admitted Everything.

St. Thomas, March 10.—Once more the Orwell Hotel scandal is in the limelight. This time it is the key of an investigation being conducted by Eudo Saunders of the License Department into the administration of the liquor license laws by Inspector William Andrews of East Elgin, who asked that a commission be appointed. Yesterday on the stand he stated that he had been accused in political campaigns of conspiring to ruin the reputation of W. F. Hepburn, who was a Liberal candidate against David Marshall in the bye-election of 1906.

The story as told in court yesterday was that Hepburn during his campaign met two women of questionable character at the Orwell Hotel, which was complained against for disorderly conduct. The Liberals claimed that it was part of a plot to ruin Hepburn's reputation and he (Hepburn) denied the allegations when the trial was held in Aylmer.

Yesterday C. A. Brower, M.P.P., testified that Hepburn, whose innocence has been maintained all along by his friends, one night went to him with a Yarmouth Centre hotelkeeper named Wilcox and admitted everything, asking Brower's influence to prevent him being charged with perjury. The story was corroborated by his son George.

Hepburn, who is now in the lumber business in Winnipeg, was subpoenaed as the principal witness, but was not present. Commissioner Saunders stated that seventy-five dollars had been sent to him to cover expenses, but a telegram was produced from the sheriff at Winnipeg who said Hepburn absolutely refused to attend the investigation. A. [illegible] barrister, was present to represent Hepburn, who, he explained, had a contract with the Saskatchewan Government to deliver telephone poles and he could not leave his work.

Evidence taken at Port Huron by commission, given by Wilcox, his wife and Mrs. Stinger, one of the women implicated, none of whom would come to Canada, was presented. Mrs. Stinger charged Hepburn with intimacy with another woman, who had gone to the Orwell Hotel with her, where they met Hepburn by accident. Mrs. Stinger said she had got $100 to get out of the country, being paid the money by John Glover of Aylmer, who admitted making the payment, but said it was not Hepburn's money, but money he got from the late Lawyer Stevens, who was Hepburn's election financial agent. Glover said he had reasons of his own, wanting to get possession of Mrs. Stinger's chattels, on which he held a mortgage.

Inspector Andrews claimed he had only been enforcing the Liquor License Act and denied charges of conspiracy.

Dickson, a hostler at the hotel, swore to the events of the night and to being approached by George A. Tuttle of Aylmer and of making a false statement to him and taking $15 therefor.

Mr. Tuttle contended Dickson came to him with his story and admitted giving $15 for his affidavit, which witness had not seen. Lawyer Backus wanted to find out why witness had spent the money for the affidavit, but witness would not tell.

The enquiry will resume this morning.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS RED-HOT FROM WIRES

Winnipeg Methodists' Views.

Winnipeg, March 10.—The Methodist Ministerial Association had a lively meeting when the Carman-Jackson controversy was the subject of discussion. It was the general opinion of the ministers that Dr. Carman had acted too hurriedly, and that he acted only on newspaper statements. A resolution was passed of a pacific nature and deprecating the discussion of such serious questions in the press.

May Be Murder Charge.

Ottawa, March 10.—Joseph Galarneau, arrested in Montreal, may be charged before Magistrate Nap. Page at Nominingue, with the murder of his friend Joseph Ouimet in October last.

Ouimet was found on Oct. 23 with a fractured skull.

The two men were working on railroad construction. Garlarneau was about to leave Montreal for Sudbury when arrested.

Woman Lashes Lawyer.

Boston, March 10.—There was a brief tumult in State street just after the opening of the Stock Exchange yesterday, when a well-dressed woman was seen lashing Geo. A. Sweetser, a lawyer, well known locally, with a stout dog-whip.

The woman was Mrs. Jessie B. McClellan of Natick, who declared that Sweetser had persecuted her in connection with a breach of promise suit which she has brought against a Boston business man. Mr. Sweetser being counsel for the respondent.

Woman Died In Air.

Hamilton, March 10.—Coroner Hopkins last evening concluded the inquest on the body of Annie Kobilenoski, the Austrian girl who committed suicide Saturday morning by jumping off the high level. Dr. Baugh, who performed the autopsy, testified that she was dead before her body struck the ice, 103 feet below the bridge. The jury brought in a verdict that she came to her death by jumping from the bridge in a fit of insanity.

Contract For Cable.

London, March 10.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—A contract for a new cable by the Commercial Cable Co. for 1,700 miles, to complete the diversion of one of their transatlantic cables from Flemish Cap to St. John's, Nfld., thence direct to New York, has been awarded to the Telegraph Construction & Maintenance Co., Ltd., London. The contract provides for the cable to be in operation not later than Aug. 1.

Death of Canon MacMorine.

Portage la Prairie, March 10.—Rev. Canon MacMorine died yesterday as the result of an attack of appendicitis. He was one of the foremost educationists of the province, and a leading official of the Anglican Church. Rev. Mr. MacMorine of Kingston is a brother.

New York Murder.

New York, March 10.—Antonio Lombardo, 27 years old, while entering his apartment on Mott street yesterday, was shot and killed by an unknown man. Another man in the apartment, Francesco Turco, was struck by two bullets, and seriously wounded.

Fall From Window.

New York, March 10.—While delirious from illness, Walter H. Merriam, a lawyer, either jumped or fell from the window of his room on the fifth floor of the apartment house at 68th street and Central Park West, yesterday and was instantly killed.

Three of Family and Nurse Are Dead.

Trenton, March 10.—Friends in this locality received word of an epidemic of typhoid pneumonia which prostrated the entire family of George Kyle at Harris, Sask., formerly of Picton, Ont., consisting of one daughter and six sons. At that time there were three deaths as a result—Arthur, aged 22; Ralph, aged 11, and a little later, Clare, aged 18.

Latest reports say that one of the nurses attending them succumbed to the same disease, and that one of the physicians in attendance was seized with the malady.

Cots In Corridors.

Victoria, B.C., March 10.—For twenty-four hours at a stretch, Liberals and Socialists in British Columbia Legislature have combined to obstruct progress in order to prevent the passage of the provincial election act, which restricts the registration of voters.

The Government is fighting opposition and will force the measure through.

Liberals have had cots placed in corridors and will relay their opposition.

Balloonist Carried Out to Sea.

San Pedro, Cal., March 10.—While hundreds watched his frantic efforts to control a great balloon which was swiftly bearing him, 4,000 feet high, out over the Pacific Ocean, Lester Elkins, an amateur aeronaut, 20 years old, cut loose his parachute and dropped into the water of the outer harbor to his death.

As the stiff wind carried him out to sea, boatmen hastily left the inner harbor in launches to rescue him, but their efforts were useless.

Parliament May End by May 24.

Ottawa, March 10.—The business of Parliament has reached a point of advancement at which prorogation is being planned for by both sides.

It is understood that the session is likely to be wound up by May 24.

After that time a number of the Ministers will leave Canada for short holidays. It is understood that R. L. Borden expects to leave for England soon after the close of the session.

Fined For Libel.

Manila, March 10.—Theodore Kalaw, editor of El Renacimiento, the organ of the Radical element of the Filipinos, has been convicted of libelling Dean C. Worcester, a member of the Philippine commission, and sentenced to serve nine months in the military prison of Bilibid, and to pay a fine of 3,000 pesos.

SHOULDN'T MIX RACES

Montgomery, Ala., March 10.—"There should be no admixtures of racial stocks," declared President Eliot of Harvard University yesterday in an interview.

"I believe, for example, that the Irish should not intermarry with the Americans of English descent; that the Germans should not marry the Italians; that the Jews should not marry the French. Each race should maintain its own individuality. The experience of civilisation shows that racial stocks are never mixed with profit, and that such unions do not bring forth the best and strongest children. There is no reason, however, why the races cannot live together, side by side, in perfect peace and amity."

STRANGE ARGUMENTS

The delusion that protection increases wages is being worked in Britain. It is the demand for labor that sustains wages, and it is necessarily lessened by protection. This is not only the logic of opponents of protection, but the experience of all nations.—The Globe.

Does the Globe mean to maintain in cold type at this late date in the history of economics that protection does not ever increase wages? Has it not been proved times without number that the difference between the cost of production in one country and that in another is largely made in the difference in the standard of living which labor enjoys? The woollen mills of the Montreal Woollen Co., just gone out of business, depended for their business on a 50 per cent. tariff. At 25 per cent. they had to go out of business. The employees would not accept the corresponding reduction in wages, or even enough of it to prevent actual loss to the company on each year's operations. There was no alternative but to go out of business. If the old high tariff had been restored the mills would have been re-opened and the employees re-employed. To deny this may be good politics, but it is a denial of well-known facts. To say, therefore, as the Globe does in the above extract, that protection has no good effect on wages, is to buck against a stone wall. But to vary the argument. If the demand for labor is the criterion and the demand is governed by the tariff, what then? And again. A light supply of labor would, under the supposition, increase the wage. Does this occur in the woollen business? It would make no difference. The wage must continue in spite of the number, to remain at the level allowed by the tariff.

MR. ROOSEVELT'S DEPARTURE

The man who does things rouses opposition. The opposition frequently takes the form of ridicule, sometimes of counterstroke, but most frequently of belittling. Mr. Roosevelt has been called a know-all, a know-nothing, a bounder, a self-advertiser, a humbug, a tyrant, a good man, etc. Which of these is he? We should say that he is a very great man and a still greater president. To put the opponents of this contention immediately on the defensive it is only necessary to quote some of the things he has accomplished. He revived and enforced the inter-state commerce law which prevented unjust discrimination, dishonest rebates and in short, the robbery of the weak by the favoured and the strong. Therefore he deserved well of his countrymen at large. He showed that he was not afraid to enforce an equitable law. In times of peace a smoother and softer type of man might do just as well since such a man does for a figurehead as anything in the shape or semblance of a man will. To be thoroughly popular a man must be prepared to submit tamely to the buffets of everybody. Then for very pity they will sometimes approve him if they do not happen at the moment to have some end to serve. This receptive quality is also that of the ass, a kindly and useful animal. But Mr. Roosevelt is none of these. He could not be ridiculed, cajoled, coerced or threatened out of his position. He aimed to do his best and he did it. His best was good. He is a just man with the power to enforce his justness. In addition to the inter-state law he made the Panama canal an American enterprise. It took a man of his colossal mentality and courage to do it. It gives every promise, even after the most careful investigation, of being a great and most serviceable success. The Standard Oil Co. was brought down by him as he would bring down a common crow. He exposed it and demanded for the people the enforcement of the law respecting it. It is notorious that the passing generation of American statesmen was above all things amenable to Money. He showed that money was not a master, but a servant, and to the corporate selfishness and bias of the Senate he opposed the force of his own just mind to such effect that although the Senate came back at him with the force of a tide it recoiled the same way and for the same reason. But it is to Mr. Roosevelt before all others that the movement for the preservation of national resources from waste was due. He saved in this regard untold millions for posterity. As a mere money asset his service in this respect is incalculable. Mr. Roosevelt is strictly speaking, more Teutonic than American. He is strong, wholesome, physically and mentally, and also natural. Therein lies his power. He is broadminded and fair. Therein lies his fame. The root principle of his actions was undoubtedly a sincere desire to do what was right and no man can do more. To do that alone is especially in these days unusual, if not heroic.

EDITORIAL NOTES

New Zealand is displacing Canada in shipments of cheese to England. In January she surpassed Canada by 25 per cent.

The Canadian "Soo" seems to be in the throes of another boom. Perhaps it is warranted. At any rate it seems unavoidable.

Mr. Roosevelt regards the signing of the treaty of peace between Russia and Japan as his greatest service. Others think, however, that it would have come of itself in a very short time.

It is confidently hoped by many of the lamb-killers of Wall street that every lion in Africa will do its duty regarding Roosevelt. They have no love for him. He was always anxious to protect the lambs.

It is universally agreed that Mr. Roosevelt's cabinet was one of great strength always. He had the faculty of knowing good men and where to find them. Those closest to the President liked him and respected him most.

Ald. Gillespie succeeds Dr. Morrison as President of the Board of Trade. The new president is a man of high standing in the community where he is universally respected. The Board has always been fortunate in its officers.

Owing to the high price of Canadian pork it is possible that Danish bacon may become an article of import into Canada. The result will be the almost complete destruction of an industry that is as valuable to the Canadian farmer as the woollen industry once was.

Mr. Roosevelt was a clean and clear minded man. The moral delinquent, he regarded much as an unfortunate girl is regarded by the community, not to be spoken of save with infinite pity. It is only pigs that love the mud they wallow in. It was to him not a question to be argued. The story-teller who delighted in the suggestive, he put aside as a mere by-product of nature, not to be wasted but out of the main strain. "It is so very natural but so very weak" he once said.

Although the immediate effect of the Steel Trust's declaration of an open market promises to be a savage price war followed by wage reduction and possibly strikes many papers hail the situation as a portent of returning prosperity. Thus the New York World declares that it has noted no such good omen since the end of 1907, while according to the Wall Street Journal "the decline in iron and steel foreshadows a general readjustment on a lower level," since the probable reduction of wages in this great branch of industry will naturally result in "an increasing pressure for lower figures in the cost of living."—Literary Digest.

OF INTEREST

A symposium of estimates by college presidents and professors, gathered by the New York Herald, reveals some interesting views. President Benjamin Ide Wheeler, of the University of California, says that the range of Mr. Roosevelt's intelligence and of his intelligent interests "certainly surpasses that of any of his predecessors," and thinks that "he may well prove to be the greatest preacher and doer of political righteousness that America has ever held." Says Professor H J Ford, of the Politics Department of Princeton:—"His administration will shine in history as the most powerful movement ever made up to his time to infuse a democratic character into the conduct of government and to bring the course of legislation under the control of public opinion." "He has contributed more than any other man to the moral awakening of the American people in methods of business and politics," affirms Professor J W Jenks, of Cornell, "and even in international politics he has made his moral influence felt." On the other hand, Henry Wade Rogers, Dean of the Law Department of Yale, predicts that "history will regard Mr. Roosevelt as the most lawless President we have ever had," citing especially his frank criticisms of the judiciary. This charge has been so often uttered that Commissioner Francis E. Leupp, writing in the New York Outlook, says:—

"A law, simply as a law, is no fetish for the worship of Theodore Roosevelt. He has been dubbed by sensationalists and hasty thinkers a lawless President, but no generalization was ever more absurd. He has simply asserted the broad principle that the philosophy underlying life is greater than any of the individual minds which share in carrying it to fulfilment, in other words, that the statutes and judicial decisions that go to make up our body of law, are emanations from the human brain, which is finite, and hence that they do not necessarily contain the crystallized sum of the wisdom of the universe; that our assumption that their authors were anxious to do right as they saw the right, justifies an effort to interpret every law on sane lines, and as nearly as practicable in conformity with the accepted scheme of things; and that the application of all laws should be to all men alike."

"While Mr Roosevelt is a shrewd politician, he is still more an enthusiastic moral reformer," writes Dr Lyman Abbott in another issue of the same magazine, and as such "his influence will ever remain in the higher civic ideals and the quickened patriotic life of a great people." Of the various classes of people whom Mr. Roosevelt has antagonized, Dr. Abbott goes on to say:

"He is looked upon with degrees of hostility varying from a passionate enmity to a mild aversion, by the various classes whom he has antagonized: by the corruptionists whose schemes he has foiled and whose character he has exposed; by the Phillistines who think that successful crime should be condoned because it has succeeded: by the political doctrinaires whose dreams of reform he has disturbed by applying to their theories the test of actual life; by those peace lovers who are more desirous of peace than of purity, or who think the traders should not have been scourged out but only coaxed out of temple; by that peculiar type of conservatives who believe that whatever is must continue to be and who are constitutionally averse to all reform because it involves change and readjustment, which are inconvenient, and, finally, by those who approve both his principles and his achievements but criticise some of his methods and phrases. But he has also aroused a passionate devotion to himself among a great and, I believe, increasing number of his fellow citizens, who admire him as a statesman and love him as a preacher of righteousness."—Literary Digest.

STOMACH COMFORT

When the Stomach Rebels, Headache, Indigestion and Nerve Pain Follows—Mi-o-na Brings Relief.

Just as soon as you are done eating the healthy stomach commences to churn the food around and mixes it thoroughly with the juices of the stomach.

If the food is not churned, it lays heavily on your stomach, turns sour and causes all kinds of distressing symptoms, such as headache, indigestion, stomach pain and dyspepsia. Mi-o-na helps the stomach to properly mix the food.

John M. May, of Isabella street, Belleville, Ont., says: "For over seven months I was in constant agony with a case of nervous dyspepsia and indigestion that medical skill could not relieve. I was weak and had lost much weight through loss of appetite and suffering. My meals would fill me with gas and a feeling of oppression across the stomach and all up the left side left me in a miserable condition. I was restless at night and as tired and unrefreshed in the morning as on going to bed. A choking sensation in my throat was always constant when lying down, and my heart seemed to flutter and pound as though it were coming out through my side. I was benefitted from the first two days' use of Mi-o-na. I began to feel like myself again, my appetite returned, and the depressive feeling left me. I can enjoy my meals without suffering the least worry of after sufferings. I have gained in weight and can sleep the night through in comfort."

Go to Wm. Madill, the druggist and get a 50 cent box of Mi-o-na Tablets. Money back if Mi-o-na does not cure. [illegible]

NATIVE LANDS IN AFRICA.

Kaffirs Hold Large Tracts on Which Kraals Are Located.

The Kaffirs own land all over South Africa. In many places the land still belongs to the chiefs, subject to the rights of their tribesmen, and the chief has no right to sell or trade it away. In Southern Rhodesia the native commissioners assign the land for huts and grazing, giving each kraal so much. When Cecil Rhodes died he ordered that the natives on his farms be undisturbed, and huge blocks of Government lands have been set aside for agriculture in different parts of Rhodesia. In Natal something like 8,000 acres were transferred to a trust more than fifty years ago, and this trust was to give all the rents and profits from it to one tribe.

A few years later another native trust was given two million acres, and this is still administered for the Kaffirs of Natal. Within the last few years the native lands have been fenced off from those of the Europeans, and the boundaries between the tribes defined. In that colony about one-half of the negroes live; native lands have been fenced off from $5 to $20 per hut to the owners of their farms, which consist of from 1,500 to 5,000 acres each. One of these farms will have a group of natives upon it and the group will be governed by its hereditary chief or headman. Every kraal will cultivate from five to ten acres of land, and the remainder is used for grazing in common.

I had a good chance to see something of the wilder Kaffirs during my stay in Matabeleland and Bechuanaland, and I also met strange tribes who are allied to them in Northwestern Rhodesia. Nearly all the natives live in what are known as kraals. These are little mud villages, surrounded by mud walls or fences of brush.

Among the Zulus these kraals are circular in shape, with the cattle pen in the centre and the huts running around it. In Matabeleland they are somewhat irregular, and in other regions they are built like a horseshoe with a cattle kraal near the opening. The cattle are herded during the daytime and are always kept in the kraals at night.

The kraal usually contains all the houses of the village. These are of different shapes, in different localities. In Matabeleland they consist of a frame-work of twigs woven together and plastered with mud, and in Zululand they are thatched down to the ground. In many parts of Rhodesia the houses are made of a framework of sticks, smeared with the clay from the white ant hills. This is a natural cement and is used for all sorts of buildings. In that country the negroes have granaries of mud and they also make pigeon houses of it and put them on high poles to protect the birds from the wild animals and dogs. The ordinary granary is the size of a hogshead or larger. It has a hole in one side, which is stopped up with clay after the grain is put in. In Zululand the grain is kept in huge baskets inside the huts.

Ti-To's Gratitude.

The House of Commons has witnessed many strange scenes recently, but even the Suffragettes were outdone by the spectacle of eight fierce Madingo warriors, who hailed from the hinterland of Sierra Leone and who were a short time ago engaged at Toy City and Fun Fair, Earl's Court, visiting the mother of Parliaments in all their bravery of grass petticoats (frilled like a ballet-dancer's skirt), war blankets, and spears. They were headed by their chief Ti-To, who since his arrival in England has been searching, like Japhatt in search of a father, for the Right Hon. John Burns. He had no malignant motive, however, against the President of the Local Government Board. On the contrary, he wished to shake hands with him, and express his thanks and deep gratitude to the right hon. gentleman who, it appears, had saved the life of Ti-To's father many years ago on the Gold Coast, when John Burns was an engineer. The member for Battersea on that occasion plunged into a shark-infested sea to rescue the man. The President of the Local Government Board, although somewhat surprised at the apparition of the dusky warriors, had a long conversation with Ti-To. He examined his face and those of his followers for their tribal marks, and expressed his satisfaction that they were genuine denizens of the "white man's grave." The Madingos were greatly impressed with the Throne-room, where they made low obeisance to the throne. The pictures greatly interested them, and they shouted their "war cry" when the paintings of Trafalgar and Waterloo were explained to them.

Queen of Beauty.

The recent romantic marriage of Lord Walsingham in his sixty-six year recalls the romantic story of his first wife, who died two years ago. She was famed for her beauty throughout Europe, and married when only sixteen Lord Burghersh, son of the Earl of Westmorland. She was left a widow, however, in about two years, and afterwards married the Duc de Santo Teodora, an Italian noble. She went to reside in Naples, where she was the acknowledged Queen of Beauty. Her granddaughter, the Princess Teano, is also noted for her good looks. Finally, in 1877, she married Lord Walsingham. As many readers are no doubt aware, Lord Walsingham shares with Earl de Grey the distinction of being the finest shot in England. His bag of 1,070 grouse, which he accounted for after shooting single-handed for fifteen hours, holds the world's record, while on another occasion with 1,100 cartridges he dropped 848 birds. He is, too, probably the only man in the world who can shoot wasps on the wing. The weapon which he uses for this shooting is a miniature rifle specially constructed for him.

Wedding Anniversaries.

The fifth wedding anniversary is the "wooden" wedding; the tenth, "tin;" fifteenth, "crystal;" twenty-fifth, "silver;" thirtieth, "pearl;" fiftieth, "golden;" seventy-fifth, "diamond."

The outbreak of a number of cases of fever at Pembroke has led to anxious questionings as to the healthfulness of the water supply. [illegible]

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, March 9.—Receipts of live stock at the City Market, as reported by the railways, were 57 carloads, consisting of 944 cattle, 1065 hogs, 202 sheep and yearling lambs and 74 calves.

Exporters.

There was not a solitary load of export steers on the market, notwithstanding what any of the evening papers stated. Maybee, Wilson & Co. reported six steers that they sold at $6.00 per cwt. A few bulls sold at $4 to $4.50 per cwt.

Butchers.

Prime picked lots of butchers' cattle, 1000 to 1150 lbs. each, are worth $5 to $5.25; loads of good to choice, $4.75 to $5; medium to good, $4.40 to $4.75; common, $3.75 to $4.25; cows, $3 to $4.20; canners, $1.50 to $2.65; bulls, $3 to $4.

Stockers and Feeders.

Only a limited number of stockers and feeders were on sale. Prices were a little firmer in sympathy with the market for fat cattle, as follows: Best feeders, 900 to 1000 lbs., $3.90 to $4.35; medium of same weights, $3.75 to $4.10; stockers, 500 to 700 lbs. at $2.25 to $3.50.

Milkers and Springers.

A moderate supply of milkers and springers were on sale, but few of good to choice quality were offered. Prices ranged from $30 to $55 each.

Veal Calves.

Nearly 100 calves were offered. Prices were firmer at $3 to $7, with a few choice quality vealers at $7.25.

Sheep and Lambs.

Receipts light; prices firm. Export ewes, $4 to $4.50; rams, $3.25 to $3.75; lambs, $6 to $7 per cwt., according to quality; spring lambs, $5 to $10 each.

Hogs.

Receipts of hogs from all sources, as reported by the railways, were 1065. Prices have again advanced, and Mr. Harris quoted $7.15 for selects, fed and watered at the market, and $6.90 f.o.b. cars at country points.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

Hogs—Receipts, 2205; firm to 10c higher; prime light state hogs, $7.10.

Forged 25,000 Tickets.

New York, March 10.—Mrs. Helen Terrens, who is said to be the daughter of Simon Leopold, a merchant of Bangor, Maine, was arraigned in court yesterday together with her husband, Henry J. Terrens, and three other men, all charged with the forgery of 25,000 tickets of the Interborough Rapid Transit Co. All were held in $2,000 bail, for a further hearing. The detectives charged that they found in Terrens' possession a quantity of plates for printing the tickets.

Strike-Breaker Fined.

Brantford, March 10.—The Buck Stove moulders' strike is still on in this city. Edward Dunn, a union official was threatened Monday night and W. J. Smoot, a strike-breaker, was yesterday fined $20 for carrying concealed weapons.

Norman Robbins was assaulted, and J. O'Neil was arrested. It is alleged O'Neil used steel knuckles on Robbins, who is a union moulder.

New Electric Line.

Brantford, March 10.—Paul Huffman and other Brant County promoters have made an application for a charter for an electric railway from Delhi to Burford, connecting at the latter point with the projected Brantford and Woodstock radial.

The new line will be an important feeder.

Broker Sentenced.

Buffalo, March 10.—Harold G. Meadows, the broker, who was convicted of grand larceny, was sentenced to not less than three years and six months in Auburn Prison.

RUPTURE

Established 1866. Nearly Half a Century in Toronto, Ont

J. Y. EGAN, Specialist, Office -- WEST KING ST., P.O. BOX 201, TORONTO.

THE MOST RELIABLE and Successful Authority—Greatest success in the treatment of Hernia (Rupture) Varicocele (False Rupture) of all known agencies in modern times. He who makes a specialty of one department must certainly be more experienced and capable than those having "many irons in the fire." Don't put off your case, believing it to be simple. Remember neglect often proves fatal. Have your case attended to now, and thus avoid danger. Stop wasting time and money elsewhere, but come to one whose life-long study has taught him what to do. Do not despond or be deterred from seeking further advice, or because of repeated failures consider your case incurable. Because others failed in your case you have become discouraged. This is the very time you should consult me, as my reputation has been made in curing hopeless (so-called) cases. Come and have a talk with me.

LADIES suffering from any form of Rupture should not hesitate having their case attended to at once. Everything strictly professional. Write Toronto office for fuller particulars.

MOTHERS—Look to your children—have them cured, while young. Don't allow them to grow up handicapped in the race of life, with rupture. Reliability my guarantee.

MY CHARGES are within reach of all, the poor man as well as the rich. Terms can be satisfactorily arranged, no reason why you should not consult me at once, during this visit.

VARICOCELE FALSE RUPTURE

MEN OF ALL AGES SUFFER from this affliction. There is no affliction that so completely unfits man for the duties of life as Varicocele. The tendency of these conditions is to grow worse and more complicated—leading to nervous debility, wasting, lumbago, exhaustion, etc. Do you intend to allow this affliction to impair your vitality? It is doing so now and if not checked will result in the above conditions. No matter how serious your case may be, time afflicted, or the failure experienced in trying to be cured by medicine, free trials, or Electric belts—my Biotone system will cure. No temporary benefit, but a PERMANENT one. NO OPERATION necessary. No detention from business.

SPECIALIST WILL VISIT:
LINDSAY, Benson House, March 18-19
PETERBOROUGH, Oriental Hotel, Sat., Sun. (all day and Ev'g)
TWO DAYS ONLY—MARCH 20-21.
CAMPBELLFORD, Windsor Hotel, March 22.

A PARISIAN HAIR CUT.

It Is Expensive at Times, but Always a Sociable Affair.

The Paris hairdresser cannot be persuaded to do anything more than pretend to remove a little hair. It almost breaks his heart if you insist on a serviceable cut.

The price charged is sometimes a painful surprise to the unsuspecting visitor. He has been warned to avoid those establishments where the tariff is not displayed and so does not hesitate when he sees the announcement, "Hair Cutting, 1 Franc."

When the operation is over, however, he is a little hurt at being asked for 3 francs.

If he knows enough French to understand, he gathers that 1 franc is for the hair cutting, 1 franc for a "friction" and 1 franc for "perfume."

Frenchmen pay these charges without complaining and seem to enjoy a visit to the barber's. As they generally go to the same shop—and Frenchmen have their hair "cut" once a week—the assistant becomes their confidential friend.

His customers discuss with him their love affairs, their ailments and lastly their business.

He is also supposed to be a great authority on horse racing, but he is too prudent to act on his own tips and generally manages to save enough money to start in business for himself.—London Mail.

ANATOMY.

A More or Less Helpful Lesson For Beginners.

Proceeding in a southerly direction from the torso, we have the hips, useful for padding, and the legs. The legs hold up the body and are sometimes used in walking, but when riding in automobiles they take up valuable space which otherwise might be employed to better advantage.

Attached to the legs are the feet. Some varieties of feet are cold. Some people are born with cold feet, others acquire cold feet, and still others have cold feet thrust upon them.

The surface of the body is covered with cuticle, which either hangs in graceful loops or is stretched tightly from bone to bone.

On the face it is known as complexion and is used extensively for commercial purposes by dermatologists, painters and decorators.

Between the cuticle and the bones are the muscles, which hold the bones together and prevent them from falling out and littering up the sidewalk as we walk along.

Packed neatly and yet compactly inside the body are the heart, the liver and the lungs; also the gall, which in Americans is abnormally large.

These organs are used occasionally by the people who own them, but their real purpose is to furnish surgeons a living.—Thomas L. Masson in Lippincott's.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CURE Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head

ACHE is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.

Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them.

A Free Handed Prince.

The following is told of the famous Prince of Conde. He left his son, aged nine years, 50 louis d'or to spend while he himself was absent in Paris. On his return the boy came to him triumphantly, saying:

"Papa, here is all the money safe. I have never touched it once."

The prince, without making any reply, took his son to the window and quietly emptied all the money out of the purse into the street. Then he said:

"If you have neither virtue enough to give away your money nor spirit enough to spend it, always do this for the future, that the poor may have a chance of it."

LIKE HAMMERED GOLD.

Proposed Monument For the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition.

The Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition monument, to be the crowning work of sculpture of the international exhibition of 1909, will be covered with solid gold leaf. Gold donations to the amount of $7,000, necessary to completely cover the great shaft with the shining metal, will be solicited from Alaskans, Yukoners and the people of Seattle.

An appropriation to cover the cost of building the monument in staff has been authorized, the drawings made and the sculptor is engaged in building his clay model. The monument is to stand in the center of the plaza in front of the magnificent group of United States government buildings and directly at the head of the Cascades.

Looking south from the monument will be first the central features of the exposition, and then the eye will travel over a panorama of eighty miles of mountain, lake and woodland scenery to Rainier and the Cascade range.

The exposition monument is to be more than seventy feet in height. The monument proper will stand on a pedestal twenty feet high. This column will be of Corinthian design, on the top of which will be a globe giving the signs of the zodiac. On top of this globe will be a huge American eagle with outstretched wings, as in flight. Grouped about the base of the monument will be three seated female figures symbolic of the northland, the south seas and the orient. Every foot of this great monument will have the appearance of having been hammered out of pure gold if the donations are sufficient to complete the undertaking.—Seattle Times.

HEIRESS MISSING.

Englishwoman Said to Have Been Killed In Wales and Body Lost.

The mysterious disappearance and the remarkable career of Miss Violet Gordon Charlesworth are furnishing the English public with a sensation equal to that of the Steinheil case in Paris.

Miss Charlesworth, an attractive spinster of 25, who lived with her parents in Bodera street, Asaph, Wales, has been reported as killed while motoring in the direction of Penmaenmawr with her sister and a chauffeur a few days ago. The sister and the chauffeur aver that the motor came into collision with a retaining wall of a road along the edge of a cliff overlooking the sea and that Miss Charlesworth had been thrown over the wall into the sea.

The sister and the chauffeur gave the foregoing account to the local authorities and since that the members of the family have declined to see enquirers or to give further details. Those who have examined the scene of the supposed tragedy do not consider it possible that the body could have been washed away. A woman's hat was found upon the rocks, but no indication of a body having been thrown over the cliff.

Miss Charlesworth's picturesque career suggests that of Madame Humbert's.

She said that she was heiress of a General Gordon, her godfather, who left her $744,000 which was to be paid over to her on her 25th birthday, Jan. 13, with accumulated interest, making the whole amount $2,500,000. Miss Charlesworth usually gave her name as Gordon and visited London frequently alone. She operated heavily on the London Stock Exchange and owes one broker $50,000. She took a large country place at Inverness last summer, which was sumptuously furnished, the walls being draped with the Gordon plaid. She had four motor cars. The story of her death is generally disbelieved, although her parents have offered $100 for the recovery of her body.

The disappearance and the family's secrecy are causing endless speculation.

THE ENGLISH UNEMPLOYED.

Treasure-Hunting Is Suggested as a Possible Remedy.

To solve the unemployment problem in England the curious suggestion is made to organize a big scheme for the recovery of the treasure lost by the English King John Lackland of Magna Charta fame in the Lincolnshire quicksands nearly 700 years ago. At a recent meeting of the Society of Antiquaries at Cambridge (says the London correspondent of The New York Sun) W. H. St. John Pope, vice-president of the Royal Archaeological Society, presented an exact reconstruction of the King John's fateful journey. The three most trustworthy chroniclers of the time agree that the catastrophe took place in the Well Stream, a sea arm which connected with the Wash, the bay which separates Lincolnshire from Norfolk.

On Oct. 11, 1216, King John, after raging furiously up and down England in his interminable quarrels with his barons, marched out of King's Lynn, Norfolk, where the townsmen had propitiated him with rich gifts. Three or four thousand knights and crossbowmen were with him, also a long train of wagons and pack horses.

This baggage train was to take a short cut across the Well Stream, which was fordable at low tide and provided a path five miles long over unstable sand to Long Sutton, where John with his horsemen would await its arrival. The convoy had only got half-way across when the tide set in with unexampled fury and engulfed them all, man and beast.

What was quicksand in 1216 is firm ground in 1908, reclaimed by diking and draining. In the wagons was the plunder of half a kingdom and the royal treasure of a king. It is certainly worth recovering.

An Ancient Ceremony.

The quaint ceremony of electing a deputy-mayor in a belfry, a custom dating back to mediaeval times, was observed in the tower of the parish church at Brightlingsea. Having climbed a steep spiral staircase of stone, the jurats, or electors, established themselves in the belfry, and the chair was taken by the retiring deputy. Four new freeman were elected, from each of whom the ancient fee of 11d. was exacted. The Rev. Arthur Pertwee, who is "Recorder," was unanimously chosen as deputy-mayor, and took the antique oath of allegiance to the King and state. He also undertook "if any harm be pretended to this member of Brightlingsea," he would give knowledge and warning thereof. Six "assistants" were appointed, their oath binding them to undertake the "punishment and reformation of all disorderly and unruly persons." The new deputy was then handed his robe and chain of office, the latter formed of golden oysters and silver sprats, with a seal attached, said to be one of the largest opals in the United Kingdom. Included in the insignia was the harbor master's staff, a century-old wand of the special constable type, "with which to comprehend all vargom persons," as the formula runs.

Blemishes That Are Beautiful.

There is no question whatever that in a great number of cases so-called blemishes and marks on a woman's face give character to the latter, and may almost be regarded, from the contrast between the blemish and its surroundings, as aids to beauty.

How very often, in recalling the face of some woman we have known and liked, we first of all think of some mole or slight mark, and it is a notable fact that most very beautiful women have some such distinguishing mark. In one such case the right eye-brow shows a broken line and a scar, but this fact, far from detracting from the world-renowned beauty of the owner, seems to give a peculiar character to the face. It might be noted that the smooth faces absolutely without blemish are very often indeed most insipid.

When Jimsey Plugged the Game.

By W. F. BRYAN.

Copyrighted, 1908, by Associated Literary Press.

No thunder rolled, no lightning flashed, when James Henry Holden got his job, but the proceedings were not altogether without excitement. James Henry entered the office with a demand for the position offered in the morning paper.

"We've got a boy," declared Royce, the gray haired manager. "You're too late."

"I was to ten other places before I could get here," explained James Henry. "Which is the kid you put on?"

Royce nodded in the direction of a small boy who was regarding his nicely polished boots with embarrassed interest. James rendered hoarse thanks for the information and slipped out. He was back again in an hour or so to lay a package and some change on Royce's desk.

"Them's the pencils you sent for," he announced. "Where'll I put my hat?"

"I told you we had a boy," said Royce crossly.

"And 'had' ain't 'is,'" explained James. "He's gone home to get his eye fixed, and I told him I'd take the job, so's he needn't worry."

For a moment Royce hesitated. It was bad policy to employ a boy who had taken another's job, but Royce was very tired of boys who lacked spirit, so at last he nodded his head in the direction of the bench where the boys sat waiting for their turn to be called.

"No more fighting or out you go," he warned, with a frown, and James grinned as he crossed over to the bench.

In two days he was "Jimsey" to every one in the office with the exception of Benson, the senior partner, and even Benson thought of him as Jimsey on those infrequent occasions when he gave the lad any thought at all. He was alert, intelligent and always ready to perform services not strictly in his line.

More than once Jimsey was sent uptown to Benson's home with some message, and in these commissions he delighted. Usually he carried a message to Mrs. Benson, and Jimsey grew adoringly fond of the sweet faced girl who was the broker's second wife.

Marion Chesney had married Benson because her parents had given her no peace until she had consented to make the sacrifice that should re-establish the Chesney fortunes even at the price of her own unhappiness, and like a brave little woman she was trying hard to make the best of it, though she found it very difficult at times.

Benson had sought a mistress of his home rather than of his heart. He delighted in seeing his wife at the head of his table when he gave dinners to his business associates. Like the plate and the wines, she did credit to his taste.

Beyond that he gave her little thought. He was careful to provide flowers and candy, but merely because he felt that this was expected, and Jimsey took far more delight in the trip than did Benson in the sending or Marion in the receiving.

Once it had slipped out at home that the head clerk had a standing order to remind his employer to send flowers and things, and after that they were flowers or candy to Marion—nothing more.

Jimsey's frank admiration and lively ways meant far more to her because his boyish adoration was sincere and his friendliness genuine. She came to watch for his appearance, and to Jimsey the quarter or half dollar that she gave him meant far less than the friendly pressure of the slim, cool fingers as she laid the coin in his palm.

So matters stood when Jimsey, making a short cut through the park on the way to the street car line, came face to face with Marion and a man as he turned a curve in the path. There was no mistaking the man's attitude. He was making determined love to her, and she seemed at least tolerant if not receptive.

For an instant Jimsey paused and then half turned to retrace his steps and made a detour. When he caught a better glimpse of the man's face he sauntered forward.

He came to a stop before the couple, and his hat was whisked off as he made a sweeping bow to Marion. Then he turned to the man with a look of infinite disgust.

"Get on a new lay, Skinny," he demanded. "You're off your beat and in over your head. You'd better beat it or I'll tell the cops where the lead pipe from Hennessy's new tenements went to. It's too bad you can't stay no longer, but you get t'll outen here."

To Marion's surprise the man rose and without a word took a hurried departure. Jimsey turned to her with mild reproach in his eyes.

"I know how you feel," he said soothingly as he watched the tears come unbidden to her eyes. "You want to have a steady, and the old man ain't no good for the mushy stuff. You can't get a flirtation with no one what knows your push, but you don't want to get mixed up with no lead pipe thief."

"I am interested in charities," she explained, not realizing that she was making a defense to a fifteen-year-old boy. "He spoke so interestingly of the conditions he had studied. This was the first time that he presumed to become personal."

"He thought he had' you cinched," remarked Jimsey, forbearing to add that he thought she was "easy." "You want to put the old man wise, because Skinny may try to hold you up—blackmail, you know."

"I couldn't, I couldn't!" cried the girl with a sob.

"But you must," insisted Jimsey firmly. "If you don't tell, he'll make up all kinds of stories, and you'll have to put up or stand for 'em."

"But you can't understand," she began, and Jimsey sagely nodded his head. He was wise far beyond his years.

"I know," he conceded. "You two ain't never had a good fight so's you could know each other. C'n I put him wise?"

The girl shook her head, but Jimsey shook his, too, and, though he said no more to her, he was waiting for Benson when the latter left the office. It was Benson's habit to walk uptown each evening until he felt tired, and tonight Jimsey emerged from the shadows of the corner and fell into step.

"I want to chew the rag, boss," he explained.

"See the cashier if you want more salary," was the short response. "I cannot be bothered with office details."

"This ain't office," denied Jimsey. "It's about the lady. I didn't promise not to tell, and she's afraid to."

"What do you know about my wife that she is afraid to tell me?" demanded Benson sharply.

"It's this way," explained Jimsey hurriedly. "She ain't got nothin' to do but to be good to folks, and she gets in with the charity people. There's a chap that trails with the bunch for what he can get outen it, and—and—he was makin' love to her today. There ain't nothin' wrong, and you can't blame her. I seen him sellin' soap for twenty-fi' cents a cake, and there ain't another faker I know c'n get more'n ten. He's a swell talker, and she fell for to listen—just to listen, you understand. But he thinks that he c'n threaten to tell you and—and get some money from her, and I want to plug the game."

"And get the money yourself for telling?" demanded Benson. "It won't work. I have implicit confidence in my wife."

To his shocked surprise Jimsey slapped him jubilantly on the back.

"That's the way to talk," he cried, with enthusiasm, "only tell it to her, boss. Don't tell it to me. Just sort of get together. Good night."

He sped away into darkness, and in his perturbation Benson walked all the way home. He could see the poor little girl fearful of what might happen and trying to greet him with a smile. He could recall many little things to which business had blinded him, and when at last he came into his home he took the trembling little woman in his arms and told her that he understood.

Even Jimsey could not realize to what good effect he had "plugged the game." He had made many crooked ways straight, and some vague thought of this made him happy as he stood in line for a gallery ticket to the melodrama, where the stage villain would be knocked out and virtue would triumph as he had seen it that day in real life.

Turquoises and the Mongols.

Turquoises are the favorite stones of all the Mongol races and are generally worn in their original state except by the Chinese women, who have them roughly cut and wear them mixed with pearls and coral. Both the Tibetan men and women ornament themselves with lump turquoises, the men wearing them attached to their single gold earrings, which are worn in the right ear only.

The women of Ladakh carry their fortunes on their heads in the shape of a broad strip of red cloth studded with huge turquoises, which, starting from the forehead, is carried over the head and hangs nearly to the waist. By the Ladakhis those turquoises are preferred that have little black specks on them, which show their genuineness, for even in the wilds of central Asia the spotless blue composition emanating from Europe is offered for sale, the bazaar at Darjeeling being flooded with it.

The Bhutia women in the Darjeeling district wear quaint brass ornaments covered with chip turquoises, which are cheap, but the Mongolians have the embossed silver plates which form such a becoming headgear studded with really fine turquoises, for which the owners have to give valuable furs in exchange.—Cornhill Magazine.

Men, Women and Bundles.

"Wrap them up separately," said the woman at the counter, "and not in one big package."

And then, still speaking to the clerk, though obviously for the benefit of others within hearing, she went on:

"It looks better to carry a lot of little bundles than one big one, and it's easier too. You can pack them in handily between one arm and the body and leave the other arm free. Now, if all these things were in one big package I would have to use both hands to it or run the risk of dropping it."

So saying she stowed her purchases deftly along her left side, keeping them in place with her arm, and departed. A man who had heard her looked incredulous and when his turn at the counter came had all his packages made into one big bundle and tied securely. As he slipped his fingers under the cord and lifted the bundle off the counter he remarked:

"This is my way. If all these things were in separate packages I'd lose half of them before going a block."—New York Sun.

THE CONSCIENTIOUS SCOT.

He Had Scruples About Not Respecting the Sabbath.

A commercial traveling man landed at Edinburgh, Scotland, one Saturday night too late to get out of town for Sunday. The next day he found that there was actually no form of amusement in the whole city to assist him in whiling away the day. He went to the proprietor of the hotel to see if he could suggest a way of passing the remainder of the day.

The landlord took pity on the stranger and took him to one of the rooms in the house in which a number of Scotchmen were playing a game called "nap," which is a sort of modification of "seven up." They were playing for a shilling a point, so that the game was a pretty stiff one. The stranger got in the game and played very cautiously, for he was quite sure that the players, or at least some of them, were cheating. One solemn faced Scot, he was especially sure, he caught cheating a number of times. The visitor began whistling a part of some vagrant tune. The Scot who had been cheating arose from the table and threw down the cards.

"What is the matter?" the other players asked.

"I'm gangin' awa'," the Scot answered, glaring at the stranger. "I'll play cards wi' no mon that whustles on the Sabbath."

THE DAM TO DATE

The water commissioners need a bigger and better dam than the present one. It would take $40 000.00 to provide them with what they want. It will take $135 000.00 to provide such a dam as the commissioners want with a surplus of 700 h.p. for municipal and manufacturing purposes in addition. The opposition appears to contend that while the $40 000.00 scheme may be all right, the power part of it is all wrong, and should be provided for in a different way. This seems to be Mr. Kendrey's contention. It is up to the opponents of the power part of the scheme to outline a plan of greater advantage to the city than the one now proposed. When that is done the $120 000.00, plus $15,000.00 waterworks, plus water-power scheme will go to the wall at any rate for the present. In the meantime the ratepayers are awaiting the unfolding of the new plan. A feature of the commissioners' proposal not generally understood is that the repayment of the $120 000.00 will be made by the commissioners themselves. Here is where the opponents call out that it is not the commissioners, but the people, who will do the repaying, and that the commissioners are claiming a credit which does not belong to them. It is not a time for angry words, although they may help to a better understanding in the end. The outlook brightens and the ratepayers are beginning to look as if they understood the question, which is at least something gained. It is undoubtedly a matter for further and better consideration.

At the George street Methodist parsonage this morning the marriage took place of William Matthews, of Asphodel and Hanna Eliza Buck, of the same township. Rev. E. A. Pearson officiated. The ceremony was quietly observed, the contracting parties being unattended.

$100 REWARD, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

THE ITALIAN OPERA COMPANY IN AIDA

The Italian Opera Company in Aida

The Italian Grand Opera Company, an aggregation of principals of amazing dramatic abilities and vocal qualities, an orchestra and leader of marked capacity, which made a deep impression in Montreal at its first appearance here last autumn, opened a return season last night with a performance of "Aida," at his Majesty's theatre.

This performance, which was of even higher quality than that given here last year, attracted an audience which almost filled the theatre, and created several overwhelming demonstrations of enthusiasm. Indeed it is possible that there has never been in his Majesty's Theatre, more of the true atmosphere of Italian grand opera, the most exciting form of art which European civilization has yet developed. Audience and artists were in the closest rapport with one another from the very first bars of the overture. Signor Bari is the object of a positively personal affection in Montreal since his exquisite and deeply moving work in the two or three operas which he sang here in November, and while it was widely known in the audience, even before the formal announcement, that he was suffering severely from a painful cold, his heroic efforts and the beautiful and expressive quality which his voice retained in spite of all difficulties only commended him the more warmly to the hearts of all those present. At the curtain-fall he persistently refused to take recalls until dragged out by the insistent clamor of the audience, only to be greeted with shouts of "bravo," and the warmest demonstrations of applause; he apparently could not realize that with all his temporary limitations he was still the prominent feature of even this powerful cast.

DRUNKEN MAN'S CLOSE SHAVE

Fell Under Express Rig and Narrowly Escaped Injury

An intoxicated man who had been roaming around the city all day yesterday, came very nearly meeting with a serious accident last evening. He got mixed up with Foster's express rig on George street, and it was more by good luck than anything else that he managed to come out unharmed. He fell under the rig in some unaccountable manner, and but for the prompt work of the driver, might have been trampled by the horse.

After some hard work on the part of the driver, which greatly amused the large crowd who witnessed the affair, he was finally taken to his boarding house.

MR. OWEN A. SMILEY AND LOCAL ARTISTS GIVE A DELIGHTFUL PROGRAMME

Mr. Owen A. Smily is so well known in Peterborough, and held in such favor as a refined and pleasing entertainer that he is always sure to attract a large and thoroughly appreciative audience whenever he appears on a local stage. Last night he was given a hearing at the concert at the Conservatory Music Hall under the auspices of the Girls' Guild of the George street Methodist church. The cordial nature of his reception may be judged by his receiving encores for all his selections.

Mr. Smily was at his best and gave a programme well suited to display his versatility and gifts of humorous mimicry and ability as a reader of more serious numbers. In this latter respect his work was quite a revelation to those who had not heard him before and he gave Longfellow's beautiful idyll "Hiawatha," in a most appealing and artistic way. This was in connection with the number "Old Ways and New," which by way of introduction told the story of Hiawatha's love for his Minnehaha as told in the poem was told, and then a ludicrous effect was produced by Mr. Smily's realistic telling of how in this mercenary age matrimonial bargains were effected.

From every standpoint the concert was a distinct success. Toronto's favorite entertainer, supplied the larger part of the evening's enjoyment, but the city talent contributing were most satisfactory, and were received with very evident signs of appreciation.

The audience was the largest one that has attended any entertainment at the Conservatory Hall this season, and the receipts in consequence were gratifyingly substantial. The committee of young ladies in charge are to be commended on their enterprise in arranging for Mr. Smily's appearance here and also for obtaining the other excellent features of the programme. They are also to be congratulated on the splendid results from a financial point of view.

THE PROGRAMME.

The opening number was a piano duet by Misses McKee and McCaw. The selection was played in a brilliant manner and was generously applauded.

Mr. Smily who was the next contributor explained that he intended giving a programme entirely new to Peterborough, and in place of "A Queer World" which appeared on the printed programme as his first selection, and which he had given here before, recited a remarkably droll Scotch piece that gave him ample opportunity to display his entertaining qualities as a Scotch dialectician.

Miss Sanderson sang "O Come, My Beloved Come," with warmth of expression and fine voice.

"The Proposals of Bridget O'Brien" a lengthy but very amusing number, was remarkably well done by Mr. Smily, and as was the case with all his other numbers the audience would not be satisfied until he had answered a prolonged recall.

"A May Morning" was sung by Miss Reesor, with animation and sprightliness and as an encore selection she rendered "The Rosary," with fine appreciation of its sentiment.

"Old Ways and New," by Mr. Smily, followed, and he also gave another selection exclusive of his encores before the conclusion of the programme. During the evening he delighted the audience with James Whitcomb Riley's popular classic "That Old Sweetheart of Mine," and it would not be fitting to complete this comment on the concert without remarking that this was read with fine feeling, and showed Mr. Smily to great advantage.

Mr. Mortimer Johnston sang excellently the descriptive solo "The Bandolero" and the piano duet by Misses Grace Todd and Helen Greaves was an enjoyable feature.

Miss Mabel McCaw and Miss Grace McKee acted very efficiently as accompanists for the evening.

Owing to the illness of Mr. McIlroy and Miss Klien on Monday, it was necessary to make some changes in the programme. The Girls' Guild wishes to thank those who assisted in the programme for their kindness in assisting the Guild on such short notice.

THE BOARD OF TRADE HELD ANNUAL MEETING LAST NIGHT

Ald. Gillespie Elected President for 1909—Dr. Morrison Reviews Industrial Progress of the City—Votes of Thanks.

The twentieth annual meeting of the Board of Trade was held last night in the City Council Chamber. The attendance while not large, was representative and keen interest was taken in the proceedings. The chair was occupied by the president, Dr. M. A. Morrison.

The routine business was first disposed of.

The minutes of the last annual meeting were read by the secretary, Mr. T. Q. Quartermaine, and were approved.

Several communications were received and dealt with.

Resolutions of thanks to the Mayor and City Council for the use of the Council Chamber and to the press for reporting meetings were passed.

Messrs. Peter Campbell and John Crane were appointed to audit the books of the Board.

Dr. Morrison expressed the thanks of the board to the city papers for their efforts in promoting the interests of the city. They had been most diligent in this connection and their efforts were appreciated.

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.

The President then presented the following address for the past year:
To the members of the Peterborough Board of Trade:

Gentlemen—In presenting to you the President's annual report I wish to congratulate the city upon the manner in which it has emerged from the period of depression just passed. We have experienced no great depreciation in property values, the business men have held their own and many of them have prospered and the outlook is indeed optimistic.

The Board has held four meetings during the year, at which questions, vital to the interest of the city, were discussed and resolutions passed and forwarded to the City Council, some of which that body has already acted upon.

The Board of Trade is handicapped by not having at its disposal funds sufficient to carry its schemes into execution. In this respect I would recommend that at least one hundred dollars ($100) be placed at the disposal of the executive to be used in furthering the interests of the city, especially in endeavoring to secure new industries.

We note with pleasure the fact that during the year the Government let one contract north and four contracts south of Peterborough on the Trent Canal; the estimates for these contracts for the two years 1908-1909 amount to $2,000,000. There is yet to be put under contract 6 miles between Peterborough and Trenton. North of Peterborough the canal is completed to Lake Simcoe; between Lake Simcoe and Midland there is no work done as yet.

The question of additional power for the city is being worked out by the City Council and will no doubt be satisfactorily solved.

The building permits for the year amounted to $238,963.00, a considerable decrease when compared with the former year.

We note with pleasure that the Wm. Hamilton Mfg. Co. is again in operation and we bespeak for it a successful career.

The financial stringency is somewhat relieved, and, generally speaking, the prospects for a busy and successful year are very bright. We think that Peterborough ought to forge ahead more rapidly than she has done in the past with our natural advantages, central location, shipping facilities and cheap power, we should be an attraction for manufacturers, while we desire larger concerns that employ 200, 500 and 1000 hands, we welcome the smaller concerns, such as the Lubricating Cup Factory, Mat Factory, Furniture and Novel Tie Factories, and others which have located here within the last year or so. We hail with delight the prospect of the extension of the street railway both in the city and to the lakes. The building of the Victoria Harbor-Peterborough C.P.R. line will put us on the grain route of that great system, and no doubt before long the Toronto-Montreal branch of that railway will be double tracked and be used for the main line to the west. This will give us at least one train a day extra each way and increase our travelling and shipping facilities. We have in the past been endeavoring to work out a scheme for the earlier delivery of the Toronto daily papers in our city. For over twenty years there has been no improvement in this matter. We are apparently content to receive the daily news of the world in the middle of the day. The Board will keep at this work until we can have our Toronto daily at our breakfast table.

There are many other subjects I might touch, but this report is already long enough. I wish, in conclusion to thank the officers and members for their loyal support during the year, and for the many courtesies received at your hands.

M. A. MORRISON,
President.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

Then came the election of officers. Dr. Morrison stated that he was not in the field for re-election and declined to accept a third year as president, although nominated.

The election of officers resulted as follows:—

President—Ald. G. A. Gillespie.
Vice-President—Ald. W. H. Bradburn.
Treasurer—Mr. Peter Campbell.
Secretary—Mr. T. Q. Quartermaine.

FINANCIAL REPORT.

The following financial statement was presented by the treasurer, Ald. W. H. Bradburn:

Receipts and deposits in bank	$405.71
Expenditure	121.80
Balance on hand	$283.91

SECRETARY'S REPORT.

The following report was presented by the secretary:

Gentlemen,—I have the honor of presenting to you as secretary the 20th annual report of this Board.

This year we have held four meetings, viz., March 3rd, September 29th, December 100th and 21st, 1908. We have also held several committee meetings.

The following subjects were under discussion:—The Public Library Question, Electric Wiring, Equipment of the Fire Department, Fire Protection, when a paper on this subject was read by Chief Howard. Preparations for an Industrial Revival. Tabulation of available sites for information of outside equiping manufacturers. Sending a business man to interview intending locators instead of mailing them information as heretofore. Money bylaws to be submitted to proerty owners at municipal election.

The thanks of the Board of Trade are due to his Worship Mayor Rush, and the immediate past and present members of the Board of Aldermen for the use of the City Council Chamber during the past year.

Respectfully submitted
T. Q. QUARTERMAINE,
Secretary.

After thirty years' service with the Canadian Express Company at Guelph, twenty-nine of them as agent, Mr. Robert Gemmell has left that employ, and is succeeded by Mr. Jones, of Bracebridge.

Beautiful New Spring Suits
FOR WOMEN

Style is a something not charged for here, but which is a priceless feature of Women's Dress—A high priced garment is not always a stylish garment. Style may be lacking in even the most expensive suits.

Style Shines Forth in Every Fold of Every Garment In Our Showing of Women's Suits For Spring

Every suit in our collection is right, not only in style—but right in material, right in workmanship, right in price. You'll find our prices far lower than you could get anywhere else. Our policy this season will be to sell more suits at smaller profits. That, evidently was the maker's policy, too, for we got better values from him, than we ever had before.

NORWOOD AND STIRLING IN TRENT VALLEY FINALS AT BROCK STREET TO-NIGHT

The Norwood-Stirling game at Brock street rink to-night has been causing a great deal of talk in hockey circles the last few days. Local fans are inclined to favor Norwood, mostly on account of their work here last year in the City League, but Stirling have one of the best teams in the business, and have made a fine showing this year in the Trent Valley League. The game will be for the championship of the league, and whoever wins will know they have gone through a game of hockey. A good referee has been secured to make both teams toe the mark, and those who attend the game are sure of witnessing a big struggle. The ice is in good condition, but both teams are as much at home on soft ice as on hard, and as both can be depended on to keep the game fast and clean, as as neither team can afford to have any of the players on the fence. The game will start at 8 o'clock sharp.

LINDSAY BEAT STRATFORD; WIN INTERMEDIATE HONORS

Stratford, Ont., March 9.—By defeating the Stratford Intermediates here to-night by 5 to 3 Lindsay won the in[illegible]mediate Ontario (Hockey) Ass[illegible]onship and established a clear [illegible] to the cup, which goes to them for the first time. The pace was terrific and the checking close and hard, but perhaps, best of all, it was clean hockey, and a manly feat. So great was the excitement that the crowd, which was about 3,000, was on its feet all the time.

The line-up;—

Referee—Dr. Wood, Toronto.

DAVE HARTLEY STILL GOING

As will be seen by the following, Dave Hartley is still in the six day International go-as-you-please race.

There are a large number who have had to drop out, being unable to stand the strain, but Peterborough's pride is still going strong, and is to be commended on his grit.

The scores at 10 o'clock to-night, the 46th hour are as follows;—Cibot and Orphee 290.5; Davis and Metkus, 2.69.4; Feegan and Curtis 261.6; Dineen and Prouty 259.4; Looslin and Klubertanz 2.48.5; Corey and Hegelman 213.8; Shelton and Fraser, 213.1; Guignard and Revere, 213.6; Navoe and Kellar, 212.4; Hartley and Palisati 210.3; Quackenbush and Edelson, 198.5.

WRESTLING

Gotch and Hackenschmidt have at last been matched. They will meet in Australia next fall.

LAST PRACTICE OF THE P. C. I.

In Preparation for Their Game With Junior O.H.A. Seven

The P.C.I. had a good practise at Brock street rink last night, when they beat a picked team by 5 goals to 2. The school team have been practising hard for their game with the O.H.A. team on Thursday night and last night was the final workout. The P.C.I. have about the best all round team, for a junior bunch, that has ever been gathered together in this town and should receive the encouragement of the hockey fans. The forward line, which is composed of Geale, Conroy, Crane and Frotye play well together, shoot hard and straight and play one of the prettiest combinations that any one would wish to see. Their checking is a strong feature of their team work and it takes a fast team to get away from them.

Wallace and Denison make a strong defence, as has been shown by the small scores that have been registered against them this season. Both are hard checkers and can get away with the puck in fast time. Meldrum in goal has all the ear marks of a comer, as his work between the nets for his team this season has shown. Their game with the O.H.A. team should be one well worth watching and no doubt a large crowd will be on hand to see the struggle.

HOCKEY

The Midgets and Thistles met at Brock street rink last night in a fast game of hockey. The players who are all young lads, did remarkably well, and should be heard of later on, when they put on a little more weight and get more experience. The Midgets led at half-time by 1—0, but the Thistles scored in the second half and managed to keep their opponents from notching any counters, making the score 1—1. Ken Crane gave good satisfaction with the bell. The teams were:

THISTLES.		MIDGETS.

Cavanagh	Right Wing.	Parker

HOBBY CLUB.

All Lovers of Hobbies, Including Spook Hunters, to Be Eligible.

Viscount Molesworth and the Hon. George Scott have hit upon a novel idea for a club which will be called the Hobby Club, according to a London cable dispatch. Men will be admitted as members and women as associates on condition that they have hobbies, are amateurs so far as the club is concerned and possess the ordinary requisites comprised in the term clubable. The club will cater for a wide variety of hobbies, from gardening to curio collecting and even psychical research, which at this last hour seems to have received its proper classification.

An extensive library will be formed, and intellectual salons will be held, at which men and women of similar tastes may confer. Experts have been engaged to give lectures and advice on various topics. The club has already got an influential committee and is receiving hearty support from among others, Lord Avebury, who is a keen advocate of hobbies.

In review of the subject Lord Avebury says: "Those who have not tried it can hardly imagine how much a hobby adds to the interest and variety of life. Take science, for example. It is in endless aspect as wonderful as a fairy tale. My own taste has led me mainly to natural history and archaeology, but how grand are some other hobbies, such as astronomy and botany. Every one ought to be occupied. Occupation drives away care and all the small troubles of life, and, besides, a hobby brings the best kind of rest."

Youthful Suicides.

There is a shocking proneness among youthful Bengalis to kill themselves on the least pretext. It seems to be an exaggerated form of sulkiness, and one would like to have a medical opinion on the matter. A student is reprimanded by his parent because his studies don't show the advancement expected. The boy swallows some opium and ends his studies. A girl wife in Howrah takes a dislike to the second choice of her husband. She also secures an exit by the easy means of opium. A Bengal woman in Howrah wanted to go on a pilgrimage to Gaya. Her mother said she could not advance the railway fare, and the girl went out to a tree and hanged herself. These are all recent cases.—Calcutta Empire.

THE PROPOSITION FAVORED BY THE BOARD OF TRADE

"Mr. Moore has no right to ask me that question," retorted Mr Kendrey. As a ratepayer I am looking for information which Mr Moore and Mr Matthews do not appear to possess. They should have it before they proceed with this work."

Mr. Matthews replied to Mr Kendrey at some length and quoted from the reports of engineers Keefer and Kennedy, showing why the Commissioners had acted as they had.

Mr. Moore said it was the judgment of the Commission that a new dam was absolutely necessary. They had not rushed into the matter; the question had been considered for three years. A report was first secured from Mr. Keefer of Ottawa, three years ago and in the fall of 1908, another report was secured from Mr Kennedy, of Montreal. Both Mr. Keefer and Mr Kennedy were eminent hydraulic engineers and it was pretty nearly safe to adopt their opinions.

Continuing, Mr Moore showed how the water rates in Peterborough had been reduced by almost fifty per cent. since the waterworks were taken over by the Commission. The Commissioners had no selfish motive in asking to spend $130,000 for a new dam and increased pumping capacity, they were simply trying to serve the ratepayers in the most effective manner.

DR. MORRISON.

Dr. Morrison said he thought it was generally agreed that a new dam and increased pumping facilities for the waterworks dam were needed. He thought the Commissioners should be supported in this connection. It was apparent that the present plant was not adequate.

The development of power at the new dam did not solve the city power question. In the course of ten or fifteen years the Commissioners might need all the power developed for the operation of the waterworks. The city should have power of its own.

Dr. Morrison moved the resolution given at the beginning of this article.

Mr. D. Hughes-Charles said that he had been of the opinion for a long time that a new dam was needed. He was in favor of developing all the power possible at the new dam but as all this power might some day be required for the waterworks, it was advisable that the city should secure other power. He seconded Dr. Morrison's motion.

Ald. Bradburn reviewed the question as it had come up in the city council. After going fully into the reports the Water Commissioners had secured the council decided to submit the bylaw to the ratepayers. According to Mr. Kennedy's report there would be seven hundred horse power available after the waterworks people had taken enough for their own use. The city proposed spending $15,000 to build a power house and to develop power at the east end of the dam. First, however, the city was going to have a report made on the matter by an engineer, likely Mr R. B. Rogers, and the $15,000 would not be spent if it were found that there was not sufficient power to make it worth while.

Mr. Kennedy wished to make it clear that he was not trying to sell the Auburn dam, to the city.

Ald. Bradburn said he had gone to Mr. Kendrey and asked him to set a price on the Auburn dam and Mr. Kendrey had done so. It was the city made that proposition and also the city that made the proposition to spend $15,000 on the development of power at the proposed new dam.

Mr W. H. Meldrum discussed the question and said it might be well for the city to secure the Auburn dam for developing power for the city. Municipal ownership was a fine thing and there could not be too much of it in Peterborough. It might be advantageous for the city to have the two dams—waterworks and Auburn—and develop power at both of them.

After some more discussion adjournment took place.

BACKACHE IS THE FIRST SIGN

Mixture Said to Relieve Lame Back and Prevents Kidney Disease.

Take care of backache. A great many cases of kidney complaint are reported about here; also bladder trouble and rheumatism.

An authority once stated that pain in the back, loins or region of the kidneys is the danger signal nature hangs out to notify the sufferer that there is something wrong with the kidneys which should receive immediate attention. Only vegetable treatment should be administered and absolutely no strongly alcoholic medicines which are harmful to the kidneys and bladder.

The following prescription, while simple, harmless and inexpensive, is known and recognized as a sovereign remedy for kidney complaint. The ingredients can be obtained at any good prescription pharmacy and anyone can mix them: Compound Kargon, one ounce; Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Shake well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime.

This preparation is said to restore the natural function of the kidneys, so they will sift and strain the poisonous waste matter, uric acid, etc from the blood, purifying it and relieving rheumatism. Backache will be relieved, the urine will be neutralized and cleared and no longer a cause of irritation, thereby overcoming such symptoms as weak bladder, painful, frequent and other urinary difficulties.

This is worth trying and may prove just what many people here need.

Senator Isaac Stephenson was re-elected to the United States Senate by the Wisconsin Legislature on the twenty-third ballot.

TIRING OUT THE STAG

A "Deer Take" In England's Oldest Deer Park.

HOUNDED UNTIL HE GASPS.

The Game Animal Is Mercilessly Driven Hither and Yon, Through Lake and Wood, Until He Falls Exhausted, Though Undaunted.

Parts of certain great parks in England, such as Eridge park, the oldest deer park in the kingdom, are kept practically wild in their original forest state, while near to the castle is the cultivated home park. Eridge park contains 3,000 acres and is the only estate in England, with one exception, where deer taking with hounds is still carried on. Eridge park once formed part of the royal chase. It still retains the wild beauty it then had, although there are more than seventy miles of lovely drives in it, not counting those of the home park.

Deer taking is entirely different from deer hunting. The object is to take the animals alive so that they may be transferred to the home park to be fattened and eventually turned into venison.

The sport is by no means as tame as it sounds. A seven to nine year old red deer is an awkward customer to tackle. He is powerful, agile and well armed with antlers and hoofs.

When there is to be a deer taking at Eridge park the meet is planned for 11 o'clock at the park keeper's house. The underkeepers, with fresh hounds, are scattered through the park to head off the stag should he come their way.

The underkeepers having spread themselves over the park, the park keeper, with the "field" (those following mounted and on foot) set off to find a deer which looks ready for fattening purposes. Having selected one, it is the work of the keeper to get him separated from the rest and then to slip his hound and set after him as hard as we can gallop. The pace, of course, is tremendous, and as rabbit holes abound the risk of a fall is even betting or, rather, a trifle of odds on the certainty of our "taking a toss." As our deer bounds away with his wonderfully easy, elastic movements he makes for the wildest part of the park, expecting to escape his pursuers.

In one place after another he is met with hidden keepers and fresh hounds, till with the instinct of his species he turns to what he thinks is his sanctuary—the lakes. With open mouth and tongue outhanging he plunges a good fifteen feet into the water and swims for the opposite bank. Gasping and tiring, he lands on what he hopes is freedom from his pursuers. But, alas, no! Yet another fresh hound is after him. What can he do? He is too pumped with his already hard burst to face the hill before him.

He turns around and tears down through the bracken with a hound on each side of him, ready to pull him down if they get but half a chance. It is a dingdong race, under trees, through bogs and bracken, up and down dells and breaks, smashing headlong through everything, anything, to reach the shelter of the friendly water once again. With a mighty spring he is in again. For a moment there is breathing space, for now the keepers and hounds, yet some way off, are making for the poor beast, which is in the middle of the lake. Away he swims with graceful movement of his noble head, glancing all around at his pursuers, but with his mind fixed on his line of retreat. He reaches the shore, and, with dripping sides, he is out upon the bank.

Again he makes an effort to baffle and leave behind those clinging hounds that would bear him down. And now two great hounds are stretching themselves out to their utmost pace. Side by side they race after their tiring quarry; in another minute they will have him. The stag, however, manages to make a spurt, though he is now stiffening rapidly, and just reaches some park palings surrounding the big lake.

In an instant he has turned on his pursuers, and with head down and upraised fore leg he is prepared to fight to the death. A hound rushes in, but in a twinkling he is on his back, hurled away like a piece of wood. This checks the other hound, which dodges and bays around the stag. Seeing that things are now getting a bit too warm for him, the stag suddenly turns round and, smashing the palings like match wood, finds himself again in the icy water of the big lake. Away and away he swims, up this long stretch, the water seeming to revive him, for he swims the eastern length, three-quarters of a mile, and then lands at the far end while we follow on the shore. He swims till his feet touch the ground and stands facing us.

All we can do now is to end the situation as speedily as possible. A keeper deftly throws a rope with a loose knot over the stag's antlers. In a moment four burly keepers are hauling him out by the ropes. It is now a slow march to his feeding ground in the home park. Slowly the procession moves, never a slackening of the rope or the hold on the antlers. Through the gate dividing the parks he is brought, an unwilling prisoner, though undaunted. This ends the deer taking. —Town and Country.

A Pleasant Prison.

The prison at Cettinje, Montenegro, has been described as surely the most extraordinary one in existence. It presents little to indicate that it is a place of confinement, there being apparently nothing between the prisoners and absolute liberty. There are no outer prison walls, and in the cells the men—about eight or ten to each—are as contentedly and comfortably housed as their own personal domestic belongings can make them. Moreover, they are generously fed, and cigarettes without stint, wine occasionally and no work at all combine to check any desire to escape more effectually than would strong walls, iron bars and an army of jailers.—London Globe.

Tees In the Treetops.

Here is a story speaking better for the German emperor's goodness of heart than his knowledge of the ancient and royal game of golf. "So you want ground for your golf club, Sir Frank?" said the kaiser to the British ambassador at Berlin. "We haven't got nice grass meadows round Berlin as you have in England, but I'll give you a bit of the Grunewald," a pine forest near Berlin and a great Sunday resort of the Berliners. "Ah, sire," Sir Frank Lascelles replied, "I am afraid there would be too many trees!" "Trees!" instantly replied the emperor, with bonhomie. "All the better to keep the sun off you when you are playing in the summer!"

MUM IS THE WORD WITH CANDIDATES

Everyone is Wondering How Strong Their Opponents are, But it is Only a Matter of Guessing—In the Meantime There is a Merry Scramble for More Votes—Only Twelve More Days and it Will all be Over—It Will be a Great Contest up to the Last Minute.

If you did not get in on the special ballot offer you should profit by the experience and see that you benefit by the bonus given with "cash clubs" on both new and old, which will be in force during the remainder of the contest. The extra votes given are a little less than the offer which closed last night, but the chance is still open for candidates to increase their reserve. Every contestant starts off with a clean slate—that is, no business previously turned in will count. The regular scale of votes will remain in force, and the "special" is given in addition. When a candidate has turned in $10 worth of NEW subscriptions, Daily or Weekly, an extra certificate for 4000 votes will be given; for each $10 worth of OLD subscriptions an extra certificate will be issued good for 2000 votes. Turn in the subscriptions as you get them and when the amount reaches $10 the certificate will be issued at once, and you may either vote or hold it. Candidates will please read these few lines again.

The people who are leading now and the people who will lead at the finish are those who have taken this contest to bed with them; men and women who realize that to reach the land of heart's desire it is necessary to travel the more or less rocky roads of patience, perseverence and intelligently directed effort. Mere idle wishing is not going to carry anyone to Europe or furnish them with sparkling diamond rings to wear.

MISS LILA FINLAY
Norwood's Representative in the Review's Popularity Contest.

Any one of the active candidates still has a good chance to jump to the front. Much good work can be done by any candidate during the remaining twelve days. Help your candidate now.

The contestants are hard at work trying to cinch the victory, which is still in doubt. The race is close, and a good streak of fortune for any one of the candidates would put them in the lead. Now is the time to help your friends.

Vote early. Vote often. Vote late. Vote to-day. Vote to-morrow. Vote every day.

WHAT IT MEANS TO WIN

Winning a POPULARITY CONTEST means more than the mere possession of the prizes which are awarded the victors. It means that after a severe test, pitted against the strongest people in your vicinity, you have proven your worth, that you have come out of the fray on top. And you are on top because you belong there. If you don't belong there you'll topple. Accident may give you a foothold, but chance is not a rivet, and in a few days we see the one climb to the top who rightfully belongs there.

There are scores of people who think they are your equal, who have confidence in their ability to prove it, and who mean to beat you if it lies within their power; to fight you with all their brain and all their doggedness, and unless your brain is shrewder and your will firmer and your determination to defend as intense as their zeal to attack—unless you are stronger—then the person who really merits the first position will surely take the coveted honors away from you. It is up to you to prove your claim to a position at the top.

CHINA'S GRAND CANAL.

Sometimes It Holds Water Enough to Float the Boats.

Of some of the crude and outgrown methods used on China's Grand canal a writer in the North China Daily News remarks: "The junction of the real canal with the Wei river was not by means of a lock, but simply a high and steeply sloping mud bank, over which the grain vessels had to be dragged by the force of perhaps many hundreds of men. It should be borne in mind that in China the lock of a canal is not much more like our idea of what that name connotes than it is like a padlock. Amid constant and often serious changes of level, with an uncertain and not infrequently a scanty supply of water, and with a grain fleet which traveled in blocks of some eighty vessels under one officer, it was necessary to devise some way for keeping them together and for transferring them as a consolidated unit with this in view.

"For this reason a Chinese lock on the Grand canal is nothing but a stone gateway into which large boards may be lowered through a groove in the stones, restraining most of the water from its flow, until there is a depth sufficient to float all the craft, when the boards are pulled up and the entire fleet passes through.

"After this the boards are again lowered for another division of the grain boats. In case the water gives out—a by no means unlikely occurrence—there is nothing to do but to wait until more comes from somewhere."

HAIR SLAUGHTER

Killed by Negligence

Hair must have nourishment or die. If it does not have proper nourishment it will loose its vitality, grow weak, and become an easy prey to the ravages of the vicious and destructive germs of dandruff.

Parisian Sage is a hair nourisher; it is the result of sincere study and experiement by one of the world's leading scientists.

It should be used regularly as a hair dressing by everyone with healthy hair, because it never fails to prevent dandruff, falling hair or any scalp disease.

But Parisian Sage is not only a preventive it is a certain cure for dandruff; it stops itching of the scalp instantly; it makes hair grow thick and luxuriant. It is especially in demand by ladies, because it makes the hair beautiful, soft and fluffy. W. Madill, druggist, Peterborough, sells it under a positive guarantee to do all that is claimed for it or money back. 50 cents for a large bottle.

"No, it can't be true! He's gone mad, dearest."

"Is it true, mother? Tell me, tell me!"

Frances Cable's white lips moved stiffly, but no sound came forth. Her eyes spoke the truth, however. The girl sank limp and helpless in Graydon's arms and knew no more. At the foot of the steps Rigby was pointing his trembling fingers at James Bansemer.

"You'll pay for this tomorrow!" he was saying. "Your day has come! You cutthroat! You blackmailer!"

"Graydon!" called the father. "Come, let us go home. Come, boy!"

"Not now—not now," answered the son hoarsely. "I'll—I'll try to come home tonight, father. I'm not sure that I can. My place is here—with her."

Without a word James Bansemer turned and rushed out into the street, tears of rage and disappointment in his eyes. He had not expected the gall. Until the break of day he sat in his chill room waiting for the rasp of his son's night key, but Graydon did not come home.

CHAPTER XX.

GRAYDON sat with his chin in his hands, dull, stricken, crushed. He had heard the story of his father's baseness from Frances Cable, and he had been told the true story of Jane. From Rigby he learned of the vile transactions in which his father had dealt. At first he could scarcely believe his own ears, but in the end he saw that but half the truth could be told.

It was past midnight when he left David Cable's—not to go to his own home, but to that of Elias Droom. He knew now that the newspaper would devote columns to the "sensation in high life;" he knew that Jane would suffer agonies untold, but he would not blame his father for that; he knew that arrest and disgrace hung over the tall gray man who had shown his true and amazing side at last; he knew that shame and humiliation were to be his own share in the division. Down somewhere in his aching heart he nourished the hope that Elias Droom could ease the pain of these wretched disclosures.

As he traversed the dark streets across town he was vaguely wondering whether Jane's eyes would ever lose the pained, hopeless expression he had last seen in them. He wondered whether she would retract her avowal that she could not be his wife with the shame upon her; he rejoiced in her tearless, lifeless promise to hold him in no fault for what had happened.

Distressed and miserable, he spent the remainder of the night in Elias Droom's squalid rooms, sitting before the little stove which his host replenished from time to time during the weary hours.

Droom answered his questions with a direct tenderness that surprised even himself. He kept much to himself, however, and advised the young man to reserve judgment until after he had heard his father's side of the story.

"I've been loyal to James Bansemer, Graydon, and I'll still be loyal to him. He's not done right by other people, but he has tried to do right by you."

"If he wanted to do right by me, why did he not tell me of Jane's—misfortune?" exclaimed the young man bitterly.

"Because he really wanted you to marry her. Anybody can see she is without a flaw. That's the truth, Graydon. Your father was wrong in his desire to make capital of it in connection with Mrs. Cable. I told him so. I don't believe he knew just what he was doing; he was so used to success, you see. Can't you go to sleep, boy? You need to."

"God, no!"

"I'd advise you to go home and talk it over with your father."

"Tomorrow will be time enough—after the newspapers are out. I can't bear to think of the disgrace. Harbert has been interviewed, they say. He's told everything."

"Talk to your father tonight, my boy. There may be—may be warrants tomorrow."

The young man dropped his head on his arm and burst into tears. Old Droom puffed vigorously at his pipe, his eyes shifting and uncomfortable. Twice he attempted to speak and could not. In both instances he arose and poked the fire. At last the young man's choking sobs grew less violent. Droom cleared his throat with raucous emphasis, took his snaky gaze from a print on the wall representing "Dawn" and spoke:

"You wouldn't think it to look at me now, or any other time for that matter, but I loved a woman once—a long time ago. She never knew it. I didn't expect her to love me. How could I? Don't cry, Graydon. You're not like I was. The girl you love loves you. Cheer up. If I were you I'd go ahead and make her my wife. She's good enough, I'll swear!"

"She says she can't marry me. Good heavens, Elias! You don't know what a blow it was to her. It almost killed her. And my own father! Oh, it was terrible!"

Elias Doom did not tell him—nor had he ever told any one but himself—that the woman he loved was the boy's mother. He loved her before and after she married James Bansemer. He never had faltered in his love and reverence for her.

Graydon waited in his rooms until the old man returned with the morning papers. As Droom placed them on the table beside him he grinned cheerfully.

"Big headlines, eh? But these are not a circumstance to what they will be. These articles deal only with the great mystery concerning the birth of one of the 'most beautiful and popular young women in Chicago.' Wait—wait until the Bansemer smash comes to re-enforce the story! Fine reading, eh?"

"Don't, Elias, for heaven's sake, don't!" cried the young man. "Have you no soft spot in your heart? I believe you enjoy all this. Look! Look what it says about her! The whole shameful story of that scene last night! There was a reporter there when it happened."

Together they read the papers. Their comments varied. The young man writhed and groaned under the revelations that were going to the public. The old clerk chuckled and philosophized.

Every one of these papers prophesied other and more sensational developments before the day was over. It promised to be war to the knife between David Cable, president of the Pacific, Lakes and Atlantic, and the man Bansemer. In each interview with Cable he was quoted as saying emphatically that the adoption of Jane had been made with his knowledge and consent. The supposed daughter was the only one to whom the startling revelations were a surprise. There also was mention of the fact that the young woman had immediately broken her engagement with James Bansemer's son. There were pictures of the leading characters in the drama.

"I can't stay in Chicago after all this," exclaimed Graydon, springing to his feet, his hands clinched in despair. "To be pointed out and talked about! To be pitied and scorned! To see the degradation of my own father! I'll go anywhere, just so it is away from Chicago."

Droom forgot his desire to scoff. His sardonic smile dwindled into a ludicrously pathetic look of dismay. He begged the young man to think twice before he did anything "foolish." "In any event," he implored, "let me get you some breakfast, or at least a cup of coffee."

In the end he helped Graydon into his coat and glided off down Wells street with him. It was 7 o'clock, and every corner newsstand glowered back at them with black frowns as they looked at the piles of papers. Two rough looking men walking ahead of them were discussing the sensation. A saloon keeper shouted to them, "It don't always happen over on de west side, does it?"

Graydon went to the office of Clegg, Groll & Davidson early and arranged his affairs, so that they could be taken up at once by another, and then, avoiding his fellow workers as much as possible, presented himself to Mr. Clegg at 10 o'clock. Without hesitation he announced his intention to give up his place in the office. All argument put forth by his old friend and employer went for naught. The cause of his action was not discussed, but it was understood.

"If you ever want to come back to us, Graydon, we will welcome you with open arms. It isn't as bad as you think."

"You don't understand, Mr. Clegg," was all that Graydon could say.

Then he hurried off to face his father.

James Bansemer, haggard from loss of sleep and from fury over the alienation of his son, together with the fear of what the day might bring, was pacing the floor of his private office. Droom had eased his mind but little in regard to his son. When he heard Graydon's voice in the outer room his face brightened, and he took several quick steps toward the door. He checked himself suddenly with the remembrance that his son had turned against him the night before, and his face hardened.

Graydon found him standing stern and unfriendly before the steam radiator in the darkest corner of the room, his hands behind his back. The young man plumped down heavily in his father's desk chair.

"Why didn't you come home last night?" demanded the other.

"I hated the thought of it," he answered dejectedly.

"You've listened to their side of the story. You're a splendid son, you are!" sneered the father.

"There is nothing base and unprincipled in their side of the story. They have tried to shield her. They have never harmed her. But you! Why, father, you've blighted her life forever. They were going to tell her in a day or so, and they could have made it easy for her. Not like this! Why, in heaven's name, did you strike her like that? She's—she's the talk of the town. She's ostracised, that's what she is, and she's the best girl that ever lived!"

"Oh, you think they would have told her, eh? No! They would have let her marry"—

"Well, and what was your position? Why were you so considerate up to last night? If you knew, why did you let me go on so blindly? The truth is, father, if you must have it, you have acted like a scoundrel."

James Bansemer glared at his son, with murder in his eyes.

FAMILY WITHOUT ANY FOOD OR FUEL

Sad Case of Destitution on Edinburgh-st.—Children Crying Because They Had Sold no Papers—Local Man and Wife Visited Poverty Stricken Home Last Night.

The attention of a citizen was called to a painful case of deprivation last night, when he found that a family living on Edinburgh street a few doors west of George street were living in a state of poverty, without even the bare necessities of life. About 10 o'clock as he was going home, when at the corner of George and Dublin streets a youngster about nine years of age, who was accompanied by a little girl, his sister, probably a couple of years older, tried to sell him a paper. As he did not want one, he passed by without paying much heed to the boys' request. He had not gone very far before he heard the children crying. His curiosity was aroused, and he and his wife, who was with him at the time went back to investigate.

The little fellow had ten papers, and did not want to go home until he could sell some of them. He hadn't sold a single copy of the paper during the whole evening.

The compassion of the passers-by was aroused and they went with the youngsters to their home. Here they found a mother, who has several children, and the family was in miserable circumstances. There was no food in the house and the last fuel on hand had been put on the fire. The husband and father is in England and the family is without means of support.

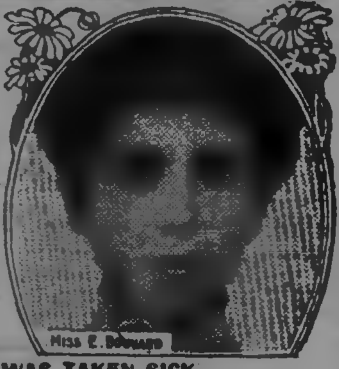
The visitor went to the grocery store at the corner of George and Edinburgh streets and purchased enough groceries to do the suffering ones for to-day. This sad instance of extreme poverty in the city gives a worthy opportunity for charitably inclined citizens to do some worthy and philanthropic work.

The case has been laid before the City Relief Officer, who will gladly give any particulars concerning it, and contributions to the "Edinburgh Street Fund" will be received by the Review.

ANOTHER INSTANCE OF WHAT THE MONEY'S WANTED FOR

People are often in quandary whether or not to give assistance to gentlemen of the road when they apply. In some instances the solicitors are deserving, and in some they are not, and "there's the rub."

A man who had been in the newspaper business in this city called on a newspaper writer and renewed old acquaintances, and incidently applied for a little money as he was "strapped," to express it in the conventional way. To make sure a donation would not go for liquid refreshments the doner gave him an order for a meal on Long & Hooper's restaurant. He took the order to the restaurant and wanted to get money instead but was refused, and submitted to the meal. This shows how far a man will go in his efforts to raise the price for something to drink.



Miss E. Bouvard

WAS TAKEN SICK FROM CATCHING COLD PE-RU-NA RELIEVED.

MISS ERNESTINE BOUVARD, Duck Lake, Saskatchewan, Can., writes:

"At the close of 1908 I took sick as the result of catching cold. I became very weak and could not do anything.

"I consulted a doctor who had me take various kinds of medicine, but I did not find any relief from my suffering. At the advice of a friend, I wrote to you and you advised me.

"After I had taken two bottles of Peruna there was noticeable improvement. I combined the use of Peruna, Manalin and Lacupia and after taking several bottles of each I find myself entirely cured.

"I can certify that it was through your medicines that I recovered my health. I advise every one who is similarly afflicted to obtain Dr. Hartman's advice and be benefited."

Mrs. Wilda Mooers, R. F. D. No. 1, Lents, Oregon, writes:

"For the past four years I was wretched woman, suffering with severe backaches and other pains, leaving me so weak and weary that it was only with difficulty that I was able to attend to my household duties.

"I used different remedies, but found no relief until I had tried Peruna.

"Within two weeks there was a change for the better, and in less than three months I was a well and happy woman.

"All the praise is due to Peruna."

Peruna is not a local remedy, but an internal systemic remedy. It will relieve catarrh in its most obstinate form.

Slippery Sidewalks

To the Editor of The Review:

Sir,—The sidewalks this morning were very suppy. The street commissioner had men out at 7 o'clock sanding the walks; but this expenditure seems to be useless, as it is swept off almost immediately after by persons employed by the store-keepers. Perhaps they are not aware that should any accident occur, the city having taken this precaution, will not be responsible.

There can be no objection to clean sand being sprinkled, as it cannot be carried into the stores on people's shoes.

Yours,
CITIZEN.

Where the ice is shovelled off as well as the sand there is no ice to slip on. The value of sand or sandy earth to the public as a protection in slippery weather is so great that it is needless to discuss it. Go on with the good work.

A TRAMP PEERING THROUGH WINDOW

Causes Alarm at Gilmour Street Residence—Lady of House Heard Footsteps on Walk—Police Informed.

Tramps are not causing much trouble within the city limits of Peterborough at present or have not for some time past thanks to the "Six months in Central" sentence which P.M. Dumble generally imposes on unworthy vagrants. Last night however, a bold fellow, probably of the "Wandering Willie" order, many of the members of which by their frequent depredations and outrages have shown them to be more dangerous than the above innocent sounding name would imply, caused considerable alarm at a Gilmour street residence.

About 10 o'clock the lady of the house heard footsteps on the walk. She drew the curtain in the room she was in at the front of the house and a moment later the servant went to the window and raised the blind to look out. Imagine her surprise and fright when she discovered a man on his knees looking through the window.

The police were informed and are investigating.

MR. M. JENKINS, F.R.A.S., ON "A TRIP TO STARLAND"

A Lecture of Much Interest Given Before Local Astronomical Branch at Collegiate Institute Last Night —Illustrated by Excellent Views.

A goodly number were present last night at the Collegiate Institute to hear the lecture by M. Jenkins, F.R.A.C., of Hamilton, on "A Trip to Starland." This was the second of a course of lectures that the Peterborough Astronomical Society have arranged for, and the next one will be held on March 23rd, and everyone interested in the study of astronomy should be present, as a very profitable and instructive evening may be spent.

On opening his lecture, Mr. Jenkins said he was glad to be able to come to Peterborough, and brought with him the heartiest greetings from the society in Hamilton. A great many people did not know much about astronomy for the reason that the stars had been with us so long, but if they were to shine one night in one hundred years, people would take more interest in the study of them. This was the tercentenary of the telescope by which all journeys must be made to starland, and a number of these instruments were shown on the canvas, among them being the great Pike telescope. Mr. Jenkins spoke for a considerable time on the spots on the sun and many photographs that he himself had taken, besides a picture of the Dominion Observatory at Ottawa, were shown on the canvas, and were much appreciated by the audience. The lecturer then went on to tell of his trip to Labrador, where he witnessed a double eclipse of the sun, and the many illustrations made everything quite easy to understand how this was accomplished by the aid of the telescope.

Mr. Jenkins next turned the attention of his audience to the Planets, and spoke for a short time on their position and relation to the moon and the earth. One interesting photograph was shown by which, with the aid of the lecturer, the figur eof the girl in the moon could easily be discerned. An interesting description of Mars then followed, and the speaker said if there were any inhabitants in the planets, Mars had the conditions that were necessary for life. The meteor shower of 1866 was shown, and Mr. Jenkins corrected the wrong idea which people have, that the stars fall. The stars do not fall, as they are so much larger than the earth that it would be impossible. It is only small particles of matter that get dislodged and come shooting down. Many photographs of single stars and in clusters were shown, which made the remarks of the lecturer easily understood by all. At the conclusion Mr. Jenkins recited a poem on a dream of a trip to the stars, which was heartily applauded. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Jenkins for his highly entertaining lecture.

MR. McWILLIAM'S LETTER OBJECTED TO BY CHAIRMAN MOORE OF CITY TRUST

When seen by the Review, Mr. W. H. Moore, K.C., chairman of the City Trust, said that Mr. McWilliams was entirely incorrect in his published statements regarding the City Trust and its consent to allow the appropriation of sinking-fund surpluses by the council to the payment of current account deficits. He said that the Trust did not consider the question at all, and that Mr. McWilliams had promised to withdraw his mistaken allusion to the chairman of the City Trust and to that body itself. He further said that rushing into print to attack city officials without first asking those officials what they had to say by way of explanation and without first making sure of truth of charges was to his mind exceedingly unfair and reprehensible. From the nature of the interview the Review's representative gathered that there is no probability of the Council's being given one dollar of money that they are not strictly entitled to.

SHADOWS OF A GREAT CITY

Handsomely Illustrated Lecture by Rev. F. A. Robinson—Programme of Interest

An unusually attractive evening of entertainment and interesting information is promised at Knox church to-morrow night, when a lecture copiously illustrated by dissolving views will be given by Rev. F. A. Robinson, B.A., on "The Shadows of a Great City." The lecture deals with the life and conditions of the people of the lower side of New York, and of the efforts that are being made to reclaim them. Some interesting scenes are shown in connection with the famous Bowery.

Rev. Mr. Robinson has been engaged in slum work in the city of London, England, and is a noted lecture and able to tell a most interesting story.

A feature of the evening will be the singing of "The Holy City" by Mr. Jas. Browne, with illustrations by very fine colored views. Miss Jessie Miller will also render an illustrated ballad, "Always in the Way."

Duke Who Broke the Bank.

The Czar's uncle, the Grand Duke Alexis, who has just died, was one of the few men who have ever broken the bank at Monte Carlo. Playing roulette one afternoon the duke had an extraordinary run of luck, winning about $50,000 in half an hour. Play stopped at the other tables, and everyone crowded round to watch the Imperial gambler. When finally he broke the bank there was a roar of applause and cheering. Like most Russian grand dukes, he knew what it was to have his life attempted. The conspirators pulled up a section of the permanent way near Cette, in France, over which it was known that the duke's train would pass. But they were too premature in their plans, and a luggage train which preceded the duke's train crashed over the embankment, killing one of the conspirators, who was on the watch. No one else was hurt.

The Age of the Earth.

The possibility of definitely arriving at the age of the earth through the radio-active properties of radium and helium has been pointed out by R. T. Strutt before the Royal Institution of London. Accepting the hypothesis that helium is constantly at a definite speed from radium, Mr. Strutt proposed a quantitative estimation of the radium and the helium present in various minerals as a means of determining their relative ages. Proceeding on similar lines, when once the rate at which radium is transformed should have been estimated a simple operation in arithmetic would solve the problem of the age of the earth. "I have," said Mr. Strutt, "been able to find that the age of flints present in chalk is only one-thirtieth of the age of the mineral that is being mined in Cornwall."

Daudet's Ideas of Death.

Alphonse Daudet constantly suffered severe physical pain and was unable to sleep without the aid of chloral. He was always speaking about death and especially rejoiced in the theory propounded by an English doctor that death was in itself a delightful sensation, voluptuous, resembling the action of anaesthetics.

Daudet on one occasion dreamed of dying surrounded by his friends and conversing of the hereafter.

He once told Goncourt, who afterward related the incident, that whenever he entered a new apartment for the first time his eye instinctively searched for the spot where his coffin would be placed.

Fraser Withdraws His Bill to Compensate Employees Who Are Injured.

Toronto, March 11.—Evan Fraser's bill to provide compensation for injuries to employes was supported yesterday in the Legisaltare by the Liberals in principle, but Hon. Mr. MacKay pointed ont that the bill would take away certain existing rights from employes. Premier Whitney considered that it should be brought in as an amendment to the existing law. Mr. Fraser withdrew the bill, promising to revive it in a modified form.

Mr. Nickle's police magistrate bill got the hoist.

W. S. Brewster renewed the budget debate and defended the Government on account of the Cobalt Lake case. In this the Government held a brief for the people. While deploring the depletion of forest resources and other provincial assets, he trusted the Government to conserve them. He reminded the House that $2,000,000 of white ash and oak was imported from the south.

Mr. Proudfoot (Centre Huron) advanced the startling idea that there were too many legislators in the House and that the province could get along with a half or a third of the present number. He thought it should be possible to sue the Government just like a private individual. It was unfair and unjust, he considered, for the Government to take $1,000,000 for the province.

"I don't know how the Government came to have such a large majority in the House. They can explain that perhaps better than we can. We had not any funds to draw from. They had," was Mr. Proudfoot's view of the electoral sympathies of the province. He warned the Government that the House would be divided on the liquor question. He was prepared to vote for legislation to abolish licenses altogether, whether introduced by the Government, the Liberal party or Mr. Studholme."

R. R. Gamey, H. A. Mackim (Kenora), Valentine Stock (South Perth), and W. A. Preston (Rainy River) also joined in the debate on the budget.

Forty-three deputations made things lively in the Ministerial and committee offices at the Parliament buildings.

Premier Whitney received a London deputation opposing Sunday cars. No municipality will get Sunday cars until the people vote for them, said Sir James. The Ontario Shorthorn Association made a request for an increased grant. The Live Stock Association of Ontario asked aid to build a large arena in Toronto for live stock exhibitions.

Peterboro sent a deputation asking for an agricultural school at Norwood. Hon. W. J. Hanna received a deputation of architects regarding the proposed new Central Prison.

Kingston wants a new building for the School of Mines and chemistry.

SMALL BOYS STEAL MAIL

Brockville Lads Charged With Robbing Post Office Boxes---Baffled Police for Months.

Brockville, March 11.—After post-office inspectors and the police were baffled for man ymonths, ti remained for Clerk Wilson of the local post-office staff to catch a lad named Jas. Murray in the act of robbing a box in the postoffice lobby.

He was removing letters and parcels from the box of the B. & W. Railway Co., and when taken to task said he was a son of the superintendent of the railway. His identity becoming known, Murray, who is 13 years old, was handed over to the police. He named Gilbert Russell, Joe Laroque and J. Conlin as having practiced with him a system of robbing mail boxes for six months in search of parcels and letters containing money.

They conceived the idea of finding boxes open while loitering in the lobby. In several instances they came into possession of keys, which are frequently left in the boxes by subscribers. Taking note of the numbers the lads paid return visits, using the keys to open the boxes without creating suspicion.

Justice Murphy sent Murray, Laroque and Russell for trial. Conlin and two others, Gilmour Fox and Terrance McGuire, who were gathered in by the police on suspicion, were allowed to go.

REVIEW DISTRICT PRIZES ARE ON DISPLAY TO-DAY

The Sparkling Diamonds and Beautiful Watches May be Seen for the First Time This Evening.

As you saunter up and down George street look in the display windows of every jewelry store on the south side of the street and "see what you see." The Review district prizes are on display. If you wish further information, just step inside and ask the various obliging jewelers to show you the trophies. We do not care if you ask the price, as we are proud of the fact that we are giving prizes of such good value. We are also very proud of the dozen and a half wide-awake and hustling candidates, among whom these awards will be distributed.

Starting at George and Brock streets, the first "look" will be in the windows of F. Clarke & Son. Next, a block and a half south on George street, the candidates and their friends will find a plain little card in the display window of F. S. Schneider & Co's store, and beside the card a sparkler. In the same block, in W. A. Sanderson & Co's. window, will be found another instalment. Have a look here. In the next block at Milburn's neat store, will be found another gem of the first water. And a few doors away in Warne Bros.' display window, beside the card "Part of the Review's District Prizes" may be seen the last of the beauties.

We would like to say more about them, but modesty forbids us to "toot our own horn." We are satisfied to be judged by our actions, not words.

TO-DAY'S VOTING.

W. G. Rundle carries off the banner to-day as a heavy voter. He is now second good and strong. A couple more 10,000 jumps, and then some, and he will be "looking down" on all the men. Will he reach the coveted position before Herb McMillan gets his breath to make another plunge? Time alone will tell. In the meantime there is a merry chase in the men's list. Wm. A. Mowry should have had second place yesterday. The 10,000 he voted was inexplicably omitted. The Contest Man blamed the printers, and Mr. Mowry came in last night and blamed the Contest Man. Who is the culprit? However, the 10,000 appears in Mr. Mowry's score to-day. This list is of the step order thus: McMillan 60,000; Rundle, 36,000; Mowry 28,000 and Kemp 28,000, with Cox and Rozzel taking mighty good care of the rear.

Outside of the 3000 vote of Miss Whetung, there was little doing in the ladies' city list. Miss Rose P. Moore retains first place.

The ladies' city list is getting restless again. All signs point to another upheaval, the vote of 5,000 by Miss Adams and 2000 by Miss Perry being only an inkling of what may be expected very soon in the "going" line. Miss Bell also increased her score 1000.

In the county men's list, it is very evident that Mr. Towns and Mr. Smithson are preparing to lock horns again. When these two come together again the others will have to hurry if they want to catch up.

NEW SUBSCRIBERS

Owing to the large number of new subscribers added to our already long list some little difficulty has been experienced in getting the names properly divided among the carrier boys. It has been necessary to break in additional boys and in a very few days we are confident that all the new subscribers will receive their paper on time each evening. We accordingly ask our new friends to have a little patience. We were prepared to handle the expected addition to our list, but we had not expected the avalanche of new names that were handed in the past week. The surprise was all on our side, but it was most agreeable. We intend to return the favor by continuing to give all the latest news in the best possible manner, and hope to continue to merit the reputation of being "Johnny on the spot" when the interests of Peterborough can be advanced.

The standing to-day:

TRIP TO EUROPE.
Miss Birdie Dawson.

1ST PRIZE SOLITAIRE DIAMOND
Miss Rose P. Moore.
Miss Maude Adams.
Herb. McMillan.

LAWYER BLACKSTOCK PROBES INTO AFFAIRS OF THE FAMILY

Miss Florence Kinrade on the Stand---Declares She Did Not Know Murderer Before---Father Gives Evidence and Admits Saying He Expected Tragedy.

Hamilton, March 11.—The inquest into the death of Miss Ethel Kinrade continuing well into the hours of this morning, with Miss Florence Kinrade on the witness stand.

Telling the events of the tragedy, she has maintained that a burglar did the deed.

Questioned by Mr. Blackstock, she has replied to leading queries with a doubtful "I don't know."

She has told of her encounter with the man, being seized by him, escaping to the yard, returning, passing him and running through to the street, without mentioning that a shot was fired.

Reminded by Mr. Blackstock, "You heard no shots fired?" she has declared that she heard many, beginning as she first descended the stairs with the money, and that as she ran from the house he fired after her.

Leading up to the events of the tragedy, she was questioned closely concerning her visit to Virginia, as well as of a previous visit to Syracuse, Rochester and Buffalo, when her companion was a certain Miss Elliot, apparently a woman of means.

Her father, Mr. Kinrade, the first witness, and who preceded her on the stand, was closely questioned concerning his relationships with his son Ernest, contractor. He denied that there had ever been any serious disagreements between them; that the families were quite friendly; that the night before the murder Florence and Ethel had spent the evening at a birthday party — he did not know whose—at Ernest's home; that Ernest came regularly to his house. Ernest paid no rent, he occupying houses that were built until they were sold. Last fall father and son had built a frame row of houses.

"Everything is settled up between us," said Mr. Kinrade. "I don't consider he owes me anything. I think perhaps if we were strangers I would have a lot of rent coming to me. But as he is my son, he owes nothing."

Concerning Florence and her visit to the south, little new transpired in his evidence. He admitted Baum had proposed marriage to Florence and that had been one reason why they urged her to return home, as she was already engaged to young Wright.

"Was Wright here on one single occasion during June, July and August of last year, when she was home from Virginia? Do you recollect him being here at any time?" asked Mr. Blackstock.

"I am not postitive. He was engaged as a fire-ranger in the north about that time, I think," was the reply.

Miss Kinrade denied having told certain versions of the murder mentioned by Mr. Blackstock, and gave a description of the assailant.

She was positive she would know him again.

She said she had a clear recollection of the man. He had a dark overcoat of medium length and a soft felt hat.

"Who was that man?"

"I didn't know him."

Miss Kinrade's voice broke and she sobbed a few incoherent words. It was the most dramatic moment of the proceedings.

Miss Kinrade sank into a chair and her counsel asked for an adjournment. Mr. Blackstock said that if Miss Kinrade was too unwell he would cease, but that it might be wiser for her to continue a few minutes so that she would not be called on again. He asked again whether she hadn't seen the man before. He impressed upon her the solemnity of her oath. In a trembling voice she repeated her denial.

Mr. Blackstock then desisted, and the inquest was adjourned until eight o'clock this evening.

Mr. Kinrade, sr., made his appearance about eight o'clock. He appeared calm and composed. He was the first witness called, and when he got into the box he showed considerable emotion, speaking in very low tones.

George Tate Blackstock, K.C., represented the crown and examined the witness.

He had thirty houses or more in Hamilton. His son Ernest built a number of them, but was now building for himself. Ernest occupied one of the houses, the idea being that he should live in houses rent free until they were sold. Earl had started in a bank at Dundas and went to a bank in Montreal last September. He was not back home between this time and the tragedy. His son received some monetary help from him.

Questioned as to the collection of rents, he said it was divided among Florence, Ethel and his wife, on a commission basis of 3 per cent. When Florence was away his wife and Ethel split up the work.

The accounts between Ernest and himself were all right.

Both Earl and Ernest were on most affectionate terms with the rest of the family, there being no estrangement whatever.

Questioned as to the temperaments of the girls, Mr. Kinrade was very positive in asserting that the girls were very affectionate and never exchanged angry words. They were called twins, although one was older, they being so much alike and so attached. Ernest also had a "sweet disposition," and, witness said, never had any altercation over business or anything else.

Coming to the day of the tragedy, witness said that the five members of the family had dined at mid-day together. He left about 1.10 for school. Mr. Blackstock asked whether there was anything unusual discussed at this dinner.

"Yes, there was," said Mr. Kinrade, readily. "We were talking about what had occurred the night before. About 6.30 p.m. there had been a ring at the doorbell. My wife went to answer it. There are two glass doors. My wife opened the first door and saw a man standing there. She cried out: "We can't give you anything; go next door." About 8.30 p.m. or 9 p.m. the bell was rang twice, after a pause twice more and again twice. My wife said: 'Tom, I will not go to the door. I am pestered with people begging and have turned out the lights in the parlors, so that they will think everyone is out.'"

"When there came a seventh ring, my wife thought she had better answer, as she thought it might be a telegram from Earl. We had received a letter that he was very sick in Montreal," said the witness.

"The two older girls were away at the party, and in the house with us there was only our younger daughter, Gertrude. She and her mother went to the door. I heard them both scream. They said they thought a man was trying to open the parlor windows."

Mr. Blackstock turned to Mr. Kinrade's reported exclamation on learning of the tragedy. "Is it true that when you came into your front hall that day you said, 'I have expected this would happen for a long time'?"

"No."

"Will you swear you did not use the expression?"

"I can't for sure."

"If you used an expression of that kind you cannot give me any reason for your use of it?"

"There are two reasons I might give if I did say it. In the first place, if I said it that was when I thought it was Florence who was killed. There arose an idea that the man who had been following her down south had been crazy enough to try to stop her marrying the young minister by shooting her. Then I thought, too, it might have been one of those tramps."

"But you cannot swear positively that you did not make that statement?"

"Well, not for sure."

Mr. Blackstock insisted on a direct answer, and Mr. Kinrade finally admitted that he had not gone out on account of the fears of his wife and youngest daughter.

It was 10.35 p.m. when Florence Kinrade was called. She came in looking very pale, but composed, and dressed in sombre black.

She told of her visit to Virginia and how finally she wished to leave Portsmouth.

Witness said she grew tired of life there, though it had no unpleasant features. She didn't mix with many people. Asked whether any one paid her any particular attention, she said Baum had proposed marriage to her. It was not agreeable to her and she took it more as a joke. He took it good-naturedly and there was no trouble, although he was very persistent.

LOCAL FIRM GETS A LARGE CONTRACT

Wm. Hamilton Company Successful in Tendering for Operating Machinery for New Locks on Trent Canal—Amounts to $100,000.

There are busy times ahead at the Wm. Hamilton Co's'. plant. The company has received notice that they have been awarded the contract for supplying the operation machinery, pivots and anchorages for twenty-four locks on the Trent Canal. The contract was let by tender by the Dominion Government and was awarded to the local firm at $80,000. In addition to this there will be extras that will bring the contract up to $100,000.

Work has already been started on the contract. About seventy men are employed at the works at the present time and this number will be increased to one hundred within the the next month.

The contract is for ninety-six "sets" of machinery of similar design.

Peterborough citizens will be glad to hear that this large contract has come to Peterborough.

SATISFACTORY ANSWERS GIVEN BY MINISTERS TO REQUESTS OF DEPUTATION

Large Deputation From East and West Peterboro' Asked Ontario Government for Agricultural Class at Norwood and Assistance in Building Bridge at Ball Lake Narrows.

The establishment of an agricultural class at Norwood and assistance in building a bridge across the Ball Lake Narrows were two requests made to the Ontario government yesterday by a deputation from East and West Peterborough, and there appears to be good prospects of getting what was asked for. The request for the establishment of an agricultural class was made to Hon. Mr. Duff, Minister of Agriculture, and that for assistance for the Ball lake bridge, to Hon. Dr. Rheaume, Minister of Public Works.

The deputation consisted of about forty, including all the members of the County Council, the County Clerk and Treasurer, and the County Solicitor. The Norwood Board of Education was also represented and the East Peterborough Farmers' Institute.

The deputation left Peterborough on the C.P.R. local in the morning and on reaching Toronto went straight to the Parliament buildings. Hon. Mr. Duff was first waited upon and he received the deputation in a most cordial manner. The deputation was introduced by Mr. Thompson, M.P.P. for East Peterborough who gave an outline of what was wanted. Mr. Thompson referred to the importance of the farming industry and alluded to the fact that there were fewer farmers in Ontario at the present time than there were ten years ago. This was a serious matter. It was apparent that the boys were leaving the farms and this was due he believed, to the way they were educated. Enough attention was not paid to agriculture in the schools. Mr Thompson believed that there was great need for an agricultural class at Norwood.

The claims of Norwood as a location for an agricultural class were strongly presented by Mr Birdsall, president of the East Peterborough Agricultural Society and Farmers' Institute, Mr O'Reilly, secretary of the Farmers' Institute, County Treasurer Elliott, Warden Scott and Mr Bradburn, M.P.P.

It was pointed out that Norwood was the centre of a large dairy industry. Within a radius of ten miles there were 17 cheese factories, and all were doing well. Attending the Norwood High school were pupils from four contiguous counties so that it could easily be seen that the town was easy of access.

The closing of the Model school had been seriously felt at Norwood and the agricultural class would do splendid work there.

The Norwood High School had also plenty of room for the classes and good land was available near at hand. The people of Peterborough also realized the benefits that such a class would be to the young men and young women and they appreciated the effect such an education would have upon the farming community.

HON. JAS. DUFF

In reply Hon. James Duff, Minister of Agriculture, expressed his great pleasure at having met the deputation. He regretted that Hon Dr. Pyne, Minister of Education, had not also been present, as he intended to be, but he was tied up with another deputation. The Minister then outlined the Government's policy in regard to these agricultural classes. It was a case of going hand in hand with the County Council. The Government plan was to appoint a competent teacher and to pay his salary, while the county would be expected to furnish the equipment.

Mr. Duff said he was impressed with the arguments put forth by the members of the deputation. That the people are beginning to valuethis the people are beginning to value this departure of the Ontario Government speaks volumes for the foresight of the distinguished gentleman who is now Premier of Ontario, Sir James P. Whitney. It was Sir James who years ago propounded this policy and the few classes already established have proven most successful. It was the intention of the government to establish the classes as rapidly as would be consistent with the finances at the disposal of the department.

In conclusion, the Minister stated that he would place before his colleagues the arguments of the deputation and he would do his utmost to have the wishes of the people granted.

STANDARD OIL IS ACQUITTED

Trust is Freed of Famous Charge of Accepting Rebates---Verdict of the Jury.

Chicago, March 11.—The Standard Oil Co. of Indiana yesterday was found not guilty of accepting rebates from the Chicago & Alton Railroad on shipments of oil from Whiting, Ind., to East St. Louis, Ills.

The verdict was returned by a jury in the Federal Court on instructions of Judge A. G. Anderson, who averred that he followed the Circuit Court of Appeal's decisions as to the verdict returned at the former trial of the same case and on which verdict Judge Keneshaw Mountain Landis assessed a fine of $29,240,000. Judge Anderson's decision was not unexpected, as he had, Tuesday, told the Government prosecutors that the proof relied on in the first trial was incompetent and that it must be complemented or fail.

It was with something of an air of hopelessness that District Attorney Sims and his assistants attempted to show the admissibility of the Illinois classification to prove the existence of a legal rate of 18 cents, which was a vital point in the Government's contentions.

I was after Assistant District Attorney James H. Wilkerson had argued for two hours and in the end admitted that the prosecution could not furnish the further proof deemed necessary by the court for a continuation of the case, that Judge Anderson announced his decision.

Mr. Wilkerson said that the Government could proceed no further and suggested dismissal of the case.

YOUNG INDIAN WAS ACQUITTED

Jury in Belleville Murder Case Gives Smart His Freedom.

Belleville, Ont., March 11.—If the roof had fallen in on the packed court-room the surprise would not have been greater than when, at 10.30 last night, the jury returned a verdict of not guilty in favor of Thomas Smart, the young Indian on trial for the murder of his uncle.

Although the surprise was agreeable to probably every person here, since nothing but sympathy for the lad has been in evidence, yet everybody in the room was amazed. From the tone of Justice Teetzel's address, which, however, could not be considered partial, it looked very cloudy for the prisoner.

MUST SERVE SENTENCES

Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell and Frank Mitchell Can Only be Pardoned by the President

Special to the Review.

Washington, D.C., March 11—John Mitchell, Samuel Gompers, and Frank Morrison, labor leaders, sentenced to imprisonment for contempt of court committed by the publishing of matter hostile to the Buck Stove and Range Company of St. Louis, after an injunction forbidding it, must serve their sentences unless pardoned by the President. The district court of appeal today handed down a decision sustaining the order of Judge Gould.

TWO "NO DAMAGE" CHIMNEY FIRES

Two chimney fires from which no damage resulted gave the fire brigade a couple of workouts today. One was at the residence of Mrs. Conroy, 485 Mark street, Ashburnham and the other at the home of Mr. Frank Creugh, Sherbrooke street.

JOSEPH RUSSELL SCORES THE IMMIGRATION POLICY

East Toronto Member Makes Maiden Speech

Three Hundred English People in Toronto With Scarcely $100 Among Them.

Ottawa, March 11.—Joseph Russell (East Toronto) made his maiden speech yesterday in calling attention to the reported arrival of a party of 300 immigrants in Toronto on March 8, of whom it was said there was scarcely $100 among the whole party, while some had stated they were lead to believe work was waiting for them in Toronto.

"I think," said Mr. Russell, "there is a Department responsible for this condition and the House is entitled to an explanation.

Mr. Oliver said an enquiry would be instituted.

The press despatch to the effect that the United States Senate had not ratified the boundary waterways treaty until Senator William Alden Smith of Michigan had secured "a great victory" by having a rider attached regarding the disposition of the waters of the St. Mary's river at the Soo, was brought to the attention of the Prime Minister yesterday by Mr. Boyce (West Algoma).

"The treaty," said the Premier, "has been ratified, but a rider materially interferes, as I understand it, with the disposition of the water in the St. Mary's river. The question rests there at the present time. I may say that the treaty, though passed by the Senate, has not been ratified by the Sovereign of this country. We are this very day sending a despatch to England to have the treaty laid on the table of the House so that Parliament may know exactly what are its terms. I hope to have this before many days are over."

F. D. Monk referred to the defeat in the Senate by 19 to 18 last year of the co-operative bill introduced by him and taken over by the Government. That bill was before the Senate committee on banking and commerce for four months and a fight was made there by the Retail Merchants' Association, which was misled into the belief that the bill opened the way to the introduction of British capital to stifle legitimate enterprises in this country. There had been a strong lobby to defeat the bill in the Senate.

Mr. Lemieux declared he had not wavered in its support of the co-operative society plan, but there was such a thing as provincial rights, and the Governments of Ontario and Quebec had strongly opposed the measure.

Mr. Graham, replying to Haughton Lennox, said the suggestion for a submarine viaduct to replace the fallen Quebec bridge, was "impracticable." Disputes between the G.T.R. and the N.T.R. commission as to classification since April 28, 1908, had been referred to the Government engineer.

Senator McMullen, in moving the second reading of his bill to compel drivers of vehicles to come to a halt before crossing a railway track on grade crossings, said his object was not to relieve the railway companies from responsibility for accidents, but to guard the public against themselves.

Sir Richard Cartwright objected to making new sins by act of Parliament. He was not certain how far this bill would interfere with the recovery of damages from a railway company by one who had suffered in an accident. Before the Senate committed itself to the principle of this bill he would like to submit the bill to the Minister of Railways.

The debate was then adjourned.

Would Save Daylight.

Ottawa, March 11.—E. N. Lewis has given notice of a bill to save daylight by moving forward the clock during the summer months. This is precisely the bill that has just passed its second reading in the British House of Commons.

LATE TICKS FROM WIRES

J. Collins Davis, a mining broker, was sentenced at Barrie by Judge Wismer to six months in the county jail for misappropriation of funds.

The London Mail asserts that the British War Office will make an offer at an early date for the purchase of one of Wilbur Wright's aeroplanes.

The Railway Commission has arrived in Winnipeg from a tour of the west. Another session will be held here, when express rates will be taken up.

A three-mile crutch race will be held at North Bay on March 22, between Harry Reynolds of Toronto and Bastillo Ferro of North Bay, both one-legged men.

The Portuguese Minister of Marine, Senhor Cabral, states that the report that Great Britain would take over the Lourenco Marques Railway, in South Africa, as well as the port itself, is untrue.

A masked robber entered the home of Jos. Thompson, express agent at Model City, ten miles north of Niagara Falls, early yesterday and stole $300 and a bunch of checks. Thompson's mother met the man and was severely beaten, upon making an outcry. The robber escaped.

Hastings County Bar Association banquetted Mr Justice Teetzel at Belleville Tuesday night.

MY CHILD SUFFERED AWFULLY

Mrs. H. E. Brewster, Clifford, Ont., says: "My little girl who was born in 1902 had been subject to Bronchitis from the time she was twelve months old until two years ago when she began to take PSYCHINE. The little darling suffered awfully. Her breathing was so hoarse that you could hear it all the time and she [illegible] got any rest at all. We did not dare to take her out much as the least wind or cold affected her and brought on a severe attack.

"We tried all sorts of medicines, but nothing did the child any good or proved the slightest safeguard against this dreaded complaint. One day a friend told us about PSYCHINE and the wonderful cures it had brought about, so we decided to try it. The sample bottle sufficed to show us that its merits had not been exaggerated, and that we had struck an A1 remedy. One would scarcely believe such a small quantity of medicine could effect so great a change. There was no difficulty in getting her to take it, as it is not at all unpleasant, and she obtained relief immediately."

"After giving her four bottles the child was completely cured and she has not had a touch of the old complaint since. This is two years ago. The cold weather has but little effect on her now, the tendency to Bronchitis seems to have been entirely eradicated, and she enjoys the best of health."

"I always keep a bottle of PSYCHINE in the house, and find an occasional dose is a sure safeguard against colds. It also thoroughly builds up the system and it is certainly a grand tonic. I would advise all mothers to keep it by them. We are deeply grateful for what it has done for our little one."

It would be folly for us to add to Mrs. Brewster's splendid testimonial, but we would emphasize the following facts: I. PSYCHINE is pleasant to take. The children like it. II. PSYCHINE is a wonderful remedy. III. You may try it before you buy as Mrs. Brewster did, by sending Coupon to Dr. T. A. Slocum, Limited, Toronto. Do so to-day.

ONTARIO'S FINANCES.

The expenditure of the Ontario Government is $3,000,000 or so larger than it was a few years ago and this without increasing taxes or incurring deficits. The expenditure is so far as the increase goes, largely upon colonization roads and rural education. It is not upon railways like the G.T.P. or for the development of some other moneymaking enterprise of the capitalists. It is an expenditure made directly for the benefit of the people, whose interests are so closely guarded by the Whitney Government that it has been charged with confiscation in its effort to keep from the capitalists what the people should have for themselves. This occurred in the celebrated Florence mining case which the author and finisher of the Newmarket dry canal, Mr. Aylesworth, referred to in the House of Commons. The charge is that the Whitney Government took away from this company a "claim" which had been given to them by the old government at a low figure. The Government re-sold it to the company for one million dollars. The Government just as stoutly defends itself. So long as the expenditure rises in the development of our own home and homely ways and means of development as in subsidies to bridges, drains, roads, etc., the people will not complain, but the money for foreign benefit then a loud money for foreign benefit then a loud fault should be called. But Sir James is not of that sort. He is a steady, sensible plodder, who dreams no nightmares and is wrapt up in no doubtful schemes.

EDITORIAL NOTES

A new wing 150 feet long has been added to the Chateau Frontenac Quebec already in the estimation of travellers one of the most imposing hotels in the world.

It would be over-sanguine to believe that the persistent and continuous economy of the Liberal regime in Ontario was popular with the people. Economy unfortunately, is never popular.—The Globe.

Dear! Dear!

There is serious danger of something approaching starvation in the new mining camp of Gowganda. The danger will become greater during the interval between the end of sleigh roads and the opening of waggon roads. The Government is being urged to take steps to protect the sleighing as long as possible. and the Canadian Pacific has announced that it will as soon as the rivers are open organize a canoe service from Bisco to Gowganda. One hundred canoes will be used for the purpose.—The Sun

Prof. Robert Harcourt of the Ontario Agricultural College read a paper on the bread-making qualities of flour in which he reported the results of experiments made at the College with flour from 64 different varieties of Ontario winter wheats grown under uniform conditions in 1907. He pointed out that whilst farmers preferred the variety of wheat that would give the greatest number of bushels per acre, the miller desired a wheat that would give a large yield of flour of a quality to satisfy the demands of his customers. The variety that did not yield well but which had excellent chemical and milling characteristics was not desirable neither was the variety which yielded well but which had poor chemical and milling properties. The ideal wheat was a heavy-yielding variety, having good milling and baking qualities.

Importers of cheese are practically unanimous in noting the absence of "heated" or "sweated" cheese which was one of the great defects of Canadian cheese until the transportation facilities were improved. This means that Canadian cheese now reaches the consumer with a milder flavour and in a condition which encourages a larger consumption than formerly. It also means that the losses and irritation which at one time resulted from claims arising from defects of this kind are now eliminated. The quality of Canadian cheese in 1908 appears to have given general satisfaction. On the other hand many of the importers complain of the excessive shrinkage and errors in the weight of cheese. They point out in contrast that New Zealand cheeses almost invariably hold weight on arrival in Great Britain although they are from five to six weeks in transit. The excessive shrinkage of Canadian cheese is attributed to the comparatively green condition in which much of it is shipped.—Government Report.

Prices for Canadian bacon have continued to fall. In December the average prices per cwt. were: London 52s. and 50s. 6d; Bristol 52s. and 48s. 6d; Liverpool 50s. and 46s. 6d; Glasgow 52s. and 50s. At the end of January the prices per cwt. were: For Canadian sides London 58s. and 56s; Bristol 56s. and 54s; Liverpool 54s. and 52s; Glasgow 58s. and 56s. For Canadian Cumberland cuts Liverpool 51s. and 46s; Glasgow 52. and 48s. For Canadian long cut green hams, London 58s; Bristol 55s. and 51s. A review of the provision trade in December by Hedley Stevens which appears in the Journal of the British Board of Agriculture for January, has the following paragraph on the subject of bacon imports from Canada: "Canadian bacon continues to arrive in small quantities with a preponderance of light weight. The packers are continuing to sustain serious losses on account of the low prices realized for their produce as hogs are still dear in Canada owing to their scarcity. This industry is reported to be in a critical position as Danish bacon is such a formidable rival in this country, the Danes apparently being able to dispose of their produce in the English markets at prices which have for some time past shown losses to the Canadian packers of from 3s. to 5s per cwt."—Dominion Government Report.

The practice of a farming family of the name of Meldrum up the Gatineau river, who were accustomed to go into the wheat fields and elect the largest heads for seed purposes for the next year's crop, led to the Meldrum seed becoming so noted that it was sold all over the district, and eventually wheat from this seed captured the prize at the Paris Exhibition when Canada first began to exhibit abroad. Hence the practice started by Mr. Meldrum was profitable, serviceable to his neighbours and highly creditable to the country by gaining our first fine reputation of producing the best wheat that had gone across the sea. Learning of this management he (Prof. R.) about ten years ago offered prizes of the value of $100 to boys and girls for the largest heads of wheat and oats gathered from their fathers' fields. The response was so generous that it led to the offer of prizes on a large scale, and Sir William Macdonald of Montreal, provided $10 000 for the purpose. The results of this hand selection of seed were so satisfactory that between the years 1900 and 1902 there was an increase in the yield per acre of 40 per cent. in the case of spring wheat and of 20 per cent. in the case of oats, the former also being 28 per cent. and the latter 27 per cent. heavier than the unselected grain. Following this up some of the parents of these children formed the Macdonald-Robertson Seed Growers' Association, which in 1904 became the Canadian Seed Growers' Association as now constituted. When the plan was started the Government provided the sum of $800 as the salary of the secretary-treasurer. The vote for the Seed Commissioners' Branch was now $65 000, so they could see how the service of the Government had grown and how the advantage to the people had increased. Along allied lines had also developed Seed Fairs, Field Competitions and the Seed Control Act. Each member of the Seed Growers' Association was required to carry on the work of selecting seed by hand from a plot, choosing heads and plants nearest to the type which he had in mind and towards which he worked. Any kind of preparation of the soil for this seed was not adequate. The plot should be in the rotation, because then they got a certain influence on the plot and on the quality of the seed. He remembered many years ago going round the experimental wheat plots at Rothamsted with the late Sir John Lawes. One plot that had been manured annually for 36 years yielded the average of 36 bushels to the acre; the other on which wheat had been grown annually for 36 years without manure yielded the average of 35 bushels per acre.—Government Report.

Had a Long Walk.

Selkirk, Man., March 11.—B. O. Meyer, T. O. Callaghan and W. B. Burnell, who went out with Hudson Bay survey party last fall, arrived here yesterday morning after a long and hard journey. The party was within 100 miles of Fort Churchill and salt water, and walked thence to Norway House, a distance of 350 miles; from there came by dog-sleigh to Iceland River, walking thence to Gimli, taking train there for here. They report that all the party who were working on the federal survey for the proposed railway will be in here shortly.

May Be Journalist.

Ottawa, March 11.—It is said that friends of E. W. Thompson, the well-known journalist, are pressing on the Government his claims for appointment as deputy head of the new Department of External Affairs."

Mr. Thompson stands close to the Prime Minister, but in official circles the appointment of Joseph Pope is most favored. Mr. Pope is Under Secretary of State.

ONCE MORE FROM THE GREAT WEST

Comes Evidence of the Great Work Dodd's Kidney Pills are Doing

Cyrille Maginel Cured of His Rheumatism and Diabetes by the Old Reliable Kidney Remedy.

Findlay, Man., March 10.—(Special)—Cyrille Maginel, a well known farmer living near here, furnishes further evidence of the great work Dodd's Kidney Pills are doing in the west.

"I suffered from Rheumatism and Diabetes," Mr. Maginel says in telling the story of his cure. "My sleep was broken and unrefreshing, and I was tired and nervous all the time. I was treated by a Doctor, but he failed to cure me. Reading that Dodd's Kidney Pills were good for brick sediment in the urine, led me to try them and after using twelve boxes I am as well as I can possibly be. Dodd's Kidney Pills have made a new woman of me and I am thankful."

Dodd's Kidney Pills are no cure-all. They cure sick kidneys and that's all that is claimed for them. But sick kidneys are the root of numerous diseases caused by impure blood. For you can't have pure blood with sick kidneys. It is the work of the kidneys to strain the impurities out of the blood. Dodd's Kidney Pills cure Diabetes because it is a kidney disease; they cure Rheumatism because sick kidneys fail to strain the uric acid out of the blood.

Complete Agreement.

London, March 11.—In the Commons yesterday, Major Seeley declared in regard to imperial defence that there was complete agreement between Mr. Haldane and Canada and Australia. They think it highly desirable that there should be an interchange of scientific thought with a view to a common system of leadership in war.

Stirling Divorce Suit.

Edinburgh, March 11.—John Alexander Stirling, laird of Kippendavie, Perthshire, yesterday won his divorce suit against his wife, Clara Elizabeth Stirling, who was formerly a Miss Taylor of New Jersey.

General Suicides.

Constantinople, March 11.—Gen. Seifullah Pasha, who was Turkish chief of staff during the Turco-Greek war, in which he distinguished himself, committed suicide here yesterday by shooting.

$100 REWARD, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials

Shooting Affray at Guelph.

Guelph, March 11.—Michael Silvertara, a young Italian, who was shot, it is alleged, by Joseph Musulin on Tuesday night here, was reported yesterday to be still in a critical condition, and it is hard for the physicians to tell whether he will recover. Drs. Stewart and Roberts, who are attending him, managed to extract the bullet, which lodged in the abdomen.

Musulin, who is charged with the shooting, is in the cells, his arrest having been made by Chief Randall, near Bertia. A friend of Musulin, Tony Prisien, was also arrested near Berlin, charged with being an accomplice. He is wanted there for a hold-up.

The Orwell Scandal.

St. Thomas, March 11.—After hearing his witnesses yesterday Coroner Saunders adjourned the Orwell investigation until Tuesday, March 23, in order to give William Hepburn and any others an opportunity to appear and give evidence.

Mahlon Boughner, farmer, giving evidence yesterday, declared that he had expected David Marshall, M.P., or somebody to reimburse him for $500 advanced to Butler for the latter's use in the hotel trial at Aylmer. He also told of efforts made to have Brower, M.P.P., use his influence to stave off a prosecution.

Steamers to Mexico.

Montreal, March 11.—Owing to the active instrumentality of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association the Elder Dempster Co. have decided to place steamers during the coming season between the port of Montreal and the Atlantic terminals of the new Mexican transcontinental railway at Coatzacoalcos, on the Gulf of Campeche, while the port on the Pacific coast of the railway in question is Salina Cruz.

Blame Parties Unknown.

Stratford, March 11.—"That Alexander Sutherland came to his death by injuries and exposure, due to party or parties unknown to us," was the verdict brought in by the coroner's jury at the adjourned inquest into the death of the East Zorra farmer who was found in the ice at the rear of the residence occupied by Aloysius Guerin on Friday, Feb. 26.

It is quite certain that the crown will not allow the case to drop, but upon being asked last night, Crown Attorney McPherson was non-committal as to the next step to be taken.

Britain Needs Trade Agents.

London, March 11.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Ben H. Morgan, speaking on the development of Empire trade at the Royal Colonial Institute, said that the one bar to progress was in the self-governing colonies and India. There were considerably over 1,500 paid representatives of foreign nations who kept their Governments posted regarding openings for trade. Britain had less than ten. The time had come when Britain should make it her business to establish and maintain cheap, rapid transport by rail and sea.

His Majesty's Health.

Biarritz, March 11.—Col. Sir Arthur Davidson, equerry to King Edward, last evening authorized an absolute denial of the statement that His Majesty was seriously ill. He said the King had taken a long walk yesterday morning and had spent the afternoon driving in a motor-car.

King Alfonso as a Horseman.

Madrid, March 11.—King Alfonso was visiting at Ceuta. A little girl approached him to present a petition on behalf of her imprisoned father. She fell beneath the feet of the King's horse. The King spurred his horse to jump, and the animal cleared the child. His Majesty then dismounted and caressed and comforted the girl, amid the applause of the crowd.

Sues Emperor For $120,000.

Budapest, March 11.—Julius Geney, a rich apothecary, has sued Emperor Francis Joseph in the royal courts here for 600,000 francs ($120,000). He has deposited papers and documents showing that his grandfather, in 1848, loaned to the Emperor's father, the late Archduke Francis, 6,000 ducats, and he asks for the principal and compound interest.

Insane From Grip.

Woodstock, March 11.—Crazed by the effects of la grippe, Charles Wainstead, a young East Oxford farmer who has only been married a few days, attempted to take his own life. He plunged into the river near his home and was pulled out by a friend who had noticed his peculiar actions. A second attempt was made later, and this also was frustrated.

After being taken to his home, he refused medical attendance, and his life is now in great danger.

Brantford Factory Scorched.

Brantford, March 11.—Fire broke out early yesterday morning in the large building known as the Brantford Stoneware Factory. The origin of the blaze, which was a hot one, it is believed, was due to incendiarism, or caused by sleeping tramps. The building was badly scorched by the fire, which was first discovered in a large quantity of baled hay. Frankel Bros. of Toronto are the owners, and the loss is fully covered by insurance.

Fair Buildings Burn.

Brantford, March 11.—The agricultural buildings at the Paris Fair grounds were entirely destroyed by fire late yesterday afternoon. Owing to the high wind only a few cattle sheds were saved by the firemen. The main pavilion, owned by the North Brant Agricultural Association, and used as a roller rink in the summer, was lost. Insurance covering loss of $1,500 was carried.

Storm Casualties.

Brinkley, Ark., March 11.—Twenty-nine persons dead and 74 injured, make up Brinkley's list of casualties from the tornado of Monday night. Outside of Brinkley 13 persons were killed and 46 were injured. Governor Donaghey, who hurried here from Little Rock, has declared martial law.

With grateful acknowledgment for their confidence to the holders of its 9,960,106 Policies, the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company presents the following summary of its condition and affairs for the year ended December 31, 1908, showing it to have been THE BEST YEAR IN THE COMPANY'S HISTORY

RESOURCES

United States, City and R. R. Bonds, and Stocks	$99,630,935.56
Bonds and Mortgages	90,795,319.02
Real Estate	22,444,627.78
Demand Loans on Collateral	2,192,702.00
Cash	4,775,988.79
Loans to Policy-holders	8,966,362.78
Premiums, deferred and in course of collection (net)	5,300,922.97
Accrued Interest, Rents, etc.	2,820,502.29
	$236,927,361.19

ASSETS, $236,927,361.19

The Metropolitan paid its Policy-holders in 1908 for Death Claims, Endowments, Annuities, Paid-up Policies, Dividends, Bonuses, etc., with the amount set aside on their behalf as increased Reserve

$50,656,701.34

It has paid to its Policy-holders since organization, plus the amount invested and now on hand for their security

$470,366,769.36

OBLIGATIONS

Dividends Apportioned, payable 1909, on Participating Policies, Intermediate Branch	$1,382,722.00
Same on Participating Policies, Ordinary Dept. (NOTE. Nearly all this Company's Ordinary Policies are Non-Participating—issued at low rates of premium.)	104,203.73
Bonuses Apportioned, payable 1909, on Industrial Policies	2,650,000.00
	$4,136,925.73
Reinsurance Fund and Special Reserve	208,134,891.00
All other Liabilities	2,532,637.34
Capital and Surplus	22,122,907.12
	$236,927,361.19

A REASONABLE INDICATION OF THE DESERVED POPULARITY of its plans and of faith in its management may be fairly claimed in the number of Metropolitan policies in force. It is not only greater than that of any other company in America, but greater than that of all the other regular companies combined, less one. It exceeds, in fact, the COMBINED POPULATION of 24 of the States and Territories out of the 52 forming the American Union; and as to CITIES, it exceeds the combined population of Greater New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, St. Louis, Cleveland, Cincinnati, San Francisco, Pittsburgh, Baltimore, New Orleans and Buffalo.

The Metropolitan has more premium paying business in force in the United States than any other company.

The Metropolitan has in force one-third of all the legal reserve policies in force in the United States. Its Industrial policies in force nearly equal in number all the Industrial policies of all the other companies in the country combined.

Total Number of Policies in Force	9,960,106
Gain over 1907	340,097
Total Amount Outstanding Insurance,	$1,861,890,803.00

ORDINARY DEPARTMENT

INSURANCE IN FORCE, $526,939,378

The Company issues policies for from $1,000 to $1,000,000 on individual lives, premiums payable quarterly, semi-annually or annually.

All policies are non-participating. They are plain business contracts which tell their whole story on their face; leave nothing to the imagination; borrow nothing from hope; require definite conditions and make definite promises in dollars and cents.

PREMIUMS ARE LOWER THAN ARE OFFERED BY ANY OTHER COMPANY

In the Intermediate Branch policies are adapted to the working classes. Each policy is for $500 and the rate lower than that offered by the Savings Bank system of Massachusetts. Two of the Metropolitan's Intermediate forms recently standardized by the New York and Massachusetts Departments provide for attractive combinations of insurance and annuities at the lowest rates offered anywhere.

The Ratio of Expense to Premium Income was the Lowest in the Company's History being over 8 per cent. less than five years ago and more than 15 per cent. less than ten years ago

The Company wrote more business in 1908 than any other Company in the world, and this for the fifteenth consecutive year

The number of policies paid in 1908 averaged one for each sixty-five seconds of each business day of 8 hours, and in amount $128.48 a minute, the year through.

The value and timeliness of its policy payments may be gleaned from the fact that of the claims paid during the year, 3,479 were under polices less than three months old, 6,890 were on policies under 6 months, and 12,806 were within the first year of insurance.

INDUSTRIAL DEPARTMENT

Number of Industrial policies in force, 9,301,001—insuring over six and a half millions of individual lives in the families of wage-earners. While the contracts are and always have been non-participating, the Company will this year have spent nearly EIGHTEEN millions of dollars in voluntary bonuses and concessions to the holders of these policies in thirteen years.

Cash bonuses on all whole life policies are annually allowed, amounting to over 8 per cent. of the premiums for a year. Additions of from 5 to 30 per cent. are made to policies maturing as claims, according to time policies have persisted. By the Company's present practice whole life policies are made free after age 75 or paid as endowments at age 80.

Industrial Insurance is Family Insurance, covering all ages from 1 to 70 on life, endowment and annuity plans.

HAVELOCK DOCTOR'S HORSE'S STRANGE DISAPPEARANCE

Better Light Now That There is High Water in Railroad Town—Interesting News Items From Review's Correspondent.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Havelock, March 10.—The Town Council held their regular monthly meeting on Monday, March 1, with all the members present. Minutes of last meeting were read and approved and the following accounts ordered to be paid:—Jas. Cataract, cleaning ditch 75 cents; J. W. Bryans, type-writing, $1.00; School Board, $4.50.

The collector was instructed to accept the face amount of the English tax bill. James Brill was appointed truant officer. Councillor Philips was appointed to purchase a stove for the basement of the town hall. The collector's time for returning the roll was extended to March 22nd and after that he was instructed to collect all unpaid taxes according to law.

Considerable discussion took place in regard to the rent of the town hall. The old schedule was as follows:—Church concerts, $5.00; local concerts, $5.00; "at homes," $6.00; balls, $10.00; political meetings, $10.00; outside concerts first night, $5.00; 2nd night, $4.00; 3rd night, $3.00.

This schedule of rates was rescinded and the following tariff put in force:—Church concerts, $6.00; local concerts, $6.00; "at homes," $8.00; balls, $8.00; political meetings, 10.00; outside meetings, 1st night, $8.00; 2nd night $6.00 each additional night, $5.00. Where dancing is carried on, "at home" rates to be charged.

On account of the late soft weather and the few rains that have occurred during the past month the water in Crowe river has risen and the electric lights have been greatly improved. Many residences which have not had the use of their lights all winter are now well supplied. The company intend, in a very short time, to be able to give all the places lights, as the water is rising fast. They intend taking precautions that such a thing will never occur again. Early next summer the water will be dammed back at Kishabogamog Lake, and if the weather should be dry the company can let the water come down as they need it to run their machinery.

Mr. Chas. Dusty, who died at Peterborough, was well known in town, having worked here for some time.

County Constable Cochrane, of Peterborough, was in town on Saturday and arrested Sanford Hubble, who resides twelve miles north of here, on a charge of non-support of his wife and child. The accused was taken to Peterborough and will come before Magistrate Edmison on March 15th. It is only a short time since he was up on a charge of ill-treating his wife.

Mrs. C. McIntyre (nee Miss Ethel McBurney) who is leaving shortly for Moose Jaw, Sask., where she will reside, entertained the Presbyterian choir, of which she has been a member for many years, at her mother's residence, Mrs. W. McBurney, George street east, on Monday evening. A most delightful evening was spent in amusements of several kinds. A most dainty lunch was served to the guests at 12 o'clock and the evening ended with every good wish for Mrs. McIntyre in her new western home.

Dr. Holdcroft, of town, while making a call north of Round Lake, left his horse tied to a post while in the house. When he reappeared upon the scene no horse was in sight and although that was on Saturday, he has never seen him since. The animal, which was a very valuable one, must have become frightened and broke away. It is very peculiar thing that nothing has been heard of the horse since and the doctor entertains fears he will never see him again. He may have started home across the lake and broken through some air hole and been held down by the weight of the attached or have wandered into the woods and become entangled. Anyway up to the present nothing has been heard of it although every effort is being made to get some trace of the missing animal.

Very strange too, is the disappearance of Mr. Albert Dunn who resides with his two brothers near Healey Falls and who has not been seen or heard of since Saturday. He left home shortly before noon on Saturday to come to Havelock. He was seen here shortly after noon [illegible] since. Whether he has gone unexpectedly away or whether some accident has occurred to him, is not known. His two brothers, Jos. and John Dunn were in town on Monday trying to secure some information as to the whereabouts of their brother. They feared that he may have started home by the Trent River as it is good walking on the ice and struck a thin place and went under the ice.

Miss Bennington returned on Tuesday from visiting with friends in Toronto.

Mrs. T. Johnston (nee Hannah Parker) of Havelock, died on Wednesday morning last at the residence of her mother, Mrs. Katherine Parker, Norwood, at the age of 40 years. Mrs. Johnston had been in poor health for two or three years. Deceased leaves a husband and two sons to mourn her loss. The funeral took place on Friday afternoon, March 5th, at 2.30 o'clock. The remains were interred in the Maple Grove cemetery, Havelock. A large number of sorrowing and sympathetic friends attended the obsequies. Mrs. Johnston was a sister of Mrs. John McKay of Asphodel, and Mr. Frank Parker, Asphodel.

Some little friction had been caused between the managers of the Norwood skating rink and the hockey team which deprived the team of a much needed practice on Monday and Tuesday night to put them in shape for their final game with Stirling at Peterborough on Wednesday night. The boys are, however, quite confident of winning the Trent Valley championship and of bringing the cup. They will have to play some as Stirling is putting up a nice article in hockey this winter. We wish our boys a red and green success. A large number of supporters are going up to cheer the boys on to success.

THE CHEQUE WAS SAFE WITH HIM

Young Man Says He Simply Had Friends Cheque in Trust

An item appeared in The Review the other day about a young man skipping out of Sudbury with the pay cheque of a friend. The young man in question called on The Review and stated there was a misunderstanding in connection with the matter.

He said he did leave with the cheque but was simply keeping it for his friend until it was convenient to give it to him, and had no intention whatever of getting it cashed.

He expressed regret that the matter had been given publicity.

ASSISTANT-CHIEF GRANGE TESTIFIES AGAINST PRISONERS

Tells of Alleged Assault on Him by Accused Ex-firemen—Preliminary Hearing of Hawes Chapman and Craig.

Two Other Witesses Give Testimony—No Evidence Against Hawes Yet—Enlargement Until 3 O'clock This Afternoon

The hearing of the three firemen, Hawes, Craig and Chapman, charged with assaulting Deputy Fire Chief Grange, came up before Magistrate Dumble this morning. Mr F D Kerr conducted the case in the interests of the two firemen, Chapman and Craig, and R E Wood conducted the prosecution. Mr G N Gordon acted for Hawes.

Mr. Grange was called. He said he had been on the fire brigade for six months and had lately been acting as Assistant Chief and was on duty Saturday 27th of February. He got his instructions from the Chief and he was supposed to report men coming in late by marking the time that they were late.

On that day he had reported Geo. Hawes 15 minutes late at noon. Three were five minutes late in the evening, being Hawes, Craig, Chapman. Hawes came in first and asked who was on duty and Grange told him that he was. Hawes said mark me up five minutes late, "You are nothing but a dirty sneak. You reported me 15 minutes late this morning, when I was only three minutes late." and he was nothing but a dirty cur and if it was not for the law he would come to harm.

Grange did not say anything to these remarks except that he was fifteen minutes late, and that he could prove it by Bumbell, who was present at the time, waiting to go out on an hours absence of leave.

Hawes called him a vile name, and turned to the blackboard to mark down the time he was late.

Craig and Chapman had come in in the meantime.

Craig said you might mark us two down five minutes late.

He marked them down on the board and was in the act of turning around when he received a blow on the side of the head from one of the two who had come in. That stunned him and he fell down on the floor, and did not know anything for a considerable time.

When he came to his senses he was on his hands and knees trying to get away in which he finally succeeded, and backed out into the apparatus room. Craig followed him out.

He went around one of the rigs and came into the office with Craig after him. Coming in the office door Chapman struck him on the left side with his fist and knocked him against the table.

At this time Mr. Dobbin came in off the street and caught Craig and took him away and he then went into Dr. Greer's office and notified the police and the Fire Chief by telephone.

His injuries amounted to marks on the body and the head and he had been laid up in bed ever since under a doctor's care.

Cross-examined by Mr Kerr, Grange stated he had not been instructed to watch the men with a view of having them discharged. He did not know who struck him, but when he came to his senses Craig was on his head and was pounding him.

TELLS OF ASSAULT.

To Mr Gordon, witness said that Hawes had not struck any blows or took any part in the assault.

The next witness was Fred Dobbin. He said he was at the fire hall on the 27th of February. When he came along Grange was running from the apparatus room to the office and Craig was following him. In the office Craig had a hold on Grange and Craig struck him with his fist. He took hold of Grange and asked him to quit which he did. Grange in the meantime had gone out. He did not see Chapman strike Grange and left shortly after.

To Mr. Kerr, witness said he did not see Chapman strike any blow, nor did he see anyone else.

THERE AT START

John Hetherington was present when the trouble commenced, and had always been friendly with Grange. He heard the conversation between Hawes and Grange, which was the same as Grange had stated. He had signed the paper to have Grange removed, but it was only a matter of choice as he thought the other applicant was a better man. His account of the assault was pretty much the same as that of Grange.

He witnessed the blows struck by Craig in the apparatus room and interferred on Grange's behalf, but he did not see any blows struck in the office. Chapman was outside the office door and he did not see him strike Grange.

To Mr. Kerr, witness said that he did not see Chapman strike Grange when he passed through the door. He did not see any of the other men sign the paper.

To Mr. Gordon witness said Hawes left the office after being marked late and was not around the office when the other men caused the trouble.

These were all the witnesses that were called and the court adjourned until three o'clock this afternoon

GEORGE STREET CHURCH IN FLOURISHING CONDITION

Annual Meeting Held Last Night—Reports Showed That Progress Was Being Made in Practically Every Branch of the Work of the Church

The annual church gathering of George street Methodist church was held last evening in the lecture room At this meeting were read the annual reports of the several societies and organizations. Despite the unfavorable weather the congregation gathered in large number and the greatest interest was taken in the proceedings.

Giving a pleasing variety to the evening several contributions were given, including a song by Mr. Fred Myles, a reading by Mr. F. C. Moore, a recitation by Mr. R. Winch, and a vocal solo by Miss Reeser. During the evening the ladies of the church served refreshments, which were enjoyed, and which added pleasing interest and variety to the proceedings.

The pastor, Rev. Mr. Pearson, filled the chair, and after the usual opening exercises, the church treasurer, Mr. Felix Brownscombe, laid before the meeting facts and figures of the fiscal year. He referred to the adoption of the present system of financing the church, which was adopted in 1906. The result was a steady increase. The several sources of income had been consolidated, the pew rentals had been abolished. The result was that the church funds had been strengthened outside of the special funds raised for specific objects. Roughly speaking the amounts raised were as follows:

Regular sources	$5,6192.
Raised for St. James' church	3,000.00
Special for repairs, decoration lighting, etc	3,638.00
Sunday school	935.51
Grace Sunday school	79.04
Ladies' Aid	234.38
Epworth League	244.34
Junior League	10.00
Benevolent Fund	62.00
	$14,406.10

The Sunday collections had averaged $105.00. Mr. George Robertson, secretary of the church, briefly reviewed the several matters coming under his hands. It was the aim of those entrusted with the funds to faithfully account for everything. He referred to the several reports from the societies and church aids and urged that greater care should be taken in preparing these for publication in order to do justice to all.

The total number of those contributing to the consolidated fund was 366. It was a very commendable thing that so many young people of the church were so contributing, indicating interest in the work. On the whole the system of the church funds was a good one and was working admirably.

Mr. B. Shortley made a statement with reference to the church decoration that had been undertaken and finished. The credit was due to the Ladies' Aid, who had undertaken the work, raising the sum of $1,786, covering the work. He wished to commend the work of the committee, most cheerfully undertaken and carried out. He acknowledged the deep interest shown by one of the trustees, Mr. H. Stabler, who had given liberally of his time and shared the expense. Following Mr. Shortly's remarks a hearty vote of thanks was tendered the Ladies' Aid.

The pastor commented on the magnificent asset the church had in its Sabbath school. A growing school with very poor accommodation. Every month the church was recruited from the Sunday school. He said it was a gratifying thing to have associated in the work such excellent officials as Mr. Brownscombe and Mr. Robinson. He reviewed the general expenditure and amount raised, and was glad to say that the revenue raised was large, and had been most carefully cared for.

The missionary fund and the educational funds had been largely augmented, in fact the latter was more than doubled.

It is proposed to raise the missionary funds regularly every Sunday, just as the regular fund of the church was raised, beginning on May 1st, next. Special envelopes will be provided the congregation will be waited upon and the system established.

The year book, which is issued to the congregation during February of each year, gives the fullest details of the receipts and expenditures, the operations of the several organizations within the church, and the comparative progress achieved. All of these were reported as active, and furthering the work, gaining in membership, and importance. The membership of the children has increased by the number of 160 during the year, despite withdrawals of those who had connected themselves with the recently-organized congregations in the southern part of the city.

Mr Dumble commented on the obligation imperative on the church to carry out the work of grace, as handed down to us by the Saviour. It was a part of our duty to send or bring the gospel to every creature. Systematic savings devoted to the missionary cause would accomplish much. He felt that much praise was due from the board and from the church to Mr. Brownscombe and to Mr. Robinson, both of whom were giving most liberally of their time, and faithfully filling most important offices.

A point of interest to the church was that the new lighting system had been installed, and the expense covered by four men of the congregation, members of the Inthon Bible class, the thanks of the congregation were extended.

At the suggestion of Mr. T. W. Robinson a vote of thanks was extended to the choir in recognition of the service given during the year,

GEORGE DENIED THE CHARGE

But Was Remanded Until Tuesday Nevertheless

George Thompson was charged at the police court this morning with being a vagrant.

"Not guilty. I deny the charge," said the prisoner. "I've been stopping with my brother-in-law on Bethune street." But he had been seen around in different parts of the town begging, and was causing a lot of annoyance. He was remanded until Tuesday morning.

OBITUARY

THOS. A. LARMER.

The death occurred last night at his late residence, 588 Water street, of Thomas A. Larmer. The deceased had been sick for a long time and death was not unexpected. PROF. KYLIE ON "SOCIALISM" ADDRESS BEFORE CANADIAN CLUB

A Masterly Review—The Problem Thoroughly Analysed—Education the Remedy Suggested for the Improvement of Mankind—Mr. O'Connell in the Chair.

A large gathering greeted the speaker of the evening, Prof. Kylie, of Toronto University, at the Canadian Club dinner last night. Prof. Kylie is a pleasing and convincing speaker. The lecture was of great educational value.

President O'Connell occupied the chair.

Dr. Kylie began by remarking that Socialism was of three kinds, revolutionary, or unreasoning socialism, intellectual socialism and religious or Christian socialism. The first is characteristic of the masses of continental Europe and of Britain who see only unequal conditions of life and opportunity and the monopolization of good things by the rich. They want a change no matter how it comes. The intellectual socialist looks to the improvement of the condition of the workingman through improvement in the means and instruments of production, of distribution and of administration. He wants new methods and state ownership and control. The religious socialist believes in the cultivation of the humane side of human nature in alliance with the teachings of religion. He relies upon human nature when educated, refined and made aware of his duty to improve the conditions of the less fortunate and to do justly.

Although Socialism is not as yet the power on this continent it is in the older countries it has a powerful influence upon the great body of the people here. In Europe it is rapidly becoming by means of the ballot, the dominating influence. Having defined Socialism and placed it geographically, the speaker proceeded to analyse it, reaching the ultimate conclusion that while the present order of things exaggerated individualism the proposed order exaggerated the power and control of the State. The hope of the world lay in a recognition of the principles of justice and this could be attained only by full and free Education. It is supposed that when people thoroughly understand the disease they will find a just reasonable and effective remedy without recourse to violence or the infringement of reasonable liberty.

The basic idea of modern Socialism was that value was the labour put upon an article or project plus the difference between that labor-value and the market-price. It was supposed by the Marx Socialists that this difference between the labor-value and the market-price, which they called surplus-value, was wholly monopolized by the capitalist. In other words he took all the reward. The remedy ultimately suggested by the speaker was profit-sharing. It would give the partnership between Labor and Capital which was so much desired and which would remove inequality more or less in the rewards of Labor and Capital. The joint-stock company was a form of profit-sharing and partnership. It permitted union of workingmen and employer and a proportionate division of profits. The idea that Capital was wholly the savings of thrift was a mistaken one. It was a difference in endowment and opportunity also. The Old Age Pension is an attempt to equalize conditions at the end of life. A better way would be to equalize them so far as possible at the beginning and give everybody a fair start. It was the mistake of the Poor that they should think happiness consisted in material things only. There was a vast deal beside. The rush from the farm to the city was due to faulty education. No educated man would leave the comparatively healthy and free conditions of the farm for the closeness, unhealthiness and false glamor of the streets of the city. It was the mistake of the unknowing. The curse of the present day is the love of gain. It soon gets to permeate life in every direction and the result is disastrous. It is the root of all evil. Education will obviate this. No sufficiently educated man would give himself to the acquisition of mere material things. The oppression which rests so heavily upon the great mass of people is largely a direct result of an absorbing love of gain. It excludes justice and human kindness. It may be covered over with various forms of sugar-coating but the fatal element of injustice remains and what is sometimes atoned for by individual instances of generosity and even self-sacrifice, is perpetuated by a studied care in the unprincipled method of acquiring property and in the doing wholesale of general injustice. Dishonesty is the worst form of injustice. But education will sift the wheat from the chaff and raise the good and the fitting to their true and proper place.

Mr. McWilliams moved a vote of thanks to Dr. Kylie, and took occasion to observe that perhaps there was more in the uneducated kind of socialism than the speaker admitted.

Rev. Father McColl expressed his admiration of the splendid lecture and the satisfying character of the manner of treatment of the subject. The remedy for evil and all ills lay in fidelity to God.

The resolution was carried amidst loud applause.

QUARTERLY MEETING OF THE PRESBYTERY OF PETERBORO

The concluding work of the Presbytery was brought to a close Tuesday afternoon many important matters being dealt with. Yesterday the visiting clergymen returned to their homes. The work at the afternoon session was in part as follows:

The committee appointed to draft a letter of sympathy with Dr. Marsh reported the following:

Peterborough, March 9, '09

The Presbytery of Peterborough now assembled having learned of the long and serious illness of the Rev Dr. Marsh of Springville, takes this early opportunity to express its deep regret for and sincere sympathy with him in his trying trouble, and we rejoice to know that he is convalescing so favorably. The Presbytery express the hope that Dr Marsh will speedily be restored to perfect health and enabled to pursue the work so dear to him and prays that he may long be spared to carry forward the Lord's work in the congregation to which he has been called to minister, and in which he has been so highly blessed.

The Presbytery wishes to convey to Mrs. Marsh and family its expression of gratitude to God that they have been so signally sustained in their ministry to Dr. Marsh during his sickness and joins with them in the joy of his restoration.

Signed—
D. A. McKenzie.
J. F. Clark.
Jas. G. Potter.

According to adjournment the Presbytery met at two o'clock and was constituted. The Clerk reported satisfactory results regarding congregations coming up to required minimum stipend for ministers.

The Rev A. C. Stewart of Grafton was appointed to address the annual meeting of the WFMS, Presbyterial Society at Port Hope in June.

The Moderator appointed Messrs. McLeod, Currie and Lees, a committee to appoint standing committees and the Presbytery gave them leave to retire.

COMMISSIONERS APPOINTED

Commissioners to the General Assembly were then appointed as follows:—

Rev. Messrs. Skene and McKenzie, by rotation.

Rev. Messrs. Burns and Thomson, by election.

Elders—David Armstrong, Thomas Spear, J Clapperton, J. I. Morrison.

It was moved by the Clerk, seconded by Mr. Pogue, that Dr Samuel Lyle, of Hamilton, be nominated as Moderator of the next General Assembly.

Mr. Wm. Madill was appointed to represent this Presbytery on the Business Committee of the Synod, and Mr. Skene was nominated on the Business Committee of the Assembly.

The Rev. Clarence McKinnon, Winnipeg, was nominated for the Chair of Systematic Theology in the Presbyterian College, Halifax, and the Rev W D. Reid, BD, Montreal, for the Chair of Practical Theology in the Presbyterian College, Montreal.

The Presbytery agreed to hold its next regular meeting in St Paul's church, Port Hope, on the second Tuesday of July, the hour of meeting to be fixed by the Clerk at a future date.

The Treasurer reported re Synod and Presbytery fund, on certain matters regarding the levy which were satisfactorily adjusted.

The session records of St Andrew's church, Peterborough and Centreville were examined and found neatly and correctly kept.

Mr. Pogue presented the report on Evangelism, which was received, and its recommendations considered seriatim, viz.:

1 That pastors be urged to keep in close touch with their Sabbath School teachers, and seek to imbue them with the evangelistic spirit, so that in all their teaching they may aim at bringing the young to definite decision for Christ.

2 That pastors be urged to consider the advantages of decision day in the Sunday School and to observe it wherever possible.

3 That in view of the expressed desire of nearly all the ministers of the Presbytery to co-operate in a simultaneous effort in the Presbytery and the desirability and need of such effort, a strong committee be appointed to take the matter into consideration and if found to be feasible to make all necessary arrangements to carry through such a campaign in the Presbytery.

This last recommendation was left in charge of the Evangelistic Committee to take action thereon.

The Moderator appointed Messrs. McKenzie and Madill to audit the books of the treasurer and the conveners of the Home Mission and augmentation funds.

STANDING COMMITTEES.

The committee to strike standing committees reported as follows:

Augmentation and Increase of Stipends—Messrs. Skene and McKenzie, ministers and elders from Baltimore.

Church Life and Work — Messrs. Thornton, Beattie and McLeod, ministers and elders from Cobourg.

Sabbath School. — Messrs. Keith and Johnston, ministers, and elder from Springville.

Young People's Societies—Messrs. McDonald and Currie, ministers and elder from St. Paul's, Port Hope.

Supervision of Students. — Messrs. McLennan, McFarland, Stewart, ministers and elder from Warkworth.

French Evangelization — Messrs. Stirling and Black, ministers and elder from Havelock.

Evangelistic Work.—Messrs. Pogue, and Thornton, Beattie, Keith and Burns, ministers, and elders from Lakefield, and Messrs. Shook and Clark.

Foreign Missions. — Messrs. Johnston, Stirling and Keith, ministers, and elder from Omemee.

Systematic Giving.—Messrs. Marsh and McLeod, minister and elder from Centreville.

Aged and Infirm Ministers—Messrs. McKenzie and Skene, minister and elder from Grafton.

Social and Moral Reform.—Messrs. Potter, Abraham and Beattie, ministers, and elder from St. Paul's, Peterborough.

Statistics.—Messrs. Thompson, Burns, Skene, Pogue, McLennan, Johnston, Marsh, ministers and elder from St. Andrew's, Peterborough.

Home Missions—Messrs. Burns, Potter, and Elder from St. Andrew's, Peterborough.

The Rev. S. S. Burns, Convener of Home Missions, submitted his report, a sketch of the territory covered by the Cardiff Mission field exhibiting a proposed change in the preaching stations. It was referred to committee for action.

The report of the Augmentation Committee was presented by the Rev. Mr. Skene, convener. Grants were asked for Havelock $150, Rice Lake $125, Pontypool $50.

In connection with this matter it was moved by Mr. Potter, seconded by Mr. Thompson, and unanimously agreed, that the Presbytery strongly endorse the application for grants from the congregations seeking aid from the fund. In each case there are very special features so well known to the entire Presbytery that it feels confident that the cause of Christ, as well as the honor and usefulness of the churches, will be greatly advanced by such assistance.

A splendid report on Church Life and work was submitted by the Rev. W. Beattie in which he set forth the advantages of religion and the home. It was received and adopted.

The report on Sabbath Schools was presented by Mr. Keith. It was received and adopted.

The report on Young People's Societies was presented by the Rev. D. D. McDonald, showing 17 organizations in the Presbytery, being an increase of seven during the year, and also a strong financial increase.

The report was received, its recommendations considered, seriatim and adopted.

The report on Statistics submitted by the clerk was read, received and adopted.

Rev. J. A. G. Stirling submitted a glowing report on Foreign Missions. The congregation of Keene stood at the top of the list with $1,210.43 given for Foreign Mission work.

The report on Systematic Giving was presented by Wm. McLeod. Mr. J. F. Clark would enjoin on every one uniting with the church the duty of contributing something to Church Ordinances and Missions. The report was adopted.

Rev. J. G. Potter submitted the report on Moral and Social Reform. It dealt with the questions of Sabbath Observance, Temperance, Gambling, Industrial Problems, etc.

The following recommendations were adopted:

1. That the Presbytery approves of the scope of the work outlined by the assembly's committee in this important department of the work of the church, and that we express our sympathy with the important and praiseworthy efforts being made by the church to further the interests of Sabbath Observance, Temperance, Personal Purity and Political Purity.

2. The Presbytery expresses its great delight in viewing the widespread influence and effect of Local Option, and looks forward with good hope to the complete abolition of the bar within the bounds of the Presbytery.

It was unanimously decided that the Convener should circulate, as far as possible, the latter recommendation, and secure its publication in all the papers within the bounds of the Presbytery.

The Rev. W. H. Brokenshire made application through the Presbytery to be received as a Minister of the Presbyterian Church in Canada at the next General Assembly.

Mr. Thompson was appointed to support the application before the Assembly's Committee.

The clerk was instructed to write Rev. Messrs. Hyde and Ross regarding their position on the roll of Presbytery.

Mr. Skene gave notice of motion for the adjourned meeting on the 23rd regarding the printing meetings.

Certain expenses of conveners were then considered and passed.

Before adjournment a very interesting conference took place regarding the value and importance of a simultaneous evangelistic campaign.

The Presbytery then adjourned to meet in St. Andrew's church at 9 a.m., March 23.

The moderator pronounced the benediction.

A new daily for French-Canadians is proposed in Ottawa.

Beautiful New Spring Suits
FOR WOMEN

Style is a something not charged for here, but which is a priceless feature of Women's Dress—A high priced garment is not always a stylish garment. Style may be lacking in even the most expensive suits.

Style Shines Forth in Every Fold of Every Garment In Our Showing of Women's Suits For Spring

Every suit in our collection is right, not only in style—but right in material, right in workmanship, right in price. You'll find our prices far lower than you could get anywhere else. Our policy this season will be to sell more suits at smaller profits. That, evidently was the maker's policy, too, for we got better values from him, than we ever had before.

MUCH INTEREST IN LECTURE

At Knox Church To-night on "Shadows of a Great City"—A Good Programme

Much interest is being taken in the lecture on "Shadows of a Great City" to be given with dissolving views at Knox Church by Rev. F. A. Robinson, B.A., of Stirling.

In addition to the lecture, Mr. Jas. Browne will sing "The Holy City," which will be illustrated by handsome slides and Miss Jessie Miller will sing an illustrated song "Always In the Way." Mr. Chas. Coleman will give his humorous song, "I'm Off For Philadelphia in the Morning."

The lowest priced tea is not the cheapest. "Brown Label" "Salada" Tea at 30c per pound makes many more cups than any tea sold at 25c. per pound. It is therefore not only more economical to use, but is infinitely more delicious.

SPORTING NEWS

THE STIRLING SEVEN ARE TRENT VALLEY CHAMPIONS

Winning Team Plays Clever Hockey—Defeated Norwood at Brock Street Rink Last Night by 10 to 3—Match was an Interesting One

Stirling put it on Norwood pretty badly in the final game for the Trent Valley League championship at the Brock street rink last night, winning by 10—3, in an interesting game. The seven with the silver-like name got away with the lead from the start, and at half-time had the tally 5—0. They made it 6—0 after four minutes' playing in the second half, and then Norwood shook the whitewash hoodoo that had stayed with them all the game and put one past Grain. They got another before Stirling found the nets again, and with the standing 6—2 the supporters of the green and white outfit encouraged their pets to play hard, and run up a score. Stirling only had a short lapse, however, and came back strong as ever, and it was soon evident that Norwood's chances of even making the game close were immeasurably small, and their opponents pulled out with a comfortable and creditable victory.

When Referee Harry Margan lined the men up at the call of time they faced each other as follows:

NORWOOD.		STIRLING.
Doherty	—Goal—	Grain
Edwards	—Point—	Whitty
Cummings	—Cover—	Saylor
Kempt	—Rover—	Betts
J. McNicholl	—Centre—	Fletcher
L. McNicholl	—Right Wing—	Kennedy

The spectators were bubbling over with excitement from the first appearance of the teams on the ice. The Stirling septette made their appearance first, and were given an hilarious [illegible] by their big following of supporters. Norwood put in an appearance soon afterwards, and were also enthusiastically received.

The ice was in surprisingly good condition considering the mild weather. From the outset it was a trifle slow, but it was pretty hard, and held out well to the end of the game.

The quality of hockey displayed by the winning team was good — above the City League average, it was considered by the majority of the spectators. Both teams showed considerable speed, and seemed pretty even in this department when it came to skating. But the Stirling forward and defence men handled the puck with more facility and effectiveness, and checked well, although in the matter of checking back neither team showed much aggressiveness. They were right on, however, in endeavoring to block the rushes and spoil the combination plays of each other, and the winning seven did good work in this respect.

The entire Stirling team played good hockey but the forward line was particularly good and outplayed Norwood's four at all times. The line works well together, and the players are handy in shooting on the goal. In the work around the nets they performed in stellar style, while on the other hand Norwood seemed lost when getting in on the goal.

Stirling, on the other hand, were very effective in carrying the puck in and shooting. For the team that have won the coveted T. V. L. trophy Kennedy at right wing and Whitty at point were the star performers. The former is a fast and clever player, and was conspicuous throughout the match by his brilliant work. Whitty at point, is a dashing and consistent player, and got the nicest goal of the night, scoring after he had rushed and passed and then taken the pass again. Fletcher at centre played a fine game also, and Grain did some clever blocking in the nets. H. McNicholl at right wing and Cummings at rover were probably the choice of the Norwood seven, while Doherty in goal got in the way of some hard shots.

There were about seven hundred in the rink for the game, and the Stirling contingent which came up on a special were a glad and noisy crowd when the victory had been landed. The Norwood boys and their supporters are good sports, however, and took the result in good grace. That there was no ill-feeling between the teams was shown by the game, which was a strenuous one but no dirty work was indulged in by either side. Referee Harry Morgan had the players under his thumb and wouldn't tolerate any infractions. He handled the game splendidly, and gave satisfaction all round.

THE GAME.

The game commenced as though the argument was going to be a close one, and for the first fifteen minutes there was little to choose between the playing of the teams. Both were a little strange on the new ice. The first tally was notched in fifteen minutes by Kennedy.

Stirling 1, Norwood 0.

Whitty got away with a spectacular rush, carrying the puck from his position at point to the Norwood goal. He passed to Fletcher who passed the rubber back to Whitty, and the latter did the necessary. 2 minutes.

Stirling 2, Norwood 0.

Saylor lifted one from cover-point. It bounced in front of the nets and jumped past Doherty. 1 minute.

Stirling 3, Norwood 0.

Edwards broke his skate and retired for the half Betts leaving to even up. Fletcher scored. 3 minutes.

Stirling 4, Norwood 0.

Fletcher again found the nets on a nice one from the side.

Stirling 5, Norwood 0.

SECOND HALF.

Kennedy scored in 4 minutes.

Stirling 6, Norwood 0.

L. McNicholl took Norwood's first amid a din of cheering. 5 minutes.

Stirling 6, Norwood 1.

In one and one-half minutes later H. McNicholl also counted for Norwood.

Stirling 6, Norwood 2.

Saylor did away with the impression that Norwood might have a big revival and manage to win after all. 1 minute.

Stirling 7, Norwood 2.

Fletcher got the next goal. 2 minutes.

Stirling 8, Norwood 2.

He again scored in 3 minutes

Stirling 9, Norwood 2.

McMillan took a hand in the scoring, and made the last goal for Stirling. 1 minute.

Stirling 10, Norwood 2.

Just at the call of time H. McNicholl got Norwood's third and last goal, and the final reading was:

Stirling 10, Norwood 3.

BELMONT CLUB WILL HOLD POOL TOURNEY FOR MEMBERS

In a short time a pool tournament will be opened by the Belmont Club. The competition, of course, will be confined to members of the club only, and suitable prizes will be offered.

Great interest is being displayed in the tournament by the club members, among whom there are several handy exponents of the game.

Arrangements for the selecting of the draws are under way, and they will soon be completed. The competition commences on Wednesday night and the list of those playing then, and the results of the tournament as it progresses will be announced in The Review.

DOHERTY HOME FROM GALT; A CITY LEAGUE GRADUATE NOW PLAYING PRO HOCKEY

Fred Doherty, of Norwood, the crack left wing of the Galt pro. team, was in the city last night and acted as timer for Norwood in the Stirling-Norwood game. Fred informed the Review that he would be home until next season.

He has not decided yet what team he will figure on next winter.

Doherty, who is a graduate of the City League, having played with Norwood the winter before last, made a big jump when he went from City League to professional hockey, but emphatically made good and is regarded one of the finds of the year in pro hockey.

Doherty likes the professional game and says it is well supported in Western Ontario.

SAINTS AND STRATHCONAS PLAY TO-MORROW NIGHT

Arrangements for a game between the Strathconas and St. Andrew's, the Church League champions, has been pending for some time and the teams have at last come to an agreement to play tomorrow night from 8 to 9 o'clock at the Brock street rink.

St. Andrew's will have practically the same team that they had in their other games this season, with the exception of Rollie Glover, who will play for the Saints and who will be a tower of strength to the church leaguers.

St. Andrew's will be chosen from the following:—Patterson, Staunton, Glover, Flanagan, Currie, Rae brothers, Dormer.

Harry Morgan has been agreed upon as referee.

PROSPECTS FOR LACROSSE TEAM IN PETERBORO' THIS YEAR APPEAR EXCELLENT prospects for

What about a lacrosse team for Peterborough next season? The hockey season is over, and as there's nothing like getting a game worked up good and early, it would not be at all unreasonable to see what the prospects of lacrosse are this year and to drum up an interest in the game.

Provided an early organization was effected and the players got out to practise in good time, there seems no reason why Peterborough could not get a team together that would make any of them hustle in the intermediate division of C.L.A.

Three new men, and possibly others, who are expert exponents of the national game, are in the city, and there is the old bunch of regulars to pick from. The new men are Harold Burns who played with the Owen Sound C.L.A. team last last year; Wallace Flanagan, who played with the crack Galt C.L.A. twelve and Bradt, who is employed at the Peterborough Lunch, is another player of ability.

Then there is Morgan, Judd, Barber, Galvey, Dillon, Glover and the others. With such talent to choose from Peterborough should be able to organise a pretty handy twelve.

WILL BE A FAST GAME TO-NIGHT

P.C.I. Team and O.H.A. Juniors Will Meet at the Brock Street Rink.

Good fast ice is assured for the game between the P. C. I. and the junior O. H. A. teams to-night at Brock street rink, and those who attend are guaranteed that the contest will be the fastest seen here this season between two junior teams. The scientific playing of the P. C. I. is the main talk around the rink, and a large crowd is always on hand to watch them work when any games are pulled off with the other teams around town. The P. C. I. have not played the regular junior O. H. A. team yet, but claim they can hold their own with them when they meet to-night at the rink. Efforts have been made to get the full strength of the O. H. A. team out to-night, and those who attend will not be disappointed in seeing a patched-up team, as this game is not for fun, but a case of which is the superior team. There will be a small fee for admittance, to enable the teams to meet their necessary expenses. Leo Dwyer has consented to referee, which should be a guarantee that the game will be kept fast and clean.

The line-ups of the teams will be as follows:

P. C. I.		O. H. A.
Meldrum	Goal	Giroux
Denison	Point	Wade
Wallace	Cover	Pentland
Crane	Rover	Ross
Geale	Centre.	Gireux
Conroy	Right Wing	Coughlin
Fortye	Left Wing	Short or Hillien

HOCKEY

The game arranged for between the West Ends and Bridgenorth that was to have taken place last night, had to be called off. The teams will meet in the near future and as Bridgenorth are a fast aggregation, the West Ends will have to travel at their best to get away with the game.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Cables Unchanged—Hogs Steady at East Buffalo and Chicago.

LONDON, March 10.—London cables for cattle are steady at 13½c to 14c per pound, dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted at 10c to 10½c per pound.

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, March 10.—Receipts of live stock at the City Market were again light, only 31 carloads all told.

Exporters.

No loads of exporters were on sale. [illegible] Dunn & Levack sold six steers, about 1300 lbs. each, at $5.60. Bulls sold at $4 to $4.50.

Butchers.

Prime picked lots of butchers' steers and heifers, 1050 to 1150 lbs. each, equal in quality to best exporters, are worth $5 to $5.35; loads of good to choice sold from $4.75 to $5.10, the latter price being paid by Alex. Levack for a load weighing 1112 lbs. each; medium to good, $4.30 to $4.60; common, $3.75 to $4.25; cows, $3.25 to $4.30; canners and common cows, $1.50 to $2.65; bulls, $3 to $4.

Milkers and Springers.

A moderate delivery of milkers and springers sold at steady prices, ranging from $30 to $60 each.

Veal Calves.

A limited supply of veal calves sold at firm prices, ranging from $3 to $7 per cwt., with an odd one or two of exceptional good quality, at $7.25 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

Light receipts caused firmer prices, especially for yearling lambs. Export ewes, $4.25 to $4.50; rams, $3.25 to $4 per cwt.; grain fed lambs, $7 to $7.50 per cwt.; common lambs, $5.75 to $6 per cwt.

Hogs.

The market for hogs remained firm at Tuesday's advance. Selects, fed and watered, sold at $7.15 on the market, and $6.90, f.o.b., cars, at country points. Several drovers and one commission dealer reported $7 as being paid for hogs, f.o.b., cars, at several country points.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, March 10.—(Special.)—Montreal Markets.—At the Canadian Pacific Live Stock Market this morning the offerings consisted of 500 cattle, 100 sheep and lambs, 450 hogs, and 800 calves. Considering the unfavorable weather there was a fairly large gathering of buyers, and in consequence a good trade was done for this season of the year. There was a larger percentage of good useful cattle offered than usual, for which the demand was good, consequently the undertone to the market was firm and prices for these grades were well maintained, but the trade in the common stock was rather slow and values had to be shaded in some cases in order to make a clearance. Choice steers sold at 5 1-2c, good at 5c to 5 1-4c, fair at 4 1-2c to 4 3-4c, medium at 4c to 4 1-4c, good cows at 4 1-2c to 5c, common cows at 3c to 3 1-2c, and bulls at 2 3-4c to 4c per pound.

Supplies of sheep and lambs were a little larger than they have been of late, for which the demand was good and a more active trade was done at firm prices. Choice lots of lambs sold at 6 1-4c to 6 1-2c, and good at 5 3-4c to 6c, while sheep brought 4 1-4c to 4 1-2c per pound.

A GREAT RUN FOR THE HOMESTRETCH IN THE REVIEW'S POPULARITY CONTEST

All Contestants Doing Their Best to Win Out in the Last Lap—Honors so Far Are About Even Between Candidates—The Prizes Are Still to be Won.

THE LAST, "THE MAIN, CHANCE" FOR ALL CANDIDATES

EACH CANDIDATE sending or bringing $10 worth of NEW subscriptions to the Review Office before 8 o'clock, on March 22nd, the close of the Contest, will be given a special certificate for 4,000 EXTRA VOTES, in addition to the regular certificates. The amount may be made up in any manner—Daily or Weekly subscription. All that is necessary is that the sum amounts to $10, and that it be NEW.

For each $10 worth of OLD subscriptions turned in until the end of the Contest a special certificate for 2,000 EXTRA VOTES will be given. This also in addition to the regular votes.

Every subscription turned in since March 8 will be counted. It is not necessary to hold back the money until you have $10. Turn the subscriptions in as you get them, and when the amount reaches $10, the certificate will be issued—and it may be voted at once or held as desired.

No other offer of any kind will be made during the Contest.

"The Golden Opportunity for Vote Hunters."

If in years to come, at the close of the day's work in the calm, peaceful atmosphere of the family circle, you would recount the many interesting sights you saw on your trip abroad get busy right now. There is still time to secure your ticket. A handicap of a few thousand votes is a small matter to the determined man or woman; it is merely an incentive to more progressive and persistent endeavor. A day's systematic consistent and intelligent work will place any candidate, starting to work at once on an equal footing with those who have been making a hap-hazard campaign for the past two weeks.

A great many candidates have "promises" of aid when they make a showing that their friends will feel justified in coming to their support. A good many people "promise" just to let the candidate down easy, and when they are finally asked to make good resort to the miserable expedient of attempting to discourage the contestant. That is just simply a little outcropping of selfishness. If they discourage the candidate they figure they are saving the price of a year's subscription. It isn't a nice thing to think, but plenty of men are willing to think it.

MISS ROSE P. MOORE.

Of Lakefield, competing in the Review's European Tour Contest.

To those contestants who are meeting with such experiences the contest man would suggest that the good old business college typewriter practice line be invoked: "Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of the party." And that's the truth. There is no time when friends can assist candidates in this contest as much as RIGHT NOW. The cash club offer for both old and new subscriptions now in force, will allow all subscribers to help their favorite candidate. There will be no other inducement during the contest. It is opportunity time for those friends who have "promised." Put them to the test.

And still the fireworks continues. Every day the live ones are more in evidence. Some people who have been laboring under the delusions as to the size of the final vote in this contest have been again revising their figures and getting new ideas as to what sort of an affair they are up against.

The vote will surely be large. How large is the question and depends entirely upon the candidates and their friends. Don't spend too much time figuring it out. Get all you can.

Have you figured out the possibilities of the cash club offer for NEW subsribers and how easily you can roll up a tremedous vote? Look back through your subscription book and check up all your friends who gave you subscriptions for $1 in the contest before you or they had grasped the proper dimensions of this battle and realized the fact that "dollar bets" were not going to win very much.

Check up your book and then start out after those fellows who gave you a three or six months' subscription, and when you get them in a corner hand them something like this: "Look here, are you aware that I am running in the Review's contest?" Of course he will say yes. He can't do anything else, because you have "pried him away" from the price of one small subscription and he is getting the Review now, so he can't help knowing where you stand. "What do you think I am running for—a trip to Europe or a gold watch?" Well, naturally he both wants and expects you to go abroad, so all you have to do is to explain in a quiet gentle manner that those subscriptions will not win a package of toothpicks as long as the other fellows are bringing in one and two year subscriptions. He'll see the point.

HE GOT HIS RAISE.

How a Boy In Field's Office Succeeded in Getting It.

Years ago a small boy who was working in Marshall Field's wholesale house conceived the idea that he ought to have a raise in his salary. He was then receiving $4 a week, and he believed he was worth $5. He asked the manager of his department for a raise, but was refused. Not daunted, he went to the next higher authority, only to be again disappointed. He continued to run the complete gamut of managers until his only hope lay in going to Mr. Field himself with his request. One morning he lay in wait outside Marshall Field's private office, and, when the merchant prince arrived, immediately waylaid him and stated the case to him. Mr. Field listened patiently to the boy's story, but a stern look came over his face.

"See here, my boy, you are paid $4 a week now, are you not?" he asked.

"Yes, sir," the boy answered, "but I'm worth $5 to you."

"When I was considerably older than you I was only getting $3 a week, and I think you ought to be satisfied with $4," said Mr. Field.

The youngster saw all his hopes dashed to the ground. Tears of disappointment came to his eyes, and he blubbered:

"Well, perhaps you wasn't worth more than $3 a week."

Marshall Field laughed. The boy got his raise.—Lippincott's Magazine.

Jane Cable

... By ...

GEORGE BARR McCUTCHEON,

Author of "Beverly of Graustark," Etc.

COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY DODD, MEAD & COMPANY

"I wouldn't have believed the other things they say of you if I hadn't this to break down my faith. I heard this with my own ears. It was too contemptible to forget in a lifetime. I did not come here to discuss it with you. The thing is done. I came here to tell you that I am going to leave Chicago. You won't go, so I will." Bansemer still glared at him, but there was amazement mingling with rage in his eyes. "I can't look a soul in the face. I am ashamed to meet the Cables. Good Lord, I'm afraid even to think of Jane."

"I suppose you—you would marry her, like a fool, even now," muttered the father.

"Marry her? Of course I would. I love her more than ever. I'd give my life for her; I'd give my soul to ease the pain you have thrust upon her. But it's over between us. Don't let our affairs worry you. She has ended it. I don't blame her. How could she marry your son? I have hoped that I might not be your son, after all."

Bansemer leaned heavily against the radiator, gasping for breath. Then he staggered to the couch and dropped upon it, moaning.

"Graydon, Graydon! Don't say that! Don't! I'll make everything right. I'll try to undo it all! My boy, you are the only thing on earth I love. I've been heartless to all the rest of the world, but I love you. Don't turn against me."

The son stood looking at him in dull wonder. His heart was touched. He had not thought that this stern man could weep; he began to see the misery that was breaking him.

"Dad, don't do that," he said, starting toward him. "I'm sorry. I'm sorry for you."

Bansemer leaped to his feet, his mood changing like a flash.

"I don't want your pity. I want your love and loyalty. I didn't mean to be weak. Will you leave Chicago with me? I must go. We'll go at once—anywhere, only together. We can escape if we start now. Come!"

"I won't go that way!" exclaimed Graydon. "Not like a criminal!"

"No? You won't?" There was no answer. "Then there's nothing more to say. Go! Leave me alone. I had prayed that you might not have been like this. Go! I have important business to attend to at once." He cast his gaze toward the drawer in which the pistol lay. "I don't expect to see you again. Take this message to the Cables. Say that I am the only living soul who knows the names of that girl's father and mother. God alone can drag them from me!"

Graydon was silent, stunned, bewildered. His father was trembling before him, and he opened his lips to utter the question that meant so much if the answer came.

"Don't ask me!" cried Bansemer. "You would be the last I'd tell."

"I don't believe you know!" cried Graydon.

"Ah, you think I'll tell you?" triumphantly.

"I don't want to know." He sat down, his moody gaze upon his father. Neither spoke for many minutes. Neither had the courage. James Bansemer finally started up with a quick look at the door. Droom was speaking to some one in the outer office.

"Go now," he said harshly. "I want to be alone."

"Father, are you—are you afraid of these charges?" His father laughed shortly and extended his hand to the young man.

"Don't worry about me. They can't down James Bansemer. You may leave Chicago. I'll stay! Goodby, Graydon!"

"Goodby, dad!"

They shook hands without flinching, and the young man left the room. On the threshold the father called after him:

"Where do you expect to go?"

"I don't know."

Droom was talking to a youth who held a notebook in his hand and who appeared frightened and embarrassed. Graydon shook hands with the old man. Droom followed him into the hall.

"If you ever need a friend, Graydon," he said in a low voice, "call on me. If I'm not in jail, I'll help you."

Half an hour later Graydon rang the Cables' doorbell.

"Miss Jane is not seeing any one today, sir," said the servant.

"Say that I must see her," protested the young man. "I'm going away tonight."

"So is she, sir."

"Where?"

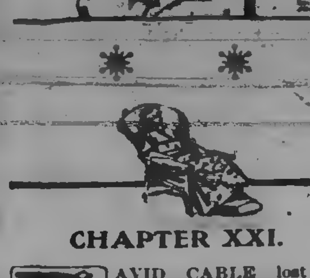
"I don't know, sir. California, more than likely. Mrs. Cable and she will be gone for some time."

"Did she tell you not to admit me?" he asked, white faced and calm.

"Yes, sir. Nobody, sir."

He turned down the steps and walked away.

That afternoon he enlisted and the following morning was going westward with a party of recruits, bound eventually for service with the regulars in the Philippines.



CHAPTER XXI.

DAVID CABLE lost no time in hurrying away from Chicago with his wife and Jane. They were whisked westward in his private car on the second day after the Bansemer exposure. Broken spirited, Jane acquiesced in all their plans. She seemed as one in a stupor, comprehending yet unresponsive to the pain that enveloped her.

"I can't see any one that I know here," she said listlessly. "Oh, the thought of what they are saying!"

They did not tell her that Graydon had enlisted as a private soldier in the United States army. Jane only knew that she loved him and that the bar sinister existed.

Cable's devotion to her was beautiful. He could not have been more tender had she been his own daughter instead of his wife's imposition.

Jane was ill in Pasadena for many weeks. Her depressed condition made her recovery doubtful. It was plain to two persons, at least, that she did not care whether she lived or died. The physicians were puzzled, but no explanation was offered by the Cables. It was not until certain Chicago sojourners generously spread the news that the cause of her breakdown became apparent to the good doctors. Before many days the girl who sat wan and distrait upon the flower shaded piazza was an object of curiosity to fashionable Pasadena. As soon as she was strong enough to endure the trip the hunted trio forsook Pasadena and fled northward.

San Francisco afforded relief in privacy. Jane's spirits began to revive. There had not been nor was there ever to be any mention of that terrible night and its revelations. What she may have felt and suffered in secret could only be conjectured by those who loved her. Bansemer's name was never uttered. His fate remained unknown to her. The faraway, unhappy look in her eyes proved to them that Graydon was never out of her thoughts.

David Cable was in Chicago when Mrs. Cable received word from her sister, once Kate Coleman, that she soon would reach San Francisco with her husband, bound for the Philippines. Kate was the wife of a West Pointer who had achieved the rank of colonel in the volunteers by virtue of political necessity. His regiment had been ordered to the islands, and she was accompanying him with their daughter, a girl of sixteen.

Colonel Harbin had seen pleasant service at the eastern posts, where his wife had attained a certain kind of social distinction in the army fast set. She was not especially enamored of the prospect ahead of her in the Philippines. But the new colonel was a strict disciplinarian on and off the field. He expected to be a brigadier general if fortune and favoritism supported him long enough. Mrs. Harbin could never be anything more than a private in the ranks, so far as his estimation of distinction was concerned. His daughter, Ethel, had, by means of no uncertain favoritism, advanced a few points ahead of her mother and might have ranked as sergeant in the family corps.

Mrs. Harbin played cards, drank highballs, flirted with the younger officers, got talked about with pleasing emphasis and was as happy as any subordinate could be. They had not even thought of such a thing as divorce, and the whole army wondered and expressed disgust. The army's appetite for scandal is surpassed only by its bravery in war. It is even hinted that the latter is welcomed as a loophole for the former. War brings peace.

The arrival of the Harbins and a staff of gay young cadets fresh from the banks of the Hudson put new life into the recluses. The regiment was to remain at the Presidio for several weeks before sailing. One of the lieutenants was a Chicago boy and an acquaintance of Graydon Bansemer. It was from him that Jane learned that her sweetheart was a soldier in the service, doubtless now in Luzon.

A week before the sailing of Colonel Harbin's transport Jane suddenly announced that she had but one desire on earth, and that was to go to Manila with her aunt. She did not present her plea with the usual claim that she wanted to be of service to her country. She was not asking to go out as a heroine of the ordinary type. Instead she simply announced that she wanted to go as a temporary member of Colonel Harbin's family, to endure their hardships and to enjoy their enthusiasms. Mrs. Cable recognized the true motive, however.

Her pleadings were in vain. The Harbins had lucklessly urged Jane to join them. Telegrams flew back and forth across the continent, and David Cable came on to present his feeble objections.

When the great transport sailed away, Jane Cable was one of her passengers, the ward of the regiment.

"It's just for a little while, dad," she said wistfully at the dock; "a few months. I'll think of you every minute I'm away."

The blood of the man in the service was calling to her. The ocean was between them. The longing to be near him, to tread the same soil, had conquered in the eternal battle of love. After all, no matter how the end was attained, she was a creature of life, brought into the world to love and to be loved. She put the past behind her and began to build a new future—a future in which the adoration of Graydon Bansemer was the foundation. The hope that makes all human averages was at the work of reconstruction; youth was the builder. The months of destruction had not left a hopeless ruin as the heritage of dead impulses.

The world grew brighter as the ship forged westward. Each day sent warmer blood into her veins and a deeper light into her eyes. The new life was not inspired by the longing to be his wife, but to see him again and to comfort him. She would be no man's wife.

At last one hot, soft morning in early July the great transport slipped past Corregidor and turned its nose across Manila bay, past Cavite, toward the anchorage which ended the long voyage. The city of Manila lay stretched out before them—Manila, the new American capital.

The troops were marched off to quarters, and the Harbins, with Jane Cable, repaired at once to the Orienta, where they were to live prior to taking a house in Ermita or San Miguel. The campaign was not being pushed vigorously at this time. It was the rainy season. Desultory fighting was going on between the troops and the insurgents. There were numerous scouting and exploring expeditions into the enemy's country.

Have You an Unhealthy Skin

IMMEDIATELY your dress or your coat shows sign of wear, you pay attention to it, and have it repaired or renewed. As soon as your gloves wear into holes, you get others.

The mere dead covering to your body, which you can put on and take off, you attend to promptly; but what about your skin itself? Your skin surely calls for more attention than the dead fabrics which cover part of it. You don't give it as much attention, yet you expect it to wear better! See the unwisdom of this?

Winter is just passing—Its cold has split rocks, scarred mountain passes, and iron posts. Yet the delicate fabric of your skin, with its minute pores and blood vessels, its "irrigation system," its "breathing holes," has had to weather it as best it could! You have passed from zero cold to hot rooms; and from hot rooms to freezing air! All tells on the skin.

Can you wonder that you find it blotchy, and with red spots and dark patches here and there? Are you surprised that you have sores, rawness, and chafed places? Perhaps some old sore has again broken out on some part of your body—or some eczema patch is again irritating and paining you. Probably some hidden sore, the result of blood-poisoning, while all unseen and unknown to your friends, is causing you torture day after day!

Let Zam-Buk give you relief. It is made from the healing herbal balms and juices which Nature herself has provided. Zam-Buk is Nature's emollient; Nature's healing and soothing balm. Not only does it possess a natural affinity for the skin, but the skin has an affinity for Zam-Buk. Most of the common salves and embrocations never get beneath the hard cuticle. They are too coarse to be absorbed. Zam-Buk, on the contrary, is readily absorbed; and wherever the skin is injured by accident or eaten by disease, Zam-Buk promotes the growth of new, healthy tissue.

In a sentence, the secret of a clear, smooth, healthy skin, both on face and body, is—keep Zam-Buk handy, and use it daily.

MOTHER GRATEFUL FOR CHILD'S CURE.

MRS. GEORGE BOORMAN, of 906, Selkirk Ave., Winnipeg, says:—"Pimples and sores broke out all over my little girl's face and hands. It was impossible to keep her from rubbing or picking at these sores, and this naturally set up much pain and inflammation. First one ointment and then another was used, but there was no noticeable improvement. A neighbour advised me to try Zam-Buk, and leave off all other remedies. I did as she advised, and a few applications of Zam-Buk soothed the pain and allayed the inflammation. Gradually every scab and pimple disappeared, and the sores were soon healed completely, leaving the child's face smooth and white."

Zam-Buk is a positive and certain cure for cuts, burns, bruises, sprains, piles, festering sores, ulcers, scalds, blood-poisoning, eczema, scabs, chapped hands, cold cracks, chilblains, ringworm, scalp sores, bad leg, diseased ankles, and all other skin diseases and injuries. Rubbed well into the parts affected, it cures neuralgia, rheumatism, and sciatica. All Druggists and Stores sell at 50c. box, three for $1.25, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Refuse the harmful imitations sometimes represented to be "just as good."

COAL STRIKE WOULD HAVE LITTLE EFFECT IN THIS CITY

That the effect locally of the threatened coal strike in Pennsylvania, scheduled, it is said, for early in April, would not be serious, is the general opinion among those well-informed on the question. A leading coal merchant said to-day that in the first place conditions would not warrant any long strike, especially as the sympathy of the public would be lacking. Furthermore, owing to the mildness of the winter Peterborough's consumption of coal has been much less than in former years, and a larger supply of coal than usual is, therefore, available. Although coal used here comes from Pennsylvania a strike would have no serious consequence locally at this time of year under any circumstances.

While the stock carried by the dealers in the city is comparatively small, the coal companies from whom the dealers secure their supplies have sufficient provision for a couple of months. After April 1st the orders for coal placed in the city are small, and there is little liklihood that the effects of a strike in the Pennsylvania coal section will make any difference in Peterborough, provided, of course, that it comes in the spring of the year.

JUDGMENT WAS RESERVED IN AN INTERESTING CASE

The case of the hotel-keeper charged with selling a larger quantity of liquor than the law calls for came up before Magistrate Dumble this morning. Mr. F. D. Kerr who appeared for the accused, said that Handley's evidence was so unsatisfactory that it should not be used against the hotelkeeper. But the Magistrate overruled and the evidence for the defence was heard.

One of the bartenders stated that Handley was not in the house on the 22nd bu had come in Tuesday evening to get some liquor, as he was going to Burleigh to a dance. He was accompanied by Southern and they first had a drink. Handley then ordered a bottle of whiskey and paid for it. After about 15 minutes he had sold two bottles of lager beer and that was all the liquor that he sold or was taken out of the house by Handley on that particular evening.

Another employee was called and stated that he did not sell any liquor to Handley on the 23rd the night of the Burleigh dance.

Mr. Kerr argued that each transaction was a separate sale and that each sale was less than one quart, so that there was no intentional violation of the law.

The Magistrate reviewed the evidence of Handley and the bartenders and held that it was one sale and the quantity was more than one quart. Judgment was reserved until to-morrow morning.

RUSSELL MORRISON KILLED YESTERDAY

Sawing Wood at Home in South Monaghan—Fly Wheel Burst—Piece of it Struck Him With Fatal Results

A terrible fatality is reported from South Monaghan, where Russell Morrison, 28 years of age, a son of Mr. David Morrison, was killed while sawing wood at his home. He and his father and brother Richmond, were engaged in the work when the fatal accident occurred at ten o'clock in the morning.

The fly wheel of the sawing machine burst and a part of it struck the young man on the thigh shattering it. The wound was a horrible one and blood poured from it in great quantities. The father and brother immediately carried the injured man into the house, which was about 200 yards distant. He was conscious at the time and continued so until about 8 o'clock at night when he went to sleep. He never awakened and death took place at 11 o'clock.

After he had been taken to the house Drs. Russell of Bailieboro, and Montgomery, of Millbrook, were called. They could do nothing, however, as the shock of the injury was too great. It is to this that death was due for the wheel was going through the air at a terrific rate when it hit the young man.

A sad feature is the fact that the deceased was married only last December 31st and his wife is nearly frantic over the terrible occurrence. The other immediate members of the family who survive are the father, mother, two brothers and a sister.

The funeral will be held to-morrow afternoon at 1.30 and interment will take place in the Presbyterian cemetery at Centreville.

AFTER THE BRIDGE

After interviewing the Minister of Agriculture the deputation waited upon Hon. Dr. Rheaume, Minister of Public Works, in regard to the proposed bridge at Ball Lake Narrows in Harvey township. The deputation was introduced to the Minister by Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., and Warden Scott was the first one called upon to speak. Mr. Scott said the proposed bridge would be 2,310 feet in length, and a floating structure. The estimated cost was $12,000, and the county was willing to put up $5,000 of this amount it the Dominion and Provincial Governments would contribute the remaining $7000. The Warden stated that a deputation had waited upon the Dominion Government in this connection and had been assured that the Dominion Government would make a grant if the Provincial Government would also do something.

The necessity of a bridge across Ball Lake Narrows was pointed out clearly by Reeve Shaw, of Harvey; Reeve Koen, of Bobcaygeon; Councillor Graham, of Harvey; Mr. J. H. Carnegie, M.P.P., for West Victoria, and Mr. S. Fox, M.P.P., for South Victoria.

It was shown that the proposed bridge will connect South and North Harvey by a direct route. It would reduce the distance to Bobcaygeon from South Harvey by fifteen miles and also reduce the distance from North Harvey to Peterborough.

Hon. Dr. Rheaume dealt with the deputation in a frank, business-like manner. He said he was impressed with the necessity of a bridge at the point indicated and would bring the matter before his colleagues.

Warden Scott informed the Minister that it was not the intention of the council to build the bridge this year but that if there was assurance the $7000 arrangements would be made to proceed with it.

Dr. Rheaume stated that if a grant was made by the Ontario Government it would be on condition that the Dominion Government made an equal grant and that the work would be proceeded with.

Dr. Rheaume's answer was satisfactory to the deputation.

MONSTER CRACKERS.

They Are Becoming an Important Part of England's Yuletide.

It is not generally known that every season crackers are made in England ranging in size from 3 feet to 6 feet and even 7 feet in length. These giants of the cracker world, like the conventional article, are made to pull, when they go "crack," and are in every sense of the word a true cracker.

What the makers can cram into these monsters is simply surprising. A 3 foot cracker, costing $2, will contain presents for twenty-four persons, consisting of vases, tea-cups and saucers, figures, animals, birds, reptiles, and jewellery. In one of the big safes at one of the principal London hotels there was deposited a 3-foot cracker containing twenty costly pieces of jewellery. It was made to the order of an American millionaire, and was to be pulled on Christmas morning and its contents distributed to the guests.

Crackers measuring 6 feet and more in length are invariably made, to order. Scores are turned out every season. In the large country houses the pulling of these monsters is rightly regarded as the principal event on the festive morning. Three or four children grip the huge bon-bon at each end and pull away until the middle falls apart, amid the roars of a miniature explosion. So far as their contents are concerned, that depends entirely upon your purse, the makers, as a rule, inserting into these giants the articles specially ordered.

One that went off this season in a Cabinet Minister's house contained a complete model railway, twenty toys, and one hundred smaller crackers. Another, ordered by a titled lady, contained two dozen musical toys, every one of which was made to blow. Often special toys, costing as much as $100, are inserted into these big crackers. At the same time a 6-foot cracker, containing a host of curios, novelties, small crackers, caps and paper suits, may be had for $5. One gets some idea of the popularity of this Yuletide novelty, which was unknown in England sixty years ago, when it is remembered that Messrs. Tom Smith, the makers of these giant crackers, alone turned out 20,000,000 this season.

SIKHS IN LONDON.

They Celebrate the Birthday of the Saviour of Their Religion.

A meeting of Indians in London was held recently at the Caxton Hall, Westminster, to celebrate the birthday of Shri Guru Gouind Singh, "prophet, poet, and warrior, the great nation builder of India," who flourished in the seventeenth century, and in honor of whom a memorial banner hung over the presidential chair. Prof. Gokulchand delivered an address on the "Prophet, Poet, and Warrior," in the course of which he said that the name of prophet meant much more in the east than it did in the west. The could criticize Ruskin, Carlyle, Goethe, and Tolstoy, but this was not the case with the prophets of India, who were too exalted. They did not class Guru Gouind Singh with Ruskin, with Goethe, or with Tolstoy, but placed him on a level with Christ. To them he was as Mahomet to the Mahometans, Buddha to the Buddhists, and Christ to the Christians. He then dealt at considerable length with the history of Guru Gouind and the manner in which he created the Sikh nation, instituting rules and observances which had remained to the present day. Other speakers paid tributes to the memory of the Guru, and the singing of native songs concluded the celebration.

Smith's Falls claims its A. S. Vogt in the person of Mr. Richardson, manager of the Union Bank, who has organized a choir for the study and performance of good music.

MILLIONS OF CELLS.

The human body is composed of countless millions of cells. These cells are constantly dying and new ones are being created. Dead cells are removed from the blood by the bowels, kidneys and skin. These great eliminating organs filter this waste matter from the blood, and thus purify the blood.

If there is Constipation, or non-action of the bowels—if the kidneys are strained or weakened—if there is defective skin action—then the dead cells are not removed from the body. The blood thus becomes loaded with impurities, and we suffer for it.

The only way to purify the blood is to cure the skin, bowels and kidneys. When these organs are healthy and doing their work as nature intended them to do it, waste matter is promptly removed and the blood is kept pure and rich. "Fruit-a-tives"—the famous fruit liver tablets—act directly on the skin, the bowels and the kidneys. "Fruit-a-tives" purify the blood because they keep the whole body strong, vigorous and healthy. 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial box, 25c. At dealers or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

GRAND OPERA CO. HIGHLY PRAISED

Montreal Gazette Speaks in Glowing Terms of Company Appearing at His Majesty's.

The Montreal Gazette speaks in glowing terms of the Italian Grand Opera Company at His Majesty's Theatre:

The members of the Italian Grand Opera Company last night added to the laurels they have won during their present engagement at His Majesty's Theatre by their rendering of the double bill, "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "I Pagliacci." The bright particular stars of the evening were Mme. R. Duce-Merola as Santuzza in Mascagni's one-act opera, and Signor Bari as Canio in "I Pagliacci." Signor Merola, who conducted, had the orchestra well in hand, the playing of the Cavalleria intermezzo being so frantically applauded that it was repeated.

The applause throughout the evening was most generous, the audience being most appreciative of the splendid work of the performers. So insistent was the applause after the first act of "I Pagliacci" that Bari appeared again and again to bow his acknowledgments but the audience was not satisfied until he repeated Canio's heart-broken effrot.

In "Cavalleria," which is so thoroughly familiar to all opera lovers, the company gave a highly creditable and well balanced performance, the atmosphere being perfectly retained throughout. There was a warmth and verve in the performance that was characteristically Sicilian, the leading spirit being Mme Duce-Merola, who in addition to her excellent voice, possesses temperament and great dramatic ability, qualities of which she availed herself to the fullest extent in her portrayal of Santuzza, her singing and acting of the role combining to make a fine performance. Signor Torre was the Turiddu, and the cast was completed by Zara as Alfio, Mlle. Bossi as Lola and Mlle Darenza as Mamma Lucia.

In "I Pagliacci" Bari scored distinctly and his personal popularity was shown by the applause which greeted him at every possible opportunity. Mme Bertozzi was the Nedda and while her voice was heard to advantage in the part, her apparently histrionic ability made her performance somewhat colorless. Mme. Bertozzi was sprightly enough, but in the more serious scenes she lacked the temperament necessary to play Nedda as it should be played. Her voice, which is of such excellent quality is, however, well suited to the role. Arcangeli, who was the Tonio, was well cast, his rendering of the prologue leading to the inevitable encore for which Montreal is famous. The audience last night, while not as large as the performance deserved, was more satisfactory than previously during the engagement and was of a decidedly fashionable order.

A new tenor, Signor Dominico Russo, of Palermo, who recently toured with Mme. Tetrazzini in the United States will be heard when "Faust" is presented at the Wednesday matinee.

This company appears at the Grand Opera House here on Thursday, March 18th.

SANITY OF MISS FLORENCE KINRADE IS QUESTIONED

Mr. Blackstock Asks About Her Mental Health---Neighbors Says Girl Was Frothing at the Mouth When She Crossed the Street to Give Alarm--Inquest May be Concluded To-night.

Hamilton, March 12.—Suggestions as to possible mental disorders on the part of Miss Florence Kinrade were the only new features in the resumed inquest, which was adjourned at 12.40 this morning, to be resumed at 3.30 in the afternoon. It is hoped to conclude the enquiry to-night.

When Coroner Anderson called the court to order at 8.15, the police court room was filled to overflowing. Among occupants of seats were to be noted many of the foremost medical men of Hamilton, indicating that the case has aroused keen interest as a pathological study.

Mrs. Kinrade's name was first called. She entered on the arm of a nurse, walking very unsteadily and exhibiting agiation. Her features were drawn and her face very pale. Mr. Blackstock, after courteously suggesting that she sit down, commented on her apparent weakness and assured her of every consideration.

The examining lawyer took her over the preliminary part of her testimony regarding the family and had her recount the episodes of the visits of strange characters to the house before the murder. She also told of Florence's trip to Virgina. The girls were the best of friends, and the utmost amity and affection existed among the members of the family.

Mr. Blackstock asked if Mr. Kinrade had any brother, and witness replied that there were several.

"Was there ever any trouble?"

"There was some trouble over the father's estate," she said. Hiram Kinrade, a brother, a carpenter in Hamilton, had begun a law suit about five years ago. They were not now on speaking terms.

"Was there anything the matter with this brother, was he afflicted with any mental weakness?" asked the examiner.

"Not that I know of."

"He wasn't subject to any fits?"

"Not that I recollect," said Mrs. Kinrade, who remarked that the brother was all right, except when under the influence of liquor.

"Was there ever anything in demeanor of your daughter that made you apprehensive of any kind of mental trouble?" "No."

"She always seemed a person of strong mind and character?". "Yes."

Mr. Blackstock, in conclusion, asked her if there was anything she wished to say, as he didn't want her to feel that she was being misrepresented.

"No, I am not keeping anything back," she assure earnestly.

"Then your representation to us is that you are not able to give us any information as to who the guilty party was?"

"Very well, that will do."

Gertrude, the youngest member of the Kinrade family, 16 years of age, was next examined. She had been at school at the time of the tragedy.

Ethel, she said, did not like the idea of her sister Florence singing in a theatre. Florence had never told her that when she was on the stage she was accustomed to shooting with a pistol.

"Did you sister bring home a revolver from the south?" enquired Mr. Blackstock.

"I don't think so," was the answer.

Neither her brothers nor any member of the family were familiar with a revolver.

Ernest Kinrade, the married brother, and the oldest member of the family, was the next witness. There had not been any business relations of importance between him and his father for some time. He could not suggest any motive for the crime, or give a suggestion as to the person who might have committed it, or of any one who had any malice towards the murdered girl. So far as he knew, there was no knowledge in the family as to who committed the crime. He had never known his family to keep a revolver.

Mrs. Hickey was next called. She said her house on Herkimer street was opposite the Kinrade home. She didn't hear shots fired or see anyone go in or out of the house that afternoon. She heard a scream and someone calling her name. She started downstairs and saw Florence at the foot of the stairs, who screamed "Ethel is shot six times," and fell forward. She was very much excited.

"Did you notice anything about her mouth," asked Mr. Blackstock.

"Yes," replied Mrs. Hickey readily, "the saliva about her mouth was very thick. It seemed to be almost like a froth."

It was about four o'clock when Florence came flying to her. Florence did not afterwards say anything more to her about the affair. When Mrs. Kinrade arrived at her house, both she and Florence gave every demonstration of acute anguish.

Mrs. Akers, D. M. Brown, the grocer at the corner, were also called.

Dr. McNichol was then colled. Mr. Blackstock resumed examination. He lived one block south of Kinrade's house. He went at once to the Kinrade home on getting a 'phone call. Both front and rear doors were open. Ethel was lying in the dining-room with her head southwest by west. There were signs of blood on the hair. He didn't notice any on the floor until the body was moved. He then saw a pool of blood. He noticed several bullet holes, three near the left breast, as though directed at the heart. They were evident from the outside.

The clothing was burned to the skin, showing that the weapon had been held close to the body. One bullet had entered the left side of the mouth and lodged in the upper jaw, and another bullet had entered directly in the jaw at right angles. Another was in the left cheek. There were three bullet holes in the chest and three in the face. He discovered another later on. Florence wasn't present at this time.

Several people asked him to see Florence at Mrs. Hickey's. He had nothing but an impression as to how long the girl had been dead. No medical man could tell within an hour. She might have been dead fifteen minutes to an hour. He thought the hands very cool, however.

Asked whether there was any disorder, he said the dining-room table was pushed to the south side. A fur muff was lying on the floor near a window. There was nothing to indicate a fight.

Florence had described the man as of medium height, with a slouch hat and of rather lightish complexion.

Detective Bleakley told of having responded to a call which came about 4 p.m. He had noticed a small pool of blood, about six or seven inches long and a few inches wide. There was a chair near the body.

"Supposing she had been sitting in a chair when shot and had fallen forward, could her body have fallen in that way?" was asked.

"Her body would fall in that way."

The pool of blood was a few inches from the head. In it he found a bullet and a portion of a tooth. On Saturday, March 6, he found the root of a tooth where the stain had been.

"If this is correct, then the position of the body must have been changed by some one?"

"Yes; it must have been."

Mr. Kinrade, he said, came in about twenty minutes later. He said, "I just expected something like this would happen," said witness, who said that Kinrade passed into the room where Ethel was lying, her head covered with a cloth. He raised it and stooped down, he said, "So it's Ethel," and kissed her.

Blakeley, on his arrival, had been told a tramp had done the deed. He accordingly searched the house from cellar to garret, but found no trace of him, nor of revolver cartridges.

"Did you see any other bullets?"

"I found another one since, on March 6. It was imbedded in the floor below where the pool of blood was. It had passed down through the head."

He then told the two versions of the story Florence had given him. The first was that she and Ethel were both upstairs, and the second was that she was downstairs and Ethel up in her room when the intruder entered.

The detective examined the yard and had found that the foot tracks from the house to fence were made by dragging both feet. She could easily have escaped over the fence, because there was a large scantling running along it, and a stand by means of which she could have climbed over.

FAVORITISM IS SHOWN SAYS MR. FOSTER IN COMMONS

Slashes Civil Service Reclassification—Pets of Ministers Receive Increases While Those Who Did Not Vote Right Are Left Out.

Ottawa, March 12.—Hon. G. E. Foster, in a two hours' speech last night, made a slashing attack on the system of re-classifying the outside civil servants under the act of last session, which brought them into the inside service. In the three Departments of Public Works, Agriculture and Interior, there had been 146 new appointments at a combined salary of $104,237, while there had been 503 increases of salary aggregating $71,880.

In nearly every case the boost made the favored recipient eligible for the statutory flat increase of $150. He noted the case of a clerk on a salary of $650 receiving two increases of $50 and $300 on the same day. Another with a salary of $750 received an increase of $800. This treatment of the favorites of these Ministers was in contrast to the treatment accorded hundreds of employes years in the service who "had received the bitter penance of a right withheld unless they voted right."

Mr. Borden declared that the action of the three Ministers was a "deliberate fraud" on the Civil Service Act, in that these Ministers had usurped the functions of the Civil Service Commissioners.

Mr. Graham's resolution to contribute $200,000 a year for five years to the expense of eliminating the deadly level crossings of Canada was before the House yesterday afternoon. The board of commissioners is empowered to fix the amount the Dominion shall pay up to 20 per cent. of the cost of elimination and not exceeding $5,000, each crossing not to exceed four tracks, and where there are five or more tracks it shall be regarded as two crossings; and not more than three crossings in one municipality in one year shall be contributed to. There is no provision as to the percentage the municipalities must pay.

The Minister of Railways will also bring in a bill to amend the Railway Act, and in addition to giving the board power to assess the federal power for the elimination of grade crossings.

Mr. Graham declared that it was not necessary for him to argue that a situation requiring a remedy existed. There were conditions where all the expense should be borne by the railways and the municipalities and the board would be left free to deal with those conditions. Crossings to be constructed in the future shall be protected at the expense of the railway alone. When highways are constructed after the railway the board shall have the authority to fix the amount. Municipality is defined as city, town, incorporated village, township or parish.

Mr. Borden was inclined to think that a contribution of $1,000,000 would not go very far. Was it proposed that the grant should be made perpetual? Or beyond the next five years?

"I'll leave that to the Government," said Mr. Graham.

The resolution passed and the bill was read a third time.

That the wheels of justice in British Columbia are clogged through indisposition; "engagement at the club" and other delinquencies of Chief Justice Hunter, was the substance of charges made in the Senate yesterday by Senator Bostock, in moving for papers.

On one occasion, the judge not appearing, eight jurymen had resolved themselves into a board of arbitration, with the consent of both parties. Another time the chief justice began the hearing of a case and forgot to come back.

AN INCREASE IN THE EMPIRE

Britain Acquires Big Slice of Territory From Siam---Treaty Has Been Signed.

London, March 12.—Fifteen thousand square miles of territory have been added to the British Empire by the treaty just signed at Bangkok, Siam, under the terms of which Siam cedes to Great Britain the States of Kalantan, Tringano and Kedah, which hereafter will be administered with the Malay federated states.

Under the treaty British capital to the extent of $20,000,000 will be furnished for the contruction of railroads south from Bangkok. These lines are to be controlled by a new department quite distinct from the present railroad administration of Siam, which is administered by Germany.

There will also be a gradual abolition of British extra territorial rights in Siam.

GET SOME VOTES COMMENCE TO-DAY

It Will be Necessary to Have Them if You Wish to Win in the Review Popularity Contest.

The contest man has a little advice to impart. He's going to tell you how to win a prize. It's a secret he's been keeping caged in his breast so long that he's going to but it loose or break something. Now listen!

The first thing for a good active candidate to do it to get out among his or her friends and secure some subscriptions, in other words, get some votes. Immediately after having secured some votes from your first friend, go to another and explain your position. Get some votes. After you have thus gotten two bunches of votes it would be a good plan to get out and get some votes. By this time it would be all right to stop for lunch, but while eating the time could be improved by getting some votes. In the afternoon it wouldn't be a bad idea to get some votes, and just before going to tea you might, just as a demonstration of your versatility, get out and get some more votes.

By this time you should have some votes. After tea you will feel like resting, and while doing it you should get a few votes. In order to complete the day, it will be found to be a good plan, just before going home at night to sort of get some votes.

There, now, the secret's out.

Get some votes!

NO EVIDENCE AGAINST HAWES; ACQUITTED ON ASSAULT CHARGE

Craig and Chapman Committed for Trial---Bail Was Renewed for Both of the Accused---No Testimony of a Startling Character.

The hearing of the three firemen was resumed at the Police Court yesterday afternoon at three o'clock. Several witnesses were called, but no evidence was produced against Hawes and he was discharaged. Craig and Chapman were committed for trial, but were granted bail. Craig on two securities of $500 each and Chapmaan two securities of $250 each.

The evidence;

Clifford Howard said he was at the fire stattion at the time of the assault. About 25 minutes to 7 Hawes came in and told Grange he had better report him 5 minutes late as that would save him the trouble of telling the chief, as he had always done. When Grange stepped up to the blackboard to mark down the report and Hawes used some insulting language. Craig and Chapman came in while he was talking to Grange and Craig told Grange he had better mark him 5 minutes late also, and he did so. Just as he was finishing Craig struck Grange with his fist and knocked him over on the floor. While on the floor Craig struck him several times. Hawes was present when the trouble started, but he didn't see him strike any blows. Grange, De la Fosse, Chapman, Hetherington and himself were present at the time and Hetherington undertook to part the men but Chapman told him not to interfere. He did not see any more of the fight as he went away to telephone for the chief.

To Mr. Gordon witness said Hawes was in the doorway when the trouble was on, but took no part in it whatever.

Frank De la Fosse was at the station about 15 minutes before the assault took place. There were two other men besides Grange and Howard, but he did not know them. His evidence did not differ from that of the other witnesses.

To Mr. Kerr witness stated that he did not see Grange struck by Chapman as he came into the room and was in a position so that he could have seen any blows that were struck.

Alfred Brumwell said he got up the paper asking for the removal of Mr. Grange and took it around to the different other members to sign. He saw Hawes leaving the office when Craig and Chapman entered. He did not see much of the assault.

Mr. Gordon submitted that there was no evidence that Hawes took part in the offence in any way, and asked for his discharge.

Mr. Kerr statted that the only evidence against Chapman was that of Grange's, but the other witnesses had not seen any blows struck by him and he did not think that the evidence was such that he should be sent up for trial, but the Magistrate overruled.

LATE TICKS FROM WIRES

BAIL BOND WAS NOT ACCEPTABLE

Montreal, March 12.—W. S. Reed, the thermos bottle promoter, who was arrested Monday on the charge of obtaining money under false pretences, was released on bail Wednesday night, but was taken into custody again yesterday morning. Upon investigating his bail bonds it was found that Reed had put up an accepted check for $10,000, but that the money really belonged to the company, which he is accused of defrauding, although the check was signed by himself and purported to be his personal bond.

THE PROTECTION OF THE WOMEN

Protection for Women.

Halifax, N.S., March 12.—Chaplains stationed at landing piers here will petition the Social and Moral Reform League executive to urge on the Dominion Government the passing of an act to afford immediate protection to female immigrants landing at any Canadian port similar to the act now in force in the United States. It is alleged that young women coming to Canada from Europe alone are lured to houses of ill-fame in upper and Western Canadian cities and that some seem to disappear from view altogether.

C.P.R. In Portland.

Montreal, March 12.—That the Canadian Pacific, with its Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie connections, will soon be running trains into Portland, Oregon, and will thus be able to compete with the Hill and Harriman lines, and that Sir Thomas Shaughnessy is now on his way to St. Paul for the purpose of putting such a deal through is the report current amongst railway officials here.

Judge Is Indicted.

Toledo, Ohio, March 12.—As a result of the probing into the affairs of the defunct Ohio German Insurance Co., the Lucas County grand jury on Wednesday returned five indictments against Judge Michael Donnelly, president of the company. Two of the indictments charge perjury, two embezzlement and obtaining money by false pretences.

PREMIER'S HARD WORDS FOR COBALT LAKE MEN

In Concluding Budget Debate Sir Jas. Whitney, Says He Has no Apologies to Make for Increased Expenditure—First Division of the Session.

Toronto, March 12.—The first division of the session took place yesterday on the conclusion of the debate on the budget, when Mr. MacKay moved an amendment to the motion to go into committee of supply, only sixteen Liberals being in the House at the time. The motion, seconded by Mr. McDougal, was to the effect that under a proper classification the current expenditures exceeded the current receipts and strongly urged curtailment of expenditure. The resolution also expressed regret for the large expenditures made without the annual vote of the Legislature.

Hon. A. G. MacKay said that in the seven sessions in which he had been in the House he never knew the Opposition to have acquitted themselves more creditably than in this debate.

The most important things the Government had to deal with now were forest conservation and education. Dealing with technical education, should not the sum of $3,200 spent last year be supplemented, in order that the young men of the workshop and factory may be benefitted? Night school should be established.

Coming to the budget proper, Mr. MacKay criticized the Provincial Treasurer for placing the income from municipal debentures in current revenue, when that income was less than the expenditure, and in capital account when it was greater. The Provincial Treasurer of to-day was a different man than when he was in opposition. Following his reasoning of 1903, instead of a surplus to-day the Government would face a deficit of $2,094,899.

Dealing with the increase in general expenditure Mr. MacKay pointed out that the increase in expenditure in four years had averaged 50 1-2 per cent., while the revenue had only increased 10 per cent. The per capita increase of expenditure from 1872 to 1904, during the 33 years of Liberal rule, was equal to the increase during period from 1904 to 1908 under the present Government.

The Premier, in closing the debate, said the state of affairs which existed in the Legislature at the present time was unique in the history of British institutions. The Government were thankful for the confidence expressed by the people of the province. He was willing to make every possible allowance for hon. gentlemen opposite, but could not help reproaching them for the conclusions they had arrived at in connection with the debate.

They had no apologies to make for the increase in expenditure. True, the expenditure had increased, but such increase was necessary and adviasble, but, in addition, during four short years, they had practically increased the revenue of the province from four to eight millions of dollars, and to-day the pockets of the Provincial Treasurer were "jingling with a surplus of three millions," and if that did not suit hon. gentlemen opposite, it was impossible to imagine a condition of finances that would meet with their approval."

Passing on to the Cobalt Lake affair the Premier referred to a statement made by the Toronto Electric Light Co.

"Now," declared the Premier, "I want to say that the gentlemen associated with the Cobalt Lake syndicate are the commonest of ordinary swindlers, and when I hear that one is 3,000 miles away, I am not at all surprised. It was actually published in a newspaper of this city that the LieutenantGovernor and four members of the Government had a three hours' quarrel over this bill, and the Lieutenant-Governor refused to sign it. Sir, every act of Sir William Mortimer Clark in connection with this Government has been and might be placed side by side with credit to him, with every act of her late Majesty Queen Victoria." The Premier stated that he would go into the details of this question more fully later in the session.

In conclusion, Sir James said that the Opposition in their criticism had not been guided by wisdom, but had let inclination run away with them. "So," he said, "we will go on our own quiet way, trusting the people because the people will trust us."

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS RED-HOT FROM WIRES

Woman Beaten to Death.

New York, March 12.—Henry Whelen, a driver, was arrested in his home in West Hoboken, N. J., yesterday, charged with the murder of his wife. The woman was lying on her bed with her skull crushed, her throat cut and her arms and body badly slashed.

Two children, a boy of nine and a girl of eight, slept quietly in an adjoining room.

Mr. Borden Goes to Toronto.

Toronto, March 12.—R. L. Borden and Premier Whitney will attend and speak at a smoking concert in Riverdale Rink on Monday night, given under the auspices of the Liberal-Conservative Associations of wards one and two. A. E. Kemp has left for Ottawa to accompany the Conservative leader to the city.

Held-Up English Clergyman.

New York, March 12.—Rev. John A. O'Neill, an English clergyman, here on his way to Hamilton, Ont., whither he is called to fill a pastorate, reported to the police last Wednesday night that two men wearing black masks had held him up at the point of a revolver in West 39th street, a few doors from Broadway, and robbed him of $800 in sovereigns.

The hold-up, the minister declared, was committed at 11.20 o'clock, when Broadway and Sixth avenue were crowded with theatregoers.

Rev. Mr. O'Neill did not explain how he happened to carry such a bulky wallet as would contain $800 in gold.

Another Elected In Manitoba.

Winnipeg, March 12.—Commenting on the departure of Premier Roblin Wednesday night for Ottawa, where he goes in response to a request of the Ottawa Government, in regard to the proposed boundary extension. The Free Press (Liberal) says that the Manitoba Government will undoubtedly refuse the terms offered and that a special session of the Legislature will be called for that purpose immediately, following which—that is to say, in the early summer—the issue will be made the pretext for an appeal to the electorate.

Print Names in Papers.

Victoria, B.C., March 12.—The warring parties on the election bill for the cleaning of voters' lists are now considering a settlement by compromise and prorogation is promised this week.

One of the new amendments to the election bill provides for advertising in the newspapers in the district for two weeks the names of absent and other voters proposed to be struck off the lists.

Ridgetown to Sarnia.

Chatham, March 12.—Important extensions to the northern and southern ends of the Chatham, Wallaceburg and Lake Erie electric road are announced, subject to the decision of American financiers who are interested in the proposition. The [illegible] of Blenheim and Ridgetown on the south and Petrolia and Sarnia on the north will be tapped his [illegible].

THE HIGHER CRITICISM

Dr. George Adam Smith, the greatest of modern evangelical commentators, at any rate in English speaking countries, was presented with the Dyke Acland medal recently at Cambridge in recognition of his services to biblical research. A large number of celebrated critics and Bible students were present. Amongst other things Dr. Smith said;

"People are frightened," added Dr. Smith, "and in some ways justly frightened, at the lengths to which the criticism of Scripture has gone."

It may hardly be said in the face of this rebuke that all higher criticism is made through or by inspiration of God. No greater authority than Dr. Smith is alive today. His statement would give the "advanced" advocates some degree of pause were it not that in such cases it frequently happens that persistence is com-

THE G. T. P. POSITION

(The Montreal Witness)

The announcement that the government may be induced to purchase ten million dollars worth of Grand Trunk Pacific bonds follows closely upon the announcement of Sir Thos. Shaughnessy that the Canadian Pacific had bought five million dollars' worth of the loan lately floated by the government in London as a good investment. Thus we have the Canadian Pacific practically lending to the Grand Trunk Pacific, with government endorsation. It will be remembered that every recent loan floated by the Canadian Pacific has been highly successful, however big the amount; while the attempt of the Grand Trunk Pacific to sell its bonds in London has been largely a failure. The reason for this difference in the public attitude towards the securities of these two companies is on the one hand the appreciation of success, and on the other the effect of the long-engendered mistrust. Everything that the Canadian Pacific has put its hands to, so far, has eventually become an amazing success, while the pathway of the Grand Trunk, the parent of the Grand Trunk Pacific is strewn with broken promises and ruined hopes. The early history of the Grand Trunk is one of extravagance, wastefulness, error and inefficiency and there is scarcely a middle-class family in England which has not suffered either directly or through its connections, by investments in Grand Trunk securities, which have paid little or no dividends. Many thousands of Englishmen have had cause to rue the name of Grand Trunk. Even of later years, matters have not mended so much as the shareholders were given to expect, preferred dividends have been passed, or reduced, and, of course, there is no more hope for the payment of dividends on the common stock than there ever has been.

It has been said, of course, that under the regime of Mr. Hays, the old rottenness and inefficiency have been swept away and an honest attempt has been made to make the Grand Trunk a paying system. This is graphically shown by the fact that the amount available for dividends has been increasing very notably from $899,149 in 1896, to $4,169,130 in 1907 The total amount during the twelve years during Mr. Hays' regime being nearly $30,000,000 as against $8,650,000 during the previous twelve years. But the task has been a herculean one, and is not yet complete. It is no wonder, therefore, taking all things into consideration that the British public has not jumped eagerly to acquire the bonds of the Grand Trunk Pacific. The demand of the Grand Trunk Pacific upon the government is based upon the heavy increased cost of the western section of the railway, and the low price obtainable for Grand Trunk Pacific bonds on the London market. The latter is no doubt a fact. The issue price of the last bonds was 96, redeemable in 1936 at 105. The interest was four per cent par. In spite of such favorable terms, of the $5,000,000 attempted to be floated, some seventy-five per cent was left on the underwriters' hands. The stock is now offered at a discount of 1 1-8 to 2 1-2 percent.

This issue of $5,000,000 ought to be a safe investment as it has good value behind it. It was for the purpose of purchasing rolling stock for the line between Winnipeg and Edmonton. There was another, and larger issue of bonds for construction purposes a year or so ago. Besides the unpopularity of Grand Trunk securities, with which, as we have shown, the Grand Trunk Pacific has been handicapped, there is the fact that the British investor did not relish the Grand Trunk Pacific's connection with the eastern section of the Transcontinental. That section of the line has always been held in England to be a political, not a business proposition and, the Grand Trunk Pacific securities would have had a better chance if the line had ended eastward at Port Arthur and ultimately at North Bay, as was the original intention of the promoters of that company. Political exigencies, however, decided that the eastern section should be built. In the end we believe that this eastern section will be justified, although it may be a little premature now. It will open up a section of the country that has vast possibilities, and it may prove itself much sooner than expected. It is to be remembered that the present impregnable position of the Canadian Pacific is largely due to the subsidy it received of land, at that time worth very little but now of enormous and increasing value. The Grand Trunk Pacific has no subsidy of land, but its right of way will be a very value asset in the future, and the government may be well advised to purchase a proportion of the bonds. Indeed, if the prospective value of these bonds were better appreciated in the London market they would be immediately picked up by investors.

Where's the All-red these days?

Why should the Government pay for the protection of all the railway crossings?

It costs less to produce a pound of butter fat than a pound of beef Notice the difference in price.—W. F Stephen, Huntingdon County, Que.

White ants are the most productive of all insects, having been known to lay eggs at the rate of 80,000 a day for a month.

No race-suicide there.

The article in our editorial columns taken from the editorial columns of the Montreal Witness gives some idea of the shadow cast over Canada by the bond-failures of the G.T.P. It takes no rare powers of vision to forsee that the $10,000,000 loan will be a ten million dollar gift. The G.T.P. is bleeding Canada white.

Mr. F. Birdsall, Peterborough County, writes: "Farmers should have at least two days in the week that any member of their families can drive on the roads without risk of being hurt or killed. As it is now, my wife who used to be very fond of driving, will not venture on the roads in the summer time, for fear of meeting an automobile. We have built most of the roads, and it is not right that we should be driven off them. Send me a petition, and I will get you many signatures."—Farm and Dairy.

The following severe comment upon present day methods of graft and pull is instructive:

"One of the ambitious first year aspirants for the office of librarian walked into the second year's drafting room behind the Convocation Hall yesterday, a full twenty-four hours before the Engineering Society nominations, and placing his election card in a conspicuous place, proceeded to call the attention of the electors to his presence. His personality did not take well with those present, and forthwith his fair and innocent face was colored as many hues as there were colors of ink in the room.

The candidate's hosts kindly offered to take him and cleanse him of the gorgeous pigments, and in spite of his apparent wish not to put them to any trouble he was taken down to the wash room. "Poor freshie's superfluous clothing was removed, and he was subjected to an application of liquid soap. In order that the advantages of the soap's action might be fully realised, the towel was taken away, and the would-be librarian was left to meditate upon his rash act.

In order to show the rest of the students that they were entertaining the candidate, his shirt was taken and hung in the drafting room. Finally, through the kindness of the caretaker, the freshman was once more fully clothed and went his way, not rejoicing, but with a righteous and holy fear of the class of 1910."—The News.

A BRILLIANT SHAM.

Paris Under the Rule of the Third Napoleon.

Never was there so pleasure loving and so easy going a court, and seldom has there been one which was externally so splendid. The emperor spent money like water and thereby produced a prosperity for the time and with it popularity for the government. Hundreds of millions were lavished upon Paris, much of it being wasted, yet none the less with the result that the city really deserved its title la ville lumiere. In these days it has gone to seed and grown shabby, but in 1869 everything seemed fresh and new and brilliant and imposing. The army was rotten to the core. Yet the emperor's cent gardes were splendid soldiers to the eye. Society was no less demoralized, yet its gayety was exhilarating. These were the days when it was said that good Americans when they die go to Paris. The emperor conferred distinction by recognizing any foreigner. The empress set the fashions for the world. It was all a sham, but it was thoroughly magnificent in its way. It can best be understood at present by reading Zola's early novels, by recalling some chapters of Daudet's "Le Nabab" and by remembering Jacques Offenbach, whose opera bouffe was the most characteristic production of an empire which itself was bouffe. That shallow and yet catchy music was a tonal sneer. Every libretto was a mock at the old time virtues of chastity and honor and courage.—Harry Thurston Peck in Bookman.

BELLINI'S BEST OPERA.

"Norma" Was Hissed at First—The Composer's Death.

Bellini was born in Sicily. He died at Puteaux, near Paris, under somewhat strange circumstances, in 1835. Baron Ayme d'Aquno wrote to a friend: "I rode out to call on him; but, as usual, the gardener of his house refused to let me in. Later on in the day there was a heavy storm, and at about 5 o'clock I once again tried to see him. As no one answered the bell I pushed against the gate, and it gave way, so I got into the house. I found Bellini on a bed, abandoned by all. At first I thought that he was asleep. When I touched his hand, it was quite cold, for he was dead."

A curious letter is published, written by him when his "Norma" was hissed at the first representation: "I have just returned from the Scala. Would you believe it? 'Norma' was hissed. I no longer recognized the friendly Milanese, who received with enthusiasm and delight the 'Il Pirata,' 'La Straniera,' 'La Sonnambula.' I have deceived myself. I have made a great mistake. All my progenitors have been wrong. All my expectations have been illusions But, I assure you from my heart, there are morsels in it that I shall be proud if I can ever excel. Did not the Romans hiss 'L'Olympiade' of the divine Pergolesi? In all theatrical productions the public is the supreme judge. The public will reverse its judgment. It will recognise that 'Norma' is the best of my operas."—Argonaut.

Where Parliament Failed.

According to all accounts, the Cameron highlanders militia are a fine body of men physically. Not long ago four of them occupied the least crowded seat in a full compartment on a Scotland railway. Just as the train was moving off a diminutive little clergyman jumped into the compartment and tried to edge himself in between two of the highlanders. Not finding it very comfortable, he turned to the one on his right and said: "Sit up, please. You know that, according to act of parliament, the seat holds five." The highlander looked at him for a moment and then replied: "That may be a' richt enough for your kind, sir, but shairly ye canna' blame me for no bein' constructed according to act of parliament!"

Judges as Humorists.

Judge Bacon, who recently completed his thirtieth year upon the English County Court Bench, has a wit which is proverbial, while his scathing criticism of women suitors has created considerable amusement at times. His remark, "No woman's hat should cost more than $2 created a "silly season" correspondence some time ago. He is an accomplished linguist, having an acquaintance with nearly every Continental tongue. This knowledge he keeps to himself, being prepared to pounce upon a foreign litigant when there is a deviation from veracity. Judge Rentoul, too, has a very pretty wit when he cares to use it. Speaking a good many years ago at a Anti-Home Rule meeting in Northampton, he said that the one part of Ireland which was happy, contented and undisturbed was Connemara. "In Connemara," he added, "the peasants don't speak English, and the pathriots can't speak Oirish."

$100 REWARD, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Cables Unchanged—Hogs Steady at East Buffalo and Chicago.

LONDON, March 11.—London cables for cattle are steady at 12½c to 14c per pound, dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted at 10c to 10¼c per pound.

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, March 12.—The railways reported receipts of 97 carloads of live stock at the City Market for Wednesday and Thursday, consisting of 1454 cattle, 1850 hogs, 288 sheep and 125 calves.

Exporters.

Mr. McIntosh bought 60 cattle for export purposes at $5 to $5.50, but there were only two loads quoted at the latter figure—one lot of 15 steers by McDonald & Halligan, and one load of 19 by Corbett & Hall. Properly-finished good heavy cattle, 1300 to 1400 lbs. each, would be worth more money. One old-time export dealer told The World that there was only one finished export steer on the market. This same man has bought some of the best steers offered for short-keep purposes at $5.65 per cwt. this week. Export bulls sold at $4 to $4.80.

Butchers.

Prime picked lots of butchers' cattle, 1050 to 1150 lbs. each, are worth $5 to $5.25; loads of good to choice, $4.75 to $5; medium to good, $4.40 to $4.75; common, $3.75 to $4.25; cows, $3 to $4.30; canners, $1.50 to $2.65; bulls, $3 to $4.

Feeders and Stockers.

Messrs. H. & W. Murby report light receipts of stockers and feeders with a light demand. The Messrs. Murby handled about 125 cattle at the following quotations: Best feeders, 900 to 1000 lbs., $3.90 to $4.25; medium of same weights, $3.75 to $4.10; stockers, 500 to 750 lbs., at $3.25 to $3.50.

Milkers and Springers.

There was a good trade in milkers and springers at prices ranging from $35 to $60 each.

Veal Calves.

About 125 veal calves sold at $3 to $7 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

Receipts were light with prices firm. Export ewes sold at $4 to $4.75; rams, $3.50 to $4 per cwt.; lambs, at $6.50 to $7.25 per cwt. for grain-fed; common lambs, $5 to $6 per cwt.

Hogs.

Mr. Harris and H. P. Kennedy report hogs unchanged at Tuesday's rise; selects, fed and watered, $7.15 and $6.90 f.o.b. cars at country points. There were several drovers on the market who reported having got $7 f.o.b. cars at country points.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, March 11.—Cattle—slow and steady; prime steers, $6.50 to $6.75.

Veals—Receipts, 100 head; slow and $1 lower, $7 to $9.

Hogs—Receipts, 2000 head; active and steady; pigs, $6.60 to $6.70.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 4200 head; handy lambs, active and 5c higher; heavy lambs and sheep, slow and steady; lambs, $5 to $7.90; yearlings, $6.50 to $7; wethers, $5.75 to $6.25; ewes, $5 to $5.75; sheep mixed, $2.50 to $5.85.

New York Live Stock.

NEW YORK, March 11.—Beeves—Receipts, 1297. No trading; feeling, steady. Dressed beef, slow at 8c to 10c for common to choice native sides.

Calves—Receipts, 139. Market dull and unchanged. Common to fair veals, $5 to $7.90; no barnyard calves; dressed calves, weak; city dressed veals, at 9½c to 14c; country dressed, at 8c to 12½c.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 2690; feeling steady. Ordinary sheep, $4; ordinary to choice lambs, $7 to $8; culls, at $5.50.

Hogs—Receipts, 1894; feeling nominally firm.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, March 11.—Cattle—Receipts estimated at 4000; market, steady; Beeves, $4.65 to $7.20; Texas steers, $4.50 to $5.40; western steers, $4.10 to $5.60; stockers and feeders, $3.30 to $5.50; cows and heifers, $1.90 to $5.75; calves, $6 to $8.50.

Hogs—Receipts, estimated at 21,000; market, steady; light, $6.25 to $6.75; mixed, $6.45 to $6.85; heavy, $6.50 to $6.90; rough, $6.50 to $6.65; good to choice heavy, $6.65 to $6.90; pigs, $5.15 to $6.10; bulk of sales, $6.65 to $6.80.

Sheep—Receipts, estimated at 14,000; market, weak; native, $3.20 to $5.70; western, $3.60 to $5.75; yearlings, $5.90 to $6.90; lambs, native, $5.75 to $7.75; western, $5.75 to $7.75.

Work of Train-Wreckers.

Monroe, La., March 12.—As a result of the work of train-wreckers the southbound express on the Arkansas, Louisiana and Gulf Railroad, was derailed 20 miles north of this city shortly before midnight Wednesday night. Engineer C. W. McDaniel was instantly killed and Fireman J. B. Brown was seriously hurt.

No passengers were among the injured. An investigation showed that a switch had been thrown and spiked while the signal light had been turned so as to show white.

Charged With Bigamy.

Cobourg, March 12.—A. E. Lewis, a resident of Campbellford, was arrested here on Wednesday on a charge of bigamy and was taken back to the northern town for preliminary trial. W. F. Kerr, crown attorney, will prosecute, and Mr. F. M. Field, K.C., will defend the prisoner.

A citizens' meeting has been called in Hamilton for tonight, to protest against the car barns bylaw asked by the radial lines.

LURE OF A LANGUAGE.

German Loaded With Metaphors and Poetic Exaggeration.

In making allowance for the kaiser's uttered indiscretions we must remember the German language. Ordinary German prose suffers from a dreadful excess of metaphor. The "mailed fist" and the "loosened saber" are not altogether rhetorical sparks struck out on the hot anvil of imperial excitement, but examples of that poetic exaggeration so easy to a German. It is a fault most common among the most learned. Professor Jones of Yale or Harvard would probably begin his volume on "The Geology of Yucatan," "By Yucatan in the present work I mean the Central American peninsula known by that name, as well as the adjacent coasts," etc. But Professor Hammerschlag of Leipsig must begin by saying, "The convulsive, continent splitting efforts of Terra"—or perhaps Gaia—"to pour forth her imprisoned, vital forces brought forth in the dim triassic ages the torrid land mass which lolls like a sleeping monster between the warm waters of the Caribbean and the torrid waves of the gulf of Mexico in 87 to 92 degrees west longitude." An English politician speaking in English says, "This country—er—welcomes the—er—friendly rivalry of a great power like Germany, under its—er—honored sovereign as—er—conducive to the interests of both nations," etc. But when a German statesman rises to speak the genius of his language demands that he shall say, "Germania wants peace, but it will continue to stare defiantly into the bloodshot eyes of ravening naval powers which with eager claws," etc.—New York Post.

Our Troublesome Teeth.

It is to the teeth that the pathologist should first look for an explanation of those emotional crises in the lives of all of us which assume now the form of an exaggeration of the sentiment of romantic love, again an intensification of insomnia and sometimes a development of religious sensibility to the boundary line of mania. In making good this theory the professor of diseases of the nervous system in the Western Reserve university, Dr. Henry S. Upson, ascribes many of the ordinary cases of nervous wreck met with in daily experience to a misunderstanding of the dental mechanism of man. Not only is toothache the cause, but disease of a dental nature involving no pain whatever to the victim works its havoc and leads men and women to the madhouses, domestic miseries and every kind of excess.—Current Literature.

A Parisian Character.

The revolutionary Libertad has died in a Paris hospital from a kick which he had received during a recent stormy meeting. Libertad was one of the most curious figures in contemporary Paris. He wore no hat, but long tangled hair and a long beard. Over his scarlet shirt he wore a black blouse, and he was never seen without a crutch and an enormous cane. His language was terrific, and he rarely attended any public meeting without calling for blood. The man was a complete mystery. His most intimate disciples knew nothing of his history. On his deathbed he begged his friends not to arrange a funeral for him, as he had left his body by will to the Paris School of Medicine.

Baltic to Black Sea Canal.

Russia's ministry of ways and communications has appointed a board of engineers to make preliminary surveys for the long projected canal to connect the Baltic with the Black sea. The canal, in the making of which several rivers will be turned to account, will have its northern end at Riga, on the gulf of Riga, 300 miles southwest of St. Petersburg, while the southern end will be Kherson, on the right bank of the Dnieper and ninety-two miles east-northeast of Odessa. When this project is completed Russia may move her own ships to and from the Black sea without asking permission.

A Terrified Monarch.

Prince Ferdinand, who now styles himself czar of Bulgaria, rules over a turbulent and not easily governed people. Continual watchfulness has made him extremely nervous. Some time ago he was out driving in Carlsbad and appeared to be deeply buried in thought. As his carriage was turning a corner a street boy picked up a paper bag that was lying in the road, blew it up with his mouth and exploded it with a loud report. The prince started to his feet, gave a terrified glance around, sprang from the carriage and made off rapidly in the direction of his hotel.

Bob Evans' Benediction.

Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans has been writing to his California friends recently, telling them how much he has recovered in health and expressing his thanks for the kindness he received while here. In a letter to James Horsburgh, Jr., general passenger agent of the Southern Pacific, the admiral expressed the felicitious wish:

"May you live with the rich here and the poor hereafter."

Horsburgh says that this proves that the admiral knows his Bible.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Slot Machine Doctor.

A well known doctor in Paris has invented an automatic distributer of recipes. You place 50 centimes (10 cents) in one of the slots marked "Heart," "Liver," "Corns," etc., and in return you receive a recipe to cure your ailment. The machine has already become exceedingly popular.—Cri de Paris.

THE PARANOIAC.

Queer Delusions That Come With This Curious Mental Disease.

"That curious form of mental disease known as paranoia is seldom or ever cured," said a noted Chicago alienist.

"A paranoiac may be able to transact business with a fair degree of efficiency, but, as a rule, few of this class can be made to stick to work, as the nature of the malady prevents concentration of mind. One so possessed is afflicted with strange delusions, especially with the notion that he is being persecuted. Many an individual who is denominated a crank has paranoia. In general these unfortunates are misanthropic, have no social intercourse with their fellows and are brooding and introspective. Very often their mania leads them to the notion that they have been born to lead mankind in a religious way, and they proclaim themselves prophets of God. Quite often, too, they are discoverers of some wonderful invention that will astonish the world.

"It was a paranoiac who followed the great actress Mary Anderson from place to place, declaring himself her favored suitor and threatening to kill any man who sought her company. These threats were what led to the locking up of the demented creature, and I believe he finally shot one of the asylum attendants. Paranoiacs very frequently develop homicidal tendencies, and it is prudent to watch them at all times."

RUNNING AWAY FROM HOME.

Gray-Haired Man Remembers a Boy Who Tried It Years Ago.

"Whenever I read in the newspapers that a boy has run away from home to fight Indians or seek some other sort of adventure, it takes me back forty years," said the gray-haired man in the club smoking room, "for I ran away from home once, just as I suppose every other youngster does, once at least, only in my case I wasn't seeking adventure. I was escaping tyranny.

"It seems foolish now, but it was all very real to me then. The tyranny consisted of the one fact that I got my first licking, and I guess there's no doubt that I deserved it. But I couldn't see it that way then. I was very bitter, and the one idea I had was to get away where life was free and tyrants were not.

"The impulse to depart on my travels was carried out so suddenly that I found myself wandering far away from the house before it dawned on me that I was ill provided for a journey. In fact, I had gone just as I was, with the smart of my physical as well as my mental wrongs still acute.

"As I went I pondered over the matter of provisions, and the idea came to me that I would make my first stand in a cranberry bog right on the farm. With this as a headquarters, I would make raids on neighboring orchards, and if worse came to worst I supposed the cranberries would support life.

"Well, I reached the cranberry bog presently and bivouacked. Here I should spend the first night under the friendly stars. I picked out a soft place for a bed and sat down to wait the coming of night.

"Now, cranberries are not very filling, especially in the raw, green state, but I managed to eat some of them. And then it began to get dark.

"Well, sir, the shadows fell quickly on the hills about me, and the air grew chill. Fantastic monsters reared their horrid heads on every hand. The free life began to pall.

"So it won't surprise you to learn that a very little boy ran home crying before the supper things had been cleared away and that he never ran away again."

Common-Sense v. Law.

An Ontario municipality not many miles from the Niagara frontier was considerably agitated a few years ago over a question that required a number of public meetings to settle.

At one of the meetings the local lawyer had the floor and was advising a line of procedure that was obviously against the interests of the town, and which strongly hinted of a retaining fee from "the party of the second part."

It is surprising how many different viewpoints a lawyer can find from which to argue, when it suits his purpose, and the way he put the matter to the citizens was summed up in the words, "But it would be only common-sense," etc.

One of the solid citizens of the town rose to his feet. Pointing his finger at the legal light he thundered: "We're not asking you for common-sense—but what's law!"

"Carlile—Church Advertiser."

Even in the world of commerce it would be difficult to find a greater advertising genius than the Rev. Wilson Carlile, head of the famous Church Army. Had he chosen to devote himself to a business career there is not much doubt that he would have made a fortune. His topical sermons at St. Mary-at-Hill draw hundreds of people every Sunday. Mr. Carlile recently confessed that he was a firm believer in the spiritual uses of advertisement, and he always found that the money spent came back in the collection. Once he advertised extensively a discourse on "Holbein's Big Swim." "If," said Mr. Carlile, "I had just announced in the ordinary way a sermon, say, on 'Jonah and the Whale,' I should probably have had a congregation of two or three old ladies. As it was the place was crowded three-quarters of an hour before the service began, and on going outside the church I found Holbein himself and his wife unable to get in. As there were no seats I had to accommodate Mrs. Holbein in the pulpit." On another occasion, a newspaper notice brought Mr. Carlile an invitation to a house in the West-end, where he found a lady who described herself as "cursed with £3,000,000." Some £30,000 of that sum has since gone to help the Church Army's good works.

His Lesson In Love.

By LULU JOHNSON.

Copyrighted, 1908, by Associated Literary Press.

Had they only known it two of them were ripe to fall into love's basket. For months Billy Gillen had watched the shapely brown head bent over the typewriter desk without realizing that his appreciation of brown hair with glints of gold was merely an indication of a deeper feeling.

For as many moons Ida Pawling had assured herself that without the kindly aid of "that nice Mr. Gillen" office life would be impossible, and she had not recognized in this feeling anything but an appreciation of his courtesy.

Even the fact that Billy took to going to church—her church—regularly, sitting where he could catch the same glimpse of brown hair that was his to enjoy in the office, did not open his eyes, and this story might have ended as it had begun—in polite nothings—had it not been for those letters.

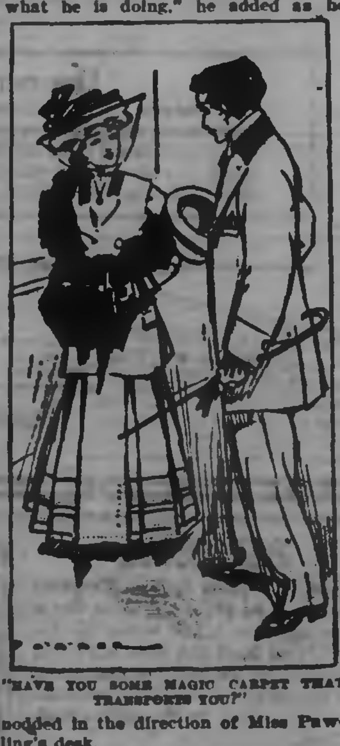
There were two of them, and the office boy, with an appreciation of the fitness of things, propped them up on the desks of their recipients. Here they were being admired by the early birds of the office staff when Billy came in with his brisk "Good morning."

His smile only broadened when he saw upon his desk the red envelope with the huge black legend:

Are you going to be married?
Own your own home.

"Too bad that some one wasted a two cent stamp to give me that advice," he cried. "I wonder what put them up to it."

"Knowledge of coming events," suggested the head bookkeeper, and the rest laughed, for they were not blind, if Billy was. "There is method in what he is doing," he added as he nodded in the direction of Miss Pawling's desk.



"HAVE YOU SOME MAGIC CARPET THAT TRANSPORTS YOU?"

Billy caught a glimpse of a red envelope on the girl's blotter and sprang for it, but the bookkeeper intercepted him.

"It's against the law to interfere with the United States mail," he reminded. "You can't have a letter addressed to Miss Pawling."

"It's not a letter! It's an outrage," shouted Billy as he struggled to reach the desk. Before he could free himself Ida entered, and, with a curious glance at the little knot of struggling men, she moved quietly to her desk.

She had seen the gaudy envelope in Billy's hand, and when she found one like it on her desk she guessed the cause of the confusion. The men had stopped wrestling with Billy, and now the glances of the entire office were upon her.

With a woman's sixth sense she could feel their interest, and with slow movement she reached for the glaring envelope, glanced at the bold, black type, tore it across without opening it and raised the lid of her desk.

As the flaming fragments fell into the basket the spell was broken. The clerks moved to their desks and resumed their work. The incident was forgotten by all save Billy, who determined to locate the man who had sent the letters or planned the rude jest and to give him the thrashing of his life. For himself he did not mind, but it was both unmanly and unjust to subject the girl to such an indignity.

All day long he brooded over the matter, and when the office closed he was as far from a solution of the problem as ever, so he determined to ask Ida's assistance.

He lingered for a moment after she left, that the others might not suspect his plan; then he slipped out, and, by taking a short cut through the alley, he managed to emerge on the next street, breathless, but successful, for Ida had just turned the corner half a block beyond.

She was startled to find him waiting for her.

"Why, you were in the office when I left!" she cried wonderingly. "Have you some magic carpet that transports you?"

Billy glanced down at his rather neat patent leathers.

"I guess you could not exactly call these a carpet," he suggested, with a laugh. "I cut through the alley and got here first. I purposely let you get out ahead of me, so that the others would not talk. I want to know if you have any idea as to who sent those letters to us?"

"I did not notice the name of the company," she said, with a steady voice. "But you know that the elevator men and the janitor are paid for the names of tenants in all buildings."

"That isn't it," he said determinedly. "We were the only two in the entire office building to receive them. I asked the postman when I went to lunch. Some one sent them to us to start trouble. It must have been some one in the office, because they are the only ones who know that—that—I like you very much."

"Don't you like the other girls too?" Ida's tones were cool and level, though her heart beat uncomfortably fast. "I think that Miss Bender is a dear, and one can't help liking Mrs. Crouch."

"It's not just that sort of like," explained Billy. "I think that it must have been Travers who sent them. From where he sits he can see me looking at you, and I guess he suspects."

"Suspects?" echoed Ida.

"Well, I can't keep the love out of my eyes when I sit there," went on Billy lamely. "I didn't know it was love—I didn't until this morning, that is. I guess it must have been love all along, though, for ever since you came into the office I've had trouble with my books, and now I know it was because I could look at you. Then I'd put down a wrong figure and have to stay after hours to strike a balance."

"I'm sorry that I have such an effect," began Ida, but Billy signaled for silence.

"Now that I know where I stand I want to tell you," he went on impetuously. "I do want to own a home, and I want you to be its mistress. Won't you, Ida?" he asked softly as he took her hand in his.

"I think it is—yes, Billy," she whispered as she turned a happy face to his eager eyes. "I guess that circular opened my eyes too."

"And to think that we tore up the advertisement. We ought to let that chap sell us a home. He deserves it for bringing us together. When I earn a home we'll be married, dear."

"Doesn't it take an awfully long time to earn a home?" she asked in sweet confusion, and Billy was enraptured.

Billy sought the minister a couple of weeks later to arrange for the quiet wedding, and when the details had been settled the kindly old man laid a detaining hand on Billy's shoulder.

"It is well to be provident, my lad," he said impressively. "You should save your money and with it buy a home. There is a company which gives the church a commission on all sales through us. You must have had their letter. I gave them your address. In case you have lost it"—

He crossed to his desk and drew from it a red envelope. Even across the room Billy recognized it.

"I'll be hanged," he said in mild surprise. "I didn't dream that even the minister got wise before I did. I was the last one to get next to my own heart." And he made a mental note to give a double fee to this man who had read him aright.

Big Oysters.

Pliny mentions that, according to the historians of Alexander's expedition, oysters a foot in diameter were found in the Indian seas. And Sir James Tennant was unexpectedly enabled to corroborate the correctness of this statement, for near Trincomali enormous specimens of edible oysters were brought before him. One of these was found to measure more than eleven inches in length by half as many in width.

But this extraordinary measurement is beaten by the oysters of Port Lincoln, South Australia, which are the largest edible ones in the world. They are as large as a dinner plate and of much the same shape. They are sometimes more than a foot across the shell, and the oyster fits its habitation so well that it does not leave much if any margin.

It is no uncommon experience in that quarter for a person who is hungry to have one oyster, fried in butter or in eggs and breadcrumbs, set before him. The delicacy of flavor of the Port Lincoln mammoth is famous, even in that land of luxuries, and one is ample even for a hearty appetite.

Knocked Out the Poetry.

James Russell Lowell was dreamily strolling along toward his home in Cambridge one unusually beautiful night. Slowly, with serene, queenly majesty, a full moon was ascending her "azure throne," pouring her lavish light over all things and softening into semblances of beauty even the ugly outlines of the conventional domestic architecture around about. Duly illuminated by the loveliness of the spectacle, the poet as he passed by the house of the estimable brother man who supplied meat to him regularly for a slight consideration of profit noticed that valuable citizen leaning on his fence and gazing up in a kind of rapt way.

It pleased Lowell to think that the butcher's immortal soul was bathing itself in the flood of semispiritual moonlight, and, pausing, he remarked, "What a beautiful night it is, neighbor!"

"Yes, Mr. Lowell. I was just a-thinkin' what a bully night for a slaughterin' this would be!"

"Of course, of course!" gasped the poet, beating a hasty retreat.

Felt the Test.

A POLITE BURGLAR.

His Genial Interview With One of His Paris Victims.

Nine years ago the house of M. Descaves in Paris was "burgled." The other day he received a "most urgent" message from the police informing him that the burglar had just been discovered. He went to the magistrate's office and was there introduced to his burglar. The first thing that struck him was that Palm—that being the burglar's name—had a marvelous memory. He has burgled innumerable houses since 1900, and he remembers all about the burglaries. In fact, he remembered more about the burglary at M. Descaves' house than M. Descaves remembers himself. The conversation between burglar and burgled was perfectly courteous. "Of course," said M. Descaves, "I should not think of animadverting upon your having made use of my wardrobe, for the garments which you left behind in exchange for mine certainly did require replacing." "Exactly," answered Palm. "As a matter of fact, I rather think that of the two of us I came off worse. Just consider your trousers, for instance."

M. Descaves looked hurt. Palm explained by a gesture the difference in girth between the novelist and himself. M. Descaves apologized for the width of his trousers, and the burglar gave him a bit of advice. "When you go away never shut your shutters. By doing so you give burglars the tip. On the contrary, leave them open and leave your mat in front of the door. This will delude my friends into thinking that there is still somebody in the house."

On leaving M. Descaves shook hands with his burglar, but felt delicacy about saying "Au revoir," as Palm has already sentences of a dozen years' hard labor to undergo. "No, don't say au revoir, because if we do ever meet again I am afraid that the pleasure will be for me only," said Palm, who finally showed his breeding by insisting that M. Descaves should pass out of the door before him. It is not often one meets with such polite burglars or that burglars have the luck to victimize humorists who take their misfortunes so pleasantly.—Boston Transcript.

Fresh Air Tablets.

The room was very stuffy, but no one would consent to an open window.

"Then I must squander a fresh air tablet," said the rosy lady.

And she took a brown tablet from her purse and dissolved it in a glass of water. Bubbling, it cleared the air wonderfully. It made the stale air pure and bracing. And no wonder, for it released a great quantity of oxygen.

"I brought these tablets from France," said the lady. "They are the invention of an acetylene specialist. They are a combination of chemicals that in water give off oxygen in abundance. The tablets are in winter very popular in France, where one is considered equal to a window wide open for an hour."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

A Declining Japanese Industry.

The forging of scimiter blades in Japan was once a flourishing industry, and the workers formed a close and powerful corporation. But the industry has declined for years, and now only two makers are left, Messrs. Sonkyama and Myamoto. No young Japanese has come forward to offer himself as an apprentice, and the question was referred to the mikado with a view of perpetuating the industry.

The mikado has come to the rescue and has founded two scholarships of £100 to induce two lads to offer themselves for initiation into the art and mystery of making scimiter blades.—London Globe.

When Cold Breathe Deeply.

A simple way to get warm after exposure to cold is to take a long breath with the mouth firmly shut. Repeat this several times until you begin to feel the heat returning. It requires a very short time to do this. The long breath, according to the Family Doctor, quickens the pulse and thus causes the blood to circulate faster. The blood flows into all parts of the veins and arteries and gives out a great deal of heat. It is stated that this method of deep breathing prevents colds and a great many other ailments if begun in time.

Pure Iron at Last.

Chemically pure iron has never been obtained until very recently. It has been found almost impossible to remove the last traces of impurities, especially of sulphur. But a German chemist, Dr. H. Kreusler, has finally by a long series of ingenious processes, partly chemical and partly electrical, succeeded in isolating the pure metal, the properties of which he reports to differ greatly from those of the impure iron that we know. Iron prepared by Kreusler's process resembles platinum.—New York Herald.

The Ever Mobilized.

Rudyard Kipling recently attracted attention by eulogizing the medical profession in an address. He said that physicians made up a "permanently mobilized army, which always is in action, always is under fire against death."—Argonaut.

THREE EMPIRES.

Governments That Practically Sprang Into Being Overnight.

Prior to Jan. 18, 1871, the German empire, as we know it today, had no existence. Instead it was a jumble of kingdoms, states, duchies, grand duchies and principalities, all joined together by a like language and common political aspirations, it is true, but otherwise quite separate and distinct.

Then came the historic ceremony in the Hall of Mirrors at Versailles. Paris had just been captured by King William of Prussia, and it was held to be a fitting time and place to proclaim him the first German emperor. Never since the dawn of history was an empire born more dramatically.

By a strange irony of fate, too, its birth took place amid the ruins of the French empire, itself the creation of a day, or, rather, to be strictly accurate, of a night. France went to bed on the evening of Dec. 1, 1851, a republic. When it awoke next morning it was an empire. During the hours of darkness Paris had been occupied by troops, and the prince-president had become Napoleon III.

Equally sudden and almost as sensational in its way was the birth of the modern Greek empire. After the yoke of the Turks had been thrown off in the war of independence the country became a republic. But the people soon tired of that democratic form of government and promptly proceeded to assassinate their first and only president. Then they met together, elected a king and settled themselves down to be ruled by him in a quite orderly and contented fashion.

Traveling Bill.

They were on their honeymoon and were climbing the Schnupfelgapfenspitzen peak, and she stood above him some twenty feet.

"What, ho!" he gasped. "What do you see?"

"Far, far below," she cried, "I see a long white streak stretching like a paper ribbon back almost to our hotel."

"Ha, ha!" he ejaculated. "I'll bet it's that blessed bill overtaking us."

And they proceeded onward and upward.—Tit-Bits.

Her Right?

"James," said the minister's wife, "why do you always kiss the bride after you have performed the marriage ceremony?"

"Why, my dear, it is a procedure which is sanctioned by custom and which would be conspicuous were it omitted."

"Well, hereafter I think I shall be present, and when you kiss the bride I shall kiss the groom."—Chicago Post.

thin skinned by any means, but when our office hallway is used for a drinking place, after the staff has left, and an empty Imperial left behind, we draw the line. It is a nice place to quietly sip the goods but there is the rent of the premises to be considered. Yet we do not wish to be too hard on said dry throats, for they may have left a sup behind for the boss, but the "devil" coming in first on Monday morning may have used it to light the fire. In future however, when the operation is repeated just leave three fingers for the Editor who is subject to cramps and has nothing except Perry Davis Pain Killer to relieve. It does the work, but is not nearly so palatable. —Millbrook Reporter.

THE YOUNG CONSERVATIVE CLUB

At the mock parliament last night the bill to tax bachelors came up and was read a second time.

The House then resolved itself into committee of the whole and proceeded to discuss the measure clause by clause.

A great number of amendments were proposed by the Opposition and these for the most part were accepted by the Government.

Three clauses of the measure were disposed of and at next session it is expected that the Bill in its amended shape will be ready to be reported to the House.

The Opposition gave notice of its intention to introduce an amendment to the Municipal Act making it compulsory for cities to elect their Aldermen by the ward system instead of leaving it optional as at present.

The Government gave notice of their intention to bring in a measure to tax automobiles, which will come up for a first reading next Thursday night.

The estimates have not been brought down by the Provincial Treasurer yet; he has promised to lay them on the table next Thursday night and the House will then proceed at once to discuss the financial conditions of the province.

TRENT CANAL MAY WIN RACE YET

The Toronto papers are again belittling the Trent Valley canal, on the ground that it is upwards of seventy years since it was first proposed. In addressing the Canadian Club last May the Hon. Duncan E. McKinlay said that it was over three hundred years since the Panama canal was first mooted. And by the looks of things, the Trent Valley waterway may win the race yet.—Orillia Packet.

MRS. SCOTT MADE A LIFE MEMBER

Of St. Luke's W. A. — Annual Meeting Was Held Yesterday

The annual meeting of St. Luke's branch of the W.A.S. was held yesterday afternoon. The attendance was large and the reports presented were exceedingly encouraging and manifested a year's active work. After the routine of business a pleasing event took place. Mrs. W. J. Scott, one of the most active and zealous workers in all the organizations of the church, was presented with a life membership, her daughter, Miss Edith, on behalf of Mrs. Scott, and the other daughters, making the presentation. The rector, Rev. Dr. Langfeldt, being called upon, spoke of Mrs. Scott's most loyal and faithful services in all departments of the church, and complimented her family on the nice manner in which they spent their money to do honor to their beloved mother. Everyone present was deeply touched by this loving act of family devotion. After receiving the reports from the several office holders the election of officers was proceeded with. The result was as follows:

Hon. President, Mrs. E. A. Peck.
Hon. Vice-President, Mrs. J. Phillips.
President, Mrs. T. Gaskins.
1st Vice-President, Mrs. E. A. Langfeldt.
2nd Vice-President, Mrs. R. B. Rogers.
Rec. Secretary, Mrs. J. J. Turner.
Treasurer, Mrs H. Butcher.
Corresponding Sec., Mrs. F. J. Jamieson.
P. M. C. Convener, Mrs. L. Turner.
Superintendent of Mission Band, Mrs. W. J. Scott.
Babies Branch, Mrs. J. R. Scott.
Organist, Mrs. T. Moore.
Delegates to annual, Mrs. A. Taylor and Mrs. H. Butcher.
Substitutes, Mrs. Armstrong and Mrs. Holder.
Representatives appointed by the rector, Mrs. A. Taylor, Mrs. G. Armstrong.

The result of the election was very heartily approved of by the members and it was decided to accept the invitation of All Saints' W.A. to attend their annual meeting next Thursday.

The next sewing meeting will be held on Thursday, March 25th, at the home of Mrs. F. J. Jamieson, Harvey street.

On Sunday next the members of the W. A. will attend corporate communion at 8 a.m. Every member is expected to be present.

The members of the Girls' Auxiliary are requested to attend.

The meeting closed with devotional exercises conducted by the president, Mrs. T. Gaskins.

THE RADIAL RAILWAY BILL

The Review has received a printed copy of the proposed act respecting the Peterborough Radial Railway, which has just received its first reading and is now under consideration. The following are the sections of the act;

1. The time for the completion of the whole undertaking referred to in the said Acts is hereby extended for a period of five years from the passing of this act and the time for commencement of one of the sections of the railway outside of the city of Peterborough is extended for a period of two years from the passing of this act.

2. If one of the sections outside of the City of Peterborough is not commenced within the time limited as aforesaid and the railway completed within five years from the passing of this act then the power granted by said acts shall cease and be null and void as respects such sections as at the expiry of said period of five years remain uncompleted.

PORTER PUT OFF THE WRONG MAN

Traveller Relates an Amusing Experience Which Happened Near Peterborough

A commercial traveller at a local hotel was telling an experience of a fellow traveller near Peterborough recently. The drummer who figures in the story is a hard man to awaken from his repose and he warned the porter of that fact before he retired on the train, asking that he be awakened to get off at Peterborough. He warned the porter not to heed any remonstrance he might make.

It was a good many miles the other side of Peterborough that the traveller gradually came to a knowledge of his surroundings the next day and he did not sting to use a fluent knowledge of language, English and non-English, upon the unlucky head of the porter. Afterward he saw uselessness of the course he had pursued and apologized to the porter. "I'm sorry I used the language I did," he said.

"Oh, that was nothing to the language the fellow used I did waken up and put off at Peterborough," was the porter's reply. It seemed that the porter had actually thrown a man off the train, thinking he was the man who wanted to get off at Peterborough and whose remonstrances he had not heeded. — Lindsay Warder.

Lecture This Evening

At the Normal School this evening Prof. Coleman, PhD., of Toronto University, will deliver his lecture upon "Mountain Building." This is the third of the series of the course of lectures at the Normal School to which the public is invited and it is expected that a large audience will greet this well-known lecturer.

MANY lines from the Burton Spence wholesale stock, purchased at a low rate on the dollar, on sale in the different Departments :

Spring-Time Newness

YOU expect to find it here and everywhere. You are sure to be struck when you enter this store with the exquisite newness that permeates the display everywhere. Winter goods have small space now, they have made room for fresh new arrivals that are constantly being placed in stock to cater to the ever increasing demand for the new goods.

In the Ready-to-wear Department our stock is at its best—the beautiful exclusive new costumes of original Paris design are seen everywhere in the dainty color tones of the season and the high grade cloths. The new Spring Coats too reflect the exclusiveness of style that is always a feature of this store and especially the Ready-to-wear Department.

Dress Goods is undoubtedly a leading department just now—the immense stock of natty new fabrics is constantly being added to by daily arrivals from the best mills in the country as well as import orders. Don't fail to look over our displays and order as early as possible before the costumes are picked over—hardly two alike.

The Wash Fabric Counter is an assemblage of the choicest and rarest materials that are shown anywhere. Dainty colorings and filmy textures are in keeping with the new Spring and Summer Wash Dresses. This Spring our showing is larger and better than ever—the latest American ideas are here in profusion in the most catchy tones and weaves.

March Shoe Sale

Are you an economist? If you are, you can be economical in your Spring shoe purchases and not in any way take chances on getting inferior articles or old styles. Our big Shoe Sole started this week and is booming along at a rapid pace. Men's, Women's and Children's Shoes are offered at ridiculously low prices.

Decorations for the Home Walls

Our new Home Decorating Department is a source of a great deal of interest these days among the housekeepers and in fact everybody. We handle the finest and most exclusive papers in the trade and cater to the artistic treatment of walls. We study art and we impart our ideas to our patrons. It costs no more to have your home artistically papered than it does in the old fashion, time-worn way. Think this over.

DOORS ARE LOCKED NOW

Barred in This City Where Formerly They Were Open---Results of Hamilton Tragedy

A local delivery man who from day to day visits hundreds of homes in this city where he is well known and where up until recently either the back or front door were invariably left open for him to drop in his parcels, reports a general change to have come over the community in this regard. Every door, he said, is now locked, where it always used to be open and I have to rap for admittance. In some cases it is a slow process as quite often the maid desires to take a peep out of a side window, to find out the nature of the call. Other delivery men report the same circumstances, all due to the recent tragedy at Hamilton, combined with burglar stories that have stirred the people even in this law-abiding community patrolled by one of the best police forces in the country.

"IL TROVATORE" AT THE GRAND

Thursday March 18th — Italian Opera Co. Will Produce This Well Known Opera

Have you heard the music of "Il Trovatore" Of all the operas that have survived the test of years "Il Trovatore" is perhaps the best known and liked. The music is pretty and not to difficult for the average musician which perhaps accounts for its popularity.

There are several selections from the opera that are especially familiar, one being "LeMiserere" and another. The prison song.

The Italian Grand Opera Company, who are appearing at his Majesty's Theatre in Montreal this week and last, will produce "Il Trovatore" at the Grand Opera House next Thursday evening and it is expected that there will be a crowded house, as there is already a demand for tickets. The company number 150 people and their principal soloists are well worth hearing.

There are many in the city who will be pleased to hear of the opportunity of hearing this fine old opera as it is seldom that such an attraction is offered outside the larger cities.

DEATH OF LT.-COL. J. Z. ROGERS TOOK PLACE LAST EVENING

The city was shocked to learn this morning of the death of Lt. Col. James Z. Rogers, of Ashburnham, who passed away last night at 11 o'clock after an illness of little more than an hour. The deceased gentleman had not been strong of late having only a few weeks ago recovered from a severe attack of heart disease which left him in a weakened condition. It was a recurrence of this attack that caused his death last evening.

LEGAL COMMITTEE DEALT WITH SOME DAMAGE CLAIMS

At the meeting of the Legal Committee last night a letter was received from Messrs. O'Connell & Gordon on behalf of Dr. Galvin, owner of the property at the north-east corner of Hunter and Aylmer streets, claiming damages caused by the recent thaw and the flooding of surface water into his cellar, etc.

Several other claims for small damages were also read and they were all referred to the city solicitor to report on.

Mr. Johnston Greer has a claim for damages as a result of him falling on the sidewalk near the Auburn dam and fracturing his arm. The walk is alleged to have been out of repair. City Engineer Hay reported on this matter, stating that ice had been formed on the walk at the entrance to the gravel pit.

Mr. R. Erwood, on behalf of Mr. Greer, wrote asking that he be reimbursed for his time and doctor bill. He was laid off for a month, $65, and $25 doctor will or a total of $90. This was referred to the city solicitor.

W. G. Metheral's claim for $50 damages, caused by the building of Aylmer street bridge, and blocking the street, was referred to the city solicitor.

Street Commissioner H. Evans reported that Mr. Metheral had no claim whatever against the city as his business was in no way interfered with.

MAY FUMIGATE THE CITY SCHOOLS ON SATURDAY

It is said that the Board of Education will make an effort to have the schools of the city fumigated on Saturday next.

The idea of this fumigation is to prevent the spread of any contagious diseases among the pupils. The recent outbreak of scarlet fever in the city is under control and there is no danger from it now, it would appear. The sanitary arrangements at the schools are most satisfactory but the board thinks the fumigation would be a wise precaution.

SIX CENTS A QUART IS WHAT PRACTICALLY ALL MILK WILL BE SOLD FOR THIS SUMMER

What will the price of milk be this spring and summer? A difference of a cent isn't much to the average consumer and still nobody likes to pay even a cent higher than possible for anything, be it milk, bread or anything else. And a cent higher a quart makes quite a difference in the yearly expense account of hotels, boarding houses and other places where the demand for milk is large.

Milk dealers of Peterborough have been selling milk lately for seven cents a quart. The great majority of them are selling it now at six cents a quart and some for five cents.

"Six cents will be the price all summer" said a dealer to the Review. "Some may sell for five, but I went and the majority of milkmen in the city will stand by the six cent price."

ATTEMPT MADE TO BREAK INTO HOUSE ON DUBLIN ST.

A persistent attempt was made to break into a house on Dublin street last night. One of the daughters heard a noise at the back door about 10.30 o'clock, after all the members of the family had retired for the night. After a short time the noise ceased at the back of the house, but was renewed at the side door. It sounded as if some one was trying to force open the door. One of the members of the family arose, and on the lights being turned on the noise was heard no more. About twelve o'clock, however, a noise was heard at the front of the house by the young lady who started out to make an investigation. On going down stairs she found the parlor window raised a few inches. Twice failing in their work, the burglars evidently gave up the job after that.

DR. BINGHAM AND MEDICAL COUNCIL

To the Editor of Globe.

As the Globe has often given sound judgment to the profession I take the liberty of saying a few words in your column in reference to the Medical Council.

It is an acknowledged fact that there is a want of harmony between the general profession in Ontario and the Medical Council. In 1891 when an ill-starred bill was quietly slipped through the Legislature and this was done at the end of the session when many of the member had gone home. This bill was intimately connected with the honor and the liberty of the whole medical profession in Ontario and yet they were not consulted about it and not a medical man outside of the Parliament buildings knew anything about the measure until it had become law. It was a stealthy movement made by a few interested individuals in the House.

The bill put a dangerous and tyrannical power in the hands of the Medical Council.

The Council now assumes the authority to rob the doctor of his diploma and his license and to deprive him of the means of making a livelihood for himself and his family if he refuses or neglects to pay the $2 tribute imposed by the said Council. Now, why is this odious class legislation aimed at the doctors? Are they sinners above all those on whom the Tower of Siloam fell?

If a farmer or a mechanic or a merchant owes a small debt it is collected in the Division Court. It is entirely different with the doctor. If he owes the Council more than $6 his name is struck from the register he is robbed of his license and diploma and after many years of hard professional work and without a crime he is dragged into a police court and deprived of the liberty of earning an honest living.

Such an insult would hardly be tolerated by a colony of pig-tailed Mongolians. Will twenty-five hundred educated white men calmy bear the outrage any longer?

We claim that the doctor's diploma and license are a vested right, for which he paid in hard cash the sums agreed upon the same as the farmer pays for the deed of his farm and the diploma and the license were given for file without a single monetary condition attached to them. And if the Council can cancel these documents does it not follow that the doctor has been taken under false pretences?

It is only a few days ago that a detective and two spotters (a man and a woman) from the Medical Council arrived in the city to look after the doctors who had not paid up. Their method was to call on the doctor and pretend to be sick and to get a bottle of medicine and then to have the doctor pulled up in the police court for the crime of practising medicine.

This method makes it necessary that the spotter should act the role of a liar and a deceiver. And it was sad enough too, to see the lady spotter in the witness-box and under oath, in this compromising position. Surely there must be something morally rotten in the methods of a Medical Council that forces payment of its fees by such a process. Verily the slums of a great city could hardly show a darker record.

It may be noticed here that when the doctor pays his dues the Council very graciously gives him a permit to follow his profession for another year.

In this way the whole medical profession in Ontario are put in the same class with the street scavenger, who gets his annual appointment from the City Council. We have not a word to say against the gentlemen in the Medical Council personally. They are all decent men. But the vicious system which they have to administer would put a heavy strain on the moral tone of an executioner.

It is confidently hoped that the gentlemen in the Council will assist their brethren in the Province to wipe out the Council altogether. That body has been tried, and it is found to be an expensive failure, and its examinations have given serious offence throughout the Province.

The university where the student studies his profession is the proper place for his examinations. The professors in the universities are classical scholars, and it is an honor to sit under their teaching and to be examined by them.

It is earnestly hoped that medical men throughout the Province will unite and will make a vigorous effort to place the profession in the same honorable position which it occupied before the Medical Council surreptitiously made its appearance. We will have all good men on our side, except thet few who are after the loaves and fishes And we will not be offended with these. For human nature is the same now that it was in the olden time, when "all with one voice about the space of two hours cried out, 'Great is Diana of the Ephisians.'"

SPORTING NEWS

COLLEGIATE SEVEN WINS BEST JUNIOR GAME OF SEASON

School Team Showed Great Form and Defeat Local Junior O.H.A. Septette by 5-2—Both Teams Played Clever Hockey.

That Peterborough has a fast bunch of juniors, who in a few years will be bringing championships and honors to the city was ably demonstrated in the game with the junior O. H. A. team and the P. C. I. last night. The large crowd which was present were equally surprised at the high class hockey which was dished up all through the contest. There has been much said about the work of these two teams, and the P. C. I. have come in for a great amount of discussion by hockey followers. That the Collegiate seven have lived up to their reputation was very much in evidence last night when they beat the team that represented Peterborough in the Junior O. H. A. this season by 5 goals to 2. The game was one that kept the fans in a fever of excitement all the time, and the result was in doubt up to the last few minutes of the game, when the P. C. I. put in two counters in quick time, and kept their opponents from scoring. The game was not rough, although the checking was hard and close, the P.C.I. showing up well in this department of the game. The fans were also given a good exhibition of combination work, at which the winners have no superiors in the town. They were a little off color in shooting, but managed to find the nets often enough to win the game. They followed up well, and the O.H.A. team had a hard time to get away on any dangerous rushes. The work of Geale, Crane and Fortye was heartily applauded by the crowd, but all the team deserve credit for their clever work.

The O. H. A. team had on a strong line-up, and looked good, in the first stages of the game, for the honors. But they were not in as good condition as the P.C.I. and could not stand the pace as well and the team work of their opponents was too much for them. They had a bad fashion of roaming away from their positions, which had a bad effect on any combination they attempted. Individually, they were as fast as the P.C.I., but this style of play is not effective against a team like the school septette. Many of their players adorned the fence for a considerable time, while their opponents stayed on the ice and played the game all the time. Bill Shortt played about the best game for his team, but had hard luck in shooting, as he missed many shots by a close margin. All the team put up a good game, but team work was lacking and this was mostly responsible for their downfall.

Fred Craig handled the bell and kept the game clean and fast by his good work.

Both teams started off at a fast clip, and the puck travelled from end to end in quick time, with honors about even. Geale tore off a nice rush, but fell near the goal. Wade was given a rest for slashing, and had only come on the ice again for a short time when he got hurt and went off, Fortye going with him. Coughlin missed a nice pass in front of the nets which should have resulted in a score. Rose secured the puck and shot, but it was wild, and there was nothing doing. Crane got the puck and took it the whole length of the rink but missed the nets. A few minutes later Coughlin and Rose got away with a nice combination rush, but another shot went wild. Finally Giroux scored for his team in 11 minutes, but Geale evened up in 3 minutes with a close shot. Conroy went off for tripping, and Shortt sent a hot one at Meldrum which was stopped. Both teams were working hard with neither one having much on each other. After 8 minutes Denison put his team ahead with a shot from the side, and one minute later Wallace got another counter. But the O. H. A. bunch were going strong, and Pentland put one past Meldrum after tearing off a fine rush. Giroux was given a rest for slashing, and Pentland soon followed him for the same offence, and half-time was called shortly afterwards.

After the interval the O.H.A. team were playing five men against seven, but no scores resulted. Geale was sent to the timekeepers for tripping Wade who was pulling off some nice rushes, but was stopped before he did any damage. Meldrum was having a busy time and stopped some nice shots. Denison tried hard for a score, but was tripped by Rose, who journeyed to the fence for a rest. Giroux soon followed him for a similar offence. After 22 minutes' of fast playing Crane scored for P.C.I. and the game looked good for the Collegiate team. The pace was beginning to tell on the O.H.A. team and considerable lifting was being done by them. Coughlin secured the puck and took a jaunt down the ice, but Meldrum made a nice stop. Giroux took another rest for going against the rules, and in six minutes Fortye scored the last goal of the night, and shortly afterwards the bell rang for the finish.

The teams were:

LINDSAY HOCKEY TEAM TO LOSE ITS POINT PLAYER

The Post has been informed that Lindsay will lose one of its most popular young citizens in the course of a few months in the person of Mr. Leon Koyl who intends leaving about the first of May for Saskatoon, Sask, where he intends embarking in a business enterprise.

The news of his intended departure will be received with the keenest regret by the citizens generally. In business and social circles he has been immensely popular, his splendid character, affability and unvarying good nature winning him friends on every side.

His removal from Lindsay will also be severely felt in athletic circles, and more especially hockey. As a point player Leon probably stands without a peer in Canada, and too much could not be written of his fame as a hockeyist and of the valuable services rendered the local club for years past. He has helped to bring honor to the town and is bound to make a success of life in the far west.—Lindsay Post.

FIRST GAMES IN CLUB BONSPIEL THIS EVENING

A club bonspiel has been arranged by the local curling club and the first games with one exception, will be played to-night. Fourteen rinks will play to-night, and fourteen Monday night. The semi-finals will be played Tuesday night, and the finals on Wednesday night.

One bonspiel game was played last night, when A. Moore defeated W. G. Read.

Altogether there will be thirty-one rinks playing or a hundred and twenty curlers. This is a showing that very few of the smaller cities can equal.

The idea of a local club bonspiel has been talked of for a couple of weeks, although it was suggested at the first of the season, but nothing definite was decided upon until Wednesday night. The members got together and arranged the players, when it was found necessary to make two draws of fourteen rinks each, and still three rinks are left over, S. Ray's rink and Dr. McCullough's rink will play off in the afternoon and Dr. Greer's rink drew the bye.

Rev. E. A. Pearson's rink of 'Ulster ministers will play Mr. J. H. Burnham's rink this afternoon.

The first seven games will be played to-night starting at eight o'clock sharp and the draws were as follows:

FIRST DRAW—FRIDAY

W. G. Ferguson v. H. R. H. Kenner.
S. T. Medd v. D. Fraser.
W. M. Lang v. T. Brightman.
W. E. Talbot v. D. Hall.
W. J. Thompson v. C. N. Brown.

SECOND DRAW—MONDAY

W. G. Morrow v. Dr. Eastwood.
R. Neil v. J. H. Connal.
J. H. Ferguson v. E. B. Clegg.
J. H. Burnham v. Rev. Pearson.
J. S. Knapman v. G. B. Stevenson.
G. L. Hay v. G. H. Giroux.
R. Hicks v. D. Davidson.
S. Ray v. Dr. McCullough.
Dr. Greer drew the bye.

A valuable prize will be offered to the winning rink.

HIGH SCORES ARE BEING PUT ON

Many Bowlers go Over the 200 Mark at the P.B.C. Alleys.

There was some great bowling at the P.B.C. alleys Wednesday night. It is doubtful if ever so many 200 scores have been rolled in a single night since the alleys were opened, and it shows that a keen interest is being taken in the game and also that the boys are out for the box of cigars that are offered each week. The record for this week was 224, bowled on Tuesday night, but this was tied Wednesday afternoon by Dusty. Then Sutherland broke close and bowled 245, which is still the high score, and tooks good for the box of cigars. Sutherland's score for three consecutive games was 160, 192 and 245, or a total of 617, which is getting up near the record of the alleys, 661, rolled by Mr. Grey, a commercial traveller, who blew into the club rooms last fall.

The 200 or over scores made Wednesday night were:

Sutherland—203, 245, 212.
Fryer—224, 216.
C. Ford—209.
H. Martin—228.

This is pretty classy bowling and something which none of them need be ashamed of. In the American Bowling Tournament in Chicago last week the scores would not average anything like 200, and some of the best men in the game took part in the tournament. If the local boys keep going for a while they will be in a position to hold their own with the top notchers.

CRESSMAN'S TEAM DROPPED A GAME

Examiner Seven Got Away With a Victory Last Night

The Examiner hockey team were were lucky to win out from Cressman's last night. The game was supposed to be a curtain raiser before the big junior battle and these two teams were secured to amuse the crowd that was expected to be on hand early. Cressman's tried hard to fulfil their part of the contract but were badly handicapped by the indifferent work of the printers who were sadly deficient in all departments of the game. Of course there were some of the team who tried to make the game interesting for the fans, but these were mostly ringers who had been secured by the Examiner management to help them win the game at any cost. The Examiner team tried their usual tactics of trying to frighten the referee, and in playing away off-side, and they got away with a lot of it which told heavily against Cressman's who were putting up a good game. But the Examiner team have at last got a good goal tender, he being a big improvement on the individual who undertook to handle the job last year. The score at half time was 4—3, and at full time 6—4 against Cressman's.

The only feature of the game was the absence of the main guy of the Examiner bunch, but this was very much in favor of the team, and they managed to get away with the game.

George Barrie had a hard time, but gave good satisfaction with the bell.

The teams were:—

SPORTING TALK

Another star in the running game in America has loomed up in the person of Fred Appleby, Alfie Shrubb's conqueror at 15 miles.

The Lindsay people are going crazy over the Midgets winning the intermediate championship. It must be admitted too that they have pretty good cause for their insanity.

The go as you please men contesting in the six day event in New York are established quite a dropping out record. Dave Bartley made a creditable showing to stay as long as he did.

The betting in town on the bout between Hassan Abdallah and Fritz Mohl at Riverdale rink is about even.

W. A. Buchanan, of Lethbridge, formerly secretary of the O.H.A., is a candidate for the Alberta Legislature. After his hockey experiences it will be an easy matter for Mr. Buchanan to fill a seat in any Legislature. — Toronto Star.

The Toronto Star says Fred Simpson has been elected leader of the Hiawatha church choir.

The Lindsay papers have them all beaten when it comes to "getting in wrong." The Warder says that Peterborough sports were betting 7—1 on Stratford. If the Warder could shake off the sleepiness it might find out that it was pretty nearly the other way around. The Lindsay victory was popular here.

Predicts Earthquake.

Alicante, Spain, March 12.—The prediction of Emile Marchand, director of the observatory of the Pic Du Midi, in the Pyrenees, that an earthquake would occur on Feb. 21, having proved correct, the inhabitants of this district are now in a state bordering on panic, as a second severe shock is predicted March 20. Many people are leaving the city and others have already begun to offer up prayers for deliverance in the churches.

Special Car to Effect an Arrest.

Chatham, March 12.—A special car of the Chatham, Wallaceburg and Lake Erie electric road was utilized yesterday by the police to overtake four young men from Hamilton suspected with being implicated in the burning of a railway waiting-room in Dover Township, near here.

They gave their names as Edward Greening, Roy Patterson, F. Green and G. Worthington. They are charged with vagrancy.

Anarchists Fight Police.

Yekaterinoslav, Russia, March 12. —There was an encounter in the suburbs of this town on Wednesday between anarchists and the police, in which two of the former were killed and five of the latter wounded.

Berlin Would Be a City.

Berlin, March 12.—A committee of the Town Council on Wednesday night recommended council to apply for special legislation with the view to incorporating Berlin as a city. Berlin has a population approximating 14,000, and there is a strong feeling that it is time to cast off its town clothes.

Thumbscrew For Blake.

Toronto, March 12.—A working model of a thumbscrew has been sent by registered letter by the Square Table Club of Toronto University to Hon. S. H. Blake. It was inscribed: "Thumbscrew such as used in the inquisition for use on heretics. Compliments of the Square Table Club."

Drinks Acid at Army Meeting.

Winnipeg, March 12.—Morris Ampherson, a middle-aged man, entered the Salvation Army citadel on Wednesday night while a gospel meeting was in progress, and drawing two sixpence bottles of carbolic acid from his pocket, drank the contents.

Lord's Prayer on a Pin Head.

Mr. William L. Stuart, a young man engaged in business in New York city, has performed the seemingly impossible feat of engraving the entire Lord's Prayer on the head of an ordinary pin, to which he has added his name and the year, making altogether 276 letters and figures. Mr. Stuart did the work at odd times during his regular employment and with very ordinary tools, which seemingly are not adapted to such fine engraving. The pin was set in a block of wood, and a common engraver's tool was used. A simple microscope, costing only about 25 cents and known as a "linen tester," furnished the necessary magnifying.—St. Nicholas.

Servia Peaceful.

Berlin, March 12.—The latest Servian note, in which that country sets forth that she does not desire to provoke war with Austria-Hungary, but maintains that the question of the annexation of Bosnia and Herzegovina should be regarded by the powers, was delivered at the Foreign Office here yesterday afternoon.

The impression created by Servia's renunciation of territorial compensation is favorable and is regarded officially as a peaceful sign.

Umbrella Etiquette In Turkey.

In China ladies are attended by servants who hold umbrellas over their heads. The Chinese and Japanese introduce both the umbrella and parasol into their decorative work and athletic sports. In western Turkey it is necessary to close an umbrella on meeting people of high rank, and a European traveler who was passing one of the palaces of the sultan was nearly run through by the guard before he comprehended that he must put down the open umbrella he carried. Every one passing the actual residence of the sultan lowers his umbrella as a salutation to "the brother of the sun and the moon."

An Old Idea.

Macaulay was not the first man to frame the famous image of the man of a new civilisation standing amid the ruins of that which we know today. Long before he wrote of his traveler from New Zealand meditating upon London bridge Mrs. Barbauld had used the same image, with the difference that she applied it to Blackfriars bridge. An earlier reviewer had used it in an article published in 1767, we are told by an English commentator, and Horace Walpole says in one of his letters, "At last some curious traveler from Lima will visit England and give a description of the ruins of St. Paul's."

The Perfect Woman.

There is a quaint old tavern sign in Kent, "The Perfect Woman"—a woman's head without a mouth. This signboard was once quite common, and as late as 1818 a "silent woman" stood in St. Giles', in what is now New Oxford street, bearing beneath the picture of a headless female the following stanza:

> A silent woman—how can it be?
> Patient traveler, do not scoff.
> Drawn from the very life is she
> And mute because her head is off.
>
> —London Chronicle.

to them. Men and women in this noble service did heroic, faithful work both for the white and the brown men who went down. From the field hospitals the men were taken to the convents and treated until they were able to be moved to Manila.

Further north fled Aguinaldo and the Filipinos. Wheaton was ordered sprig from the white rose which climbed up the poles of her father's tent and, preserving it during her flight through the wilderness, planted it by the door of her new home in the land of the Seminoles. And from that day this beautiful flower has always been known throughout the southern states by the name of the Cherokee rose.

The Origin of "Navvies."

Railways may be said to run in the blood of Lord Brassey. His father, the humble son of a Cheshire yeoman, was among the first and the most successful exploiters of labor by navvies, or "navigators," as they were termed, in the construction of railway tracks. Engineers in England, Europe and America sought his services, and so many were his undertakings that he came to have an army of 75,000 in his employ. Nearly 7,000 miles of railway were laid down under his direction, and the cost ran to close on £80,000,000.

ART OF ANAGRAMS.

Two Thousand Years Ago Were Juggled Letters In Words.

The art of anagramming is at least two thousand years old, for it was the custom of the ancient Jewish soothsayers to discover words within words for the purpose of their craft, and many an event was foretold by the simple means of an anagram. Then, the Greeks and Romans were fond of the same pastime. In the Middle Ages the craze was at its highest, and in the sixteenth century a French writer composed a poem of over one thousand lines, each one of which contained an anagram.

An author who began his labors just after the death of Queen Elizabeth, wishing to win the favor of James, the first of the Stuart line, hit upon the happy thought of evolving an anagram out of the words "James Stuart," his version being "a just master." But this gentleman was not without rivals, and one of these composed the words, "Claims Arthur's seat" out of "Charles James Stuart." As the King was then very anxious to impress upon the public the fact that he was descended from the ancient kings of England, he was particularly struck by this artful, but wrongful, anagram.

An anagram was once the means of convicting a false prophetess. The lady in question was known as Eleanor Davies, and out of this she made "Reveal, O Daniel"—there is an "l" too many, and an "s" which is not included, but it sufficed for those days; and this seemed such a remarkable thing to her that when arraigned before the judges she claimed that it proved direct inspiration. The court was in a quandary, until a quick-witted dean took a pen, and wrote what he considered a much better anagram upon her name. By prefixing "dam" (or mother) he obtained "Never so mad a ladie," and it was sufficient to convict the dame.

Anagrams on the names of kings and princes used to be very popular. When Charles II. came to the throne a courtier wit took the name "Charles Steurt," and manufactured "Calls true hearts" out of it. Another imperfect anagram on royalty is "Will choose France's Pearl," made from "Charles, Prince of Wales." The English heir at the time was hesitating between a Spanish and a French wife, hence the appositeness of the anagram. Of a warlike queen, whose name was Mary, a poet wrote "Army."

Freak Dress In Paris.

As a rebuke to the Directoire gowns and huge hats women intellectuals of Paris are appearing on the boulevards clothed in all the simplicity of the fifteen century dresses and in trousers.

Chief among them is Mme. Dieulafoy, who adopted masculine dress for its convenience when accompanying her husband on his archaeological travels, and has retained it ever since. Then there is Mme. de Montifaut, who is a familiar figure in the newspaper world of Paris, with her bowler hat and short boxcoat, below which appear the tails of an undercoat.

Prominent among Parisian ladies of letters who dress in the modes of bygone days is Mme. Georgette Leblanc (Mme. Maeterlinck), who has before now appeared at the theatre in a Louise XVI costume—a gown of flowered silk, with pointed bodice, panniers and voluminous coiffure. As a rule, however, Mme. Leblanc affects a "Byzantine" fashion. She shares this taste with Mme. Edmond Rostand, the wife of the Academician, and herself a poet, whose velvet gowns, falling in straight lines from shoulder to hem, with antique girdle, have inspired more than one painter.

Another authoress who affects Byzantine dress is the Baroness Deslandes, first wife of the Prince de Broglie, who appeared not long ago in American vaudeville, who always attends balls with her hair hanging in unconfined masses down her back. The Countesse de Noailles, whose charming verse has caught the antique spirit, also follows the Byzantine fashion.

John McNabb of Brechin was killed by falling from a CPR bridge at Washago.

would entitle the vice president elect to succeed.

The death of both president and vice president elect would leave the succession still more doubtful. An argument can be made for a line of succession through the holdover members of the cabinet of the retiring president, but it is not absolutely conclusive. It probably would not satisfy everybody and thereby create a disputed title. It might even cause very serious trouble, and congress should take the necessary action to make the presidential succession absolutely clear and certain in every contingency. The late Senator Hoar labored for many years to get this matter set at rest. Senator Bacon has taken it up afresh, admonished of its necessity, possibly in the very wide discussion of this question since the election. It is a weak spot in our governmental organization which congress should strengthen and make secure without further delay.—Philadelphia Press.

An Obstinate Old Bachelor.

The Right Rev. Cosmo Gordon Lang, archbishop designate of York, was one of the late Queen Victoria's favorite preachers. On one occasion when Dr. Lang was visiting Osborne her majesty said to him: "I hear excellent reports of your work at Portsea, and I find you actually keep a staff of twelve curates. You should take to yourself a wife. I believe you would be able to do with two curates less." "Ah, no, madam," he replied. "That would scarcely do. If I have a curate who does not suit I can get rid of him, but I could not do the same with a wife." "True," replied the queen, "but take the advice of an old woman and marry." Dr. Lang, however, has not up to the present followed the kindly counsel.—London Tit-Bits.

MISS BIRDIE DAWSON CLINGS TO LEADERSHIP

Miss Maude Adams Only a Few Thousand Behind, Then Follows Miss Perry and Miss Moore, Each Making a Strenuous Effort to Get Into the Position of Honor Again.

THE LAST, "THE MAIN, CHANCE" FOR ALL CANDIDATES

EACH CANDIDATE sending or bringing $10 worth of NEW subscriptions to the Review Office before 8 o'clock, on March 22nd, the close of the Contest, will be given a special certificate for 4,000 EXTRA VOTES, in addition to the regular certificates. The amount may be made up in any manner—Daily or Weekly subscription. All that is necessary is that the sum amounts to $10, and that it be NEW.

For each $10 worth of OLD subscriptions turned in until the end of the Contest a special certificate for 2,000 EXTRA VOTES will be given. This also in addition to the regular votes.

Every subscription turned in since March 8 will be counted. It is not necessary to hold back the money until you have $10. Turn the subscriptions in as you get them, and when the amount reaches $10, the certificate will be issued—and it may be voted at once or held as desired.

No other offer of any kind will be made during the Contest.

"The Golden Opportunity for Vote Hunters."

The voting yesterday was light, no candidate making great gain and the relative standing of the candidates remain the same. Candidates should not get the idea in consequence of a light vote for a day or two that the wiser ones are not busy. We are issuing certificates in increasing numbers but the majority are being added to the "sleeve vote."

If anyone ever entertained a doubt of the success and magnitude of this great enterprise or had any doubt as to the amount of interest it would create that doubt has long since been dispelled and the doubters and scoffers have disappeared.

There are always a few people of this caliber in every community and seventy or eighty thousand votes look like that many dollars to them while the real live ones smile and say "A hundred thousand—what's that?"

Let us say above all things, this contest will be absolutely fair and above board. Every contestant will get the votes to which he or she is entitled and no contestant will be shown the slightest favor over any other one.

Those who get in the most votes will win. And the result will be decided by a committee of prominent business men who will count the votes and declare the winners.

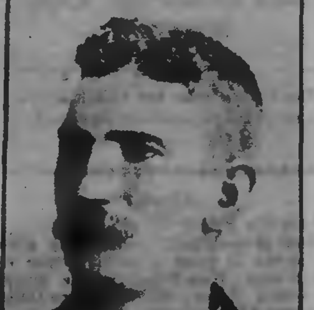
Don't Get Discouraged

The race is getting short and all that is necessary is to take a long breath throw out your chest and make one last determined onslaught on the natives and make them "stand and deliver."

Everybody loves a hustler and fighter. Because you see a candidate a few thousand votes ahead of you don't get discouraged. Remember that a few yearly subscriptions will put you in the lead and you know that you can get them and that you intend to get them in the next ten days.

Several of the contestants have a notion that they can "lay back in the harness" until the last few days before the polls are closed and then come on with a rush and win one of the prizes.

The contest man thinks that this idea is a mistake. For persons who are as popular in Peterborough and vicinity as the contestants in the present race, it would be impossible for them to see all their friends in a few days.



P. G. TOWNS,
Of Douro, who is contending in the Review's Popularity Contest.

They might put on a full head of steam and cover lots of ground, but it is a physical impossibility for one person to get in touch with all the people that would be willing to boost them in the race in the short space of two or three days.

But remember this: There will be almost a score of other people interested in the final results of the game, who will be rounding up all their scattering friends in the final three days and they may "cut in" on your preserves with disastrous results.

So don't be the late one.

Don't think that any information will be given any one as to how many subscriptions you have turned in. Every contestant will be fairly treated in this respect as in all others, and no favoritism will be shown any one. The Review is running this contest to make friends—not enemies. Don't seek to find out how many friends any one else has in reserve. You'll find that the contest man "don't know, hasn't the slightest idea; in fact has an awful poor memory."

And above all else, pay no attention to rumors as to how many this or that candidate has. Such hot-air stories are bound to be circulated and in fact, it sometimes pays to bluff a little.

If you can scare some weak-kneed individual out of the race in that manner—that's good "contestics." Run your own campaign to suit yourself. Keep under cover until it's a showdown, or else make a show of strength occasionally.

Remember that you have just as many friends and just as large a following as anyone else in this contest and have just as good a chance to succeed if you get at it in the right manner. You can't fail to win if you try it.

Instead of asking a favor you are doing them a favor when you get them to take the Review. Go to business men, professional men, mechanics and men in all walks of life. They are not going to try to get along without news. Tackle every one you meet and see what a big vote you can put away in a short time. And keep up the good work until the finish.

Jane Cable

... By ...

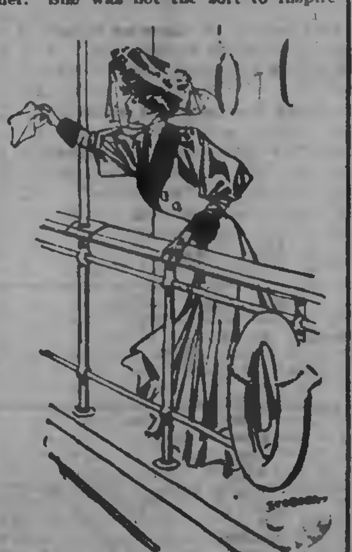
GEORGE BARR McCUTCHEON,

Author of "Beverly of Graustark," Etc.

COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY DODD, MEAD & COMPANY

A week elapsed before Jane could find the opportunity to make inquiries concerning the whereabouts of Graydon Bansemer. Her thoughts had been of nothing else; her eagerness had been tempered by the diffidence of the overzealous. She and pretty Ethel Harbin had made life endurable for the gay young officers who came over on the ship. The pretty wives of certain captains and lieutenants had small scope for their blandishments at close range. Flirtations were hard to manage in space so small. The two girls were therefore in a state of siege most of the time. The object following fell away perceptibly when the broader field of action on shore gave their married sisters a chance to maneuver with some degree of security. A faithful few remained in train, however. Ethel Harbin, like the ingenue in the play, had each finger clumsily but tightly wrapped with a breathing uniform of blue. It must be admitted in shame, however, that she changed the bandages often and without conscience or ceremony.

Jane's admirers were in love with her. She was not the sort to inspire idle fancies. In any event, it looked a long time to these chaps before they could get back to the States, and she was worth while.



When the great transport sailed away, Jane Cable was one of her passengers.

Perhaps her most devoted admirer was Lieutenant Bray. Good looking and coming from an excellent southern family, he was a great favorite with all. Jane liked him better than any of the rest. She would have liked him still better had he been able to resist a tendency to boast of the stock from which he had sprung. The knowledge of her disadvantages in life, the contrast between their respective positions, all tended to emphasize the irony of fate, and she often found herself wondering how this sprig of true aristocracy would conduct himself if he discovered that, after all, she was only a foundling.

It was Lieutenant Bray who made inquiries at general headquarters and found, after considerable trouble, that Graydon Bansemer's company was in the north, subject to the requirements of Young, chief of scouts.

Irksome were the lazy summer months for Jane. She tired of the attentions of men; she sickened with longing and anxiety. Day after day she prayed that the troops in the north might be relieved. She watched for the order that would call for their return from the wet lands above. Sickness was prevalent among the fighting corps; the wet season had undermined the health of many. Constant news came down to Manila of the minor engagements, and she looked at every report for news of Graydon. Colonel Harbin occasionally had private advices from the north. She heard of Graydon's bravery more than once and glowed with pride. Down in her tired, anxious heart she was wondering if it were possible for her to go to the front in any capacity.

At last with October came the waning of the rainy season. November brought active fighting. A general movement of the troops was directed against Aguinaldo. In his prime as a leader he controlled the north, and his capture was imperative. Lawton and Young began operations on the right, McArthur on the center, with Wheaton pushing forward on the extreme left. The insurgents fell back from Tariac. There were many big fights at San Jacinto and other places now famous in history.

The Red Cross society held forth at Malolos, reaching gradually into the country north. Sick and wounded men came into the hospitals daily and in larger numbers than one would have supposed. The villages, or barrios, all along the line of advance saw their convents turned into hospitals. As fast as possible the nurses were hurried up to them. Men and women in this noble service did heroic, faithful work both for the white and the brown men who went down. From the field hospitals the men were taken to the convents and treated until they were able to be moved to Manila.

Further north fled Aguinaldo and the Filipinos. Wheaton was ordered to cut off his retreat; Young was killed; Cunningham took charge of the scouts who scoured the country. Parties of ten to fifteen picked men fell out in advance of the main body, seeking to develop the enemy and his defenses. These brave fellows attracted the hidden fire of ambush, exposed themselves to all the treacheries of warfare and afterward were mustered out with a kind word from the department. They were the men who tested the territory. It was with one of these scouting parties that Graydon Bansemer ventured far into the enemy's country early in November.

CHAPTER XXII.

GREGORIO DEL PILAR, the picturesque Filipino leader, about whom so much has been written in praise by the war correspondents, was leading his men back into the danger fields, inviting the American pursuers into every trap which his crafty brain could devise.

Captain Groce, with a company of infantry, was following him closely and doggedly into the fastnesses far to the north. Village after village was devastated by the white troops, always a few hours after the wily Pilar had evacuated. Amigos laughed in their deceptive sleeves at the Americans and misdirected them with impunity. In eight cases out of ten the amigo wore arms underneath his garment of friendship and slew in the dark whenever opportunity arose. Graydon Bansemer was one of this doughty, eager company which blazed the way into the hills. Close behind came the bigger and stronger forces, with guns and horse, and the hospital corps. It was the hunt of death for Aguinaldo and Pilar.

Shortly after daybreak one morning a slim, black figure crept out from among the trees and gave the countersign to the challenging sentry. He was soon on his way to the captain's headquarters bearing news of importance. The brown skinned scout had traveled all night over a hazardous route, and he was more than welcome. He brought news that Pilar's men were off to the east and the north, well intrenched and prepared to fall upon the Americans when they advanced blindly into the trap laid for them. The newspaper men pricked up their ears and at once looked to a box of carrier pigeons which formed a most important part of their pilgrimage. A fight was at hand, doubtless an important meeting of the clashing forces. The whole army was waiting for intelligence of Pilar—waiting with little less anxiety than that which attached itself to the pursuit of Aguinaldo.

Captain Groce ordered Sergeant Connell with a picked squad to reconnoiter. They scurried off in advance of the company, with instructions to locate the elusive enemy and open up the secret of his position. Supposedly Pilar was ten miles off among the rocky foothills which guarded the pass through the mountains. As usual, Bansemer was one of the scouts. He snatched his rations with the others and went forth eagerly to court the danger and excitement that was promised. For days they had had no fighting worthy the name. Amigos everywhere, villages peopled only by women and children, treacherous peacefulness on every side. This had been their encounter—an occasional rifle shot from the rice fields, a crackle of guns far ahead, a prisoner or two who had not been quick enough in transforming himself from combatant to friend, that was all. Now there seemed to be real fighting ahead.

Pilar was known to have many men—good soldiers all of them. The native scout gave close and accurate directions as to his position. It remained for Connell's men to draw him out if possible. Captain Groce and the remainder of his eager company did not march until long after the scouts were on their precarious way.

Two hours after the party of eleven left the village a Mauser bullet from a clump of trees far to the right cut through the hat of one of the scouts who was some distance in advance of his fellows. As he saw the scout stoop to pick up his hat Rogers turned to the man nearest him and remarked:

"They'll get him sure as shootin' some day if he hikes along in that fool way."

It was no new experience for the scouts to find the quarry gone when they reached the place where they expected to find him. Pilar's own scouts had found that the ambuscade was destined to fail of its purpose, and the wily leader drew back into the more accessible country. The scouting party did not come in sight of the little brown soldiers. Before noon they were far up in the hills, everywhere met by the physical assurance that the enemy was not far ahead of them. Behind them came Captain Groce and his men and the two correspondents.

Amigos along the mountain road gave information that was not worth having. A deserted village showed signs of the passage, and finally there was proof ahead that Pilar had stopped to give battle. He had reached his vantage ground. Connell and his men drew back and waited. Nightfall came and with it the spiteful crack of the Mauser rifle. A brawny trooper toppled over with a great hole in his head. Pilar's pickets could see like cats in the night. The native scout reported that the big village of Concepcion was not far ahead; Pilar's men were making their stand before this rather important stronghold.

"We'll get a scrap that is a scrap, boys," said Connell exultingly. "These fellows are going to put up a fight at last. They're like bees up yonder. We've got to fall back on the company. If we don't, they'll chew us up before the little captain can get to us."

Too well did the men know the bellicose temperament of the big Irishman to think of grumbling at such a command, yet it was with a certain reluctance which invariably accompanies a backward step that the men retired to meet the advancing company.

Young Bansemer in his khaki uniform was not the immaculate, debonnaire man of the drawing room. Service, though short, had been hard and grueling. His face was even handsomer with its rugged lines and set features. He was thinner and browner; his eyes were clearer and a darker gray; his hair seemed thicker and fairer than before; his figure more erect and sinewy. The wistful look in his eyes seemed to betray hunger for action; his ever ready eagerness to be on the move told of his strength and of his weakness. He had the lean, active bearing of the panther and the restless daring of that lithe animal.

No man in the company had stood fire as valiantly as he. He courted the whis of the bullet, scoffed at the rigors of the march and instinctively was a good shot with the rifle. He bore no grudge against the department at home; he had no grievance.

The officers recognized in him a man of parts, a man of station far above the position which he had chosen in the army. He was a source of mystery to the men of his own rank in the line—the plowboys, the teamsters, the roustabouts and the ne'er-do-wells who had gone into the army from choice or discretion. At first they had called him the "dude" and had laughed at his white hands and clean jaws. His indifference to their taunts annoyed them. One day he knocked down the biggest bully of the lot and walked away without even waiting to see whether he would arise after the blow. He simply glared at the next man who chaffed. It was enough. The company held him in a new respect that forbade the reporting of the incident to the officer of the day.

Every night before he lay down to sleep, in the rice field or the barrios, he took from his pocket a leather case and gazed at the small portrait it sheltered. No one had been permitted to see him in his devotions, for that was what he called these sacred moments. His lean face, full of fierce energy all day long, softened as his eyes devoured the dainty miniature.

• • • • • • •

"Halt! Who goes there?"

A shot rang out in the stillness of the night. It was answered at once by another closer in. More shots followed, gradually increasing to a fusillade as the scouts and pickets came running back. Men sprang up from the ground, but even as they did so another volley reached them, and three men dropped with a groan and lay still. The alarm sounded clear from the bugle and echoed back from the surrounding hills. A sharp command came from the throat of the sergeant. The company seized the stacked rifles. Captain Groce gave another order. The formation to repel attack was made in an incredibly short space of time. There was no disorder, no confusion. The little officer was as cool as if on dress parade.

"Steady, men! Wait until they're nearer!"

They had not long to wait. From all sides a horde of shouting, firing men were rushing on the little square.

"Here they are! Now, then, boys, fire!"

Volley after volley rang out. The foremost of the enemy fell at their feet. Hand to hand was the fighting. The bayonets lunged with deadly effect, but seemed powerless to thrust the mass back on itself. Men shot, hacked, stabbed and clubbed each other. It was a whirl of uplifting and descending rifles and bolos.

Fierce oaths vied with the shrieks of the wounded for supremacy. The grunt of men who slaughter, the gasps of the victims when the steel went home, were heard on all sides. At times the soldiers could not see on account of the sweat and blood pouring from their faces. The very air was foul from the steam from the living and the dead. They could not breathe. A sort of vertigo overpowered them, and they only kept their feet by grappling with the enemy.

To Bansemer it seemed that all his life he had been doing nothing but warding off and delivering blows. Fighting side by side with Rogers, he saw, with horror, that the soldier's rifle had been torn from his hands and that he had no weapon to defend himself, but before he could see just how it happened this individual combat had altered its aspect, Rogers had grabbed the Filipino's gun and was doing the clubbing. With renewed zest Bansemer finished with the bayonet his own assailant and saw the man fall on top of poor Adams and Relander.

Suddenly there was an exultant yell from the enemy. Instinctively Bansemer knew that one side of the square had given way. Quickly turning, he rushed to give his aid and just in time caught the arm of a native about to slash him with a huge knife. With the two gripped hands high in the air struggling for mastery the adversaries became separated a bit from the rest of the chaotic mass of friend and foe, swaying out to one side of the plaza and under the walls of a convent. Bansemer was facing it, and just at the moment that he felt his strength giving way and could see a grin of triumph on the fiendish face there came a flash and a report, and his adversary fell at his feet. Glancing up to ascertain who had fired the shot that had saved his life, he thought he saw a figure disappearing from one of the windows. The incident acted as an inspiration. Gathering together a few men, he reached the captain's side and communicated his plan. The opportunity was not to be lost. Groce gave an order; Connell repeated it. Then, interpreting a temporary lull in the murderous struggle as their vantage, the men, with a cheer and dragging the field piece, broke for the building and by bayoneting and clubbing the insurgents out of the way accomplished the dash with slight loss. The soldiers hurled themselves against the heavily barred door. It fell with a crash.

ROLLIE GLOVER ON THE ST. ANDREW'S LINE-UP TO-NIGHT

There promises to be something doing in the game between the Strathconas and St. Andrew's at Brock street rink to-night. St. Andrews will have Rollie Glover on their line-up, and are confident that they can take the measure of Bill Metheral's bunch. They have gone through the season with but one loss against them, and can be depended on to get up a fast game of hockey.

St. Andrews will have a big bunch of rooters on hand to-night, who are very confident that the game will go in favor of their team, and will give them all the encouragement that is necessary. But the Strathconas claim that City League hockey is superior to Church League, and are not the least bit troubled about the result of the game, as they will be represented by a strong seven, and are confident they can put it over the Church League champions. Those who witnessed the game last night were very much pleased with the contest, and the game to-night will be as good, if not better. Harry Morgan has consented to referee, and any attempt at rough work will be promptly attended to. The game will start at eight o'clock, and as this will be the last important game of the season a large crowd should be on hand.

The teams will probably line up in this order:

STRATHCONAS.		ST. ANDREWS
	—Goal—
Wilson		Patterson
	—Point—
McWilliams		Stanton
	—Cover—
Seymour		Glover
	—Rover—

THE PETES LOST AT LAKEFIELD

Beaten by the Shamrocks by Score of 10—6

The Petes journeyed to Lakefield last night to play the return game with the Shamrocks, of that village.

The first game was played here last week and resulted in a tie, 5—5, and the Petes were confident of winning in Lakefield. But the small ice placed them at a big disadvantage, which they could not overcome, and they were beaten by 10 goals to 6. The half time score was 5—3 against them. The game was not rough and the teams played fast hockey. The Petes were well treated by the winners and all report a pleasant time. Those who represented the Petes were:—Donohue, goal; Heard, point; O'Brien, cover; Morrow, rover; Dean, centre; Callaghan, right wing; Phelan, left wing. Mr. W. O'Brien refereed and gave good satisfaction.

MR. EDGAR PAGE CLAIMS PART OF A $750,000,000 ESTATE

Local Man Asserts He is Direct Descendant of Late Sir Henry Page, of Bothwell, England—Hopes to Establish His Claim—Has Engaged Solicitor to Act in His Interests

A Peterborough man, Mr. Edgar Page, Gilmour street, lays claim as an heir to a portion of a celebrated estate in England and one concerning which much has been said in despatches from England lately. It is the estate of the late Sir Henry Page of Bothwell, Eng., and is said to be worth $750,000,000. Sir Henry died in 1830 and since then many claims have been filed for a share of his enormous wealth and many acres.

Mr. Page, of this city, claims to be a direct descendant of Sir Henry Page and thinks if his claim were established, and he is confident it could be, would be heir to a considerable fortune. A short time ago a family in St. Thomas laid claim to a share of the estate and their claim was confirmed when their solicitor visited England for the purpose of establishing it.

Through some legal process, it would appear, the settlement of claims in connection with the estate has been delayed for some time, but now the different claimants are making application and their claims are being considered. A great deal of interest will be aroused in Peterborough over the news that Mr. Page is interested in the matter of the disposal of the estate and an heir to part of it if his claim can be confirmed. A local solicitor is acting in his interests in the matter.

REV. ROBINSONS FINE LECTURE ON "SHADOWS OF A GREAT CITY"

The lecture on "Shadows of a Great City" at Knox church last night was a most comprehensive and interesting one, and thoroughly pleased the large audience that assembled to hear it. Rev. F. A. Robinson B.A., of Stirling, was the lecturer and the lecture was illustrated by handsome and striking views. It dwelt with the miserable condition of the dwellers of the lower side of New York. The speaker told of the splendid missionary work that was being done to convert them and show them the way to cleaner and more useful lives.

Mr. Jas. Browne gave a much appreciated rendition of "The Holy City" illustated by beautiful slides, and Miss Jessie Miller sang the popular illustrated song, "Always in the Way." An enjoyable feature was Mr. Coleman's singing of "I'm Off For Philadelphia in the Morning."

REBEKAHS WENT TO LINDSAY

Members of Local Lodge Paid Visit to Kawartha Lodge

Last night the local Rebekah Lodge, No. 81, went to Lindsay to visit Kawartha Lodge, where degree work was put on.

A great many members of the lodge went to Lindsay, a special train leaving the G.T.R. station at 6 o'clock and reached home about 1.30 this morning. The evening in Lindsay was a most enjoyable and successful one.

PEDDLERS BEFORE THE MAGISTRATE

The case of the three Assyrian peddlers who were brought up from Belmont by High Constable Cochrane, was tried before Magistrate Edmison this morning. The three are charged with peddling without a license. One of the three pleaded guilty. Considerable evidence was heard and they were remanded until this afternoon at three o'clock.

The prisoners were not represented by counsel.

AT "THE GROVE" NEAR LAKEFIELD

Just outside the thriving village of Lakefield on the eastern side, situated upon a hill, from which is a commanding and beautiful view of the lake and the landscape beyond is a boys' school now known all over the Dominion of Canada and beyond it, the Rev. A. W. MacKenzie's school for boys, named "The Grove." Mr. Sparham Sheildrake founded it, but Rev. A. W. MacKenzie has enlarged it and made it what it is, a model school, a bit of classic England in Canada with a certain air of the artistic and antique, yet full of modern life and educational and athletic energy. As in most things, it is the head of a school that makes it what it should or should not be. Many of the sons of leading Canadians, Americans and West Indians are and have been educated here. The school is an asset of the most valuable kind. Last evening Mr. J. H. Burnham gave one of the winter series of "Talks" to the boys. His subject was, "Mr. Roosevelt, President and Man." He gave a short history of the ex-president's life, pointing out to the boys as he went along how strong of character, resourceful and truly great this immense force in American politics had been. His gospel was chiefly that of work. Most men need a struggle to develop them. "The strenuous life" was Mr. Roosevelt's idea of life, as it should be. He was not in any sense a weakling, either physically or morally. The reputation that he left behind him as President of the U.S. showed him to be of the highest type of manhood. He was real in the true sense, as one who wished to make real a great ideal. "It is such as he," said a great Englishman, "who make possible the progress of mankind."

Advance in the Price of Sugar

The price of all grades of sugar has advanced considerably during the past two weeks to the retailer. The raise so far amounts to about 10 cents on a hundred pounds, and it is likely to go still higher. This is a season of the year when the amount used is considerably smaller than in the summer and the buying public will not be affected so much as if the raise had occurred when a larger amount of this necessary article is used.

ANNUAL MEETING SUNNYSIDE BRANCH

side branch of the W.A. in connection with St. Luke's church, was held on Wednesday, at the residence of Mrs. G. Curtis, sr. Several members of St. Luke's branch were present. After the presentation of reports the election of officers was proceeded with and resulted as follows;—

President—Mrs. H. Mackey.
Vice-President—Mrs. G. Curtis, jr.
Secretary-Treasurer—Mrs. G. Curtis, sr.
Delegate to Annual Meeting—Mrs. J. Sedgwick.

After the meeting those present were hospitably entertained by Mrs Curtis.

BROTHER AND SISTER PLACED UNDER ARREST

Special to the Review.

Newark, N.J., March 12—As she was standing beside the bier of the Rev. Father Antoine, the slain pastor of St. Stanislaus Catholic church, Josephine Walswiska, his former housekeeper, was arrested today. Soon after, her brother, A. Ladyslave, was also arrested. Brother and sister were locked up in cells at opposite sides of the city prison.

According to a story told the police by the Rev Father Masnicki, of Elizabeth, the woman had annoyed Father Antoine until he was compelled to discharge her.

LARGE QUANTITY OF HAY ON MARKET

There was a large quantity of hay on the market this morning. The prices remain about the same as have prevailed for the last month and $11, $12 and $13 per ton was asked for the different grades.

The farmers report the roads to be in bad shape for sleighing and take a big risk of upsetting in using their wagons on account of the ice on the roads in some parts.

Fired

To the Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir,—Would you kindly give me space in your valuable paper in order that I may ventilate a grievance that I have in which Fire Chief Howard of this city is concerned. Notwithstanding the fact that I have rendered a faithful service since I became a member of the fire brigade of this city, and also that I have been a friend to Chief Howard in a financial way since I became a fireman, but these things all count for nothing when this wonderful specimen of gen up (homo) gets his back up for causes either real or imaginary, generally imaginary. He saw me talking in front of the fire hall, and inside of ten minutes after that I was out of a job. He also forbade me communicating with any person or persons anything that took place in the fire station not even to the Aldermen. I feel that I have received low down treatment at the hands of Chief Howard, and hence this letter.

An Explanation

Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir,—In the Review of the 9th inst. there is reported a conversation with Mr W. H. Moore, chairman of the City Trust Commission, in which Mr. Moore takes me to task for stating in my letter of the 6th inst. that the Commissioners had consented to the proposition of the City Council to apply a part of the City's assets on the deficit in last year's current account, Mr Moore states that the Commissioners had not consented to the proposition, nor taken any action whatever on the proposal. I am most willing to withdraw this part of my letter and shall be delighted to express my appreciation of the Commissioners action if they stick to that course.

My information as to their action in the matter was derived from the newspaper reports of the representations made by the Finance Committee through their chairman to the Committee of the whole council, these reports being unanimous and being confirmed by individual members of the council. The reports upon this point were as follows;

The Review—The Finance Committee held a joint meeting yesterday afternoon with the City Trust Commission and the latter decided to reduce their request on the city for 1909, by $8,500.

The Examiner—Alderman Morrow, Chairman of the Finance Committee, stated that the Committee had been successful in inducing the Commissioners to reduce their demand by $8,500.

The Times — Aldermen Morrow, Chairman of the Finance Committee, notified the aldermen that his Committee had met the City Trust Commissioners and induced that body to reduce their demand upon the City by $8,500.

The question is one of fact which must be settled between Alderman Morrow and Mr. Moore, and of which I have, of course, no personal knowledge. As much fault as is involved in assuming that the representations of the Finance Committee to the Council were true in fact, I plead guilty. I trust that the little daylight which I have endeavored to let in on this transaction will be sufficient to make impossible any such questionable dealing with the City assets.

Yours truly,
R. F. McWILLIAMS.

SAYS WATERWAYS PACT HAS BEEN TINKERED WITH

Sir Wilfrid Says Treaty Will be Refused.

The Agreement Was all Right Before United States Senate Amended It.

Ottawa, March 13.—The much-talked-of waterways treaty, which the United States Senate tinkered to suit themselves after it had been agreed to by the plenipotentiaries, will be given out next week, but the Government may not accept it in the amended form.

"As enquiry has been made in the House several times in regard to the waterways treaty," said Sir Wilfrid Laurier yesterday, "I have to inform the House that a despatch has been received from the Colonial Office, and the treaty will be laid on the table on Monday."

"Will there be any announcement at an early date as to the acceptance by this Government of the changes made in the treaty?" enquired R. L. Borden. "I do not ask for an answer at this moment as to the Government's view, but only whether or not there will be an announcement at an early date."

"I may say," the Prime Minister replied, "that we were prepared to accept the treaty as it was. The changes made in it have reference to St. Mary's river, and we require some local information, which we are now trying to obtain, before we make up our minds whether or not we can accept it."

Mr. Edwards (Frontenac) tried hard to get the attention of the House yesterday afternoon while he discussed what he called "the excessive cost of the new buildings erected at Kingston for quarters for the servants of the military school. This was on the motion to go into supply, and as he wished to quote some of the remarks of Mr. Pugsley when the item was before the House, in conjunction with answers to questions on the order paper, he was ruled out, the subject having been previously debated.

The burden of his complaint was that the Minister had given misleading and incomplete answers, but as Mr. Speaker ruled the matter out of order he did not get very far. Mr. Pugsley, in his reply, was "all het up" and resented strongly the allegation that he had endeavored to conceal information from the House.

At another time Mr. Foster enquired about some returns ordered by the House that had not been brought down. "The committee," he said, "has been very lenient in the voting of money, but I want to give fair warning that unless these returns are forthcoming it will not be so lenient." The Premier promised to hurry the returns.

Mr. Currie introduced a bill to amend the adulteration act by abolishing the requirement that the complainant must deposit costs of analysis, and the provision by which the informant shares in the fine.

The House broke into applause yesterday when E. N. Lewis rose to introduce his bill to save daylight.

After informing his fellow-members that most people lie in bed the best part of the day, he explained that his proposal was "to move the usual hours of work an hour nearer to sunrise," and thus reduce the expenditure on artificial light.

The bill provides: "That from April 30 to Oct. 31 there shall be a local one hour in advance of standard time; that Greenwich time, for the purpose of navigation and astronomy, is not to be interfered with; that the local time shall not apply to the Yukon, and that the new system shall not come into force until one year from the passing of the act."

The Senate railway committee yesterday morning took up the bills of the Huron & Ontario Railway, a line to run from Toronto to Owen Sound. The company was incorporated in 1886.

Alex. Smith of Ottawa told the committee that the increase in bonding powers from $25,000 a mile to $40,000 for single, and $60,000 for double tracks asked for was endorsed by the Deputy Minister of Railways. The company was asking no municipal bonds, and, moreover, would have to pay heavily for entrance into Toronto and Owen Sound. It was intended to get as near the Union Station in Toronto as possible, and this would involve a big expense. The line has not been surveyed in the city, except in the northern part.

The committee gave the bonding power asked for and a two and five year extension of time for construction.

Senator Cloran introduced a bill to restrict the evils of divorce by providing that the guilty one of a divorced couple shall not re-marry in Canada, and, if he does so, he or she is to be liable to the bigamy provisions of the criminal code. To give religious societies and churches opportunity to consider the bill, he had the second reading deferred until March 24.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell gave notice for the production of any petition to place the Intercolonial under the jurisdiction of the Railway Commission.

Senator Kirchhoffer, chairman of the divorce committee, presented reports from that committee, recommending that the request of Frank Parsons of Westbourne, Man., for divorce from Ellen Weller, and the petition of Hannah E. Tompkins of Coaticook for divorce from Edward Charles Tompkins be granted.

The usual spring rush of immigrants from the Western States into Alberta and Saskatchewan has begun.

FALSE ALARMS

City Will Likely Offer Reward of $25 to Stamp Out the Practice.

The city will likely offer a reward of $25 for information that will lead to the conviction of a person sending in a false alarm for fire. This was decided on at the meeting of the Fire, Water and Light Committee last evening. Ald. Turner bringing up the matter. He believed that some action should be taken to stamp out the practise of sending in false alarms and moved that a reward of $25 be paid for information leading to the conviction of a person guilty of the offence. Ald. Morgan seconded the motion and it was carried. The offer of the reward will be printed on cotton and the sign posted up at every fire alarm box.

TO CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY

St. Thomas, March 13.—The Orange Grand Lodge of Ontario West declined to reduce the per capita tax of primary lodges raised some time ago to 25 cents, and also refused to increase the grand treasurer's salary.

Capt. Wallace, M.P., denied the report that Dr. Sproule, M.P., would not seek re-election as Supreme Grand Master of British America in May at Peterboro. The 50th anniversary of grand lodge will be celebrated July 12, 1910, with special ceremonies.

These officers were elected: E. T. Essery, London, grand master; Harry Lovelock, Toronto, deputy grand master; Fred Dane, Toronto, associate deputy grand master; William Fitzgerald, Toronto, secretary; W. M. Hewitt, Toronto, treasurer; Rev. William Lowe, London, chaplain; W. J. Thompson, Toronto, D.O.C.

Next year's meeting will be at St. Catharines.

Lloyd-George Gets Damages.

London, March 13.—The action of David Lloyd-George, Chancellor of the Exchequer, for libelous and derogatory statements against him published in a Sunday newspaper, has been settled out of court with the payment by the newspaper of $5,000, which Mr. Lloyd-George will donate to charity.

Favor Reciprocity.

Victoria, B.C., March 13.—The Socialists' bill now before the Legislature was voted down yesterday. The contentious election bill was adopted, and the House given notice of a resolution favoring reciprocity with the States in coal and lumber, by way of suggestion of the Federal Government.

WAS HYSTERICAL IN COURT THE CLIMAX WAS STARTLING

Miss Kinrade is Carried Out of Court Shouting "I See That Man, He'll Shoot Me"---Swears She Has Never Fired Revolver---Mr. Blackstock Winds up Examination With Solemn Warning.

Hamilton, March 13.—If truth is stranger than fiction reality can outclimax all art.

Screaming: "I see that man, he'll shoot me, he'll shoot me," Florence Kinrade was carried from the court room at 8 o'clock last night, after Mr. Blackstock had announced that he was through with her. The inquest was then adjourned until Friday next.

A report that Miss Kinrade would be under police surveillance in the meantime was later denied.

The dramatic scene at the close of the session here has never been surpassed in the intensity of its absorbing interest, the fascinating character of the leading actors in the scene, and the engrossing and tragic problem around which the scene centered.

Miss Florence Kinrade, sister of the murdered girl, the only member of the family in the house when the act was committed, and the only witness with any explanation of the mystery to offer, had sat for three hours and a quarter on the witness stand before the terrible insistent inquisition of George Tate Blackstock, K.C., the crown examiner.

He had once more gone over the whole ground of the tragedy, probed every circumstance, and with circumscribed latitude gone into every detail of the witness' life for two years or more.

A pretty girl, not in the merely conventional sense, but attractive in a way that no portraits have done justice to, cool, self-possessed, keenly attentive, always avoiding the gaze of the counsel, with eyes upcast towards the top of the distant door; with gentle voice and quiet ways, clever, having taken first-class honors in music at Toronto University, she sat throughout the least affected until the close of the scene.

She was the real centre of the enquiry. The coroner never interfered. He hasn't asked a question since the enquiry begun. Mr. Hobson, counsel for the Kinrade family, also sat dumb and let Mr. Blackstock ask whatever he wanted to know about, relevant or irrelevant.

The crier called for silence. The policemen listened. The reporters scribbled. The small crowd shuffled its feet and repeatedly called down anathemas from counsel.

Mr. Blackstock probed on and on and on. How did she sleep? What did she do in Toronto? Where had she traveled? Did she stay at Savannah or Atlanta? When was Miss Elliott married? Had she ever fired a revolver? Did she travel alone? How often did she stay at the Queen's Hotel alone? What was Mr. Baum like? Where did she sing on Spadina avenue? Who collected the rents? All manner of questions led up to the recapitulation of the story of the tragedy itself. In the most intense stillness Mr. Blackstock led up to the climax.

"Miss Kinrade," do you know anything about the revolver with which this deed was done" "I don't."

"Do you know anything about cartridge shells after your sister was shot?" "I don't know."

The responses at this juncture were given in very low and quiet tones, and the stillness in the court room approached a dramatic intensity. The questions were put with slow deliberation.

"What became of the revolver?" "I wouldn't know what he did."

"Do you know?" "No, I do not."

"You do know the awful solemnity of these questions?" "Yes."

"You know it would be an awful sin to vary a hair's breadth from the truth?" "Yes."

"Do you tell me in these solemn moments and under these solemn circumstances that you do not know who killed your sister?"

"I do not know that man," came the quiet reply.

"Either that man killed her or else—"

"If no man was there only you two were alone in the house?"

"Yes."

"That will do."

The sympathy of a large part of those present had been with the witness up to this moment. There were contradictions and conflictions and difficulties, but the excitement of the time, her fright and nervousness might have explained these.

Instead of rising to go, she slowly closed her eyes, swaying slightly, but not changing color. A moment or two was lost while a constable came to her assistance. She settled quietly back into his arm. The nurse was called and an attempt was made to lift her from the box. The chair prevented and was discarded and borne by nurse and constable an attempt was made to pass behind the coroner from the room. Her fiance, Mr. Wright, also came forward. Then she began to shriek—

"I see that man."

"Ah——! that man."

"He'll shoot me," and with these dismal shrieks she was conveyed to an inner room.

The inquest to suit the jury was adjourned to next week, and this having been decided Friday night was chosen to suit the crown, which expects to have important evidence by that time.

Harry Woodbridge, a coachman, testified to having driven a lady to a house near Kinrade's on the fatal Thursday, and that he had waited there from 3.52 to 4.10 p.m.

"What did you see?" asked Mr. Blackstock.

"I saw a lady come out of the house a few doors away from Mrs. Kittson's. She looked as though she had a shawl over her head and a baby in her arms. Then I saw Brown, the grocer, come out of his shop and come toward me. He went into Mrs. Kittson's. Mrs. Kittson came out of her house. The doctor came in, then the patrol wagon."

He had heard no shots, nor had he seen any suspicious character.

Detective Bleakley recalled, was asked by a juror whether, if Ethel had fallen face forward from a chair when shot, her face would not have shown bloodstains.

"Of course," said Mr. Blackstock, "you don't know whether she was sitting on the chair?" and the detective said not.

Earl Kinrade said he had been transferred by the Bank of Commerce from Montreal to Hamilton the day before the tragedy. "Emphatically" was his reply when asked if he confirmed the other members of the family as to the harmony of the household. There were no estrangements, and the feelings between the sisters "could not have been better."

"Had you heard anything about a revolver being brought back from the south by your sister Florence?" "No."

"Never heard that in your home?" "No."

"Are you sure about that?" "Positive."

"Did you hear anything about her using a revolver in the south?" "May I ask for what purpose?"

"For any purpose." "Yes."

"When did you hear of that?" "I don't remember."

"You heard of her using a revolver in the south, but you did not hear for what purpose?" "Exactly."

"Was that in one of her letters?" "I heard my father say something about it."

"What did you hear your father say?"

Earl said that his sister went to Savannah, where there are a lot of colored people. She practiced with a revolver before going there, not as a means of injuring anyone, but just for protection.

"That's what your father told you?" "That's what I derived from what he said."

Earl said Florence had gone to Savannah with Miss Elliott, whom he had never met. He did not know of any others of the family had ever met her, or if she had ever been at the Kinrade home. He did not know where she was now.

That the family had objected to Florence's handling a revolver, lest with her nervous temperament some harm would result, was a question by Mr. Blackstock, to which witness assented to, but later revised, saying he didn't mean it if he had said it. The court reporter's notes finally showed that his reference had been to "their" temperament. Florence, he said, "had the ordinary temperament that a girl would have." Others in the family were more nervous.

In conclusion, witness affirmed he could not, and to the best of his knowledge no member of the family could furnish any further clues to the solution of the mystery.

"You are not able to throw any more light on it?" asked the examiner, and he replied "none at all."

Miss Florence Kinrade was the next witness called. After several questions Mr. Blackstock asked:

"While you were down south did you have occasion to familiarize yourself with the use of firearms." "I remember that Mr. Warburton told us that he would have to be armed."

"What did he tell you about how you would have to be armed?" "On account of there being so many colored people. He said he would have to be armed."

"Did you intend to be armed?" "Oh, no; he was with us."

"Did you practice with a revolver at all?" "Not at all."

"There was never any talk at any time about your practicing with a revolver?" "No."

THE LEADER TO-DAY HAS 100,000 VOTES

Miss Maude Adams Away in the Clear—It Took 26,000 of the Pinks to Turn the Trick.

The contest manager has been having a few more or less original ideas, and has been arriving at a few conclusions. In the first place, both in the contest and outside he has been forced to revise his figures on this particular contest. To begin he had his own private opinion concerning the number of votes it was going to take to win in this race. He kept it severely to himself and now he is mighty glad he did so. If he did not a large number of the owners of thoroughbreds who are striving to win, would have certainly had him down as the clearest kind of a "piker."

Of course, some of this talk about certain contestants having eight or ten million votes is nonsense but it is better to have a hundred thousand votes too many instead of a thousand too few. Set your estimate high enough to be sure of your winning and then get them. And now is the time to get them. You can accomplish great things in the next seven working days of the contest.

To-day's leaders are:

Miss Birdie Dawson.
Miss Rose P. Moore.
Herb. McMillan.
P. G. Towns.
GOLD WATCHES

FURTHER ACTION TAKEN REGARDING AN INSPECTOR OF ELECTRIC WIRING

At the meeting of the Fire, Water and Light Committee last night Ald. Turner brought up the question of the city having an inspector of electric light. He drew attention to the fact that the inspector of the Underwriters' Association had ordered many changes in the wiring of the buildings in this city, putting citizens to large expense. A citizen might have an electrician do some electric wiring and the Underwriters' Association could come along a few days later and order it changed. There should be protection for citizens in this connection.

Ald. Morgan suggested that the Underwriters' Association furnish and pay the inspector.

Ald. Turner did not think this could be done.

Ald Buller said the city could not afford to have an inspector of wiring who would do nothing else but that work.

It was decided to ask the city solicitor what power the city has in this connection.

The wiring at the fire hall has been reported unsatisfactory in some respects by the Underwriters' inspector, and Chief Howard has been instructed to remedy the matter.

ASSISTING IN MEETINGS AT TORONTO

The Presbytery of Toronto, has arranged a series of evangelistic meetings for the churches east of Yonge street and the Presbyterian ministers of Peterborough are assisting in the work. Rev. Robt. IS MISS KINRADE SANE? DETECTIVES WATCHING HER

Special to the Review.

Hamilton, Ont, March 13.—Miss Florence Kinrade, it is intimated today, is practically under police surveillance although the word is a strong one.—Ever since she went to Toronto a private detective has been watching her and his duties are being continued in this city. "She can go where she likes but where she goes, the man will go too," was the statement made by Detective Bleakley today.

Toronto, March 13—At the parliament buildings this morning, Mr John Cartwright, Deputy Attorney General; Dr. Bruce Smith, Inspector of prisons, and Dr Clark, of the Toronto asylum, were in consultation as to the condition of Miss Florence Kinrade with special reference to the swooning fits the girl has developed since the inquest commenced. Subsequently while admitting the object of the conference they declined to discuss their conclusion.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS RED-HOT FROM WIRES

Grain Bulletin.

Ottawa, March 13.—Twenty per cent. of the wheat crop of last year, or 22,000,000 bushels, was left in the farmers' hands at the end of February, according to a bulletin issued yesterday.

Of oats there were 13 per cent, or 109,000,000 bushels; barley, 33 per cent., or 15,000,000 bushels.

Up to March 1 there has been inspected at Winnipeg and points west for the six months, 57,909,600 bushels of wheat, 13,939,200 bushels of oats and 2,896,800 bushels of barley.

Goes to London.

Montreal, March 13.—Dr. E. M. MacBride, professor of zoology at McGill University, has received the appointment of professor of zoology, under Dr. Bovey, at the Imperial College of Science and Technology, South Kensington, London, and will probably leave McGill at the end of the present session to take up the new duties.

British Naval Estimates.

London, March 13.—The eagerly-awaited British naval estimates, about which there has been so much controversy inside and outside of the Cabinet, were issued last evening.

A compromise won the day for the estimates provide for a total expenditure of $175,713,500, an increase of $14,160,000 over the estimates of 1908-09.

The new building program provides for four Dreadnoughts, six protected cruisers, twenty torpedo-boat destroyers and a number of submarines, the latter to cost $5,000,000.

Will Act as Arbitrator.

The Hague, March 13.—Deputy Desaverin Lehman, a member of the court of arbitration, has accepted the invitation to act as one of the foreign members of the arbitration court, to which it is intended to submit the Newfoundland fisheries question between Great Britain and the United States.

CAN VOUCH FOR ITEMS OF EXPENSE UNDER $100

Amendment to Audit Act is Introduced.

Premier Answers Studholme's Graft Insinuations---Accounts Can be Produced.

Toronto, March 13.—The budget debate disposed of, the Legislature settled down to routine business yesterday.

The House passed a resolution increasing the salary of the provincial auditor to $3,500.

Col. Matheson explained to the House that the proposed amendments to the Audit Act, contained in bill 125, were not designed to limit the powers of the auditor, but to make the present act more workable.

Another amendment provided that sundry accounts up to $100, when certified to by a Minister, should be passed by the auditor.

In the committee of the whole, some discussion took place in regard to this amendment. Hon. Col. Matheson complained that it was altogether impossible, in many cases, to secure vouchers for small items of expenditure, and it was often advisable, as in the case of detectives, that this should not be done.

The Premier stated that the Government could hardly ask officials to get vouchers for every imaginable item. The bill was the outcome of observations regarding the utter impossibility of working the present act. In reply to a remark by Allan Studholme, he said that there was very little suspicion on the part of the public with regard to public expenditures.

Hon. Mr. MacKay thought that instances might arise, as were indicated by the Government, but he thought it was a dangerous principle to introduce to allow the certificate of a Minister to sanction payment on an account, and he would be inclined to ask that the amount be reduced from $100 to $50.

The Provincial Treasurer replied that it was not the intention of the Government to use this clause unless compelled to do so.

Allan Studholme objected to the amendment on the ground that at every street corner you could hear talk of graft and charges of dishonesty.

"The hon. gentleman's remarks are altogether gratuitous," said Sir James Whitney. "There is no document or account in possession of the Government which cannot be produced. The Government assumed responsibility for the amendment."

The clause was passed by providing that where exceptions were made by the auditor, they would appear in the public accounts.

Hon. Mr. Duff's bill to amend the Stationery Engineers' Act was given a second reading. This bill provides that certificates shall be granted to stationery engineers who have resided three years in Canada or are British subjects. Difficulty had been found at such points as Windsor, where American firms, who have large contracts in Canada, would bring over engineers, who could get a license under the present act. This bill would be a protection to Canadians.

Hon. Mr. Duff's other bill to confirm the transfer of the Ontario Veterinary College to the Government was also given a second reading.

Dr. Downey moved the second reading of bill 145 to enable municipalities to purchase and distribute electrical energy under the control of the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board.

A bill to enable municipal councils to undertake certain public works by the issuance of debentures will apply to sewage disposal works, which might be ordered by the Provincial Board of Health, and would have to be approved by that body, the work to be done to the satisfaction of the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board.

The Attorney-General made an exception in the case of Kingston, where the police magistrate will be allowed to continue legal practice while holding that office.

HAS TROUBLE WITH BOWSER

Report Current That B.C. Attorney-General Will Resign---Story is Denied.

Vancouver, B.C., March 13.—The World says Attorney-General Bowser will resign on account of difficulties with Premier McBride. Bowser denies the story.

In connection with mention in the Senate Thursday of the case of Chief Justice Hunter, it might be mentioned that Attorney-General Bowser two months ago filed charges with Hon. Mr. Aylesworth asking for the removal of Hunter. The charges are based on the chief justice's alleged lack of control of personal habits.

The question of the right of the province of British Columbia to regulate the salmon fisheries in tidal and non-tidal waters, authority for which is disputed by the Dominion Government, is to be carried before the Privy Council in June for ultimate decision. A series of questions will be submitted by the Attorney-General to the full court and appeal taken whichever way the decision goes.

LATE TICKS FROM WIRES

Willie Woodward, 13 years old, a worker in the Gibson Plaining Mills, London, was caught in the shafting yesterday afternoon and almost instantly killed.

There is a rumor in New York that Hetty Green has bought a $700,000 residence on Fifth avenue, and that her recently-married daughter will live with her there.

Donald Sutherland, ex-M. P. P., South Oxford, has been appointed head of the colonization branch of the Ontario Agricultural Department, in succession to Thomas Southworth.

Frank O'Brien was yesterday morning sentenced by His Honor Judge Chadwick at Guelph to seven years in the penitentiary. He had pleaded guilty to five charges of theft at Mount Forest.

Sam Baird, 80 years old, who was Lucky Baldwin's side partner in the days of Virginia City, and associate of Flood, MacKay and Fair, was buried in a rude coffin on a Californian desert last Tuesday.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier told the deputation of Ottawa Liberals yesterday that unless he obtained the consent of Quebec East constituents he would not elect to sit for Ottawa. He did not expect that consent.

Quadruplets.

Havana, March 13.—The wife of a poor cigarmaker of Havana, the mother of fourteen children, gave birth on Thursday to quadruplets, two boys and two girls. President Gomes sent his congratulations to the mother as a woman deserving well of the republic, with tender and substantial assistance.

Balloon 3,000 Feet Up.

Freidrichshafen, March 13.—The Zeppelin airship, which went up from Lake Constance yesterday morning, attained an altitude of over 3,000 feet, a record height for steerable balloons. Varied and most difficult manoeuvres were carried out at this height with great success.

Spectacular Fire.

New York, March 13.—Several persons who dropped from second storey windows were caught by firemen and policemen and saved from serious injury at a spectacular fire in a crowded tenement house in Williamsburg yesterday.

WARM TIME AT MEETING OF COMMITTEE LAST NIGHT

Ald. Hicks Did Not Like the Way Things Were Going and Left the Meeting—Trouble Arose Over Report on the Recent Assault at the Fire Hall.

There was a lively brush over fire hall matters at the meeting of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, last night. Ald. Hicks put on his coat and left the meeting when it was about half over and advised the other members that they better get some one to take his place.

The trouble arose when the chairman, Ald. Buller, read a report from the chief of the fire brigade regarding the assault on deputy chief Grange on February 27th.

Ald. Turner suggested that the report be received and no action taken.

Ald. Morgan did not agree with this. He said the fire brigade was not in satisfactory condition and that it should be looked into. He did not think the chief should be allowed to discharge men whenever he felt like it and to keep the hall full of raw recruits. It was not fair to the city.

Ald. Turner and Ald. Buller contended that the chief had full swing and would be held responsible for the condition of the brigade.

Ald. Hicks told the chairman and Ald. Turner what he thought of their action in connection with the report on the investigation and there were a few warm words between Ald. Buller and Hicks.

Ald. Turner said he had acted in good faith.

Chairman Buller told of being called to the hall on the night of the trouble and what had happened after he arrived.

Ald. Hicks said he believed the chief acted as he should have done in connection with the affair.

Ald. Buller said a lot of the trouble at the fire hall was the result of a lot of talk going on outside the hall. He intended to back up the chief until he was convinced that Mr. Howard was not a good man for the position.

Ald. Hicks said he had not been treated fairly by Ald. Buller and Ald. Turner in connection with the investigation regarding the fire chief when they introduced a rider to the report to the council.

A heated debate followed on this point and Ald. Hicks got up and left the meeting. He had work to do at home, he said.

No action was taken on the report of the fire chief.

WATERWORKS BY-LAW

We are glad to note that the Water Commissioners will lay before the electors all the circumstances that have led to their asking the City Council to submit this by-law, together with a full description of the intended improvements. We shall be glad to give space for the purpose, as since the purchase of the Works by the city this is by far the most important undertaking proposed. We warmly commend this action of the Commissioners and we believe it will be appreciated by the ratepayers at large. The vote will be taken on the 29th inst.

AN IMPROPRIETY

The action of the executive of the Liberal Conservative Association of Ontario or that part of it responsible for the failure of Mr. Maclaren to get his petition of protest fyled, is a distinct menace to the good name of the Conservative party and to the well-being of Conservatism. Such bosses-gerus as that will lead to a rebellion in short order if repeated, we fancy. What can induce people to disregard the first elements of common sense in this respect we cannot conceive. It will be necessary for Mr. Borden to speak one of these days.

EDITORIAL NOTES

"Dr. Jameson lives and learns," says the Saturday Review. "Is there a single South African question on which he has not come to admit himself in the wrong? He was the leader in the Raid; yet after a big war he was the first to restore to full citizenship the rebels who fought for the Boers, and he has now discovered in a few weeks Dutch virtues which ought not to have been hidden from his sight during long years. He defends the equality of the Taal—it is of course. Hardly Dutch at all—and of English on the ground that to make the language of the Imperial power the official language of the country is to proclaim the Boers' inferiority."

"The main point, which is entirely overlooked in the Times article of February 12, is that the germinal or congenital 'acquired' changes are permanent; they show their presence as the young creature develops, determining variations or changes in it as contrasted with its parents and they may be transmitted by it to its own offspring. On the other hand, the Lamarckian post-genital acquisitions have no such deep rooted character. In spite of repeated experiment and inquiry, naturalists have not been able to show that bodily changes or acquisitions of post-genital origin can be carried on by reproduction to the young." — Prof. Ray Lankester

REPLY OF REV. DR. CARMAN TO HIS OPPONENTS AND CRITICS

Rev. Dr. Carman writes the World as follows:

While not specially fond of controversy or desirous of its continuance, I feel in duty bound as at the first, to notice some issues that have arisen. One could hardly imagine there would be such a stir, but it is plain enough sore spots were struck, and I am sorry they were so sore, both on the irregularities as to pulpit arrangements and the utterances concerning the integrity of Holy Scripture. The pulpit arrangement was conceived in confidence and good will, and likely so would have terminated but for a manifest disposition to introduce and propagate what is known as higher criticism.

One of our leading ministers, a careful and earnest student, after reading the address, writes me as follows:

"Bearing in mind the circumstances under which Mr. Jackson came to Canadian Methodism, and the influential position from which he speaks, I do not think your protest is in any way extreme or the language used too strong. From his record I did not expect such a disturbing and unpardonable deliverance. It was premeditated and deliberate and because of this he is to be censured in words he cannot misunderstand. No special circumstances were calling for any such statement. That he should break up the peace of a church in which he was only an irresponsible stranger, and use this influential church as a vantage ground from which to throw far and wide his dangerous declarations is to me a gross misuse of the generous hospitality which has been accorded him."

It must be borne in mind, when I penned my first note that the circumstances of the case were all in clear view before me. I saw a power in the church interfering with its pulpits and pastoral arrangements, and I saw the instrument of that power at war with what I conceived to be the highest interests of our ministers and people and the trustworthiness of the word of God. For if one church could call in from abroad a man in no way responsible to us, another with the money could do the same thing. Where then should we land?

THE MEANINGS OF TERMS

Now that the address which originally provoked the animadversions is before the public, men may judge for themselves. I do not find in it a word about the supernatural or miracles, or revelation, and scarcely a breath about inspiration, all potent and indispensable factors of our Christian faith; nor do I find the feeblest intimation of faith itself, which of course is the faculty and the spiritual operation that connects us with God. We must believe that He is, and that He is the rewarder. "Through faith we understand that the worlds were framed by the Word of God." These voices from the heavens with their attestations are ignored or suppressed. The voices from exhumed palaces and cities are stifled, monument and inscription, tile and record, have no place in this estimate. Yet we have much talk and reiteration of "unhistoric," "unscientific."

"I do not know what the man means by "science"; but I understand it to be sure and safe, well and logically arranged knowledge, gained by the appropriate faculty in the use of the proper ways, means, and instruments. I do not study astronomy with a chemical apparatus or ordinarily gather with the nostrils the facts and principles that belong to the ear as a gateway to the understanding. I do not know what he means by "history"; but I mean a statement of facts, acts and actors, fully attested and endorsed and duly recorded.

Remove the media and instruments of the knowledge I seek, blur and blight the appropriate faculty, reduce all to the sensuous, the mean and temporal, which is precisely what the essay and higher criticism do—so inaptly called the historic method—and of course we can readily spare more than eleven chapters; we can then spare and surrender the whole volume, yea tomes and libraries. So can we railroad the whole Bible into obscurity and contempt any day, before morning prayers.

Revelation and Knowledge

If the creation of the universe be a fact and not a myth: if the creation of man and woman be facts and not myths—I am not concerned just now about the literary dress—and if the fall of man be a fact and all duly recorded, then we have history up to the date and the bases of all history, and we have science up to its date and the foundation of all science. This is imbedded in and a part of our Christian faith. Further than that: Is revelation a source of knowledge? Is inspiration a source of knowledge. Is faith a source of knowledge? Can they shed any light on our other knowledge? Can they attest and confirm history as relating to the acts of God and His dealing with men? Who dare deny it? And this is what is unhesitatingly claimed for Christ, and the apostles, that when they touch human history their statements are perfectly trustworthy.

The rule of interpretation set forth in the lecture might well startle us somewhat, considering that it had been previously pronounced, as is said, in a Methodist church. "We must lay aside our theological prepossessions, forget what of religion we had learned." "Suppose we should read these wonders of Genesis in some other book, we would say at once myth, legend." But if it were interposed, there are other wonders in subsequent scripture; "then we must determine as to trustworthiness and religious obligation by our common sense," his and mine. Try their rule on the passage of the Red Sea, the giving of the law, the fall of Jericho, the destruction of the host of Sennacherib. Myth legend, all myth, and that stand is taken by other nationalities. Try it on the incarnation and miraculous conception of our Lord, on His resurrection from the dead, His ascension into heaven, and the descent of the holy spirit. We would not accept it if read in another book, hence if read in the Bible all myth and legend. If German rationalism or even pagan naturalism has any lower standard than that I have not seen it.

ROCK LEVELLED BY A BREATH

With this marvelous rule of interpretation Gladstone's impregnable rock of holy scripture is levelled by a whiff of Huxley's breath. The Bradlaughs and Ingersolls have all vanished under the splendors of this uncertain ray. But what if one should venture to ask what need of Bradlaughs and Ingersolls if they are out-Bradlaughed and out-Ingersolled within the precincts of the House of God, which is the church of the living God the pillar and ground of the truth. If there is science or history up to its own date under the sky, it is in my humble judgment the first verse in the Bible, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," that truth of the word of the eternal spirit throughout all the ages against all Atheisms, Polytheisms, Agnosticisms, Materialisms, Pantheisms, and materialistic evolutions. Will it be said in these circles that this is not a true account of the origin of the universe, and the profoundest, surest science of the great first cause. Again "God created man in his own image—male and female created He them?" Is not this a true account as we see in our streets today. And with it correlates the basis of our biology, sociology, anthropology and related sciences.

Should our ideal be a atom sociology or a protoplasm sociology, or a Mormon sociology or the fantastical sociology of higher levels or should it be the pattern set in Eden and commended to the race? "I was afraid because I was naked," said the guilty transgressor, and so revealed at the beginning the basis of all ethical science and the need of atonement. On these and kindred facts with absolute historic certainty were the foundations laid at the beginning. How else is the marriage law and the Sabbath law to be obligatory on all mankind for all ages? Whatever may have been since, whatever we may have introduced, these were science and history at the start. And they are part and parcel of the Christian faith. Science and religion were so limited at the beginning and from all men's mists and perplexities when reason and faith shall have learned their places they will be reunited in the radiance around the throne.

DOGMATIC—AND WHY NOT

They say the old man is dogmatic, given to high ecclesiasticism and good material for a pontiff of the middle ages. So far as the venerable pontiffs of the middle ages stood by the word of God, and the rights of their ministers, I am with them. Dogmatic, and why not? I grew in a dogmatic country, in a dogmatic age and among a dogmatic people. We demand facts, and build our business and our religion on facts and not on theories, fancies and illusions. It is dogmatism all around me. I find it in the banks to the last cent, I see it in the courts with the lawyers and the judges on the bench. How they probe a man with questions and strap him down under the rules of court and the requirements of law. Doctors and dentists are dogmatic with keen steel and firm hand. I want no dentist shivering and hesitating in his tenderness with me, even though the tooth be sore. Good merchants are dogmatic with their cloth; "All wool," they say; "No mixture there." And when the people are after good cloth that is what they want, not shoddy. Is not sure and certain doctrine worth as much as a piece of cloth? Manufacturers are dogmatic with their plows and reapers, and no imperfect bolt or unfinished joint shall discount their product in the market. All this is so, and yet we are expected to play fast and loose in clearest revelation and deepest consciousness in surest knowledge and simplest faith.

If men want to be slack in religion and loose in morals, the preacher is not the man to encourage such a step by his doctrine. Dr Carman is not a literalist; he is by no means a "verbatim et literatim," man. But he is not ready to have his Bible wrested from him by anti-Christian canons of interpretation and a heathen court of appeal. "Men are walking softly," says an esteemed brother, "in the presence of the problem of sin and misery." This is precisely the trouble in our time. Why are they not braced up by the teaching to walk manfully, courageously? Certainly that will not be done if you railroad the Bible, book by book into oblivion. The problem of sin is perfectly solved as to its origin, its perpetuity and its one and only absolutely infallible cure. If the Bible is right on its origin and cure, men better be waked up lest they dwell with everlast burnings.

DR. JACKSON'S ATTAINMENTS.

By another estimable brother the author of the essay is set up as the model of our Methodist preachers and as having done more to elevate the standard of pulpit efficiency in Canadian Methodism than any other clergyman in the Dominion. That may be so; but since the collapse of the boasted and long-expected angelism from over the waters, I doubt that my brethren are of that opinion. A pleasing speaker, an acceptable preacher and a charming man in social life, it perhaps had been well all round had the author of the paper on the first chapters of Genesis contented himself with so rich a grace and so high an attainment. I am sure it would have blessed our Methodism and our country. His deep and widespread friendships are such as any man might covet and will, we presume, prove a defence and a support. But after all it would not be the first time that I had seen human friendships blunt the conscience and pervert the higher, better judgment.

Looking out over the church and viewing the power and grandeur of its practical work I shall be glad to be done with this contention. Our Connexional officers are at work. I trust they will be amply sustained. I have visited circuits where pastors and people were all aglow with their Bible class work deeply interested, not in speculation, but in the increase of spiritual knowledge and power. And most important of all for the present time our great missionary congress is near at hand. Oh. that it be a Pentecost! that it be a gathering from all parts as significant as the assembly at Jerusalem in the beginning of our era, and even more illustrious! Oh that there be such an outpouring of the Spirit as shall hush all strife and proclaim God and Christ triumphant through the ever blessed living Lord given for all future ages to all nations under the sun.

I CAN'T PRAISE THEM TOO MUCH

So Says Charles Bell of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

He Had Rheumatism for Ten Years and the Old Reliable Kidney Remedy Cured Him Completely.

North Range, Digby County, NS., March 12.— Special.—"I am so filled with gratitude to Dodd's Kidney Pills that I cannot praise them too highly." These are the words of Mr. Chas Bell, well known here and they are echoed by many another who has been freed from the tortures of rheumatism by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I suffered terribly from rheumatism for ten years," Mr Bell continues "I was so bad I could scarcely get in and out of bed. After trying various medicines without getting relief a friend advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. Six boxes cleaned the rheumatism right out of me."

That's what Dodd's Kidney Pills do to rheumatism—clean it right out of you. They do this simply and naturally. Rheumatism is caused by uric acid in the blood. When the kidneys are healthy they strain this uric acid out of the blood. With no uric acid in the blood there can be no rheumatism. Consequently to cure rheumatism, cure your kidneys. Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure the kidneys.

WILL PREACH AT SPRINGVILLE

WHAT A SAMPLE DID

SAVED LITTLE BOY'S LIFE.

As a forlorn hope, Mr. H. Stephens, of Arthur, Ont., sent for a sample of PSYCHINE recommended by his doctor. His little boy was lying at death's door and the doctor had given up hope. Mrs. Stephens says: "My little son was stricken down with Pneumonia after contracting a severe cold. He lay for nearly three months almost like a dead child. His lungs became so swollen that his heart was pressed over to his right side and we were informed that Consumption had our boy in its fatal grip. It was pitiable to see how terribly weak and emaciated he was. The little lad would often cough almost continuously for twenty-four hours. He perspired dreadfully and his garments and the bed clothes were frequently as wet as if they had been dipped in water. At one time he was almost completely covered with sores which were caused by so many mustard plasters, and rubbing continually with Iodine to relieve the incessant pain."

"How can I describe my feelings when the doctor told me that I must prepare to lose my treasure. He had exhausted every means in his power and did not think that little Charley could ever get well. At the same time the doctor called my attention to PSYCHINE which he said, had been SUPPOSED to work many striking cures."

"My husband sent for a sample bottle of PSYCHINE and gave him some at once, ceasing the doctor's medicines altogether. Almost immediately an improvement was noticeable. The effect in two days was miraculous. His breathing became quite easy and the soreness and pain in the lungs went away. His eyes looked brighter, and he soon began to cheer up and regain his boyish spirits. Indeed it seemed as if the dead had come to life."

"This improvement went steadily on. The boy's appetite came again, and he put on flesh rapidly, daily gaining in weight. To-day my son is well and strong and able to enjoy life to the full. He is now eight years of age and has not needed to take any medicine since that time. Less than ten bottles of PSYCHINE completely cured him. How many children's lives might be saved if mothers only knew of this wonderful remedy! I will always recommend it."

If you are suffering in any way, and have almost despaired of ever recovering the health you once enjoyed, why not send for a sample bottle of PSYCHINE and test it for yourself! There is no reason why you should not be restored. PSYCHINE has proved the sovereign remedy in hundreds of other cases.

THE DRAMA

In silken shoes and ragged dress,
  Forlorn she stands.
A peck of diamonds, more or less,
  Adorn her hands,
Yet she must beg, she doth confess,
  In foreign lands.

The canvas grove is dark and vast,
  The wintry breeze
Comes whistling in the bitter blast
  Through canvas trees,
The paper snow is falling fast
  And she will freeze.

And now the wolves are on the run;
  We hear their whoops;
To yelp and howl have they begun
  In sullen groups;
I understand the trick is done
  Outside by supes.

The hero dashes from the wings;
  The wolves skidoo,
The leading lady to him clings;
  They bill and coo,
We may as well put on our things;
  the play is through.

THE LOCAL OPTION MOVEMENT IN THE CITY

The Matter Appearing in This Department is Furnished by the Peterborough Temperance and Moral Reform League Which Has Arranged for its Publication.

Temperance Hotels

Fear has been expressed in a few quarters that if Peterborough carries local option, as seems to be the general expectation, the hotels of the city may deteriorate. This, it is claimed, would injure the city with the travelling public.

There is little reason for fear on this score. There are 38,000,000 people in the United States living in prohibition territory. This includes many large cities. And yet, they have hotels, and good ones. In several States the hotels, whether they have bars or not, are licensed. The hotels are inspected and are required to provide suitable accommodation. It is reported that the Ontario Government purposes enacting legislation of a similar nature in this province. The following article from the Pioneer bears on the subject:

"Temperance hotels will pay if properly conducted, in places where there is a necessity for hotel accommodation.

"Assertions to the contrary are often made by men interested in the liquor business, who attempt to defend that business by arguing that a liquor license is necessary to enable a hotelkeeper to derive sufficient profit out of his bar to make up what he loses by his hotel business proper.

"The supplying of meals, lodging and other conveniences and comforts to travellers is a business that on ordinary commercial principles must be responsibly self-supporting. If the service is necessary, it is right to charge a reasonable price for it. A reasonable price can only be a price that is profitable. The plan of giving a man, for fifty cents, a dinner worth a dollar, and then expecting him to buy fifty cents worth of liquor to balance his account, is too absurd to be either advocated or carried on.

"The unsoundness of the theory of impracticability is, however, sufficiently exposed by the fact that in nearly every part of the world temperance hotels are operated successfully, and in many places hotel-keeping is entirely disassociated from liquor-selling, the hotel and the saloon being separate institutions, meeting separate wants and patronized by separate constituencies.

"A good illustration is to be found in the Mills hotels of New York, established some years ago by Mr. D. O. Mills, a wealthy philanthropist, for the purpose of giving plain, substantial hotel accommodation to men of limited means. The enterprise was at first looked upon as a charity, and its failure, from a financial standpoint, was predicted. The predictions did not come true. There are now three of these hotels, large, handsome fire-proof buildings, with hundreds of rooms rented at very low figures well warmed and ventilated. They have proved to be a good paying investment, and if such an enterprise, on a cheap plan, can be made a success, it is certain that a hotel business, on a more luxurious scale would be equally profitable to those who engaged in it."

Funds for the Campaign

Evidence of how thoroughly in earnest are the temperance people of Peterborough in the present campaign is furnished by the fact that contributions to the campaign fund are already being received. One prominent ratepayer in the city recently contributed a cheque for $50. The ladies of the Charlotte street Methodist church have voted a similar amount which is considered a very generous contribution. One gentleman has offered to give ten dollars a month. Others have volunteered to give smaller sums monthly. These contributions have been offered although, as yet, no systematic canvass for funds has been made. When people are willing to put up money like this to drive the bar out of Peterborough it shows how anxious they are to see the cause of temperance win a great victory in this city.

A Typical Result

Ashtabula County is in Ohio. It went under prohibition a little while ago through the operation of the county local option law. Here is what the American Issue reports as the police recorded the result:

"The total number of arrests in Ashtabula in January, 1908, with saloons was 68; January 1909, no saloons, 17. Arrests for drunkenness, January 1908, with saloons, 39; January 1909 without saloons, 4.

"Most of the crooks, criminals and bums have left Ashtabula. Certain streets that were unsafe for a lady to pass are now as unobjectionable as any of our business streets."

Notes

People who claim that even if local option carries in Peterborough it will still be possible to purchase liquor, should watch what is happening to hotel keepers who try to sell liquor in local option centres. At Baltimore, near Cobourg, and not far from Peterborough which is in a local option district, Geo Cockburn, a hotel keeper, was recently fined $50 and costs for having liquor for sale on his premises. It was his second offence. The liquor laws are being enlarged as never before and the liquor sellers are finding it out.

Advertising For an Angel

By MARSHALL CROMWELL.

Copyrighted, 1909, by Associated Literary Press.

Cranston picked up the locket and hurried after the girl, but during that moment in which he stooped to pick the jewel from the floor of the ferryboat she was swept away in the press of passengers.

He was certain that this particular girl had dropped the trinket, for he had left the ferryboat behind her and he had heard the tinkle of the locket as it struck the planks.

Cranston was decidedly interested in her. Once before he had seen her in a street car, and she had haunted his memory for days. On this occasion she had completed her conquest, and it was a man very much in love who had followed her from the boat in the hope that something might occur to enable him to speak to her.

He might save her from being run down in the traffic, or she might slip, or any one of a hundred things might happen which would break the ice of convention and permit Cranston to take the plunge into unconventionality.

And now something had happened, but to his dismay Cranston found that it did not profit him greatly, though perhaps in the long run it might. The locket was of gold, plainly chased and of no very great intrinsic value, but still it might be valued for its associations. Cranston opened the case and was dismayed to find there the picture of two small children.

It was just such a locket as a young matron might wear, and Cranston regarded the pictures dolorously. The girl did not suggest a matron, yet why else should she carry with her the pictures of two little children?

His hopes rose again when in answer to his advertisement he received a letter from Miss Eunice Remson, giving a detailed description of the locket and offering payment for the advertisement and a suitable reward.

Cranston performed a solemn dance emblematic of joy as he blissfully regarded the "Miss" written in parenthesis. At least he was not in love with a married woman.

He made all haste to reach the Remson home, and as he sat in the reception room waiting for Miss Remson he trembled with anticipation. By this time he was almost ready to throw himself at the feet of Miss Remson when she entered and cry, "Be mine!" like the hero of a novel.

He was glad when Miss Remson entered that he had checked his impulse, for she proved to be a sweet faced lady of perhaps fifty.

"You have brought the locket?" she asked as she motioned him to a seat. "I am very much indebted to you."

"But are you the owner?" he demanded. "I should like the pleasure of giving it to the owner."

"Unfortunately that is impossible," was the quiet reply. "Mrs. Weymer left for her home in the west last night."

"Mrs. Weymer!" Cranston's spirits sank again. After all, she was married. The children of the locket were her babies. After the hopes raised by the signature of "Miss Remson" the phrase "Mrs. Weymer" seemed doubly cruel.

"Mrs. Weymer is my niece," explained Miss Remson. "Here are pictures of my little grandnieces from which the miniatures in the locket were made. I presume that you will regard this as sufficient proof of ownership."

"It is entirely satisfactory," stammered Cranston as he delivered to the old lady the golden trinket on which he had built such hopes. "Don't speak of a reward," he added as he saw she was opening her purse. "The advertisement cost only a trifle."

"But it was in every paper," reminded Miss Remson. "We sent for all the papers in the hope of finding it in one of them at least, and then, through curiosity, we looked through them all."

"It was just a trifle," repeated Cranston vaguely. After the nature of the reward for which he had hoped mere money recompense seemed a mockery. He had advertised to find the girl of his heart, not to return the locket. It was absurd that Miss Remson should be made to pay for this dash into the realms of romance.

She was still regarding him with uncertainty when a light step sounded in the hall, and at Miss Remson's call of "Millicent" the girl of the ferry trip entered the room.

There could be no mistake, and Cranston could only spring to his feet and regard her in open mouthed astonishment, which made him look remarkably foolish.

"This is Mr. Cranston, who found the locket," explained Miss Remson. "My niece, Millicent," she added in explanation to Cranston. "Miss Dutton is doubly under obligations to you," she added, "since she was wearing the locket when it was lost."

"I thought it was yours," declared Cranston, finding his tongue at last. "I ran after you and searched the crowd, but you seemed to have vanished into thin air."

"I missed it and went back on the boat to look for it," she explained. "It was mother's locket, and Sister Bella never would have forgiven me if it had been lost. She didn't know I was wearing it."

"I am very glad I found it," murmured Cranston, and there was a world of meaning in his tones.

"Mr. Cranston refuses to let me pay the cost of the advertising or to accept any recompense for his lost time," interrupted Miss Remson. "I don't know what to do."

"I do," cried the girl gayly. "Since he scorns filthy lucre he shall have tea instead. It's tea time, auntie, and I need a cup after all that shopping for Bella. I've walked miles and miles through the stores. It must be terrible to be married and have to shop for babies who need such a multitude of things."

And as she spoke she laid aside her hat and rang the bell for the servant. Cranston detested tea at any time, but most of all in the afternoon, yet he drank two cups very slowly, that it might last the longer.

At last even the excuse of tea was exhausted, and reluctantly he rose to leave. Vainly he had sought to learn of some common friend who might vouch for him, but he had not succeeded, and with laggard steps he turned toward the door. Miss Remson's voice arrested his movement.

"I've been wondering if you can be one of the Cressville Cranstons," she said inquiringly.

"From the very center of Cressville," he assented jubilantly. "I am the son of Arbaugh Cranston."

"How strange!" commented the old lady beamingly. "I spent a part of the summer in Cressville and had a delightful time. I know your mother very well. You must drop in some evening and get better acquainted."

Cranston looked into the girl's eyes and found there a confirmation of the invitation. "I shall be glad to," he said eagerly. "I—er—shall be at liberty tomorrow evening. If—that's—er"—

"We shall be delighted to see you," declared Millicent, taking pity on his confusion.

Her slim, firm hand lay in his for an instant, and then somehow Cranston found himself on the street again.

From his pockets he fished a number of colored slips, the receipts from the newspapers for the advertisement. Slowly he tore them across and let them flutter to the ground.

"And to think Miss Remson wanted to repay me," he commented—"repay me for advertising for an angel! I knew she couldn't be married," he added contentedly, "but she's going to be—to me."

THE REMINDERS OF RHEUMATISM

Cold, Wet Weather Starts the Pain But the Trouble is in the Blood

Cold, damp weather brings on the twinges and pains of rheumatism but is not the real cause of the complaint. The trouble is rooted in the blood and can only be cured by enriching the blood, and driving the poisonous acid out of the system. This is a great medical truth, which every rheumatic sufferer should realize. Liniments and outward applications can not cure the trouble—they can not reach the blood. The sufferer is only wasting valuable time and good money in experimenting with this sort of treatment—and all the time the trouble is becoming more firmly rooted—harder to cure. There is just one sure way to cure rheumatism—Dr Williams' Pink Pills. They act directly on the impure, weak blood. They purify and strengthen it, and so root out the cause of rheumatism.

Mrs S. Bailey, Newcastle Creek, N. B. says: "In the summer of 1906, I became lame in my ankles, but thinking I would soon get over the attack I did not seek medical aid, but used liniments to allay the pain and swelling. Instead of getting better, the trouble increased and I then consulted a doctor who pronounced it articular rheumatism, and treated me for this trouble. Instead of getting better the pain and the swelling became worse until I was hardly able to hobble about the house. On rising in the morning I was unable to bear any weight except with extreme pain. Having tried so much medicine without benefit I began to think I was doomed to be a cripple. One day a cousin advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. She said, "I take them every spring as a tonic for my blood and they make a new person of me." After some persuasion I decided to try them. I had taken three or four boxes before I noticed any change, and then it seemed my ankles were less painful. By the time I had used a few more boxes there was a wonderful improvement in my condition. Not only did my ankles get well but I felt like a different woman and had not been as well in years. In speaking of this to a doctor afterward he said that no doubt Dr Williams Pink Pills had enriched my blood, thus driving out the painful disease."

Not only rheumatic sufferers but all who have any trouble due to weak, watery blood or impure blood can find a cure through the fair use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six for $2.50, from The Dr Williams' Medicine Co, Brockville, Ont.

The Gingerbread Tree.

There is a species of palm, growing to a height of from twenty-five to thirty feet, in Egypt, Arabia, Abyssinia and Nubia which produces its fruit in long clusters, each containing from 100 to 200. These fruits are of an irregular form, of a rich yellowish brown color and are beautifully polished. In upper Egypt they form part of the food of the poorer classes of inhabitants, the part eaten being the fibrous, mealy husk, which tastes almost exactly like gingerbread, whence the popular name of gingerbread tree in Egypt. Hyphoene thebaica is the botanical name of this palm.

Influx From States.

Montreal, March 13.—Fifty-eight thousand people went from the United States to Western Canada last year, and the number will be greatly increased during 1909, was the statement made yesterday by A. C. Shaw, the general passenger agent of the C.P.R. in Chicago.

He declared that the farming classes in the Western States were taking a greater interest in Canada than ever before. One reason for this is that th boom in Texas lands is over, and the only new land left in that state is too dry for general farming unless irrigated.

Witness Punished.

Brantford, March 13.—John McMullen, an employe at the Canada Glue Works, sustained a broken leg and badly smashed thigh as the result of a steam evaporator machine blowing up. McMullen was repairing the escape valve when the accident happened.

Isaac Foster was convicted of perjury yesterday, while giving evidence on his own behalf, and fined $25, with one day's imprisonment. Foster contradicted the oath of three witnesses, that he had not been peeping into windows of a house on Bridge street.

Traveling Bill.

They were on their honeymoon and were climbing the Schnupfelgapfenspitzan peak, and she stood above him some twenty feet.

"What, ho!" he gasped. "What do you see?"

"Far, far below," she cried, "I see a long white streak stretching like a paper ribbon back almost to our hotel."

"Ha, ha!" he ejaculated. "I'll bet it's that blessed bill overtaking us."

And they proceeded onward and upward.—Tit-Bits.

Meets Death In Ditch.

Petrolea, March 13.—Early yesterday morning the body of John Foster, a farmer who owns 250 acres close to the town, was found in a ditch containing water; also besides him was one of his horses, which was also dead. It is supposed Foster was returning home from a sale late in the evening and that the conveyance got too close to the ditch. Foster's body shows marks from the kicks of the horse, and it looks as though he was drowned. He leaves a wife and grown up family.

Pope Avoiding Fatigue.

Rome, March 13.—Following the advice of his physicians the Pope was not present yesterday morning at the Lenten sermon, it being desired that he avoid fatigue. He has, however, held in his apartments the audiences necessary for the conduct of Vatican affairs.

Grand Trunk Pacific Bill Passed.

Victoria, B.C., March 13.—The Grand Trunk Pacific bill was finally passed at yesterday afternoon's sitting of the Legislature. A resolution introduced by Mr. Oliver (Delta) for the recommittal of the bill was defeated by a party vote.

A Woman's Sympathy

Are you discouraged? Is your doctor's bill a heavy financial load? Is your pain a heavy physical burden? I know what these mean to delicate women—I have been discouraged, too; but learned how to cure myself. I want to relieve your burdens. Why not end the pain and stop the doctor's bill? I can do this for you and will if you will assist me.

All you need do is to write for a free box of the remedy which has been placed in my hands to be given away. Perhaps this one box will cure you—it has done so for others. If so, I shall be happy and you will be cured for 2c (the cost of a postage stamp). Your letters held confidentially. Write to-day for my free treat- [illegible] Windsor, Ont.

THINKS WEST IS THE PLACE TO ESTABLISH BUSINESS

Mr. V. Allin has returned from Winnipeg where he has been for two years in the employment of the Standard Bookstore, of that city. He will be in town for about two weeks when he will leave to accept a lucrative position with the Railway News Agency of Montreal.

Like nearly all others from the West, Mr Allin is enthusiastic over the wheat country. He says if he were starting up a business of his own he would choose Western Canada as the place to locate and contemplates going west again to open a stationery business of his own when he has raised sufficient capital.

LOCAL PRESS CLUB ARRANGES IT'S RECEPTION OF VISITORS

A meeting of the Peterborough Press Club was held in the Times building this afternoon, when arrangements were made in connection with the visit here on Saturday, March 27, of the visiting publishers and newspaper men.

Every effort will be made to give the visitors a thoroughly enjoyable time, and they will be shown Peterborough to the best advantage of the city, and with a view of their own pleasure and information.

All the principal sights of interest in the city will be shown them, and the manufactories have very kindly consented to allow the publishers and scribes the privilege of inspecting the plants.

"THE LITTLE TYCOON" WILL BE PRODUCED AFTER EASTER

"The Little Tycoon" will be produced at the Grand Opera House immediately after Easter by leading local talent.

In "The Little Tycoon" William Spencer has written and composed the biggest operatic success he has ever undertaken and the piece is a particularly clever and tuneful one. It requires about ten principals and a chorus of thirty-five will take part in the local production.

Mr. Gliddon has the musical direction of the presentation in hand and Mr. W. McIlroy, who is well known for his ability as a singer and stage technician will play the leading part of Lord Knickerbocker and act as the stage manager.

Mr. Gliddon, by special arrangement with Mr. Spencer, the author, will receive the complete orchestration of twenty-five parts and the play will be given with the accompaniment of twenty-five pieces.

"The Little Tycoon" has enjoyed a wide popularity as a vehicle for professional companies.

BOUGHT JUNK FROM BOYS AND FINE WAS IMPOSED

At the Police Court this morning, David Florence, a junk dealer, was charged with buying a quantity of brass from a young lad by the name of Jordan, who was under age. He pleaded not guilty.

Wm. Jordan was called and stated that he, with another lad, namaed Hartley, took the brass to Lowes, but he did not buy it, so they went over to Florence and he consented to buy the brass if they could get a note. They wrote the note themselves and signed Mrs. Hartley's name to it. P. C. McGinty had come along in the meantime and prevented the boys from receiving the money.

Stanley Hartley was next called and told the same story as Jordan.

The City Clerk gave evidence that Florence was a licensed junk dealer. David Florence explained to the court that he had told the boys that he would not buy the brass unless they got a note from their father or mother, and while they were away after the note he weighed the brass. The boys returned with the note and as he was taking it into the house for his daughter to read, P. C. McGinty arrived on the scene and took the brass and the prisoners to the Police Station.

The Magistrate read the law to Florence on a case of this kind, and told him that he should be acquainted with it. To teach him a lesson he imposed a fine of $10 and costs, amounting to $12.60. The two young lads were remanded till Monday.

REBEKAH LODGE, PETERBORO CONFERRED THE DEGREE

About fifty members of the Rebekah Lodge of Peterborough, arrived in town last evening on a special train and paid a fraternal visit to the Rebekah Lodge in the I.O.O.F. hall, over Adams Bros.' store, Kent street, for the purpose of conferring degrees on several new members.

A very large number of members were present, and after the degree work all adjourned to the spacious dining hall where a banquet was held.

Mr. William Duncan presided as toast-maker, and after enjoying the many good things before them short speeches were made by many of the members present. The Peterborough Rebekahs left shortly after 12 o'clock after having spent a most enjoyable evening.—Lindsay Warder.

SEIZED WITH HEART FAILURE AND EXPIRED SUDDENLY

The death occurred from heart failure yesterday morning at 11.30 of Mrs. William James McGregor, of Patterson street. She was preparing dinner for the household when suddenly overcome and she expired without warning.

The deceased's maiden name was Mary Newton and she came originally from Ireland, where she was born, to Peterborough 28 years ago. Mrs. McGregor was 44 years of age.

Surviving are her husband and nine children, four sons and five daughters. The sons are William, of Otonabee, and George, John and Victor, Leslie at home. The daughters are Mrs. Alex. Morrison, Perry street; Mrs. David Beavis, Elm street; Mrs. Robert Hamilton, of Hamilton, and Matilda and Hessie at home. The late Mrs. McGregor was a member of All Saints' church.

The funeral will be held from the family residence at two o'clock on Monday afternoon and interment will take place in the Little Lake cemetery. Rev. H. R. Trumpour, pastor of All Saints', will officiate at the burial services.

A TIMELY ADDRESS

Mr. Stewart Will Give Talk on License Laws and Their Enforcement

An address of great interest at the present time, when the question of the regulation of the liquor law is of such importance, will be given at the Park street Baptist church on Monday night, when Mr. Jos. Stewart, the local license inspector, will give a talk on "Our License Laws and How They are Enforced." The address will be given under the auspices of the Baptist Young People's Union.

From the nature of the official position Mr. Stewart has a large knowledge of the subject he will deal with and the announcement of the lecture should attract a big attendance.

SLIGHT INCREASE IN THE PRICES

Fair Sized Market This Morning—Considerable Quantity of Eggs and Butter

There was a fair sized market this morning and the prices showed a slight increase from last week. There was not as much meat offered this morning as last Saturday and the price asked for beef was 6 1-2c and 7 1-2c. Pork remained the same at 10c and 11c. Potatoes brought 80c. and 85c, and apples $1.25 to $1.50 a bag. There was a considerable quantity of eggs and butter upstairs in the market hall. Butter rose a couple of cents, the prices being 26c and 28c. Eggs brought 22c and were offered in large quantities. Chickens brought from 60c to $1.00 a pair. Prices in other lines remained the same as have prevailed lately.

Not a Military Funeral

The funeral of the late Col. J. Z Rogers tomorrow afternoon will not be a military one. It was the expressed wish of the deceased that his burial be as quiet as possible. The family also requested that there be no military parade. The officers of the 57th Regiment will, however, attend in a body and it is expected that they will be joined by the veterans.

FIRE, WATER AND LIGHT COMMITTEE IN SESSION

Gong at Pumping Station Said to be Defective—Water Mains Are Asked For—Other General Business.

The Fire, Water and Light Committee met last night and, although all was not harmony, considerable business was transacted.

Ald. Buller, chairman, Ald. Morgan, Ald. Hicks and Mayor Rush were on hand when the meeting opened but Ald. Hicks withdrew before it was over.

Jas. Owens of Campbellford, wrote, stating that he had a team of horses which he considered would be satisfactory for a fire team. They were sixteen hands high, five years of age, and weighed 2700 pounds. It was moved by Ald. Turner and Morgan that Ald. Hicks go to Campbellford with a veterinary surgeon to examine the horses and report to the committee.

GONG DEFECTIVE.

Mr. T. F. Matthews, chairman of the Water Commissioners, wrote the committee drawing attention to the condition of the gong at the pumping station. The gong was not satisfactory, and as it was important that the engineer at the pumping station should be notified when a fire is on in order to increase the pressure a new gong should be installed. The present one was not satisfactory.

Ald. Turner and Morgan were appointed a committee to have the gong tested and to make a report on its condition.

About fifty residents of Gilmour street asked by letter for a better distribution of lights on that thoroughfare. They asked that one of the arc lights be removed and ten or twelve incandescent lights substituted.

A number of residents living south of Rink street and west of George street asked that the water service be extended south on Aylmer street. The letter stated that many wells were dry in that locality and water had to be drawn from the river. A hydrant was also asked for in order to give better fire protection. The Water Commissioners had turned down this request.

This matter will be looked into when the committee makes a tour of the city to look into a number of questions which can best be dealt with after a personal inspection.

A number of residents asked for a water main on Concession street north of Smith street, on the east side of the river, to provide better fire protection. They requested that hydrants be placed where advisable.

The chairman stated to the Fire, Water and Light Committee that Fire Chief Howard had notified him that he wished to appoint an assistant chief, and that his choice was Grange, who has been acting in that capacity for some time past.

The matter was left over for the time being until it was ascertained what would be done about the committee.

It was moved by Ald. Morgan and Ald. Turner, that the fire chief hand over to the city treasurer $25 received from the C.P.R. for work done at the fire of the wreckage some time ago. The committee to decide what to do with it.—Carried.

The report of the Underwriters' Association on the city's fire protection was read. It was a very comprehensive report and contained several recommendations among them that an additional water pipe should be placed across the river, connecting the east ward with the rest of the city. In case of accident to the one main which crosses the river at the present time Ashburnham's water supply would be cut off.

Ald. Morgan and Ald. Turner moved that this matter be taken up and also the request of the ratepayers in the north of Ashburnham who asked for fire protection.

SPECIAL MEETING OF BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF THE Y.M.C.A.

Plans Made for Strengthening the Religious Work—Six Day Campaign Will be Held April 14th to 20th.

A special meeting of the Board of Directors of the Y.M.C.A. was held at Hooper's restaurant at six-thirty last evening to continue the discussion of plans for the religious work of the association which had been introduced at the regular meeting on Tuesday evening.

The plans adopted call for the presentation of the foreign work on Sunday and Monday, April 4th and 5th. An afternoon meeting will be held on Sunday, when Mr. C. V. Hibbard, of Japan, will speak to men on the subject "With the Japanese Army in Manchuria," and on Monday evening Mr. E. T. Colton, of New York, who is associated with Mr. John R. Mott in the foreign work of the International Committee, will be present with Mr. Hibbard at another meeting in the interests of the association's foreign work.

Another feature of the meeting last night was the decision to hold a six-day campaign in connection with the association with the co-operation of the churches of the city to strengthen the religious work. To direct and assist in the campaign, Mr. Charles R. Trum, of Syracuse, N.Y., has been secured for April 14th to 20th. Mr. Trum possesses rare executive ability, as well as strength as a speaker. Until recently he was principal of one of the High schools of Syracuse, but has been added to the staff of the International Committee to co-operate with local associations in their religious work.

The details of the campaign that have to do with the public will be made known later.

It was decided by the directors that they would make special individual contributions to the funds of the association to cover the expenses of this campaign.

HOCKEY TEAM WERE GUESTS OF YOUNG LADIES OF THE CHURCH

The home of Mr. and Mrs Bartley, Rubidge street was the scene of a very pleasing event last evening, when the Knox church hockey team and officers were the guests of the young ladies of the church. The young ladies have taken a large amount of interest in the hockey team team for the championship and although not fortunate this year, the fact that their work was appreciated will encourage the members of the team to try all the harder next year.

The company which numbered about forty, after partaking of a sumptuous repast that had been prepared for the occasion engaged in games and other amusements. A guessing contest added much to the enjoyment of the evening and the pastor, Rev. H. J. Keith, secured the prize. A short musical programme of vocal and instrumental music by the young ladies was a pleasing feature of the affair. At the conclusion of the evening's entertainment, the young ladies were thanked by the hockey team for the pleasant evening that had been spent by them.

Plan for "True Irish Hearts" under the Auspices of the dramatic section of St. Peters' T. A. S. to be given on Wednesday March 17th, will open on Monday. d1

THE GREATEST ORGANIZATION

Singing Grand Opera Comes to Peterboro' on March 18th—Fresh From Metropolitan in Successes.

The opera-going and music-loving public of this city will be gratified to learn that the Italian Grand Opera Company in "Il Trovatore" under the management of Frank M. Norcross, will appear at the "Grand" next Thursday, March 18th.

The Italian Grand Opera Company is said to be the greatest operatic organization ever heard outside of New York city. It comes direct from highly successful engagements in New York and other large cities.

The management promise to bring to this city the full strength of the company, numbering 150 people, including an opera of 35 pieces, a chorus of 50 trained voices, a complete ballet and a triple set of principals.

Among the principal members of the Italian Grand Opera Company are such singers of international fame as Mme Duce-Merola, Mme. Bertozzi, Mlle Almeri, Miss Geprgina Strauss, Mlle. Madalena Bossi, Mlle Zerad, Sig. Zara, Mm. Gravini, Oterl, Cilla, Franscona, Giulani and others of universal reputation.

A popular idea used to prevail that all teas were pretty much alike, but "Salada" Tea is proving a pleasant surprise to thousand of particular tea-drinkers. Sold by grocers everywhere.

More Manfactories

To the Editor of the Review.

Peterborough, March 13, 1909.

Sir,—Why doesn't Peterborough get more manufactories? With the ample power in the town I think a stronger effort should be made than is being being made to get large manufacturing concerns to locate here. I should think that this branch in connection with the city's welfare should receive special attention from the City Council, and give as wide a publicity as possible in the local press.

Yours truly,
CITIZEN.

A Request

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—I would like the public to understand that now that the Grange affair in the fire hall has been before the courts that I have been acquitted and that I was not drunk on the occasion at issue. I am not a drinker. I did not act as the people at first supposed and I don't want to be blocked in search for employment.

Yours, etc.,

CARNEGIE'S "PROBLEMS OF TO-DAY"

The Historical Society of Peterborough wishes to announce the fourth and last of their series of lectures for this season. Mr. J. H. Burnham will lecture upon Mr. Andrew Carnegie's celebrated "Problems of To-day" in the Collegiate Institute on Friday evening, March 26th at eight o'clock. The general public is cordially invited. Admission free. The society takes pleasure in extending a special invitation to the various industrial societies and unions of workingmen in the city and also to the employers of labor. Mr. Carnegie's book, which has been the talk of two continents, is an able and impartial review of the industrial conditions in the world today, together with a number of suggestions for the general betterment of those conditions and observations upon the responsibilities of the rich and the proper incidence of taxation.

RESULTS IN FIRST DRAW OF THE CLUB BONSPIEL

Results in results

There was a big time at the curling rink last night. It was the first series of games in the club bonspiel and it is proving a great success. The first draw has been completed and there were several very close games. The skips and scores were as follows:

D Hall—7	Talbot—8
Hicks—4	Davidson—22
Clegg—14	Ferguson—17
Dr Greer—16	Stevenson—17
ay—11	Dr McCulloch—6
Brown—10	Thompson—11

Lang—17	Brightman—13

A curling game of unusual interest was played last night between Mr Ince of Perkins, Ince Company, Toronto, and Mr John A. Cameron, manager of the local branch. It is an annual affair. Mr Cameron selects two strong rinks of local players, and he skips one while Mr Ince skips the other. Mr Innis won out, the result being as follows:

Knapman	Talbot
Neill	Morrow
Cossal	Davidson
Ince—27	Cameron—14

STRATHCONAS TOO STRONG FOR ST. ANDREW'S SEVEN

Church League Champions Beaten Last Night 7-3—Game Was Interesting—Winners Had More Speed.

Strathconas trimmed the St. Andrews last night and thoroughly convinced the large number of fans present that City League hockey is a good deal faster than that which is played in the Church League. The Church League champions looked like winners in the early stages of the contest, but as the game progressed the Straths managed to get playing together and had no trouble in getting away with the game. On account of unavoidable circumstances the Straths were without the services of Dusty McMillan and McWilliams. It looked as if it would go in favor of St. Andrews early in the game, as they managed to get two counters before the Straths knew where they were at. But by half-time the red and white aggregation had succeeded in tieing the score, and had begun to work together. Flanagan and Rae did not have many opportunities to shine as they have done in the Church League as the checking of the Straths was too much for them. The Church Leaguers were too slow in handling the puck, and the combination that they attempted was generally broken up before they had gone any distance. They did not do much shooting, and the goals that were scored by them were all shot from in front of the nets. Dormer and Rae were about the best for St. Andrews, who were up against a faster team, and the style of play that carried the team through the Church League to the championship would not be very effective in the City League.

The winners played a good combination and generally got the puck up near the St. Andrew's nets, but a lot of wild shooting lost many counters for them. They checked well, and followed up to good advantage, and stood the pace a lot better than their opponents.

In the second half St. Andrews scored which put them one to the good, and then the Straths got started, and Connie Halpin had one of the busiest nights he ever put in between the nets. The game was not rough, and the crowd which was on hand to witness the struggle were well pleased with the exhibition put up by the teams. Harry Morgan handled the bell and gave good satisfaction.

The final score was 7—3.

St. Andrews started off at a fast pace and looked dangerous. Seymour went off for slashing and Dobson soon followed him. During their stay on the fence Currie scored twice for St. Andrews, and it looked bad for the Straths, but Seymour evened matters up by half time.

After the resting period the teams went at it hard again, and Rae was not long in scoring for his team, which put them one to the good, and the big bunch of rooters who were on hand to make a noise for the Church League champions, gave free vent to their feelings. But Seymour evened the score again, and after that it was the Strathconas' game. Shortt got the next one on a nice shot from the side. Rose put the next one in on a pass from the corner.

The Straths were putting up a fast game now, and St. Andrews were having a hard time in defending their nets. Hall, who was putting up a fast game of left wing, scored the next goal for the Straths, and Seymour got his third goal of the night a few minutes before the bell sounded for the finish.

The teams lined up as follows:

STRATHCONAS		ST.ANDREWS
	—Goal—
Wilson		Halpin
	—Point—
Curtis		Stanton
	—Cover—
Seymour		Flanagan
	—Rover—
Rose		Rae
	—Centre—
Dobson		Dormer
	—Right Wing—
Shortt		Currie
	—Left Wing—
Hall		Rae

New York, March 12.—Joe Gans, former lightweight champion of the world, easily defeated Jabez White, the English lightweight champion, in a ten-round bout at the National Athletic Club to-night.

WRESTLING

Yankee Rogers and Yusaif Mahmout, according to Toronto papers, have been matched to wrestle in Toronto. Mahmout gave Rogers a severe trimming at Sohmer Park, in Montreal, a short time ago, but Yankee was suffering from boils and thinks he can beat the Turk in the condition he is in now.

RUNNING

New York March 11.—Fred Appleby, the great English distance runner, who twice defeated Alfred Shrubb in 15-mile races, and holds the world's record of 1.20.05 for that distance, is still an amateur. Appleby, it seems, was quoted in error when it was announced that he would turn "pro" in order to get into the Marathon game. The little English flier now declares that he is still a Simon Pure, and will remain so for the time being at least.

Appleby will at once take out a Metropolitan Association registration card, and, in all likelihood, will run his first race in the 10-mile event at the Newark A. A. meet Friday night. Appleby expects to be admitted to good amateur standing upon his statement to the A. A. U. authorities that he did not announce his intention of becoming a professional. In the Newark race Friday night Appleby will allow all the other competitors in the race a long start. He has been training on the Montclair A. C. track at Montclair, and is already in very fair shape.

The Mohawk Athletic Club has also extended an invitation to Appleby to run against Geo. Bonhag in the four-mile scratch race in the Twenty-Second Regiment Armory on Saturday. In the event of his being given a card by the Registration Committee, Appleby will undoubtedly be a starter.

PETERBOROUGH BOY PLAYING FOR QUEEN'S

Kingston Ont., March 11.—Queen's hockey team champions of the Intercollegiate Union is regarded the best team at the college since the days of the Curtis-Merrill-Macdonnell combination. It is the heaviest team in the union, its players being well seasoned and experienced. They will equal the Cliffsides in weight and build. The septette is composed of Joe Daniels Renfrew, goal; Hugh Macdonnell Kingston, point; Pennock, Brockville, cover point; Vernon Crawford Kingston, centre; George Pembroke, rover; Campbell, Peterborough right wing. They played six games in the Union this season, defeating McGill and Laval twice, and tieing with Toronto 'Varsity, and also defeated the 14th Regiment hockey team here. "Chaucer" Elliott picks Queen's as the winners for home-and-home games for the Allan trophy, but he is not so sure in a sudden death game. "Jock" Harty and Varsity men think Queen's can turn the trick. All the players are Daniels and George have played three seasons. This is the last year Dobson, Macdonnell and Crawford will appear with Queen's as they graduate in the spring.

SPORTING TALK

According to the New York Times Dave Hartley reached New York penniless and hungry after bumping a great deal of his way to the metropolis.

Lindsay is certainly beginning to look up as a sporting town. The intermediate rugby and hockey cups rest in Sougog and who knows but a lacrosse or baseball championship may land there this summer. It's up to Lindsay now to produce a star runner, walker or some celebrity of that sort and get an international reputation.

Mr Jack Patterson of the St. Andrew's hockey team is confined to his home with an attack of quinsey. His many friends will hope for a quick recovery.

This week's issue of the Utica Globe shows an excellent picture of the Wiarton O.H.A. team, which was represented in the intermediate series.

A picked team from the T.A.S. and Lakefield City League teams will likely play the Strathconas next week.

A notable feature of the game last night was that St. Andrew's did not have a man ruled off during the contest.

Connie Halpin's work last night between the nets and also during the season with the West Ends should place him as being one of the best of the large number of goal-tenders who have been brought out by the many teams in the city.

HARTLEY IS FIGHTING AWAY AT LAST PLACE IN RACE

The report that David Hartley had dropped out of the six-day go-as-you-please race, was premature. David is still clinging to the last position, unsupported by a partner.

A dispatch says:

With the beginning of the last 24 hours of the six-day go-as-you-please race at Madison Square Garden, the remaining teams appeared to take on some fresh zeal and sprints were frequent during the late hours of the evening. During the day the ten and a half teams which clung to the contest, jogged mechanically along at a rate which averaged something less than five miles an hour. Approximately twenty miles in the lead was the French team, Cibot and Orphee. They were going as strongly as any of their competitors, and for them the race appeared to be only a question of endurance. The score at 9 o'clock was as follows: Cibot-Orphee, 637.0; Davis-Metkus, 617.3; Dineen-Prouty, 593.2; Loeslein-Kleuberantz, 580.0; Corey-Hegelman, 564.7; Shelton-Frazer, 563.7; Feegan-Curtis, 561.1; Guignard-Rovero, 521.8; Naver-Kellar, 490.5; Edelson-Palanti, 428.8; Hartley, running alone, 373.0.

BOTH TEAMS SCORED TWO

Kelly's and Porter's Sevens Break Even—Stonewall Goal Tending

Two bank teams were the attraction at Brock street rink last evening from 5 to 6. Kelly's team clashed against Porter's team and there was something doing all through the game, which was a fast and exciting one. The score ended a tie 2—2, and the teams will likely meet again in the near future. The work of the goal minders had a lot to do with the small score, as both stopped many shots that looked good for counters. The game was pretty strenuous but no rough work was indulged in and Referee Detoober had an easy time.

WRESTLING

Toronto, March 13.—The Star Theatre was packed last night to see the catch-as-catch-can wrestling match between Kid Batten and Artie Edmunds. It was one of the cleverest exhibitions of the mat game seen in this city. Whilst Batten was the winner and deserved the victory, Edmunds put up a great fight. Batten was in fine shape and condition told. The South African won the first fall in 24.15, Edmunds the second in 7.50, and Batten the third in 10 minutes. Fritz Mohl, the Buffalo wrestler made an acceptable referee.

Batten now holds the featherweight championship of England, South Africa and Canada. He is certainly a wonder at his weight.

$100 REWARD, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

To be Biggest

The Globe says:—The Shrubb-Simpson race in Toronto Armories next Saturday night will probably be witnessed by the greatest crowd the big building has ever had. Though the seat plan does not open till Wednesday, applications are already coming in from many outside points. The calibre of Shrubb's opponent means that the contest will be one worth a long journey, and Simpson's trainer, Tom Eck promises a race that will long be remembered. He has no idea that the English champion can defeat the Hiawatha runner, who has youth as well as great running ability on his side. The race will be twelve miles, and is under the auspices of the Toronto garrison, both the runners having been in the King's service. Shrubb and the Indian both had a good day's training yesterday, and found the weather just suited to their liking for outdoor preparation.

PURITY FLOUR

And Its Keeping Qualities

SOME people find it necessary to buy a considerable quantity of flour at one time—sufficient to last for a long period. Naturally they are anxious to procure a flour of the kind best adapted to lengthy storage.

There are two important reasons why PURITY FLOUR possesses these qualities. One is that it is made entirely from Manitoba Hard Wheat. The other lies in the fact that the careful milling necessary to produce "Purity" absolutely excludes all low-grade particles of the wheat berry. It's the high grade Manitoba Hard Wheat Flour that keeps—stands longest storage. That's "Purity."

"Purity" flour may cost a little more, but is more than worth the difference. Try it. Watch results both for quality and yield.

MISS MAUDE ADAMS AGAIN TO THE FRONT

The Only Change in the Standing of the Candidates Yesterday Was in the Position of Honor—There is a Very Marked Rivalry for This Mark of Distinction, and Almost Any Day There is Liable to be a Change in the Leadership.

ONE WEEK FROM MONDAY THEN IT'S ALL OFF

And You Can Catch up on Sleep—Then You Will be Glad or Very Sorry, According to How You Conduct Your Campaign the Next Seven Working Days—Are You Asleep at the Switch or do You Care to Advance?—The Charge of the Fire Brigade is Spectacular and Looks Speedy to the Man on the Sidewalk With His Hands in His Pockets, but it Often Has Been Beaten by Boys on Bicycles.

THE LAST, "THE MAIN, CHANCE" FOR ALL CANDIDATES

EACH CANDIDATE sending or bringing $10 worth of NEW subscriptions to the Review Office before 8 o'clock, on March 22nd, the close of the Contest, will be given a special certificate for 4,000 EXTRA VOTES, in addition to the regular certificates. The amount may be made up in any manner—Daily or Weekly subscription All that is necessary is that the sum amounts to $10, and that it be NEW.

For each $10 worth of OLD subscriptions turned in until the end of the Contest a special certificate for 2,000 EXTRA VOTES will be given. This also in addition to the regular votes.

Every subscription turned in since March 8 will be counted. It is not necessary to hold back the money until you have $10. Turn the subscriptions in as you get them, and when the amount reaches $10, the certificate will be issued—and it may be voted at once or held as desired.

No other offer of any kind will be made during the Contest.

"The Golden Opportunity for Vote Hunters."

Just one week from next Monday and "all bets are off." Every one will be saying, "I told you so," and "of course I knew he or she would win," etc. But right here the contest manager wants to go on record as the only person in town who does not know who is going to win.

There are many people who are going to be badly fooled in their choice of winners. There are some mighty "dark horses" in this race who are not making the least noise or saying very much, but who are of the stripe that accomplishes wonders in the way of vote getting.

Seven working days are soon over, and before you realise it the time will be counted by hours and minutes instead of days. If you have neglected making your first calls on anyone whom you consider a possible subscriber you had better make it a point to see him at once, as you will find that you will have some difficulty in seeing your prospects the last few days. Commence to realize on your "promises" and get them all in at once and they will help you pile up a big bonus vote.

If you can't land them tonight or Monday, get after them the first thing Tuesday, and don't let up until you have seen them all. Don't have anything on your mind next week, but contest if you want to win.

Buckle down to it and make a finish that you will be proud of and that will satisfy your friends that you have the stuff in you that they expected when they entered you in this race.

Candidates, the play time is over, and now we must warn you that the time is getting short.

One thing will surely result from this contest, it will, to a certainty,

MISS BIRDIE DAWSON
District No. 1 Peterborough

determine just who your friends are—it is the test which separates the wheat from the chaff, and this test will be of countless worth to you in the near future.

In the next week and two days you will be able to determine just "who's who and why." You will get support from many unexpected sources and fail in many places where you had a right to expect it, and no doubt had counted upon it with absolute confidence. But never mind; just stop to figure that every other candidate is experiencing the same discouraging feature and dig in to the next fellow.

You can't allow anything to discourage you now. You are headed into the stretch and a pause or a stumble means that you will figure as an "also ran" on the final night.

Who are the successful people in the world?—always the live hustlers who go into whatever they undertake with vim and determination and who keep everlastingly at it. Whatever friend or friends entered you in this contest expected you to get busy and try your level best to win. If you don't "make good" with them they will be disappointed as you will yourself. Don't allow this. As one candidate informed the contest editor recently: "The fellow who beats me will surely know he has been in a race." That's the proper spirit. Don't be too sure of yourself, but determine to leave no stone unturned or no person unseen from whom you have the slightest chance of securing a subscription.

Clark, the convict, who accompanied Bill Miner in his escape from the British Columbia Penitentiary, eighteen months ago, returned to New Westminster yesterday under police escort, from Mount Vernon, Washington.

Jane Cable

... By ...

GEORGE BARR McCUTCHEON,

Author of "Beverly of Graustark," Etc.

COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY DODD, MEAD & COMPANY

Guards were stationed and all openings and windows manned. Singularly enough, these defensive actions seemed at least temporarily unnecessary, for the watchers peering out of the windows reported that the dead alone occupied the recent field of battle. Not a single Filipino was to be seen on the plaza.

Every village has its convent or barrios. Generally speaking, their size corresponds in a certain ratio with the population. But this particular building was an exception. Dimly lighted, it gave the impression of ranking in size with many of those in far larger villages. Immediately the thought came to the invaders that the church might have sheltered the insurgent leaders. Aguinaldo or Pilar might have directed the attack from inside these walls. Orders were given to search every corner and crevice to ferret out concealed foes. A rear window was open, proving that flight could have been by that means of egress. Bansemer was almost positive that the bullet which had killed his assailant had come from one of the upper windows, but whether from friend or foe was undeterminable. Were they not in a cunningly planned trap of some kind?

Considerably perplexed, Bansemer decided to keep on his guard. He was ruthlessly searching the chancel when a deep groan caught his attention. Presently, as he paused to listen, a dark figure leaped toward him from a recess back of the altar. The flash of a pistol blinded him and momentarily a sharp pain shot through his arm, but he recovered in time to throw his tall frame forward upon the slight, almost indistinguishable figure. There was a short struggle, and before his comrade could reach him his adversary was safely pinned to the floor. A moment later the torches in the hands of his friends were burning brightly above the figure of his captive—a slender boy who choked with terror and rage.

"Who are you, my young friend?" asked Bansemer, holding the boy at arm's length.

There was no answer from the tightly closed lips, and Bansemer shook him a little roughly. Then for the first time he perceived that he was not a Filipino. His skin was dark, but not the skin of the natives. The handsome, boyish face had regular features European in character.

"Spaniard?" inquired Bansemer a trifle more gently, and again the boy flashed a look of hatred into his captor's eyes.

"Look here, my young spalpeen," said Connell gruffly, "Filipino or Spaniard, if you want to save your hide you'd better answer questions—and no lies, do you hear?"

At this threat a deep groan was heard to come from somewhere back in the recesses of the chancel. The men were startled. Involuntarily the boy cast a furtive glance in that direction. Connell noticed it and, leaving the boy with Bansemer, hurried away and soon was looking down into the face of a prostrate man, young, but aged with emaciation.

"You must not touch him! Don't you see that he is dying?" cried the boy piteously in broken English. "He cannot fight you; he's dying," and then in a perfect frenzy of rage to Bansemer, "Let me go—pig!"

Not until afterward did Bansemer recall that in the general excitement it was the boy who dragged him along to the spot. And in spite of the solemnity of the scene there was something in his manner of delivering the insult that amused rather than angered the American.

"Plucky little devil!" he said half aloud.

Again the sick man groaned, tried to rise from the blankets and speak, but only to fall back moaning. Connell cautioned him against exertion and promised that no harm should come to either of them. While he reported the discovery to Captain Groce, he had the man carried to another part of the church and there made comfortable. For the first time now Bansemer began to notice the pain in his arm. Somewhat angrily he turned to the boy:

"Come! Give an account of yourself! How came you here?"

"Prisoners," was the sullen answer.

"Of the Filipinos?" Bansemer asked in surprise.

"Yes."

"Then why did you try to kill me?"

"I hate you both! We Spaniards, have we not as much to fear from you? What difference does color make in brutes?"

"By the holy apostles! You're a gritty young 'un!" growled the returning sergeant. "Who's the other chap?"

"My brother—he's dying," said the boy, his voice softening. "Holy Virgin, save him! For weeks we've been in the hands of Aguinaldo's men. He's been so ill all the time. Have you a doctor?"

"A surgeon will probably be with us before long," was the sergeant's evasive reply.

Bansemer looked searchingly at Connell. What he saw in the other's eyes caused him a sharp pang of grief. Both men turned their faces away for a moment, and it was with a gulp that Connell continued:

"Your brother will have the best of care if we get out of this mess. You are both safe. We are not fighting the Spaniards." And then pertinently, "So these were Aguinaldo's men?"

"Yes. He was here directing the fight," the boy answered.

"Aguinaldo here!" This and other ejaculations of surprise and anger burst in chorus from every throat. But as suddenly they were followed by expressions of chagrin, for by contrasting the present situation with that which they had anticipated, this information had succeeded in intensifying their mortification.

But notwithstanding his share of the universal disappointment, a hasty reflection of preceding events convinced Graydon that personally he had little ground for complaint against the late occupants of the convent, for unintentional as undoubtedly had been the act through which at the very point of death his existence had been preserved, there was no evidence to refute the hypothesis that the shot which had killed his assailant in the plaza had been fired by one of the insurgents under cover.

"Great Scott!" was the exclamation to which he gave utterance. "Once more, I suppose, I owe my life to the blundering marksmanship of a Filipino!"

FOR THE KIDNEYS AND BLADDER

Mix This at Home if You Have Kidney or Bladder Trouble or Rheumatism

Recent hospital reports show that the dread disease, rheumatism, is steadily increasing throughout the country. All known means of relief are being suggested to save the great amount of suffering this winter, especially among those who are not in a position to pack up and visit the noted health resorts to be treated. Recent tests prove rheumatism not exactly a disease in itself, but a severe symptom of kidney trouble, a condition caused by clogged up pores of the eliminative tissues in the kidneys which fail to filter the poisonous waste matter and uric acid from the blood, permitting these substances to remain in the veins and decompose, usually settling about the joints and muscles, causing the intense pain, swelling and stiffness of rheumatism.

The following simple home treatment will cure Rheumatism and is harmless and inexpensive, and so simple that anybody can mix it at home.

The ingredients are: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Go to any good prescription pharmacy and get these three harmless ingredients and mix them by shaking in a bottle, taking as a dose a teaspoonful after each meal, and again at bedtime.

There is nothing better in the world for backache, kidney and bladder trouble, too. Such symptoms as frequent and painful urination, soreness, weakness, general and nervous debility are caused by certain acids and poisonous waste matter, decayed tissue, etc., in the blood, which the kidneys will clear and purify after a few doses of this prescription.

CHARLOTTE ST. EPWORTH LEAGUE

A large attendance is expected. Refreshments will be served free.

Our $3.50 Gift

Don't buy Silver Butter-Spreaders. We have a set of six for you. They are Wm. Rogers & Sons' AA triple plate.

If you could buy this set in a jewelry store it would cost you $3.50.

But this is the lily pattern, made exclusively for us. You can buy nothing like it.

Simply do this: Send us the metal top from a jar of Armour's Extract of Beef, or the paper certificate under the top, with 10c for packing and mailing, and we'll send you one of the Spreaders.

Send 6 tops or certificates and 10c with each and get the full set of six.

Thus, for a little time, we give you back more than you pay for the Extract. We want you to know the many uses of a good Extract of Beef.

Try it in adding flavor to soups, gravies and meat dishes.

Get Armour's, for that is concentrated to four times the strength of others.

Other extracts of beef costing a trifle less go but one-fourth as far. The directions on Armour's are: "Use one-fourth as much."

Brant's Grave Robbed.

Brantford, March 13.—Has the tomb of Captain Jos. Brant, the famous warrior, from whom Brantford took its name, been robbed and the skull of Brant removed?

Dr. G. H. McMichael, Buffalo, in a letter to ex-Mayor Bowlby here yesterday, asserts that the skull, one femur and a pelvis, were removed by Dr. Healy some thirty years ago. The offer is made to return the same to their resting-place in the tomb near the quaint old Mohawk church graveyard, where Jos. Brant and a relative were buried.

Enquiry yesterday revealed the information from Capt. Ashton that the tomb was broken into, but it was not thought robbery was committed. The Brant Historical Society intend to take up the matter.

Bigamy Charged.

St. Catharines, March 13.—Walter Blizzard, a former city fireman, was arrested charged with bigamy. Blizzard in 1904 under the name of Walter Dains married a Mrs. Goffin in Niagara Falls, N.Y., and has been living with her ever since.

Last September, it is alleged, he went to Lockport, N.Y., with a girl who was employed as a domestic here, named Alice Crick, and the pair were married.

Leprosy Specialist Dead.

St. John, N.B., March 13.—Dr. Albert C. Smith, for many years head of the medical department of the leper lazaretto at Tracadie, died yesterday morning, aged [illegible] years. He had been at Tracadie since [illegible], and was an excellent official, giving his life to the care of the unfortunate lepers isolated there.

14 Hours, New York to Chicago.

Detroit, Mich., March 13.—It is said that when the M.C.R. tunnel between Detroit and Windsor is completed, "Fourteen hours from Chicago to New York City" will be the slogan of the New York Central lines.

Sentenced to Eighteen Years.

New York, March 13.—John C. Lumsden, who was convicted of manslaughter in the first degree on the charge of killing Harry B. Snyder, a broker, yesterday was sentenced to not-less-than eighteen years.

DOES NOT NEED A DOCTOR

Mrs. F. Porier, Valleyfield, Que., says:—"I always use Baby's Own Tablets for my little one, and therefore never need a doctor. When my baby is feverish or restless I give her a Tablet and in a couple of hours she is all right. They have been of the greatest benefit to her when teething, and are just the thing in all emergencies." These Tablets promptly cure colic, indigestion, constipation, diarrhoea, destroy worms, break up colds, and make teething easy. Good for children of all ages. Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Mrs. Frederick Huntley, of Sherbrooke, bled to death yesterday. A pill which she was taking lodged in her throat, and her violent coughing to dislodge it ruptured a blood vessel.

WILL HAVE FOUR ENTRIES IN THE BUFFALO BENCH SHOW

The seventh annual bench show of the Buffalo Kennel Club will be held from March 23rd to 26th. The show promises to be the biggest and most successful one in the history of the club.

A share of the prize offering should come to Peterborough as Dr. King the local Boston terrier fancier and breeder, will have four entries; Othallo, which captured third prize in the open and limit classes at the recent Boston Terrier Show in Toronto; Miss Frits, the great Boston bitch winner at the same show of first in the open and limit bitches, five specials, and the first prize entry in the winners' division, Noble Tess, winner of second in the open and limit bitches and Lite Mellens.

ASSYRIANS GOODS ARE HELD UNTIL THE FINES ARE PAID

The hearing of the three Assyrians charged with peddling without a license, was resumed yesterday afternoon by Magistrate Edmison. High Constable Cochrane gave evidence to the effect that he caught them in the act of disposing of their goods. Two of the prisoners generally worked on the railroad in the summer and not bother to take out a license for short time that they peddled in the winter.

The Magistrate fined them each $5 and costs and their goods were confiscated until they pay the fine.

A FIVE CENT REDUCTION ON KEY RATE FROM UNDERWRITERS

Peterborough will get a reduction of five cents on the key rate, according to a statement made by the Canadian Fire Underwriters' Association. The Underwriters promised this to Peterborough when it was decided to have a permanent fire brigade and Ald. Turner stated at the meeting of the Fire, Water and Light Committee last night that the Underwriters' Association was now dealing with the matter.

TERRITORIAL STAFF BAND WILL AGAIN VISIT THE CITY

Brigadier Hargreaves and Staff-Capt. Flem, of Montreal, are coming to Peterborough next Saturday, and will officiate at the meeting at the barracks on Saturday and Sunday.

While here they will also take up the business in connection with the proposed extension of the barracks.

The Territorial Band of the Salvation Army, Toronto, will visit Peterborough on Saturday, April 3rd and 4th. The band will give a concert at the barracks on Saturday night, and will provide music at the Sunday meetings.

BROTHER TOLD BROTHER

One Suffered for Fifteen Years, the Other for Thirteen.

The convincing powers of a testimonial were never more clearly shown than in the case of Mr. Hugh Brown. A brother, Lemuel Brown, of Avondale, N.B., read in the paper about Hon. John Costigan being cured by "Fruit-a-tives." Knowing the Senator would only endorse a medicine which had cured him, Mr. Lemuel Brown tried "Fruit-a-tives." They cured him of Chronic Indigestion and Constipation, so he urged his brother to try them.

Hartland, N.B., Oct. 28th, 1907.

"Three doctors told me that I had Liver Disease and serious Stomach Trouble. My stomach was very weak. I took their medicine for thirteen years and grew worse. My brother (who was cured of terrible Indigestion by "Fruit-a-tives" after suffering for 15 years), recommended me to try these wonderful tablets. I bought half a dozen boxes and have just finished the sixth. I eat all kinds of hearty foods without distress and am greatly improved in every way. "Fruit-a-tives" also cured the Chronic Constipation which was so distressing in my case."

CANON DAVIDSON WAS PREACHER

At St. Luke's Church Last Evening---Referred to Late Col. J. Z. Rogers

Rev. Canon Davidson was the special preacher at St. Luke's Lenten service last night. Preceding his sermon he referred to the death of Col. J. Z. Rogers and expressed his sense of the loss the church has sustained by such a loyal and faithful member.

The chancel of the church is draped in black. The services to-morrow will be of a memorial character. The Story of the Cross will be sung at the evening service.

FAT IS OUT OF STYLE

To paraphrase Caesar's remark, the directoire gown came—was seen—and has conquered. So fat ladies are reduced, so to speak, to the necessity of either reducing at a very rapid rate or eliminating themselves from public view until the fashion dies out. Otherwise they risk being ridiculous.

Since many fat ladies will not eliminate themselves, however, but, per contra, will insist on wearing the curveless gown, no course is open to this well-meaning scribe other than to tell them how they may eliminate the fat.

What is there, then, that reduces fat safely? What pleasant inexpensive article is there on druggists' shelves that can reduce a pound a day without causing wrinkles or stomach ache? What can the pharmacists offer as an improvement over scanty victuals or ten mile walks without breakfast? Is there anything pleasant to take and inexpensive to buy that will reduce one uniformly, quickly and innocently thirty pounds a month? Here is the answer: Either write the Marmola Company, Detroit, Mich., or ask your local druggist for Marmola Prescription Tablets, and for 75 cents they or he will give you one large case of these safe fat reducers containing so generous a set of tablets that sometimes one case only is needed to produce the desired results. Can you match that for a simple soultion of your problem?

System of Underweights Said to Have Been Used---Investigation to be Made.

Montreal, March 15.—There was a great scurrying amongst the higher I.C.R. officials Saturday evening over the report that a long series of irregularities had been discovered on the line during the past few days, the statement being made that many cases of overweight have been reported to the head officials, both here and at Moncton.

It is understood, in fact, that thousands and thousands of dollars have been lost to the revenues of the Government road and that now that the proper authorities are naturally aroused, it is more than likely that suspensions and arrests may be in order as soon as further investigations will have taken place.

Not long since, a high official was overlooking a couple of cars of lumber destined from a down-country station for Nicolet in this province, and thinking that the bill looked somewhat light, he had the cars re-weighed, discovering that the Intercolonial was carrying the lumber 68,000 pounds light, or in other words the cars had been marked to contain that number of pounds less than the exact figure, hence a very considerable loss of freight, and the statement is made that this kind of work has been going on on a very large scale.

It is said, in fact, that a good many shippers of lumber have gone so far as to bribe men at the different scales to report the weight of cars many thousands of pounds lighter than they should have been and that the I.C.R. has suffered the loss.

It is understood, however, that a severe investigation is about to take place.

KEEPING OFF THE TRAMPS

Kinrade Murder Results in New Order for Grand Trunk Conductors

As a result of the recent events in Hamilton the Grand Trunk has issued a special order for conductors and brakemen to keep a sharp lookout for tramps and to use every means possible to prevent them from stealing rides. During the winter conductors and brakemen have had considerable trouble with tramps, some of them being particularly nervy and abusive. The special detectives employed by the Grand Trunk have had a busy time looking into cases of theft, as every year the company suffers to a considerable extent by the depredations of tramps. In the larger cities it keeps detectives busy all the time keeping tramps from entering cars and from loafing around the cars.

Paris Strike Soon Ends.

Paris, March 15.—The strike of the telegraph operators in this city ended late Saturday evening, as suddenly as it began.

The operators yielded before the energetic attitude of the Government, which threatened instant dismissal unless work was resumed, with the loss of state servant privileges.

Schlatter and Hetty Green.

New York, March 15.—Francis Schlatter, a "faith healer," and spectacular "religious" leader, announced yesterday that he would convert Mrs. Hetty Green to his doctrine, and that within a few days he would restore life to several dead persons. Mrs. Green intimates that Schlatter is suffering from delusions.

THE CROWN HAS NEW THEORY IN HAMILTON MURDER MYSTERY

Detectives Acquit Miss Kinrade of all Suspicion---Girl's Attitude Appears to be One of Self-Sacrifice---Finding of Revolver Will Solve Problem.

Hamilton, March 15.—It is evident that the apparent theory of the crown as deducted by many observers in the Kinrade murder case from the evidence given at the trial is not the real theory which is being followed.

There are other theories which would acquit Miss Florence Kinrade of any such part as the special correspondence in some of the American newspapers would impute to her, and also account for her remarkable self-possession and coolness throughout the terrible examination to which she was subjected on Friday evening last by the crown examiner. Women will do heroic things in a spirit of self-sacrifice which they would not be capable of under the Detroit and Buffalo theory of self-preservation.

Many points in the evidence are quite incompatible with the theory of the American newspapers.

That Florence Kinrade was perfectly innocent of the crime is clear from the entire absence of any effort to have recourse to the usual and obvious defence of an alibi. The suspicions of the crown in quite another direction are clear from the questions put to Inspector McMahon and Detective Bleakley on Thursday evening.

Detective Bleakley's story was of a crime that had been committed—according to the story of C. S. Wilcox, who believes he heard shots—between 2.10 and 2.30. The first bullet struck the girl as she sat on the chair near the dining-room door to the stairs. Falling over on the ground several other shots were fired and bullets with portions of teeth were found in the pool of blood on the floor. One bullet, evidently fired downwards at the prostrate body, was found imbedded in the floor. A juryman asked if the face of the girl, in such a case would not have shown traces of the blood. As none were left they must have been removed. When the body was found this pool of blood was covered by the body, which was then straightened out so that the blood would not have flowed from any wound in the body in the position in which it was found. After this change in the position of the body and the probable removal of traces of blood from the face of the dead girl, three shots were fired at close range into her breast.

Another new witness for the crown will, it is claimed, now depose to hearing these latter shots about 3 o'clock, fixing the time by his having noticed the clock at 2 minutes to 3, and hearing, as he believes, three shots fired as he passed the Kinrade home within five minutes after.

Detective Bleakley swore that when Mr. Kinrade first entered the house after the tragedy he said, "I just expected something like this would happen."

Ernest Kinrade had been quoted as making use of the expression, "I knew something would happen," which, however, he modified as having said, "I knew something had happened."

Under the view apparently held by the crown, the contradictions in Florence Kinrade's evidence are not of importance, and her movements in the States or elsewhere have but the slightest possible bearing on the central incident.

The recovery of the revolver and the identification of the person who took it from the house after 3 o'clock on the fatal day will solve the whole mystery.

The police say that no steps have been taken yet to open up the sewer leading from the Kinrade home.

SCHOOL QUESTION STILL LIVE TOPIC IN MANITOBA

Old Problem Agitating the Province.

Expected to Play Part in Negotiations Between Sir Wilfrid and Provincial Ministers.

Ottawa, March 15.—The representatives of the Manitoba Government, Messrs. Rogers and Campbell, will have an interview with the Prime Minister on Tuesday with reference to the extension of the boundaries of that province and the readjustment of the provincial subsidy.

It is understood that Manitoba is not at all pleased with the arrangements that Sir Wilfrid Laurier has in his mind. The Government wants more territory, but that is not the chief point of difference. It will hold out for a Federal grant proportionate to the amount received by the new Provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan.

Another matter of contention that is likely to arise is the school question. In the old Province of Manitoba the separate schools established by the Roman Catholics are not recognised; but when the dual system was abolished by the Greenway Government a concession was granted the Catholics that in sections where there are ten children of school age speaking any language but English they may demand a teacher to instruct in the dual language. This system has worked badly. It has resulted in several sections in the English-speaking children being withdrawn and instructed in private schools. There are 187 French-English, 43 German-English schools and 33 Ruthenian-English schools, in many of which they are no English-speaking children.

Since Sir Wilfrid Laurier announced that he would bring in a bill this year to enlarge the province he has been approached by the Roman Catholic archbishop to provide for a separate school system in the new portion. The Manitoba Government, it is understood, will oppose this stipulation, and when the bill comes down, if it contains any such provision, it will mean a reopening of the old sores of 1896.

ARE BUYING REVOLVERS

Local Hardware Man States That Many are Being Sold in Peterborough

A local hardware man stated to the Review today that more revolvers had been sold in Peterborough during the past two weeks than there had been for several years. He attributed the heavy sale of firearms to the Kinrade murder at Hamilton and depredations by tramps in other parts of the country. Many citizens are going to be ready to defend themselves if the needs should arise.

THE HEALTH OF KING EDWARD

Despatch Says He Has Been Advised to Take a Rest.

London, March 15.—(New York Herald Cable.)—Some rather disquieting rumors have been in circulation for the last few days about the King's health, and that as a consequence His Majesty will make a rather prolonged stay abroad. It is significant that the rumor was first spread on Wednesday, just before the close of the stock exchange.

Apart from the cold from which he suffered, the King's general health, it was stated, was not quite satisfactory, and it was understood that he had been advised to live for some time as quietly as possible. But a member of his suite, who received an autograph letter from His Majesty, announced that he is very much better.

The Queen, also, is improving, but she will not venture out till the weather is milder than it is now. It is remarkable, considering Her Majesty's energy, that she has not been out of doors for a fortnight.

HEALER IS BLAMED FOR SUICIDE IN VANCOUVER

Vancouver, B.C., March 15.—A coroner's jury bringing in a verdict that John J. Harrison committed suicide, added a rider that from the evidence it was evident that one Varey, an alleged Christian Science leader in this city, was largely the cause of Harrison's despondency, and recommended that the Attorney-General investigate.

Harrison, aged 54, came from Winnipeg fifteen years ago, was worth $150,000 and until last Novemebr lived apparently happily. Thursday morning he visited Chief of Police Chamberlain, saying he had been taking Chas. A. Varey's treatment, and that the latter wished him to sign over all his property to the church. In a written statement to the chief Harrison stated:

"Varey brought me up to a stage of mental treatment, where it would seem that I had to renounce all my connection with any society or party, either political or religious, also cancel all insurance policies, wills and other unnecessary encumbrances that would injure my spiritual recovery.

"When I think of my will and refuse to destroy it, as he asked me to, the depression and effect of his treatment is so severe it is almost unbearable and should it continue to be so, I will only have to put an end to my existence. I cannot stand the effects of the treatment much longer."

Harrison was soothed by the chief temporarily, but two hours later secured a bottle of carbolic acid and was found dead in the evening.

Evidence corroborating the chief's was given. Harrison had told Varey in the presence of his wife, he would give a large amount to be rid of his influence.

The police believe they have unearthed one case in a series in which peculiar methods under this guise have been applied to persons with peculiar and horrible results.

MAY BE RECALLED

Florence Kinrade, and Her Mother and Father May be Examined Again.

Special to the Review

Hamilton, March 15—It is understood that Florence Kinrade, her mother and father will be recalled at the adjourned inquest on Friday night. It is said to be also the intention to call Dr. Bruce Smith, Inspector of Prisons and Dr. Clarke, of Toronto Asylum, as alienists to testify regarding Miss Kinrade.

It is not likely that the inquest will be concluded on Friday night as the police say some twenty more witnesses have yet to be examined. There is a report that an effort will be made to bring witnesses from Virginia.

The search for the revolver with which the murder was committed is to be resumed this week. So far no attempt has been made to open the sewer leading from the street to the Kinrade home.

One Man, One Vote.

Montreal, March 15.—Friends of the Quebec Government, who came up from Quebec on Saturday, say that a bill will soon be introduced into the Legislature establishing what is known as the one-man one-vote principle, preventing electors from voting in more than one constituency at a local election.

Hanged Himself.

Red Deer, March 15.—Geo. Brooks, 25 years of age, employed a few miles east of town, committed suicide by hanging himself in the barn. He was subject to fits. It is said his home was in Newark, Ont.

Brake to Stop Ships.

Washington, March 15.—Theodore Roosevelt's aid to Louis Lacoste, a Canadian inventor, has resulted in a brake to stop ships. One is now building in Philadelphia, and is being tried on a battleship.

NO JUDGMENT IN PROTEST CASE

Was Not Given This Morning Owing to Illness of Mr. Justice Girouard

Special to the Review.

Ottawa, Ont., March 15.—Owing to the continued illness of Mr. Justice Girouard, before whom the case was heard, the expected judgment in the West Peterborough election case was not handed down in the Supreme Court this morning.

SAYS ROOSEVELT WILL NOT RETURN

New York, March 15.—Dr. Frederick Starr of the University of Chicago repeated Saturday night at the dinner of the New York Schoolmasters' Association the assertion which he made a few days ago, that former President Roosevelt would not survive the malarial climate of the country through which he purposes to travel on his African trip. Dr. Starr said in part:

"One of the trips which I made across Africa was over a route corresponding closely to that of the President. But I was thoroughly acclimatized. I had spent nearly a dozen years in the country and was still a young man. I could not withstand the dangers of it now.

"Roosevelt will never survive the fevers which are bound to afflict him if he reaches the interior. The country's only hope of seeing him again is that he may be stricken before he reaches the interior. A comparatively light touch of these tropical fevers might lay him up for several months and perhaps induce him to abandon his plans for the trip."

CAN BE SOLD IN BAR-ROOMS

Although "brandied" chocolates cannot be sold in confectionery stores, they can still be disposed of in bar-rooms. Up to the present, however, this is not being done in Peterborough.

GOOD WINTER FOR THE LUMBERMEN

Are Well Satisfied With Winter's Work and Coming Season's Prospects

Local lumbermen announce that in so far as the cut of logs is concerned the past winter has been one of the best for many years, and this despite the fact that few of the lumber companies sent up to the woods their regulation quota of men. The decrease in the number of men who were employed will not materially affect the supply of logs this summer or the cut of lumber as an exceptionally large cut last year will make up the average this season and the lumbermen expect to cut equally as much lumber as last season.

The snowfall the past winter was very good and provided every facility for the ready removal of the logs from the various camps to the rivers and streams to be floated down this spring.

The men are coming down from the bush right along, and the drives will begin as soon as the ice in the rivers and streams begins to break up. The lumbermen express great satisfaction at the reports they have received of the season's work in the woods.

TREMENDOUS VOTING SINCE LAST REPORT

Miss Moore Again Assumes Leadership—Saturday's Vote 85,000—Grand Total Nearly 900,000.

With one week to go the Review's European Tour Contest is getting livelier than ever—if such a thing is possible. Now is the time to make the final round-up of "promises." Tell your friends that it is NOW or never. After next Monday evening at eight o'clock subscriptions will be useless as far as helping win a prize is concerned.

By far the heaviest voter since last publication was done by Miss Rose P. Moore who took a terrific plunge to gain first place. The margin is small, but sufficient to gain the position of honor.

The next heaviest voter was P. G. Towns. A "splash" of 16,707 gives Mr. Towns over 60,000, double the number of votes of any of his competitors in his list.

Miss Ethel Bell is next for the high vote roll, now having almost 80,000. Miss Maude Perry and Mrs. W. A. Jones also increased their scores.

Messrs. Mowry, M. Mullan and Rundle voted nearly an equal number, so that their relative standing remains the same.

Miss Lila Finlay and Miss Murlin Colin each made nice gains.

And this the beginning of the ending shows more mystery than ever. This week's work will tell the tale. Let each candidate make the final dash a good one.

Standing of candidates:

GRAND PRIZE
Miss Rose P. Moore.
DIAMONDS
Miss Maude Adams.
Miss Lila Finlay.
Herb. McMillan.
P. G. Towns.
GOLD WATCHES
Miss Firdie Dawson.
Miss Murlin Colin.
W. G. Rundle.

KEPT MONK ON THE FERRY UNTIL HE MADE ANSWER

Windsor, March 15.—Because he objected to acknowledging his identity, and declined to state whether he possessed sufficient funds to make him eligible to enter Canada, Francis Pettinggill, a member of a religious brotherhood, spent several hours on the Detroit river on Saturday. Mr. Pettinggill, who is a member of the Christian Brothers, and is known as Brother Francisco, was on his way from Cincinnati to Chatham to enter a retreat to be conducted there during the Lenten season. He was unacquainted with border customs, and when a Canadian customs officer demanded his name, address, and further particulars as to his financial standing, he refused point blank to answer what he termed impertinent questions. As a result he was not permitted to put his foot on Canadian soil, but was sent back on the car ferry to Detroit. There he encountered more trouble, because he insisted upon preserving his attitude of reticence towards the American officers, and once more he was sent back across the river to Windsor. Half a dozen times or more he made the involuntary journey, but when darkness fell he finally capitulated and offered the Canadian authorities full and free information. Investigation showed that Brother Francisco carried a bank roll of several hundred dollars and was a prominent member of his order.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS RED-HOT FROM WIRES

Arnold-Forster Dead.

London, March 15.—The death is announced in London of Hugh Oakeley Arnold-Forster, Secretary of State for War from 1903 to 1906. Mr. Arnold-Forster had been ill for a long time.

The Right Hon. Hugh Oakely Arnold-Forster came most prominently into public notice when he held the office of Secretary of State for War immediately following the Boer war. Innovations and new methods of organisation which he introduced subjected him to some criticism and there was widespread discussion regarding his administration of his department.

His published works are numerous and include "The Laws of Every Day Life," "This World of Ours," "Our Home Army," "A History of England," "The Coming of the Kilogram," "English Socialism of To-Day," and many others.

Ontario's Man's Suicide.

Buffalo, March 15.—Matthew Benedict on Saturday night drank carbolic acid and died in a yard adjoining 72 Day's Park, where his wife roomed.

They separated two weeks ago, Mrs. Benedict told the police, because she had been told he had another wife at St. Regis Falls.

Benedict came to Buffalo from Brantford, with the intention of effecting a reconciliation. The couple were married in Detroit four years ago.

Benedict was 32 years of age and was born in Cornwall, Ont.

[illegible] 20-Year Game.

Traverse City, Mich., March 15.—A card-playing contest which has raged continuously for twenty years came to an end at Mancelona, Saturday night, when John W. Wallace scooped in D. W. Lazelle's pedro and remarked: "That puts me out."

Twenty years ago, while at a social affair, Lazelle and Wallace each claimed the village pedro championship. The contention resulted in a challenge, the championship to go to the one who first won ten straight games. Every day or evening, Sundays excepted, the men have met at either home. In those twenty years of continuous play, through spare time study, they acquired an inner knowledge of the game that has frightened off all other players from engaging with them.

Several times one man got six or seven straight games, but not until Saturday did one succeed in getting ten.

Suicide at Parry Sound.

Parry Sound, Ont., March 15.—J. Frank Mosley, a prominent citizen and merchant of this town, shot himself dead at nine o'clock Saturday morning.

He had shown symptoms of mental peculiarities for some time.

Mosley was the eldest son of the late Rev. D. Robt. Mosley, formerly Anglican minister here. He was a prominent member of Masonic and Oddfellows societies.

He is survived by his widow and family of one son and five daughters.

BRIGADE WAS AT WRONG PLACE

As a Result of Wrong Street Being Mentioned in Sending in Fire Alarm

As a result of the wrong street being mentioned in sending in a fire alarm by telephone this morning, the brigade made a run to a place where there was no fire.

A chimney was ablaze at the residence of Mr. W. J. O'Brien, 249 Stewart street, and a little boy, who sent in the alarm by telephone, reported the fire as being 249 George street. When he saw his mistake he tried to notify the fire hall of it, but the brigade had already left the station. When they arrived on George street they found there was no such a number as 249, and it was a few minutes before the firemen discovered that there was a mistake somewhere. With the aid of "central" the location of the fire was soon ascertained, but on arriving there it was found that no damage had been done.

WAS SLAIN BY THE BLACK HAND

New York, March 15.—Lieut. Jos. Petrosino, head of the Italian bureau of the New York police department, Friday was assassinated in Palmero, Sicily, according to a special cable despatch to The Herald on Saturday. His assassins fired four shots.

The assassins, the despatch says, are unknown.

Lieut. Petrosino went to Italy on a special mission to investigate the so-called Black Hand, with a view to bringing about better protection for peace-abiding Italians in this country.

Petrosino was the Black Hand expert of the New York police department and a terror to Italian criminals. He went to Italy more than a year ago to work on a plan, the object of which was to be the adoption of means to check the tide of undesirable Italians and Sicilians to America, and particularly to New York City.

Brodeur May Retire.

Montreal, March 15.—The fact of Mr. Willard, private secretary to the Hon. Mr. Brodeur, being appointed secretary of the Marine office in this city is taken to indicate that the Minister will retire from the Cabinet and from public life as soon as the session is over, either to became a judge of the Supreme Court or chief of the Superior Court.

A WRECK AT ST. THOMAS THREE SERIOUSLY INJURED

St. Thomas, March 15.—Wabash Engineer Thomas Arnum, Fireman Thomas Cade, and a woman, Mrs. Terwelger, Elmira, N.Y., were seriously injured in a wreck here in the Grand Trunk-Wabash yards yesterday morning.

The railway men hurt were on a freight engine, ready to take a westbound freight out as soon as the Wabash passenger train should arrive from the west, due at 1.30 a.m. The passenger came in on time, crossing the big bridge at ten miles on hour. Engineer Blanning and Fireman W. Chater, both of Windsor, felt her take the open switch on to the wrong track. The emergency brake was applied and the men saved themselves by jumping.

The engineer and fireman of the freight were not quick enough, Arnum was pinned between the cab and tender and had his shoulder and ribs badly squeezed, while a steam valve was broken and his legs were scalded. Scalds on the arm and back comprise the injuries to Cade, neither of whom were fatally hurt. The woman, the only passenger to receive more than a shaking up, was thrown against the seat and window with such force that she received many cuts. She had no bones broken, and is suffering only from external wounds and shock. She is at the Amasa Wood Hospital.

LATE TICKS FROM WIRES

The death took place at Orangeville of Rev. Richard Hassard.

The Japanese budget this year effects a saving of $178,500,000.

Dr. Glasgow, lieut.-colonel of the Second Dragoons, died at Welland.

Three men were crushed to death in a railway collision at Newton, N.J.

Herbert Lawrence of Toronto was struck by a falling tree near Durham and killed.

Winnipeg Street Railway men will ask for a nine-hour-day at the present rate of pay.

Mr. A. J. Balfour has pronounced tariff reform to be the first plank in the Unionist platform.

The C.P.R., it is reported, will build two or three new steamers for the Pacific coast trade at Esquimalt.

The Wright brothers have placed an order with a London firm for the immediate construction of six aeroplanes.

Miss La Palme, a young Canadian singer, will be presented by Oscar Hammerstein in "Cinderellon" next season.

The telegraph and telephone operators in the employ of the French Government at Paris are threatening to strike.

Over a thousand Doukhobors in the west are going out to settle on the new lands recently purchased by the community in British Columbia.

Capt. W. H. Copp has returned to Victoria, B.C., with $23,000 paid by the Russian Government for sealers illegally seized off Commanderofski Islands.

German Princess to "Come Out."

Berlin, March 15.—"The little princess," as Berliners call Emperor William's only daughter, is beginning to "come out." She will not be 17 until next September, but already preparations are being made for her independent life. Her confirmation has been postponed beyond the usual age, as the Empress wishes that immediately after that solemn ceremony the "little princess" shall begin housekeeping on her own account.

Hitherto the princess has been leading rather a retired life with her books, her painting, her needlework, and, it must be added, her dolls.

FIREMAN HURT AT TORONTO FIRE

Toronto, March 15.—Robert Falconer, a city fireman, had his left leg broken, and "Doddy" Gates was as near to death as any man wants to be, during a blaze which destroyed the old Adamson grain elevator at the foot of West Market street on Sunday afternoon.

A portion on the bay front collapsed, and in the excitement of shifting their position, Falconer, who was on the branch, was jolted by the nozzle and compelled to jump. He broke through the ice, about 12 feet below, but was lucky enough to miss deep water, though he landed on some half-sunken piles. He was carried ashore by some of the crowd that were watching the fire, and then sent to St. Michael's Hospital.

Gates was forced to hang on at a height of 50 feet until he was almost exhausted, when he was rescued by means of a ladder.

Millionaire Accused.

Pittsburg, March 15.—John M. Roberts, millionaire jeweler, churchman and publicist, was yesterday afternoon required to give bond for his appearance at the next term of the Criminal Court to answer the charge of attacking Mrs. Rose Earl Doyle, a widow of striking beauty.

Linemen Electrocuted.

St. Johns, Que., March 15.—John Forant, aged 38 years, in the employ of the St. Johns Electric Light Co., was electrocuted yesterday afternoon. He grasped a wire with his bare hand, causing his death. The deceased leaves a widow and two small children.

City Council One-Sixth Women.

Copenhagen, March 15.—Out of 42 members of the Municipal Council of Copenhagen, elected yesterday, seven are women. They vote for the first time. Single women over 25 and married women whose husbands are taxpayers were entitled to vote.

Leading Citizen a Safe Blower.

Galena, Kansas, March 15.—Harry Davis, a merchant, was shot and captured yesterday while blowing open the safe in the Biners' State Bank. Davis' confederate escaped. Davis was a leading citizen. His family is wealthy.

THE SILENCER

Chief Campeau, of Montreal, has given it as his opinion that "the silencer" means the increase of serious crime. The silencer is an instrument invented by Maxim, which, on being attached to the muzzle of a firearm graduates the process of the production of the report so that the report is practically nil when it arrives. Chief Campeau says that the chief preventive of serious crime has been the dread of the criminal of attracting attention by the "report" of the pistol, hence in future the assassin may ply his infamous calling practically without let or hindrance. He says that the possession of a silencer ought to be made an indictable offence and taken, if not explained satisfactorily, as prima facie evidence of an intention to commit crime. This ought to be done before the new crime era is begun, otherwise we shall have the lawyers hurling law at the magistrates and judges to the ultimate end that the punishment will by no means fit the crime. A shrewd and sensible journal observed the other day that it did not like the idea of capital punishment, but if it had to choose between the execution of a criminal and the murder of a respectable citizen it would choose the former every time. This sums the whole matter up in a nutshell.

Reformation is all very well as a slow and age-long process by which the manner of treating important questions is improved, but by which no hereditary effect is produced or produceable.

The normal capacity of the human brain may be in time improved, but a moral tendency is believed not to be hereditary, although an immoral tendency is. Criminologists look up the ancestry at once. Natural scientists do not grant that characteristics acquired after birth are transmittable. And so it goes. But the results remain. Shall we experiment with the lives of the innocent as material for finding out possibilities, for that is what it amounts to? It begins to look like a new form of vivisection and is founded upon theory, instead of results.

AND THERE YOU ARE!

The American tariff reform session will amount to but little. The great majority still think they can make themselves wealthy by putting ten thousand complicated obstructions in the way of their purchases. — The Globe.

This little paragraph of the Globe wipes out all the tariff pretensions of the American people in a twinkling. Although the U. S. is the great modern wonder of the world, its reputation for industrial shrewdness has at last met its reward—from the Globe. "The great majority still think they can make themselves wealthy, etc." They ARE wealthy. There is no thinking about it. Wasn't the U.S. the country with which this same Globe was so anxious for us to form a commercial union, a few years ago? Is the U. S. not the country that has found futures for many of the best men we ever grew?

What "under the shining sun" is the good of any journal's talking such utter nonsense as that so sententiously epitomized in the above paragraph? If our respected local contemporary, the Examiner, had done this thing we would have said that the new dam, the Smith street bridge and the Romaine street sewer had gone to its head, but when the Globe, that on occasion can knock Moses and the prophets silly, that can make of the Deluge a small pool and of the Ark and the Covenant itself a myth, can undertake the task of beating out the whole U.S. in a small paragraph, what are we to think? Surely it is not the Globe that is wrong? Wise saws, modern instances and maximic platitudes have deceived many before and this looks like another case of it. The poor old Globe is as great a make-believe as ever.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Is the seat of authority in the Bible or in the reader?

Persistent rumors reach us of a condition of anarchy in Campbellford since the passing of Local Option. It is said on the authority of respected citizens of that place, Conservatives, too, that the Local Option law is not enforced at all as it should be. The Provincial Secretary should be advised of this fact for he is as prompt and effective as the most law-abiding could wish when the occasion demands it.

Mr. Borden and Mr. Fielding are comfortable, but as far as possible from fat. Mr. Foster could probably have escaped through the hole that they say Bill Miner could not have used. George Graham is spare; and Rodolphe Lemieux would indignantly—perhaps sensitively—deny the soft impeachment. Mr. Monk Dr. Sproule, Dr. Pugsley, Mr. Oliver are all free from too much avoirdupois. There was once a fat man in the Commons Alonzo Wright, the King of the Gatineau; but he was known chiefly as a prince of good fellows who entertained the members royally at his home and made one humorous speech during a session. Still the Commons would rather have spared many sparer men than its one Alonzo; and they tell of a special journey that Sir John Macdonald once made up to his home to induce him to run on one occasion when the typical "mine host" thought of retiring. It is not thought that he quite "ran"; but he "stood" and was elected. He could win an election "standing" more surely than most folk can by running themselves out of breath. But his greatest flatterer never called Alonzo "strenuous."—Canadian Courier.

WORK THAT WEAKENS

Booth's Kidney Pills Have Done Great Service for People Who Work in Peterborough

Many Peterborough people work every day in some strained unnatural position, bending constantly over a desk, riding on jolting wagons or cars, bending over heavy house work, lifting, reaching, pulling, all these strains tend to wear, weaken and injure the kidneys until they fall behind in their work of filtering the poisons from the blood. Booth's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys, put new strength in bad backs. Peterborough cures prove it.

Mrs. W. Huycke of 31 Louis street, Peterborough, Ont., says:— "Mr. Huycke had frequently suffered with backache. At times the pains in the small of the back would become so severe that he would be unable to straighten himself up without much suffering. He could not stoop or lift anything of consequence and his general health had been run down for some long time. He had tried a number of different remedies but didn't find relief until on advice of a friend, he procured Booth's Kidney Pills at McDermid & Jury's Pharmacy and commenced treatment. He soon found relief. The pains left his back and he strengthened. He had no return of the trouble since and speaks very highly of Booth's Kidney Pills."

Frank Hill, March 21—The farmers around here are taking advantage of the sleighing and are busy hauling their grain to Peterborough.

Mr. Albert Franks has sold a handsome cream horse this week.

Miss Dollie Davis was the guest of Miss Lillie Lowes on Sunday last.

—Mr. Harold McConnell was the guest of Miss Lottie Howden, of Bethel on Sunday.

Mr. Milton Clark is busy drawing shingles from Bridgenorth. Keep busy Milt. Time flies.

Quite a number attended Lenten service at St James' church on Thursday evening.

Mr. Jack Lowes, of Winnipeg, who has been visiting here for some time intends starting for the West on Saturday.

Mr. John Lowes and Mr. Wilbert Franks have been breaking in colts this week. We presume they expect to do lots of driving this summer.

Mrs. Harry Lowes is spending a week with her sister Mrs Thomas Rath, in Springville.

It is reported that we are about to lose one of our bright young girls of Frank Hill. The community's loss will be an individual's gain.

OF INTEREST

First Plenary Council

Canada is to have a Plenary Council. The Holy Father, Pope Pius X., happily reigning, in his solicitude for all the churches entrusted to his care has turned his eyes upon the young and vigorous Church of Canada, and has graciously granted permission for the celebration of a Plenary Council in this country. Final instructions concerning its convocation have just been received from Rome from the Cardinal Prefect of the Congregation of the Council by His Excellency, Most Rev. Donatus Sbarretti, Apostolic delegate to Canada. This announcement has been ardently hoped for and anxiously awaited for some years past and the news will be hailed with gratification by the Catholics all over the Dominion. It is further announced that the Council will be celebrated during the coming summer, and, as is most fitting, that it will be held in the Mother See of all the churches of Canada, in the ancient and historic city of Quebec.

Quebec has seen very many brilliant ceremonies, ecclesiastical as well as civil, but during the coming summer she will be witness of a spectacle unique even in her varied history, that will mark an epoch in the progress of the Church in this country. She will behold for the first time in her history and in the history of the Church in Canada, the whole hierarchy, eight archbishops and twenty-five bishops under the presidency of the direct representative of the Holy Father, in solemn council assembled. From the east and from the west even from the distant northland, the rulers of the Church will gather. To these will be joined the vicars-general of the different dioceses the heads of religious congregations the Prelates of the Papal household the superiors of the various institutions of learning and a host of distinguished theologians, in a word it will be such a gathering as will show forth the force and strength and vigor of the Church in this broad Dominion.

And for what purpose? Assuredly not to make a spectacle. The old Church is conservative but she is practical and we live in a practical age and country. And it is for a very practical purpose that this assembly will be held—that those who rule in spiritual things amongst us may take counsel together, may be seized of actual conditions varying as they do among different races scattered over a territory so extensive, may deliberate upon such conditions and may apply such salutary measures and provide such effective means as the interests and advancement of the Church call for in this Dominion. The need of an assembly of this kind has long been felt and recognized. The Catholic Church in Canada has had a history of wonderful progress especially during recent years. She is now established on a solid basis, with all the machinery of ecclesiastical government in all parts of this broad land. She stretches out (in her strength and influence to the remotest section of the country. Much indeed remains to be done, but it may be said that almost every diocese is not only provided with everything necessary for carrying on divine worship but is likewise abundantly furnished with those fruits of religious zeal and devotedness educational and charitable institutions. The Church in Canada in the ardor of her faith and in the zeal of her clergy and episcopate, in the number and vigor of her religious establishments is second to none on this continent. In a young and growing country, however, where everything is in the making, and the great influx of people with different customs and rites is liable to produce separation of interests and create university of discipline, it is desirable, if not imperative, that the leaders in Israel should come together to solve by their united wisdom the problems which inevitably grow out of these conditions and affirm and more by a common legislation and a common discipline the community of faith which it is our privilege to share. It is fitting therefore that the Canadian Church should add that crown to the ecclesiastical edifice which up to the present has been wanting, so that in the pursuit of her lofty destiny there should be uniformity of means, harmony of purpose and unity of effort. "The commandment is a lamp and the law a light," says the inspired writer, and under a definite, uniform legislation the various forces of the Church will be better organized and directed towards the making of that God-fearing noble-minded true-hearted citizenship, which it is her duty to bring to the upbuilding of this young nation."—The Catholic Register.

Antiques While You Wait

Credulity and the desire to attain the unattainable account for the immense trade in spurious "antiques." Millionaires who are consumed with both these qualities are more to blame than forgers who minister to them, says Miss Helen Zimmern, who gives some interesting instances of deceived and saddened plutocrats in an article in the National Review (London, February). The trade is not confined to America; this writer refers to recent volumes on the subject, such as Mr. Robert Munro's "fat volume" on "prehistoric falsifications," and a work by Mr. Paul Eudel, who has collected instances of every species of fraud in his book 'La Truquage.'" A musician hardly imagines "that he can run a railroad, a railroad magnate that he can direct an orchestra, a brewer that he can conduct a legal case, a lawyer that he can manage a vineyard." Miss Zimmern observes, "yet where art is concerned all are connoisseurs, every man is ready to pass a verdict." "I would rather trust my own judgment about pictures than that of any expert," the author says she "heard a man say who, till he made his pile, had never lifted his head from his account-book and whose acquaintance with art was limited to the oleographs and colored advertisements of his Western wilds." The author "feels almost inclined to say" that "such a person deserves to be taken in."

The trade is "as old as the Pyramids, literally, not metaphorically," declares Miss Zimmern, and goes on to prove it:

"It is well known that most of the scarabs and Egyptian souvenirs sold at Cairo and Alexandria are made in Birmingham and Italy, where an enormous trade is done in false Egyptian antiquities, which are buried, and by chemical means made to look older than the old, and so skilfully are they executed that not only the tenderfoot is taken in, but Egyptian antiques of this class are found in nearly all museums, especially those of recent formation, for to the art-collector who has arrived upon the scene too late can be addrest Jove's remark to the poet in Schiller's poem, 'Wo warst Du denn als ich die Welt vertheilte?' But all this again, I repeat, is not new. In unwrapping mummies, never disturbed since dim distant ages, there have dropt out from among the winding-sheets scores of false scarabs apparently of Greek make, from which it is gathered that already then, probably for economy's sake (there is no new emotion under the sun), such emblems were manufactured wholesale and flooded the Egyptian markets. And in more comparatively modern times even the divine Michelangelo resorted to this device, for in his day as in ours, only the old was esteemed and highly paid. Wherefore, when, as a mere youth, he carved his child Hercules, he discolored, clipped, and buried it by the advice of a dealer, and thus turned it into an antique. When unearthed the statue was exhibited as a recently excavated treasure. Cardinal Riario bought it as such. When the fraud was discovered Cesare Borgia, the acute, thought to do a little deal of his own. He rebought it of Michelangelo, on whose hands it was returned, and when the sculptor's fame had grown as Cesare foresaw, he resold it to the Duke of Urbino, from whose collection, after many vicissitudes, it wandered to Turin."

The writer, who lives in Italy, tells us of one of the "ablest makers of Renaissance pictures" in whom lived "a Renaissance soul." "By atavism his fingers turned out pictures à la Lippi, Botticelli, Mantegna," which he sold for trifling sums to interested amateurs, little dreaming to what uses they would be put. Many of his pictures now hang as genuine in public galleries, even in Italy; and America, we are told, is "full of such pictures." In turning to a later epoch it is probably not necessary to tell us that "America is crowded with Corots, Courbets, Troyons, Rousseaus, Diaz, and others of the epoch," since the "Barbizon school seems particularly to have lent itself to counterfeiting." The writer casts a glance over some other fields:

"Drawings, professedly by Dutch and Italian old masters, are so common that the nicest discrimination is required. In the late eighteenth century there existed in Bologna a school of counterfeiters that turned out masterpieces on these lines, prepared wit ha view to the English Lord Johns doing the Grand Tour, designs that to this day fill many a portfolio in English homes or have passed into foreign hands under the auctioneer's hammer. A superior knowledge of paper grains and water-marks makes detection easier nowadays; still the prices paid are at times high enough to encourage the counterfeiter to make papers like that used in the artist's day, and further diligent search among old account-books and diaries often reveal blank pages of the date required. An extra dip of coffee, a burning of the edges to give a worn look, is all that is required, and a skilful operator then draws upon it, in the style required, a silver-point or a red or black-chalk design, often one that might be a first sketch of some famous picture by the master whose dead soul he is thus wronging. The whole is then generally expensively and exquisitely mounted on cardboard in the manner beloved of collectors, and goes forth on its errand of deception.

"Autograph-hunters should, above all, beware how they acquire signatures or letters. Of course every one does not fall in so easily as M. Michel Chasles, the celebrated geometer, whose case, brought into court, remains famous. He bought a collection of some 27,000 autographs, including letters from Jesus Christ, Cleopatra, Alexander the Great, Lazarus, Mary Magdalene, Pilate, Judas, Alcibiades, for which he paid a goodly sum. The court let the counterfeiter down gently with a £20 fine and two years' imprisonment, it being pleaded by his lawyer that upon M. Chasles' gullibility the greater burden of blame must rest.

"As for black-letter books, Elzevirs, Aldines, etc., they are faked by the ton. A facsimile paper is made, the text photographed upon blocks stereotyped, and the large red-and-black letters inserted after. Some editions princeps of the classics are distinguished by certain head- and tail-pieces of great charm. Their presence or absence used to date and authenticate a book. But this was in prescientific days. The missing pieces are now slid on to more recent and less costly editions. A bibliographic expert relates how infinite are the traps set for this ilk. Thus, though in buying old books he looks at them page by page, for often a page is missing and a false one inserted, or a book is made up of three, four, or five copies of the same work, but of different dates, yet even so one may walk into a trap. Once when examining a MS. he only discovered a false page by the mere chance that he noted that it was not worm-eaten, while the rest of the pages had been traversed straight through by one of these little bibliophiles. The forger had overlooked the fact that a work eats his way from cover to cover. For the rest every detail was perfect. Literary forgeries dealing with the alterations and substitutions of texts need a work to themselves."

$100 REWARD, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Ends His Life as Fortune Came.

New York, March 15.—Frank G. Bruce, a Yonkers inventor, committed suicide at his home Saturday, just as the mail man brought to his door a letter informing him that the United States patent office had granted him a patent on a non-refillable bottle, a device which his friends say is worth $1,000,000.

Bruce had become discouraged over the difficulties which he was having in connection with his patent. Twice before he had attempted suicide.

Campaign in Georgia

At the Crystal yesterday afternoon Public School Inspector Lees gave an account of some of the features of the recent convention of the Dominion Alliance, in Toronto, dealing chiefly with the address of the Hon. Seaborne Wright, of Georgia. The chair was occupied by Mr A B Cunningham, who, introducing the speaker, made reference to the fact that the meetings of the Alliance form a sort of parliament of temperance for the province in which plans are made and arrangements carried out for directing the campaign over the whole field

A Dry South

At the convention the last address was a very eloquent and forceful presentation of the argument in favor of prohibition based on the experience in the State of Georgia. There are now five States in the south that are entirely dry, and one can travel from the Atlantic to the Mississippi and almost from the Gulf of Mexico to the Ohio without seeing an open saloon. The abolition of the saloon there has been a marvellous blessing. In Georgia crime has decreased by 70 per cent and there are now in the state 10,000 women in homes with some of the comforts of life, who were formerly deprived of these blessings by the drink traffic. During the past five months 1600 saloons have been put out of business in Illinois and 2,100 in Ohio.

High License

When the campaign against liquor began in Georgia, a quarter of a century ago, they first tried high license. Licenses were put up as high as $5000. Every possible restriction was put on the traffic. There could be no other business done in the building in which liquor was sold. There were no blinds or screens and no back door. The hideousness of the whole business was made as conspicuous as possible. But it was a failure. The trade became a monopoly the poor man and small dealer was forced out. Cheap and inferior liquors were sold at high prices. The degradation and misery resulting from drink became greater than ever Crime increased till Atlanta, the capital of the state had the highest percentage of criminals of any city in America.

The Gottenburg System

The Gottenbourg or dispensory system, in which the element of private gain is eliminated was then tried. Liquor was sold by officers of the State, who were paid stated salaries. There could be no sale in small quantities, and no lingering or drinking on the premises. This was an improvement at first but soon the percentage of crime was as great as ever. Then there were great evils connected with it. Although the element of private gain was eliminated, the element of public gain became even a greater evil In a small city in which there had previously been eight saloons paying a license fee of $1000 each, the net profits for the first year were $60,000. This was estimated at 10 per cent of the sales, so that the people and mostly the poorer people, of that city were paying over $600,000 annually for liquor. The community profitting so largely, and in this way becoming a partner in the ruin and degradation of the citizens was the most serious evil of all.

Prohibition the Only Remedy

Gradually people come to see that the evil lay in the liquor itself, and would exist as long as people continued to drink, no matter under what system of restriction it might be done. The people come to realize that by sharing in any way in the profits of the trade they become responsible for the drunkard. Under our own system, at least half of what is paid for drink goes into the public treasury and so the public becomes a partner in the evil. The revenue derived from the traffic is not gain The liquor dealer gives nothing to the community. People in other lines of business, even if they are in for the profits, are contributing toward the industrial welfare of the community. The saloon keeper not only makes no such contribution but by his business takes away the efficiency of the others. Then the few dollars of this immense profits are paid over to the public treasury, are not earned by him. They were simply taken from the people and a few of them handed back as a bribe to the community to allow the process to continue. Can Christian people, members of our church, pledged followers of Him who gave Himself to save mankind afford to be partners in a business like that of the saloon. It is the duty of every one who loves his fellow men to make all possible efforts to get out of the business as speedily as possible.

WHEN ROYALTY DRIVES.

Police Have Many Ways of Identifying the Regal Equipages.

Visitors to London are sometimes temporarily alarmed by a sudden stoppage of the traffic. Looking for the cause of it they see that the police on point duty have "held up" all vehicles for apparently no reason whatever. Presently a closed carriage drives swiftly by, the police salute, lower their arms, and then wave the traffic on again. Some member of the royal family was in the closed carriage.

Spectators of this scene often wonder how the police are able to distinguish a royal carriage from a number of others.

The police are always furnished with three or four clues to the ownership of the royal carriages. The carriages themselves are usually slightly larger than those generally in use, and the horses are larger in proportion. The difference in size between the royal horses and those of other people is plainly apparent to any close observer at any big royal procession. On those occasions the royal stables cannot supply all the horses required, and a number of other horses are "jobbed" for the day. The hired horses are naturally the best that can be procured, but in point of size they are vastly inferior to those in the royal carriages.

At one time the royal carriage horses could always be distinguished by the red bands on the fronts of their bridles, but harness of this description is not now used exclusively by royalty. The police, however, can tell from the livery of the coachman and footman that they are in the service of the royal family. There are no bright metal buttons on the coats; the buttons are covered with cloth matching that of the coat. There is also a slight difference between the royal cockade and that of a private individual, but, although the difference is so slight, it is sufficient to enable the police to distinguish the royal servants in a crowd of others.

These little clues are only necessary when, as sometimes happens, members of the royal family drive through London without giving notice beforehand to the police. As a rule, when the King and Queen or the Prince and Princess of Wales are going to drive from one part of London to another, notice of the time and the route is given some hours before the royal carriages may be expected. In the case of a semi-private drive of this kind the royal carriages never pass down the most crowded streets, but at the same time they never take any of the short cuts through side streets which are so dear to the hearts of cabmen in a hurry.

When the King is in town he frequently drives in the morning in a plain single-horse brougham, the identity of which is probably never discovered by anyone but the police.

The Slum Child's "Father."

"A good man, with a good past, and a good heart for the work that lies before him." Such was the true and well-deserved description applied to Sir John Kirk when he was knighted last year. For over forty years Sir John has been associated with the Ragged School Union, London, acting as secretary since 1879. Quite half a million children of the slums have come under the beneficent sway of the Union since it was founded, and one of the finest testimonies to its work is the fact that some of its best friends to-day are grown-up children to whom it extended the fatherly hand in bygone years. The condition of the slums in the early days of the movement was frightful. 'Charles Dickens was the only man who could do justice to them,' says Sir John. He has a great opinion of the keen-wittedness of the slum child, the girls being quite equal to the boys. Here is a little story he tells. "As you are aware," says Sir John, "it is not easy to get the slum child to school. One day a little motherly body of seven or eight went to school with her tiny brother, who had been absent for some weeks. 'Where have you been?' inquired the mistress. The girl was full of excuses, but eventually a bright idea flashed into her mind. 'Please, teacher,' she whispered, 'my little brother's been ill' and turning to her diminutive relative, she said, 'Sneeze, Billy, and let the teacher see what a bad cold you've got.'"

A Popular Golfing Minister.

Rev. Sylvester Horne, the popular minister of Whitefield's (Eng.) Tabernacle, whose name has been prominent in connection with the new Education Bill, is an enthusiastic golfer. He finds time to play a game every Monday, and is secretary of the Free Church Ministers' Golf Club. Although he is a player of some years' standing, however, Mr Horne laughingly confesses that he has not yet realized his greatest ambition, which is to win the challenge cup of the ministers' club. Once he came very near it but lost by three holes. Mr. Horne is a firm advocate of outdoor exercise, especially for young men. "We want," he says, "more and more of genuine physical development which engrosses one's attention to the detriment of the serious duties of life." There is a definite line between pleasure and revelling, and at that line he stops.

When Will the Earth Be Full?

The fertile lands of the globe amount, it is estimated, to 28,000,000 square miles, the steppes to 14,000,000 and the deserts to 1,000,000 Fixing 207 persons to the square mile for fertile lands, ten for steppes and one for deserts, as the greatest population that the earth could properly nourish, the calculation is that when the number of inhabitants reaches about 6,000,000,000 the earth will be peopled to its full capacity. At present it contains somewhat more than one-quarter of that number. If the rate of increase shown by the latest census statistics should be uniformly maintained the globe would be fully peopled about the year 2,072.

The Alcantarilla Perfecto.

By F. A. COLLINS.

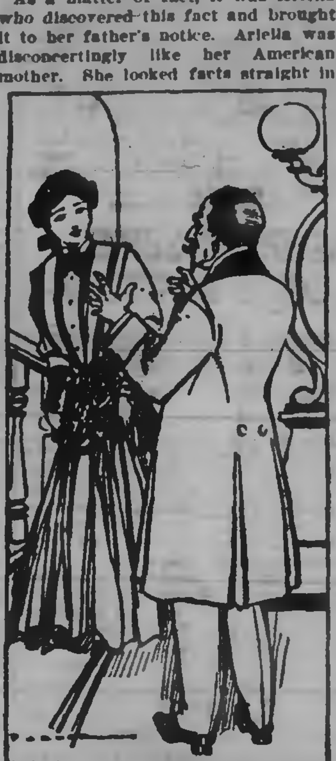
Copyrighted, 1908, by Associated Literary Press.

Except an American daughter and a profound faith in his judgment of a cigar Pepe Nunez had retained few precious possessions from his share of the fortune made by his grandfather in Cuban sugar and tobacco.

Pepe, the favorite grandson of the founder of the house, had grown up very expensively, exercising his talents mainly in acquiring that profound judgment of tobaccos and wines for which he is renowned in the Spanish colony.

When his motherless daughter, Ariella, attained her eighteenth birthday Mr. Nunez made the discovery that he owned a house in West Eleventh street, but no money to carry it on.

As a matter of fact, it was Ariella who discovered this fact and brought it to her father's notice. Ariella was disconcertingly like her American mother. She looked facts straight in the face, while Mr. Nunes by inclination and habit invariably turned his back on trouble.



"WHAT IS THE CIGAR MR. BROWN SMOKES, PAPA, DEAR?"

But if he had succeeded in ignoring disagreeable things for forty years he could not ignore Ariella. She said to him bluntly:

"Either you or I, papa, dear, will have to go to work."

Mr. Nunes shrugged his shoulders and gently fanned away the cloud of cigar smoke which enveloped him.

"I will go to Uncle Alfredos," he said.

To go to Uncle Alfredos meant a small loan described as temporary, but which was actually permanent. It would not solve the problem, and so Ariella advertised for gentlemen lodgers.

Then it happened that the pretty Spanish girl added to her list of admirers, who were mostly Cubans with no wish to become Americanized, two genuine Americans, Walter Brown and Henry Vincent.

They had not been in the house a week before each recognized a rival in the other. Thereupon each, according to his nature, adopted the method of wooing most likely to "win out." Brown, who had a smattering of Spanish customs, courted Pepe as the shortest cut to his daughter's affections. Vincent went straight to the point and saw Ariella as often as he could.

From the first the chief obstacle was Pepe, the young looking, white haired father. He warmly supported the pretensions of Brown, and whenever that gentleman spent an evening at home he had no difficulty in getting Senor Nunes to come up to his room and while away the time smoking a big black cigar.

One day Ariella, in the lightest way possible, hinted to Vincent that Mr. Brown's popularity was due not so much to his conversation as to his cigars. The hint was quickly acted upon. Not a smoker himself, he was willing to provide any number of big black cigars for Senor Nunes, but he and his cigars were politely scorned.

"Your father, Miss Nunez, does not like my cigars," Vincent confessed sadly one night as he occupied a chair not very near the object of his heart and much too near the old aunt, who looked sleepy and uncomfortable, yet would not go to bed.

"Perhaps they are not very good," answered Ariella. "Papa, you know, is a famous judge of tobacco."

"I buy the very strongest and most costly I can find," said Vincent. "I am trying to suit his taste, not mine."

"But why?"

"As if you did not know why I want to please your father," pleaded Vincent.

"Mr. Brown has succeeded," said Ariella, tapping the floor with her foot impatiently.

"I've asked Brown what his brand is, but he won't tell me."

"I will find out," said Ariella.

"Will you?"

At this most inopportune time the ubiquitous aunt, with a gleam of suspicion, suddenly interrupted.

"My niece, you will now go to the piano and play for me. No, Senor Vincent, you will remain by me."

For weeks Pepe Nunes had been asking to advance the case of Walter Brown. On this very day the storm broke. Ariella cut short her father's argument by hotly refusing to marry Brown.

"It is not you this Vincent shall ask," replied the infuriated senor, "but me, the father, Pepe Nunez. And my answer is n-a-n-o!"

"What is the cigar Mr. Brown smokes, papa, dear?" inquired Ariella irrelevantly.

But "papa, dear," elevated his black eyebrows, kissed the tips of his fingers with an expression of mystery and turned away without answering.

It is certain that Ariella had some occult reason for wishing to know the name of this particular cigar and that she extended her inquiries into other quarters.

A few days later as she and the fat aunt stood at the foot of the stairs in the hall waiting for Mr. Vincent, who was coming down to pass them, she murmured in answer to his bow these queer words:

"Alcantarilla Perfecto."

A few nights later Vincent begged Senor Nunes to come to his room to pass judgment on a box of cigars he had purchased, adding indifferently that he hoped Mr. Brown would come along and sample them also.

"I want your judgment, gentlemen, before I tell you the brand or anything about this smoke."

The cigars were duly lighted. The Spaniard nodded gravely, took a whiff and closed his eyes. He took another and opened them. In their sleepy depths lurked a look of perplexity.

"Don't you know the brand?" asked Vincent.

Senor Nunez shook his head.

"Before I tell you what it is," said Vincent. "I must relate my conversation with the dealer who sold me these cigars. When I asked him for them he laughed and said:

"You are only the second customer who has sought that brand, and I have been in the cigar business for years."

"Did he tell you the name of the other customer?" asked Senor Nunez, a smile beginning to dawn on his face.

"Wait a minute," begged Vincent. "The cigar dealer went on to ask me if I wanted that cigar or one which would pass for it. 'The cigar you call for costs $40 per hundred,' he said, 'and the imitation, which few connoisseurs would be able to detect, costs only $8 per hundred. The solitary customer who ever demanded that cigar bought the eight dollar imitation and repeatedly bought it, and he said it served his purpose well.'"

Walter Brown was wriggling in his chair.

"This is a good enough smoke," said he, "but I think Senor Nunez prefers the brand I have upstairs. Shall we go up, senor?"

"What is the name of the cigar I have the honor to smoke and for which there is an imitation?" he asked.

"The Alcantarilla Perfecto," said Vincent quickly.

Pepe Nunes turned toward Brown, who had got as far as the door.

"Coming up, senor?" asked Brown lightly.

"Por Dios, no!" thundered Senor Nunez. "You have fooled me once. It is enough."

Later that night Senor Nunez knocked at his daughter's door. She opened it a crack.

"What is it, papa, dear?"

"Hush! Is your aunt sleeping? Yes, Mr. Vincent has asked me for permission to marry you. I favor the match. You will be his wife."

"Yes, papa, dear," answered Ariella meekly.

"Good night, my daughter. I kiss your hand. After the wedding we will have no more lodgers. This Brown—I will send him away tomorrow."

The Democracy of the Drama.

The drama differs from the other arts in that it must make its appeal to the whole body of the public. It cannot be satisfied if it attracts only the art lover, the amateur, the dilettante. It has to allure and to interest the people in the mass. Of all the arts the drama is, must be, the most democratic. It ought to have a message for the boy in the gallery as well as for the ladies in the boxes. If it does not appeal to the plain people it fails of its purpose. When we say that the drama is a "function of the crowd" we mean that men massed together take on a collective feeling, which is something more than the sum total of their feelings as separate individuals, which is the result rather of the characteristics which they have in common. And it is the duty of the dramatist to deal with them not as individuals, but as a throng. He has to strike an average of intelligence and of sentiment.—Brander Matthews in Metropolitan Magazine.

Reporting the Lords.

The lords have from time to time concerned themselves with the inadequate reporting of their speeches. The house of lords is not an easy place for the reporter, and his task is rendered more difficult by the practice of noble lords in mumbling to themselves or to the lord chancellor, a habit to which new members, enslaved by the house of commons rule of addressing the speaker, are especially prone.

Earl Beauchamp drew attention to this habit in 1880, and suggested that if the lord chancellor's seat were shifted to the reporters' side of the house all would be well. The members were shocked at the suggestion, and the Duke of Argyll declared that the inaudibility of the lords was due to general conversation on the benches. As a result of the discussion, however, a proposal to construct new seats in the gallery was agreed to, and the reporters were given makeshift places in the side galleries.—London Chronicle.

The nuns in Loughrea Workhouse Hospital celebrated their golden jubilee in that institution on Jan. 28th.

Be Up to Date or Fail.

A physician tells me that he goes through his medical library every year and throws out a lot of books which have become useless to him because the new, the up to date, the more progressive, are pushing out the old.

We all know that some of the scientific books published are useless a year after they appear in print. There never was a time in the history of the world when the new in every line of endeavor crowded out the old as it does today.

If you examine your business thoroughly you will probably find old fogy methods, obsolete ideas and cumbersome ways of doing things—a lot of red tape in your methods.

Remember that nothing else is improving faster than business methods. If you are keeping books as they were kept a quarter of a century ago, if you are using the same business system, you will find that you are away behind the times.—Success Magazine.

Encouragement.

In a village in Scotland an old farmer sympathized one day with the complaints of an old friend of his, a peddler. The peddler said the times were always hard in Scotland; the people had no money there; it was a poor place to get along in.

"What you say is true," the farmer agreed. "Why don't you emigrate to Australia, Tavish? Australia's a grand place, by all accounts."

"It used to be," the other returned, "but it is so no longer. Australia is as overcrowded now as any other land."

"The coast may be," the farmer admitted, "but the interior, I'm sure, is not. Go to Australia, Tavish, and push into the interior."

"Hang the interior," said the peddler. "There's nothing there but kangaroos."

The farmer thought that kangaroos were some foreign race of people. "Well, Tavish," he said reproachfully, "isn't a kangaroo's money as good as any other man's?"

TRIED HARD TO END HIS LIFE

Young Man at Madoc Tried to Lap up Poisoned Liquid From Floor

Madoc, March 13—Arthur Cronk, a young man about town, made an attempt to end his life on Tuesday afternoon. He purchased 10 grains of strychnine at Alexander's drug store saying he wanted to poison rats, and then went to the St. Lawrence Hall, and putting the poison in a glass of water, he told some parties of his intention but before he could carry out his design the contents of the glass was spilled on the floor. That he was evidently in earnest would seem from the fact that he got hold to the glass and drained the contents, and even tried to lap up the spilled liquid from the floor. He maintained that he would yet make away with himself, and the matter has been reported to the County Crown Attorney. The penalty for attempting suicide is two years in the penitentiary.

WEDDING BELLS

AKER—STARR.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. John Moore, Winnipeg, Man., was the scene of a quiet wedding recently, when Miss Elisabeth Starr, daughter of Mr. Jos. Starr, of Peterborough, Ont., was united in marriage to Mr. Geo. C. Aker, of Windsor N.S., by Rev. W. A. Maclean, of St. Giles' church. A large number of friends and relatives were present to witness the ceremony. The bridal party entered the parlor to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march played by Mrs. Billington. The bride was attired in cream silk, and carried a pretty bouquet of white carnations and ferns. The bridesmaid, Miss Jean Aker, sister of the groom, was attired in white organdie. She also carried a bouquet of carnations and ferns. The groom was supported by Mr. W. O. Graham, of Norwood Grove. A splendid wedding dinner was served and at its conclusion Rev. Mr. Maclean proposed the toast of the bride, coupled with best wishes for a happy journey through life. The bride was the recipient of many useful gifts. The groom's present to the bride was a gold watch. Mr. and Mrs. Aker will reside at 173 Maple street.

THEATRICAL

Joe Miron, the French-Canadian singer, has been let out by "The Gay Musician" Company. He was reputed to be drawing $250 per week, and this was too high a figure to suit the management.

Eugene Walter's "Paid in Full" will be presented at the Renbrandt Theatre, Amsterdam, Holland, early in May.

William Hawtrey, who starred in "A Message From Mars," will have the role of Mr. Brown in "An Englishman's Home" when that play is produced in America.

"Votes for Women" the suffragette play by Elizabeth Robbins, which has caused some stir in England, will be presented in New York, with Mary Shaw as the leading woman on March 15th.

Blanche Walsh, seen here recently in "The Test," has recovered sufficiently to be removed from the University Hospital, Kansas City, to the Baltimore Hotel. She is still very weak but it is hoped that she will be able within a few days to go to Boston.

Lawrence Irving and his wife Mabel Hackney, have arrived from Europe and are to appear over the William Morris vaudeville circuit in a sketch called "The King and the Vagabond."

Charles Froham announces that he will soon produce at the Duke of York's Theatre, London, a new play dealing with capital and labor by John Galsworthy, called "Strife." Mr. Froham who is now in Paris, has obtained the American and English rights of Henry Bernstein's newest play, "When I Shall be No More."

Amelia Bingham, weeping copious tears, was something which surprised the audience at the Maxine Elliott Theatre, New York, last Friday night. Miss Bingham occupied an upper stage box, and she was so interested in Miss Nilson's work in "The Woman and the Man" that she wept with her.

A clergyman in Baltimore by the name of Dr. E. L. Watson has asked the question: "Does the theatre help the church?" Then in an hour's discourse he advocated dramatic censors all over the United States.

STOPPED THE CAB HORSES IN TIME

Yesterday as a number of gentlemen who had been attending a funeral, were returning, the cab stopped at the city clock to allow one of the number to alight. The danger of getting off the box is now apparent. The horses broke away and ran down Charlotte street. One of the inmates of the cab pushed open the cab door and sprang out. He alighted in a pool of mud on his face. The others remained in the cab, while the horses flew on. Just as they were turning into the stable at full speed with manifold consequences ahead the lad on the box, McNern by name succeeded in picking up the reins which he had been striving for, and brought the runaways to a standstill. The plucky youngster was duly rewarded.

FATHER McGUIRE GOING TO OTTAWA

To Present Petition Regarding a Bridge to be Erected

Lindsay, March 13.—On Saturday last a deputation of Emily residents waited on Rev. Father McGuire, of Downeyville, and asked that gentleman to present a petition to the Dominion Government with the prayer that the approaches to the new bridge proposed to be erected across the swamp between the 13th and 14th concession be undertaken by that body.

The Ontario Government has recently granted $2,000 towards the erection of the bridge on condition that the Dominion Government would build the approaches.

Rev. Father McGuire has consented to present the petition and those interested are satisfied that their needs will be presented to the authorities at Ottawa in such a satisfactory manner as to bring about the results required.

USE YOUR BRAINS

use your brains!

We hear much about the "lack of opportunity" of the young man of this generation. Those who accept sweeping statements at their face value without analyzing them believe this one. Money, and the pull that goes with it, are the only things that count nowadays the pessimists would have us believe. Brains, energy, loyalty, honesty, character—none of these has its value—the value it once had to the young man in his battle for success. As a matter of fact the exact reverse is true. There never was such an urgent demand for young men who have that divine combination of BRAINS, ENERGY and CHARACTER. This does not mean that every young man who has them in his make-up can climb to the top. It is true, however that no young man who hasn't them can.

ANOTHER EUCHRE AT CONS. CLUB

The Young Conservative Club announce another euchre contest to be held at the rooms on Wednesday night, March 17th, for the members of the club. The usual three prizes will be offered for first, second and third, high scores. The prizes to be played for on Wednesday night are on exhibition at the club rooms and no doubt a good number will be on hand to take part in the contest, which begins as soon after eight o'clock as possible.

TIMES IS IN WRONG

Makes Absurd Reference to Articles in This Paper—Some Kindly Advice

A newspaper has many duties to perform in the interest of the general public but there are some papers that try to exceed even their present wide scope. For instance, a local journal has been doing its utmost the past few days to dig up something sensational and have published fake yarns about attempted hold-ups, attempted robberies, girls and ladies assaulted, etc. Any casual reader recognizes the fakey tone of the stories, still they have an unpleasant effect upon the feminine population. There is no call for such reports. There have been no burglaries or hold-ups in the city and there is not the least excuse for the energetic (?) reporters racking their brains for sensations of that nature. It would be much better if the guilty scribes retired earlier to their cots and enjoyed an hour or two beauty sleep and dream dreams of things beautiful, than to spend all their spare hours with blood stirring novels and amateur theatricals. They would themselves see fewer of those hair-raising spectacles on their way home while the public would not be unnecessarily punished.

The above tommyrot appeared in the only paper in Peterborough which could waste its space in giving room to such childish and sore-headed rubbish—that limited circulation sheet—The Morning Times.

The other night an article appeared in this paper telling of a tramp causing alarm by staring into a Gilmour street residence. This happened at the residence of Mr A. J. McClellan, 496 Gilmour street. The police were notified and a plain clothes clothes man sent up to investigate. The Times reporter is on Gilmour street enough to know what's happening there if he only would keep his eyes open instead of going to sleep when plodding homeward at a late hour. And anyway he'd find out the accuracy of the item if he had enough originality to enquire at the police station.

The only other news article referring to anything like a robbery that has been published in the Review lately unless it emanated from the city police court, was an item to the effect that burglars had tried to enter a Dublin street residence. This occurred at the home of Mr. John Johnston, 220 Dublin street. If there is anything more the Times reporter would like to learn, it is up to him to blow the smoke away and get busy in the interests of the paper he is supposed to obtain news for.

What he has said is absurd and untrue. The Review staff can get enough news without "faking" and does not need to resort to illegitimate methods. If the Times man can't it is simply because he has n't the ability or the prestige to find out what is going on in the city and his paper shows it. Why does he not get a job at gathering cigar stubs or something else he possibly could do.

By writing what he has, he has not only made an ass of himself but has left his paper open for damages for the inference is a direct one.

DEATH OF FATHER OF THE SECRETARY OF LOCAL Y.M.C.A.

Rev. R. Hassard Passed Away at Orangeville on Sunday —Was a Pioneer Methodist Minister.

Orangeville, March 14.—The death took place last evening of Rev. R. Hassard. He had not been in good health for some time past but notwithstanding was up and around until within a week. So little was anything serious apprehended that his son, Dr. George Hassard of Harrow, Ont., and who had been with him on Saturday, felt his condition to be so satisfactory that he decided at his father's express request to take a run home for a few days.

The Rev. Mr. Hassard was one of the pioneer Methodist ministers of Ontario. He came to Canada from the north of Ireland many years ago, being then associated with the primitive Methodist or Wesleyan Methodist body and many were the experiences which he underwent in the sparsely settled circuits in which he ministered. He was identified with the Mount Albert, Manilla, Laurel, Cartwright, Tyrone and other districts, in days when the work of a minister covered many things and when long drives through unsettled districts and preaching almost constantly were the usual life of the minister. He was perfectly fearless, and by his courage won and made lifelong friends every place he went. About 13 years ago, owing to failing health Rev. Mr. Hassard withdrew from active pulpit life, and took up his residence in Orangeville, where he resided until the time of his death. While there he took an active interest in many things for the welfare of the town, and made many friends. One of his best was the Roman Catholic editor of The Dufferin Post, who but recently predeceased him.

Rev. Mr. Hassard is survived by his widow, five sons and one daughter, as follows; Rev W. B. of Toronto; Dr George A. of Harrow; Dr Robert F. of Brooklyn, N.Y.; Frank, secretary of the YMCA, in Peterborough; Harry, a druggist in Fort William, and Mrs Irwin, wife of Rev. A. J. Irwin, BA. Methodist minister of Tara. The funeral will take place to the Orangeville cemetery.

Mr and Mrs. Hassard of Peterborough left this morning for Orangeville.

ALD. HICKS WRITES ON THE PROPOSITION TO ERECT POWER HOUSE AT NEW DAM

To the Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir,—As the time is approaching for the voting on the money by-laws, one for the waterworks dam and one for a fraction of the amount required for the development of power at the waterworks dam, I might be pardoned for expressing my opinion in your columns on the now proposition for $15,000 upon which the ratepayers will be asked to vote on March 30. As to the $120,000 by-law for a new dam and pump house equipment I have at the present not one word to say more than this: If the old dam is unsafe we cannot afford to take the risk longer as a perfect waterworks system is vital to the city's interests.

With regard to the $15,000 by-law for a power house. By starting the work on the new dam from the west side the construction of the power house would not be reached until the summer of 1910 according to the Water Commissioners' statement, and the by-law could be held until January next, when the total cost could be estimated and such information as would give the ratepayers an intelligent idea of the total amount of money involved; they could then vote knowing their full responsibility in the matter.

The power house then would be built at the same time as the dam, which is the only argument the 11 members of the council have for submitting the by-law at the present time, without proper information.

Not one of the members of the City Council have been able to tell me how much more money will be required for the completion of the scheme. The power house must be equipped with electrical machinery and the power conveyed to the city. From the cost of these different operations is to be judged the merits of the proposition which will solve itself in answer to these questions. How many horse power can you have delivered to the city? And at what cost?

Let the council get this information first, and ask the ratepayers to vote the money afterwards. A good sound well defined power policy is of such vital interest to the city of Peterborough that the City Council can ill afford to make a joke of such a matter by grouping in the dark—and submitting two or three by-laws and shaking the public confidence to such an extent as to make the proper carrying out of the scheme impossible.

Some member of our City Council stated at one of the committee meetings that the Water Commissioners have advised certain matters in connection with the power house. To this I will say if the council insists on submitting the by-law for the $15,000 for the power house in its present raw state, let them here and now hand over the construction as well as the operation of the scheme to the Water Commissioners—as the law provides for this—so that to those who have the knowledge in the matter will belong the responsibility.

Yours truly,
R. HICKS.

THE MAGISTRATE DECIDED AGAINST HOTELKEEPER

Magistrate Dumble gave Judgment at the police court this morning against the proprietor of the local hotel who was charged with violation of the liquor law. The Magistrate said that the sale of the bottle of whiskey and the two bottles of lager amounted to more than one quart. The evidence of the witness went to show that there must have been three bottles of lager in the back, and this was contrary to the evidence of the employees of the hotel, and he held that the accused was guilty, and fined him 20.00 and costs.

Mr F. D. Kerr who acted in the interests of the hotel man, gave notice that the decision of the Magistrate would be appealed against.

HORSE SHOWED ORIGINALITY IN IT'S RUNAWAY METHODS

An exciting runaway occurred this morning on Hunter street, about 9.30, which ended rather fortunately for some people who were on the street.

A horse attached to one of Stock's bread waggons, which delivers on Ashburnham, became frightened while the driver was taking some bread into a Driscoll street residence, and bolted for town, leaving the waggon up against a post, and the bread scattered around on the road.

The frightened horse found the road too slippery, and took to the sidewalk, and many citizens from the east ward had a busy time dodging the animal. The horse turned off the sidewalk at different parts of its journey, but when near the Bank of Commerce, it got on the sidewalk again, and was going at such a fast pace that it slipped on the pavement and slid for a considerable distance. A post in front of LeBrun's Hunter street entrance, stopped it from going further, and the heavy collar saved it from receiving any severe injuries, which might have resulted in its contact with the post. The horse, which was a new one, had only been put on the waggon for the first time this morning, and was supposed to be sufficiently quiet to be left alone on the street. The animal was not injured to any great extent, but the harness and shafts of the waggon will need considerable repairing.

POWER DEVELOPMENT MAY BE TRANSFERRED TO COMMISSION

There was an interesting session for the Special Power Committee in the City Clerk's office on Saturday afternoon when the question of electric power was taken up in the general way and the $15,000 bylaw in particular. The latter, if granted by the people is for the purpose of constructing sluice ways, wheel pits and a power house for the future development of the water at the new water works dam. The water commissioners did not intend to have anything to do so far as the part of the work was concerned except to superintend the construction. The City Council was to assume the responsibility.

There has been considerable opposition to this scheme in the Council although the majority of the aldermen finally voted for the bylaw to be submitted to the people. This however may not be carried out. There is to be a meeting with the water commissioners on Tuesday night and that body will be asked to accept the responsibility of the power development. That is to say the commissioners will be asked to develop the water power, use what they require and the city will purchase the balance at a rate in proportion to the cost of development.

TWO YOUNG BOYS WERE REMANDED

The two young lads Hartley and Jordan, who got into the hands of the police for stealing some brass parts off a yacht and selling them to a junk dealer, came up before the Magistrate this morning. The youths were taken in hand by the Children's Aid Society Saturday and Mr. Cochrane was present at the court this morning in the interests of the Society.

He asked for a remand until Wednesday morning and this was granted by the Magistrate.

STYLISH SUITS

TO MAKE EVERY WOMAN IMPATIENT FOR SPRING

There's a smartness of cut, a gracefulness of line, a freshness of look about the beautiful Spring Suits we are showing, to set a woman all a tingle with desire to wear them.

SUMMER COTTAGE WAS DESTROYED

Handsome Residence of Mr. A. A. Hollinghead at Chemong Park Burned This Morning

The handsome cottage of Mr. A. A. Hollingshead at Chemong Park was destroyed by fire about seven o'clock this morning. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

Mr Hollingshead was fishing near the Indian Village on Saturday and stopped at the cottage on the way home yesterday. A fire was kindled in the fire-place, but it was put out when Mr. Hollingshead left the cottage at five o'clock. Bridgenorth people who were at the scene of the fire first state that it appeared to have started in a small room at the front of the house where furniture and bedding belonging to Mr. Lumis who had the cottage rented last summer, were stored. As a result of this there is considerable mystery about the origin of the fire.

The cottage was one of the best at Chemong and was built in 1907.

PASSED AWAY AT HAMILTON

Death of Mrs. Chas. H. Mann on Saturday --- Was Well Known Here

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Mann will learn with regret of the death of Mrs. Mann at their home 132 Young street, Hamilton, Ont., on Saturday, March 13th, at 1.30 o'clock noon.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Mann were widely known in Peterborough, Bridgenorth and Smith. Mrs. Mann's maiden name was Mary E. Buntin eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Buntin, of this city. Mrs. Mann was born in Port Perry and in 1898 she came with her parents who moved to this city.

She was an active worker in temperance movements and took an active part in church work in Murray street and Park street churches but after their marriage on April 30th, 1902, Mrs. Mann united with Gore street Methodist church, Hamilton, where she became an active worker in the choir. Mrs. Mann had been in poor health for the past two years. In September last she went under an operation for peritonitis which of late weakened her system. Her recent illness was of two days' duration. She became ill on Thursday at noon and in spite of all medical aid passed away Saturday noon.

The parents received messages by telephone that their daughter was not expected to live.

Mr. and Mrs. Buntin accompanied by their daughter Miss Gertrude, hastened in response to the call but arriving at Hamilton at two o'clock Saturday, found that death's messenger had been too swift.

Mrs. Mann leaves to mourn her loss her loving husband, Charles H. Mann; her father and mother two sisters and two brothers Miss Gertrude and Mrs. F. W. Buntin of Peterborough, and Mrs. Wm. Ed. Dixon, of Hamilton, and Albert E., Skykomish, Washington, U.S.A.

NOT INSANE BUT WAS ILL

Strange Case of Young Man Committed as a Lunatic at Cobourg

Port Hope, March 13.—A young man named Sam Yates, was taken to the Cobourg jail recently from the eastern part of the county as a raving maniac. He seemed never to cease raving in a loud voice, night and day, and on Saturday night he kept the whole jail population awake. On Sunday, when handed his food, he seemed quite rational, and a heavy eruption of matter was flowing from his ears. He appears to have had an auricular abscess in the head, which pressed upon the brain, relieving the pressure and he became quite rational, quiet and respectful. It is a strange case, and one not very often met with. It will be remembered that the jail officials found it necessary to place Yates in a straight jacket. A closer examination by the physicians might have relieved the unfortunate man, and saved him from a term in jail and the punishment of a straight jacket.

MEMORIAL SERVICE HELD AT ST. LUKE'S

Employees of Peterboro' Canoe Works Present in a Body Yesterday Morning

A memorial service for the late Col. J. Z. Rogers was held at St. Luke's church yesterday morning, at eleven o'clock. The interior of the church and the seats were draped and the employees of the Peterborough Canoe Co. were present in a body. Fitting reference to the deceased gentleman were made by Rev. Dr. Langfeldt, the service being a most impressive one. There were a large number in attendance.

AN INTERESTING GUILD MEETING

Will be Held To-morrow Night--- Debate on Popular Subject

St. Andrew's Young Men's Guild will hold its monthly meeting to-morrow (Tues.) night in the guild room. Several matters of importance will be dealt with, as well as the consideration of a guild banquet.

A very interesting debate on a popular subject has been arranged, and all the young men of the church are invited to attend.

HYSLOP BICYCLES

Bicycles are rapidly coming back into popular favor, the demand this year being five times what it was five years ago. We have planned for it in two ways—by getting the very best English wheel we can for popular selling, and saving to our customers all intermediate profits by filling orders direct by mail instead of through agents. In this way we can offer and give better satisfaction all round. The quality of the wheels is all right—only the best materials used and only skilled mechanics employed in construction. The equipment is right up-to-date and the machines throughout are such as we can thoroughly recommend. We sell automobiles as well as bicycles and our plan is to make wheels serve as a good advertisement to the entire business. Send for illustrated folder.

$50 Wheels for $25

JIMMY GRAHAM INQUIRING ABOUT WALK IN PETERBORO

The following postal card has been received from Jas. A. Graham, of Buffalo, who took fifth money at the walk here last spring:

Buffalo, March 13, 1909.

Sporting Editor:

Dear Friend,—Can you tell me if there is any walking race in your city this spring. If so please let me know at once and oblige

Yours, etc.,
JAMES A. GRAHAM,
325 14th Street, Buffalo, N.Y.

There is nothing definite decided upon yet, as to holding a walk, but something will be doing in this respect in the very near future. It is not a certainty yet whether the walk will be held or not.

LINDSAY BOYS THE WINNERS

Defeat Local P. C. I. Team on Heavy Ice by 8–4 Score at the Half Was 4–4

The P.C.I. hockey team were defeated in Lindsay Saturday by the Collegiate team of that town by 8—4. The half-time figures being 4—4. Ken Cramp was unable to make the trip, and was replaced by Anderson, who put up a good game. The ice was in poor condition and this told heavily on the local team, as the puck would not travel fast enough to enable them to get their combination going in their usual effective manner. The Lindsay team are a husky aggregation and will likely be represented in the O.H.A. next season. Ken Randall, of the Intermediates, gave good satisfaction with the bell.

RUNNING

Both Simpson and Shrubb are suffering from colds. Simpson has a touch of bronchitis and has had to give up training. He tried to keep up his running but he coughed so much he had to let up. He expects to turn out again Monday.

Shrubb is doing four or five miles every day, sometimes indoors and occasionally on the road. He finds outdoor running pretty hard now. Yesterday he went by around Queen's park and got his feet wet.

The Englishman says he is willing to give Longboat a couple of weeks in which to prepare for their engagement although the time expires next week.

Simpson and Mat Maloney are being matched to run a full Marathon in New York City some time soon.—Toronto News.

HOCKEY

The Lake Rats won from the Cordage on Saturday night at Brock St. rink by 7-1, the half time score standing 3-1 against the Cordage team. The ice was soft and sticky and neither team could do their best although some pretty good hockey was played in the first part of the game. The cord twisters were short a man and this gave the Rats a big advantage. But the Cordage team put up a game struggle and claim they will reverse things somewhat when the two teams meet again and will make sure to have a full team. Ralph Hillier gave good satisfaction with the bell.

The teams were;

EDMONTON 10, MOOSE JAW 8.

Edmonton, Alta., March 9.—Edmonton defeated Moose Jaw in the first game of the series for the Fit-Reform cup to-night was rather loose especially in the first half. Moose Jaw has a good team, but are not in the same class as the Eskimos. They were troubled with stage fright in the first half. Edmonton scored four goals early in the game and then slacked up. At half time the score was 6—5 in Edmonton's favor. Moose Jaw got busy in the second half and scored three, leading by one. Edmonton tied and Moose Jaw led again. In the last five minutes Deeton scored two and Whitcroft one making the final score 10 to 8 in favor of Edmonton. The line-up;—

Edmonton—Winchester, Crowley, Taylor, Boulton, Deeton, Malloy, Whitcroft.

Moose Jaw—Kane, Delmage, McDowell, Bishell, Park, Law, Stubbings.

Referee Pete Burley; judge of ply, K. J. McMillar.

The Lindsay Post says:

Peterborough, March 12.

Arthur Simpson, Esq.,

Dear Arthur—Please accept further congratulations from the Peterborough hockey club on your winning the Intermediate OHA. championship. You deserved to win, as you played pretty consistent hockey the whole season through.

Yours sincerely,
R. M. GLOVER

WALKING

In connection with the query of Jimmy Graham, the Buffalo ped, it might be stated that the question of holding a walk here this spring is being seriously considered by a couple of local gentlemen of repute in the sporting world. There is every probability that the walk will be held.

Looking at the matter from a business standpoint, and that is the way it must primarily be considered, it would appear that a walk would pay.

If the walk is held it won't be a three-hour grind, but it will be a three-hours-a-night event, possibly three hours on Wednesday and Saturday afternoon. The Wednesday afternoon proposition may be cut out, however, as the promoters see fit.

Hoagland says he will be able to get a field of the cleverest walkers in America to start. If arrangements can be made these will include Brown, Hubbell, Klubertanz, Sixter, Graham, and the invincible Hoagland, along with other good ones.

Must Doff Hats in Church.

New York, March 15.—A Boston despatch to The Times says:

The First Baptist Church of Somerville has officially barred from public worship all women who refuse to remove their hats before entering the church auditorium. The church is one of the important ones of New England.

"The fancy millinery of the present time attracts so much attention," said one of the trustees, "that women spend more time examining hats than they do listening to the sermon."

Butter Is Good.

Ottawa, March 15.—"It is quite apparent that butter is essentially genuine and of high quality, as offered for sale in Canada," is the conclusion arrived at by the chief analyst of the Inland Revenue Department, from the test of 295 samples collected through the Dominion last autumn.

Excess of water was found in three samples sold in Peterboro, but in none of the samples were foreign fats found.

Founder of the Hero Fund.

Here is a brief description of the manner in which Mr. Carnegie, and his right-hand man, Mr. James Bertram, private secretary to the Laird of Skibo, deal with the hundreds of requests for libraries, organs, churches, help for heroes, and the score of miscellaneous begging letters received every morning. Mr. Bertram makes a careful investigation of the cases, the genuine ones are brought under Mr. Carnegie's notice, and he writes on each letter the amount of money he is prepared to pledge himself. Or if he decides not to answer favorably, he gives a hint for his refusal and leaves Mr. Bertram to reply in suitable language. At a desk near a window is a young man whom Mr. Bertram calls "Campbell," and who is working at a typewriter with the steady industry which is the keynote of the Carnegie menage. There is always work for Campbell, and often Mr. Bertram sits down to another machine and snaps off letters, speeches delivered by his chief, statements for the press, copy for magazines, or what not.

Head of the G.P.O.

At a rough estimate 8,000,000 letters and 350,000 parcels are handled daily by the London (Eng.) G.P.O. at Christmas time, and in order to cope with the extra work Mr. Sydney Buxton, the Postmaster-General, put to work 8,000 extra men, recruited as far as possible from the unemployed. Mr. Buxton has another claim on the gratitude of the English people, besides that which all must feel for the admirable manner in which the mails are dealt with by his well-organized staff at Christmas. The past twelve months has seen the inauguration of the penny post between Great Britain and the United States. Mr. Buxton began his public career at an early age, having been elected a member of the London School Board soon after he had attained his majority. On questions of finance, rating, and taxation he is specially strong, and he has been credited with a considerable share of responsibility for the death duties, for he assisted Sir William Harcourt in the production of the budget which introduced this impost.

Royal Wine.

Red wine or champagne is drunk very sparingly by King Edward. Chablis, of which a large consignment has just arrived at St. James' Palace for distribution amongst the various royal residences, is His Majesty's favorite drink, and he invariably takes it at lunch and dinner. This wine comes almost exclusively from one vineyard, and is bottled in the vaults of St. James' Palace, where a complete factory for the purpose exists. In these vaults a large stock of wine is kept constantly, for they act as a store for Windsor, Buckingham Palace and Sandringham.

ENGLISH SCHOOL LIFE.

Eton Headmaster Discusses Old-Time Treatment of Lads.

The Rev. E. Lyttelton, headmaster of Eton College, in a speech at the opening of the new elementary school at Slough, contrasted the care taken of school children in the present day with the treatment which they received 300 years ago, and incidentally pointed out how much happier English schoolboys are than the little boys of Germany.

It was amazing to reflect, he said, that our forefathers were able to build up this empire out of nothing, hardly knowing what they were doing. They "whacked" the Spaniards, simply because they had nothing to do at home, and took all the best part of the world from the French for the same reason. It seemed most amazing to remember that these men were brought up under conditions absolutely barbarous. People had come to such a state of mind that whenever a child expressed a wish for anything, unless it was at once gratified, they immediately wrote to the newspapers and made a remonstrance.

These were the sort of things Shakespeare had to do. He had to be in his place in the school at 6 o'clock all through the year. The children had to stay in school three hours before breakfast. In those days nobody had any time for breakfast, and he fancied they must have taken to school a portable sandwich and munched it between little bits of Latin. The morning was resumed from 9.15 to 11.30, when there was a break of an hour and a half, to enable the children to go home and get something to eat. The scholars assembled at 1 o'clock and went on to 3.30, when a quarter of an hour was allowed for play. Then work on again until 5.30.

They had come to a time in their history when they believed in happiness, and he believed they were right in doing so. Shakespeare spoke of the miserable face of the child going to school. Such faces he (the speaker) had seen himself in that country which was always being pointed out to us. Little boys in Germany on their way to school had to pass the drill ground, where in a hot sun might be seen the miserable recruit doing the goose step.

That boy recollected that if he did not work out his studies and pass a tremendously stiff examination at school he would be condemned to spend three years in the army, whether he liked it or not, while, if he passed the examination he got off with one year. That was the kind of school life children had in Germany.

He read in a brilliant book only the other day that schools were absolutely futile and useless things because children went too late to them. The real valuable time was in the home training of the first seven years of their life. Many people believed this. There was no doubt that the sooner they got the children to school the more permanent and lasting through life would be the influences to which they were subjected.

A Strenuous Musician.

Mr. Henry J. Wood, the popular conductor of Queen's Hall, London, whose orchestral concerts attract so many music-lovers at this time of the year, is only 38 years of age, and without a doubt is the first of English musical conductors. Curiously enough, until he was 17 Mr. Wood had set his mind on adding the letters "R.A." to his name. Even to-day he is devoted to the art of sketching, and a fine afternoon sometimes finds him rushing off to the country to indulge in his hobby. Mr. Wood, however, has little time for sketching nowadays. His motto is "Rehearse! rehearse! rehearse!" and, with small intervals for meals, he often conducts at Queen's Hall from 10 a.m. to 11 p.m. But he has always been known as a hard worker, and when at 19 he joined the Rousby Opera Co. as conductor he frequently worked twelve hours a day for two guineas a week. What is more, he kept up this laborious life for four years.

Queen Alexandra's Publisher.

Lord Burnham, the proprietor of The Daily Telegraph, which paper undertook the publication of Queen Alexandra's Christmas Gift Book, is not only one of the most capable journalists in England, but also the originator of those popular public subscriptions which have been a notable feature of The Telegraph. His lordship, in fact, has always been a leader in every good work connected with the press. He has a thorough practical knowledge of the printing trade and journalism. His father, the late Joseph Moses Levy, who founded The Telegraph, placed his son as an apprentice to the printing business. In due time young Levy became dramatic critic of the paper, and ultimately principal proprietor, having meanwhile assumed the name of Lawson. He has frequently entertained the King at Hall Barn, where Edmund Burke, the statesman, spent many happy days.

Hands and Pockets.

He was an English tourist, and when the train stopped at a highland station he regarded the lounging natives with a curious interest. Beckoning one of them to him, he said:

"Good gracious, Donald—I suppose your name is Donald or Macdonald—you don't tell me that the misfortune of unemployment has reached so far north?"

"Och, no," said Donald. "It's no' so bad as that whatever."

"Well, but," said the investigator, "why is it I see a number of stalwart young men like you standing about with their hands in their pockets?"

"Oh," replied Donald, "it's perhaps because we have na been far enough south to learn to put them in other people's pockets."

A Deep Hole.

A hole has been bored in Silesia to a depth of 7,000 feet.

It is being discovered at Antrim that many persons who have no right to them are in receipt of old-age pensions.

PAY FOR NOVEL WRITING.

Modern Authors Do Not Get Much More Than the Old Ones Did.

Novel-writing as a trade has not shown any material financial improvement in the last fifty years. The enormous increase in the number of readers has been counterbalanced by the extraordinary increase in the number of publications, and also in the number of writers.

Thackeray, for example, received about fifty guineas a part for the periodical issue of "Vanity Fair." It appeared in nineteen numbers, one of them being a double part, so that altogether this issue brought him 1,000 guineas. Nowadays, though Mr. Kipling received $25,000 for the serial rights of "Kim," few writers receive as much as Thackeray, although it must be remembered that his publisher held the entire copyright for a certain short number of years.

For "Esmond" Thackeray had 1,200 guineas, and "The Newcomes" yielded about $20,000, while his editorial connection with the "Cornhill" is said to have been worth $20,000 a year—an income that will certainly compare with that of the editors of any twentieth-century monthly publication.

"Pickwick" brought Charles Dickens $12,500 and a share in the copyright after five years. "Nicholas Nickleby" was worth $22,500, and "Barnaby Rudge" $15,000 for the copyright till six months after publication.

It is interesting, in view of the 300,000 copies sold of "The Master Christian," the 100,000 of "The Eternal City," the 500,000 of "Richard Carvel," and the 80,000 of "The History of Sir Richard Calmady," to note that the original sale of "Great Expectations" was 30,000 copies.

In four years George Eliot received $8,000 from "Adam Bede," but "Romola" brought her $35,000 from the "Cornhill," and "Middlemarch" was, on the whole, even more profitable, the American edition alone being worth $6,000 to the authoress. Charles Reade received $150 for "Peg Woffington," for that was at the beginning of his career, and "Griffith Gaunt; or, Jealousy," attained to $7,500.

Anthony Trollope, a very steady and persistent writer, made from his books a gross sum of $350,000, or some $10,000 a year. "The Claverings" brought $14,000, "The Small House at Allington" $15,000, and "Can You Forgive Her?" $17,500.

Charles Kingsley sold "Alton Locke" for $750 to Messrs. Chapman and Hall. In 1853 Messrs. Routledge gave Bulwer Lytton $100,000 for a ten years' copyright of the cheap edition of his novels, and at the end of that period they paid $25,000 for another period of five years, and made a contract on the same terms at the end of the second period.

"Mr. Truth" as Santa Claus.

Many homeless children in London (Eng.) hospitals and elsewhere know Father "Krismuss" by another name—viz., "Mr. Truth," the editor of Truth, who, on Christmas Eve, presents them with either a toy or a pretty doll, and in many cases a shining new sixpence also, just to crown the youngsters' joy. For many years 11,000 sixpences were annually contributed to the Truth fund by an anonymous donor, who after his death was discovered to be Sir Francis Tress Barry, of Windsor. A large rocking-horse or a swinging motor-car for general use finds a permanent position in some of the hospitals, whilst "Mr. and Mrs. Truth"—Mr. Horace Voules, editor of Mr. Labouchere's famous weekly and his wife—pay flying visits, much to the children's delight. The gifts are distributed from the "Truth's Doll and Toy Show" fund, now in its twenty-ninth year, and which, from small beginnings, so if very large proportions. In the early years Mr. Labouchere distributed a few toys contributed by his readers, but so great was the demand that it became a special Christmas feature of his paper. Upwards of 200 London hospitals and Poor Law institutions are on the new list, whilst the total number of toys to be sent out amounts to over 30,000. No fewer than 7,000 dolls, 4,000 of which have been specially dressed in competition, was distributed last Christmas.

A Grand Old Man.

Beds supplied, 5,49,004; meals, 9,557,251. That, in brief, is a twelve months' record of the work of the Salvation Army amongst the submerged, starving, vicious, and criminal classes; and the man who has made it possible is nearing his eightieth birthday. When General Booth decided to give up the ordinary Methodist circuit work in 1861, he had one single purpose—evangelistic labor. He established missions, corps, societies, and colonies—in a word, did what no one else had the enthusiasm or energy to tackle—he went boldly into darkest England and he held out a helping hand to those who were struggling for dear life there. To-day there are thousands of men and women all over the world saying "God bless the General," for had it not been for his great efforts, and the openings he made for them, they might still have been submerged.

How Birds Meet Emergencies.

Dr. Francis H. Herrick says a sparrow will pluck a horsehair from the mouth of a nestling, while another bird, like an oriole, will stand by and see its mate hang until dead without attempting to release it.

A robin will tug at a string which has caught on a limb, but is never seen fully to meet the situation by releasing the string. It will make several turns of a cord about a limb and leave the other end free without any relation to the nest, so that its effort is useless. It ties no knots.

The gull, according to abundant and competent testimony, will carry shellfish to a considerable height, drop them on the rocks or hard ground and repeat the experiment until it gets the soft meat.

Parliamentary Questions Champion.

With 370 questions in Parliament to Ministers, Mr. J. B. Lonsdale, M.P. for Mid-Armagh, has this year broken his last year's record of 331. There were 463 divisions in the House of Commons during the past session.

Dr Tierney and Edward Brady have been re-elected chairman and vice-chairman respectively of Clones Urban Council.

CARD SECURED $200,000.

Something About the Pioneers of the Picture Postcard Business.

Sir John Millais, the eminent landscape painter, once declared, as he shook Mr. Adolph Tuck's hand and congratulated him on the artistic productions of his firm, "Your Christmas-cards do more for art than the Royal Academy." There is another value attached to the Christmas-cards sent out by Messrs. Raphael Tuck, however, judging from the following incident. A doctor, looking at some of Tuck's beautiful Christmas-cards in a Sheffield shop-window, suddenly decided to send one to an aunt residing in a foreign land, whom he had not seen for many years. The kindly token, besides bringing about a reconciliation, secured a legacy of $200,000 for the lucky nephew, who otherwise might not have been granted even the proverbial shilling. Three or four years before Lord Tennyson died, Messrs. Tuck made an offer to pay him no less than 1,000 guineas for a dozen little Christmas-card poems of eight lines each. The offer, however, was declined. Many celebrated poets write Christmas verses, and there are several well-known M.P.'s who are also Christmas poets. One of the most popular Christmas verses was written by a struggling barrister, who received $250 for it. Owing to cheaper rates of postage and new facilities for quicker transmission, Mr. Tuck finds that greater demands for cards are made every year. Even to-day it is estimated that the Christmas-card puts something like $125,000 in the pockets of London sorters, packers, postmen, and their temporary helps.

SCOTTISH CRUSOES.

Sealers Spend Twenty Days on Lonely Island.

Eighteen Scots, sealers from the island of Lewis, have just met with adventures such as one reads of in "Robinson Crusoe."

In small boats, on a day when the sea was as calm as a lake, the men set out for the island of North Rona, forty-five miles distance. They drew up their boats in the only safe landing place, and the whole band at once set out to hunt the seals. They found hundreds of them, and, getting between them and the seashore, killed 320, and secured the skins.

Preparations were made to return home the next day, but during the night the weather broke, and instead of launching their boats they had to haul them 100 yards farther up. So rough was the weather that the sealers set about building temporary shelters. Crusoe-like they carried all they could from the boats, and soon had two comfortable houses built. Their beds they made of grass.

For the first few days the men were well provided, but they took the precaution of putting themselves on short rations. For light and fire they used seal blubber. The provisions at last gave out, and the men killed a sheep, of which there are a few on the island, and caught the sleeping sea birds on the rocks.

Twenty days passed before the weather was fit for the men to take to their small boats again. They are now safe at home, greatly to the delight of their wives and families.

Killed His Friend.

Malone, N.Y., March 15.—Charles Devlin of West Bangor, drove up to the home of the sheriff here Saturday night and asked that the officer arrest him. He said he had just killed a friend, Henry Brooks of North Bangor, with a hatchet, and left the latter's body lying beside the road two miles back.

Arm Amputated.

Winnipeg, Man., March 15.—Saturday afternoon John Dunlavy, aged 35, was crushed while coupling cars on the transcontinental, north of Culver. His arm was amputated at the shoulder, and he is doing well. Dunlavy came last year from Dugald, Ont. His wife is in Ireland.

MISS ROSE MOORE AGAIN PASSES ALL COMPETITORS

The Uncertainty of the Final Outcome is More Pronounced With Each Succeeding Day—Some Wild Reports Are Being Circulated to Scare Out the More Timid Ones—Don't be Frightened.

IT'S ANYBODY'S RACE TO THE LAST MINUTE

Remember That Every Race is Won at the Wire and Not Before—Many a Good Runner Has Lost His Stride at the Last Minute and There is Always Another Less Than a Second Behind—People Have a Bad Habit of Betting on Favorites and Getting Terribly Jarred by a 50 to 1 Shot That Flashes From the Bunch of Also Rans and Wins by an Eyelash.

Every contestant in this race has awakened to the fact that this contest is not a trivial affair and that first estimates of the number of votes it would take to win is about "steen" thousand short of the real figures. Some rather reluctantly admit that they were a hundred thousand or so shy in their estimate.

Well what of it? If your estimate was too low, it is up to you to rise to the occasion and meet the new situation. Revise your own figures. Make a new estimate of the number of votes you will need to win the particular prize you have decided will about suit you and then start out to get them. And don't stop until you do.

It is going to take a big vote to win. You are sure of that and the way to do it is to get results every day. If you don't you will find that when the general role is called you won't be there.

A good many of the contestants have been thinking deeply and have sized up the situation thoroughly realizing that this contest is going to be the biggest thing of the kind that this city has ever heard of. The same ones realize that the prizes are not awarded until March 22nd, and that rumors to the effect that Miss So and So has a cinch on the trip abroad and Mr. Surething has a mortgage on one of the beautiful diamond rings are most decidedly premature. The contest editor has been through a good many of these battles and has seen that smile of certainty fade from too many faces not to make an effort to warn candidates against the sin of over-confidence. Don't think that because you had a windfall last week and landed a few of those bonus votes for 10,000 that you can rest on your oars and laugh at the other fellow. You will get badly fooled if you do that. Prizes such as the Review is offering do not go a-begging, and many shrewd people have entered the race. Their reserves have not yet been drawn upon and you can't tell what they can do.

On the other hand, don't believe all the rumors you hear about the millions of votes that some candidates have up their sleeves.

Some candidates consider it good business to try to scare out the timid ones by mysteriously hinting at the tremendous reserve that they have in their breast pockets while others may be ten times as dangerous go around telling that they don't expect to win a thing, but just intend to get some excitement out of the contest. Suit yourself in regard to what they say but don't believe all you hear.

THE LAST, "THE MAIN, CHANCE" FOR ALL CANDIDATES

EACH CANDIDATE sending or bringing $10 worth of NEW subscriptions to the Review Office before 8 o'clock, on March 22nd, the close of the Contest, will be given a special certificate for 4,000 EXTRA VOTES, in addition to the regular certificates. The amount may be made up in any manner—Daily or Weekly subscription All that is necessary is that the sum amounts to $10, and that it be NEW.

For each $10 worth of OLD subscriptions turned in until the end of the Contest a special certificate for 2,000 EXTRA VOTES will be given. This also in addition to the regular votes.

Every subscription turned in since March 8 will be counted. It is not necessary to hold back the money until you have $10. Turn the subscriptions in as you get them, and when the amount reaches $10, the certificate will be issued—and it may be voted at once or held as desired.

No other offer of any kind will be made during the Contest.

Kick Likely to Kill.

Brockville, March 15.—James Regate, aged 10 years, lies in a precarious state at the hospital with a fracture of the skull, as the result of a kick from a horse. He was stealing a ride on a cutter, standing on the runner and clinging to the back of the seat. The rig passed close to a horse being led by the halter and the animal shot its heels into the air, sinking the shoe of one foot into the boy's head.

Montreal Waif Caught at Cobalt.

Montreal, March 15.—Get-rich-quick ideas fired the imagination of Master Lionel Trudel, aged 13, who ran away from home a few days ago at Point St. Charles, and nothing more was heard from him till yesterday, when his mother received a wire from the Cobalt chief of police saying he was holding the youngster awaiting the mother's order.

Woman Up For Double Murder.

Paris, March 15.—The preliminary investigation into the charge against Mme. Steinheil, accused of having murdered her husband and her stepmother, has ended in the formal accusation of premeditated murder.

She will probably be tried for her life in the Assize Court, not as an accomplice but as the principal.

Marriage Is Off.

London, March 15.—On the highest authority it may be said that there is not the slightest chance of a marriage being arranged between King Manuel of Portugal and Princess Beatrice of Saxe-Coburg. The King must marry a Catholic, and the princess firmly declines to adopt that faith.

COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY DODD, MEAD & COMPANY

This half hearted acknowledgment of his strange indebtedness educed from his companions no recognition other than a puzzled stare from the sergeant and an enigmatical smile on the face of the young Spaniard. Connell proceeded with his examination.

"Why did they leave you here?"

"They had no time to take us with them when you broke in," was the boy's answer. "Aguinaldo was on his way to some village where his family is in hiding. The scouts told him of your presence. Then he determined not to wait for Pilar, but to surprise you. We never rested day or night. My poor brother—how he suffered!"

"Yes, yes, but why are they carrying you on a march like this?"

"My brother is the only man who knows where the Spanish gold was hidden when our war was ended. I mean the gold that came up with guns and ammunition. Aguinaldo is looking for the hiding place. My father, a high officer in the Spanish army, died of the fever last winter. We were stolen from our house in Manila by Aguinaldo's men and have been going from place to place ever since. We have not told of the hiding place. The Americans do not need gold, no?" The boy laughed sarcastically.

"How many men has Aguinaldo?"

"Three hundred or more. I would advise you to look out for Pilar. He, too, may come at any moment."

Scarcely had the words left his mouth when a storm of yells came from outside the convent, and immediately the boy rushed to his brother's side.

"Great Ceasar, there's a thousand of them!" cried Rogers.

Instantly every man made for the position assigned to him. The gun was in readiness. Outside the Mausers rattled, bullets coming from all quarters and thumping sharply against the opposite walls with a patter that warned the Americans against standing erect.

Occasionally a scout would peep from a window and take a shot into the darkness, but these ventures were few. All lights were extinguished. The men fired at the spots from which burst the flames of rifles, then dropped suddenly. After awhile the firing of the Filipinos dwindled into a shot now and then.

"Keep low! They don't dare risk a charge! Be ready to defend the door!" Captain Groce commanded.

The night wore on, and with the cessation of hostilities confidence increased. Re-enforcements were not far off, and it did not seem possible that the sounds of battle could not be heard. The men, worn out by the exciting events of the day, were generally silent. Sergeant Connell, however, was an exception.

"Get us! Not a bit of it," he was saying, "the dirty little cowards! Major March will be here in the shake of a dead lamb's tail."

An hour later Bansemer, his rifle in hand, sitting near one of the windows, suddenly felt some one tugging at his arm. Turning, he saw the Spanish boy.

"Won't you come and help me to carry my brother behind the stone wall?" he was saying. "He is exposed to the bullets and cannot move himself."

"Willingly!" and Graydon followed his lead. As if he was a child, he picked up the gaunt Spaniard and carefully bore him to the place of shelter, but despite all that he could do to hide his suffering the pain in his arm, which the removal of the man had increased, was such for a moment that he felt faint and staggered. The boy was quick to notice it and quickly asked:

"What is the matter? Wounded?"

"It's nothing; merely a scratch."

"Oh, I know. Why, it's your arm, and I"— The boy's face crimsoned with shame and contrition. Through the semidarkness the blush escaped Graydon's notice, but not so the truly feminine little shriek of dismay as he touched and felt the wet sleeve.

"It was I who did it! Oh, how can you ever forgive me?"

Graydon, dumfounded, stared in wonder.

"What?" he exclaimed; "you're a girl?"

"Yes, I'm his sister," pointing to the dying man; then, with some embarrassment: "These clothes? They are the only ones they would give me. You see, a girl would have been a burden; a boy none at all. Do you think that had I been a man you could so easily have overpowered me? No!"

The slim, little figure drew itself up straight and defiant before him. Despite the loose, ugly garments of the Filipinos, Graydon noticed for the first time that the figure was perfectly molded and high bred. She swept off the wide hat she wore, and the man saw a mass of dark hair done up tightly on her head. But even while he gazed her mood changed. She became subserviently anxious and begged him to let her attend to his arm. She pleaded so hard that, to please her, he yielded. Water was obtained from somewhere, the slight flesh wound washed and then, disappearing into the darkness, to his amazement she returned almost instantly with some bandages and dressed his arm.

While this surgical operation was going on Graydon, for the life of him, could not resist the temptation to ask her again why she had tried to shoot him. At first, so terribly in earnest did she take the question and beg for mercy, that he smiled at her, and then, seeing his amusement, she said coquettishly:

"How could I possibly have known that you were so nice? Besides, I had always heard you Americans referred to as brutes."

Graydon laughed; then suddenly his face became very grave. The realization of her terrible situation had dawned upon him. A woman among a crowd of rough soldiers! Her brother and protector dying! And all surrounded by hordes of savage enemies who at any moment might kill them! The thought dismissed all pleasantry from his mind. Something must be done, and at once. Presently he asked:

"What is your name?"

"My father was Colonel Ramos Jose Velasquez. That also is my brother's name, except that he is not an officer. I am Teresa Fortune Velasquez. My mother was English, a sister of Sir William Fortune. She is dead. For ten years we have lived in Manila."

"You won't mind if I call the sergeant, will you?" The girl nodded a slightly bewildered assent as Graydon moved rapidly toward the others. Shortly he returned with the gallant Irishman.

"Senorita," began Connell, mopping his forehead and assuming his most polite manner, "you are perfectly safe with us, and as quickly as possible your brother and yourself shall be sent back to Manila. You are a brave slip of a girl, and we boys respect bravery in whatever dress—boy or girl."

She looked at him in grateful surprise, and her lips trembled.

"But I am not your friend?"

"Possibly, senorita." He bowed low, with almost Chesterfieldian grace

But a witness when the inq— opened. Sadie Chambers, who has been mentioned in the evidence, was engaged at the Manhattan restaurant for some four years. Her maiden name was Moorehead, and she was visited by a woman named Mrs. Robinson.

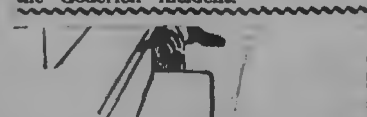
Many witnesses remain to be examined, and as Mr. Blackstock has intimated that the inquest will be concluded on Friday night, it is likely that an all-night session will be held.

In the absence of any definite clue much conjecture is being indulged in, and rumors will come thick and fast until the jury meets again.

Detectives were hustling about yesterday afternoon, but if they gain any information they will not give it out. So far they are in the dark, nothing having developed to give a tangible clue.

At the inquest Mr. Blackstock asked Florence Kinrade if Miss Sadie Chambers was visiting Mrs. Robinson's home while she was there, and Miss Kinrade said she remembered no person of that name.

Miss Chambers, who is in Toronto, denies that she knew Miss Kinrade or that she had any connection with the Goderich incident.



Bansemer stood squarely in front of the altar and blazed away.

himself upon it. The girl sat below him, holding her brother's head in her lap. He was groaning and crying out to the soldiers to kill him rather than permit him to fall into the hands of the natives again.

Suddenly there was a great commotion and crashing of timbers in the front part of the church, followed by shouts and the rushing of feet. Graydon dropped from his perch and ran forth into the chancel. As he did so the banging of rifles close at hand deafened him. In an instant he saw what had happened. The Filipinos had charged the door and had forced it. They were crowding their way into the church in the face of the deadly Krag-Jorgensens. The chapel was lighted, but not from the inside. Cunning insurgents in the shelter of the walls were holding great torches just outside of the windows. Graydon could see his comrades firing at the door from behind every conceivable barrier. Without hesitation he dashed down the aisle and into the thick of the fray near the door.

The struggle was brief but fierce. The merciless fire of many Mausers on the outside opened a way through the small band of defenders, and the rush of the besiegers was successful. Through the door and windows they came, swarming like bees. Many of them fell to rise no more, but their comrades took an eye for an eye. Once confident soldiers toppled over dead until but few were left. Bansemer led them in a quick dash for the chancel, hoping that the enemy would not dare attack a place so sacred.

Captain Groce and other officers had fallen. Connell became the leader of the remnant. Bansemer stood squarely in front of the altar and blazed away at the horde of Filipinos as they advanced. They shot at him wildly and without effect. Bullets crashed into the altar decorations behind him. He stood there as one protected by God, unharmed in the shelter of the cross.

Behind him his comrades cowered and cursed in their dread of certain death. He heard the shrill cries of the girl urging him to protect her brother. She was calling upon God and the Holy Virgin to aid and shield him. And he stood there with a crazy joy in his heart, savagely pulling the trigger of the Krag-Jorgensen. Finally the hammer snapped with no report. As he turned back in consternation a small figure leaped to his side with a fresh weapon.

He shouted a word of warning to her and wheeled again to confront the foe. Even as he raised the gun a great shout arose above the noise of conflict. There was a mighty rush, a new banging of guns, a sudden stampede, and—the chapel was filled with men in khaki!

CHAPTER. XXIII.

GREAT was the disappointment of Major March and his men when they found that neither Aguinaldo nor Pilar had fallen into their hands. Although they had come just in time to prevent the complete annihilation of the little company, the leaders had escaped with the remnant of their surprised forces. Scores of Filipinos were captured, dozens were killed and wounded. Eight of the dashing scouts who went out with Jerry Connell gave up their lives in exchange for the final victory.

A small guard was left at the convent to care for the wounded, the bulk of the command hurrying off at dawn to search for the routed Filipinos. Graydon Bansemer was put in charge of the convent guard. A surgeon and the application of "first aid to the injured" principles soon transformed the convent into a well arranged hospital. Uncle Sam's benevolence was also cheerfully extended to the wounded Filipinos. The days of the "water cure" and "ungodly butchery" had not yet come.

Young Velasquez died soon after daybreak. He had been dying for days. His sister's grief was pathetic in the extreme—aye, demoralizing, for it struck deep into the hearts of soldiers who had scoffed at the lifeblood of man, but could not brave the tears of a woman.

Mrs. Frederick Huntley, of Sherbrooke, bled to death yesterday. A pill which she was taking lodged in her throat, and her violent coughing to dislodge it ruptured a blood vessel.

By a close vote of 19 to 17, Councillor John McFarland was re-elected Mayor of Derry.

MAHMOUT TO THROW YANKEE ROGERS TWICE IN ONE HOUR

Toronto, March 15.—The lovers of the wrestling game have a treat in store when Yussif Mahmout meets Yankee Rogers at the Star Theatre on Thursday night after the close of regular show, with which it has no connection. Mahmout is the Turk who has been matched with Frank Gotch for the world's championship at Chicago on April 14 for a $10,000 purse. In selecting Rogers as the Turk's opponent a wise choice has been made. Rogers has not been beaten since his first appearance in this city, and is, therefore, a great favorite.

The match is a handicap one, the Turk to throw Rogers twice in an hour, and it will prove the best contest ever pulled off in this city. This will be Mahmout's first appearance in toronto. He will come here from Buffalo on Thursday morning.

Tickets can be secured at Baxter's cigar store.

FOR WORLD'S HONORS

Chicago, March 13.—Frank Gotch, wrestling champion of the world, and Yussif Mahmout will meet at the International Amphitheatre here April 14, according to an announcement made by the Empire Athletic Club. Gotch will do his training at the Illinois Athletic Club, where he prepared for his contest with George Hackenschmidt last year.

RUNNING

WHITE BEAT THE SWEDE.

New York, March 13.—Pat White, of Dublin, the Irish champion distance runner, defeated John V. Svanberg, the Swedish champion, in the ten-mile race which followed the end of the six-day event. White's time was 57 minutes, 7 2-5 seconds. The race was hotly contested, the men alternately taking the lead at intervals, which rarely exceeded a lap or two. Svanberg finished less than 50 yards behind White.

FRENCH TEAM WON THE RACE

Madison Square Garden, N. Y., March 13.—With the band playing and the crowd cheering, the six-day-go-as-you-please race came to a close at ten o'clock tonight. With the end not far away, grim smiles stole over the features of all, and the men freshened wonderfully in the last hour. Nearly all were shaved and cleaned off, and only at close range did they exhibit the effects of the long grind and the six sleepless nights. As was anticipated for the last couple of days the French team, Cibot and Orphee won. Davis and Metkus, the Indian team, were second, and Dineen and Prouty, the Bostonians, third. Loeslien and Klubertanz, the German team came in fourth, Shelton and Fraser fifth, Corey and Hegelman sixth, Feegan and Curtis seventh, Guignard and Rovere eighth, Nazer and Kellar ninth, Edelson and Pallanti tenth, and old Hartley alone.

An hour or so before the end the management picked out the freshest man of each team for the final relay. The men who carried their respective colors across the line were Cibot, Metkus, Dineen, Loeslien, Fraser, Corey, Feegan, Rovere, Kellar, Pallanti and Hartley. As each crossed the line he was given a great ovation. A crowd of about 2000 persons saw the finish. The winners were a long way behind the old record, which is 770 miles and one lap, made by Hegelman and Cavanaugh. The final score:

Cibot and Orphee	732.6
Davis and Metkus	719.5
Dineen and Prouty	702
Loeslien and Klubertanz	688.3
Shelton and Frazer	674.4
Corey and Hegelman	649.2
Feegan and Curtis	634.3
Guignard and Rovere	610.4
Nizer and Kellar	585.5
Edelson and Pallanti	533.5
Hartley, alone	450

The arrangement of the prize money was that that the winning team was to get $1,500 between them, the second team $1,000, the third team $800, fourth $500, fifth $400, the sixth $350 and the seventh $300, the eighth $250 and the ninth $200.

The Little Lake is open now, and a punt has the honor of being the first craft on it. A friend of this paper informed The Review that a flat-bottomed craft with some men in in it could be seen on the lake. This is as cheerful a sign of approaching spring as the early appearing robin redbreast.

Two Cleverly Devised and Useful Engines on Exhibition

In the window of Metheral's Cycle Works, 225 Hunter street, an ingenious and convenient gasoline engine and a Waterman marine proto motor are displayed. The gasoline engine which is small, neat and durable, was manufactured by Mr W J. Bennett. It supplies 2 hp. and a brake test and is guaranteed to operate on a quarter turn. It has a small bore of 2 3-4 inches with a stroke of three inches and makes 850 revolutions per minute.

The Waterman motor is for attachment to skiffs. It is of 2 hp. and detachable. It is conspicuously displayed on the stern of a skiff, which bears the original name of "Ho no More."

Hotel Clerk Murdered.

New York, March 16.—Lying in a small room adjoining the hotel office, the body of Isidore De Valante, night clerk of the Eastern Hotel, on Whitehall street, was found early yesterday with his skull fractured by a blow with an iron pipe and his throat cut.

The clerk was murdered by men, who afterwards rifled his pockets, took $78 from the hotel till and made an unsuccessful attempt to get into the safe, in which there was $3,000. A thumb-print, which was alongside the names of two men written on the hotel register, the police believe to be that of one of the men.

NEW SUGGESTION OF AN EMINENT ENGINEER ABOUT NEW WATERWORKS DAM

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—Allow me space to bring to the attention of the gentlemen who are about to open a scheme for water and water-power for Peterborough a plan which, as an engineer, I think is well worthy of their attention. It is this: Build if they wish a dam at or near where it is now with a head, say of 9 or 10 feet. Buy out the mere rights of the Auburn dam to develop power without doing anything to that dam as a power dam. Run a pipe of concrete from the upper dam to the lower dam. This pipe would debouch water with or at a combined head of say 10 plus 12, or 22 feet, giving a splendid power and water for consumption besides. The filter-beds and power-house could be placed above the upper dam as at present.

Yours truly,
ENGINEER.

OLD CONDUCTOR TELLS OF THE TRAMP NUISANCE

"I see that special orders have been given the railway conductors and brakemen to be on the lookout for tramps, and to keep them off the trains," said an old railway conductor to the Review last night. "Well," he continued, "the railroaders will have their work cut out for them all right, for it is a very difficult matter to handle some of these knights of the road.

"I'll never forget one run I made from Toronto to Belleville," he added. "In the olden days the brakemen had a great deal more work to do than at present, and in my day I have had some lively tilts with these 'hoboes.' On making my trip over the cars on this particular night I came across a man on the 'bumpers' and gave him strict orders that he was to drop off at the next station. He got off all right, but the trouble was caused by his getting on again.

I saw him get on and thought that we were well rid of him, but no sir, just as soon as the train started, he again took the "bumpers." That fellow had more nerve than a canal horse, and appeared to think that he was doing something great. He never got off for good until the train slowed up for Belleville and then he had the nerve to tell me that I had told him to get off on each occasion, but had never told him that he must not get on again. I think that was about the limit.

"But this is only one case to show you how the railroaders are up against it. Some of these men you would have to hit with a club to get them off, and, of course, you could not do that. It is not as bad nowadays but years ago a man taking a position as conductor or brakeman had to be able to put up a good fight—that is for his own benefit—it was no rule of the company, because there was many a time when he would get into a tussle with some one.

WHERE IS MICHAEL CARLIN? LINDSAY HAS A MYSTERY

The whereabouts of Michael Carlin is as deep a mystery as the Hamilton tragedy.

It was thought by many that as the reward was offered the capture of this individual would only be a matter of hours.

On the contrary Michael Carlin still eludes his pursuers and refuses to come from under cover.

It is really surprising the number of places he has been known to visit in his wanderings that is, if you can believe all the rumors and stories told about him. Every Weary Willie who plods the highway is Michael Carlin these days and if the police were to start out on supposed clues they would all be candidates for the mad house in a short time.

This morning it was reported that a man answering his description had been seen by several people at Burnt River. The stranger was making for the north and he was thought to be the illusive Michael.

One thing is certain and that is that Carlin is still at large. Everybody seems to agree on that point. Another fact is that he will remain at large until he is captured. The Post gives this information gratis.—Lindsay Post.

IT IS FEARED THAT MRS. JAS. McCREARY OF THIS CITY HAS DROWNED HERSELF

Word comes from Morrisburg that it is very much feared that Mrs. James McCreary, who has been visiting her father, Mr. James Graham, a farmer, four miles west of Morrisburg, has committed suicide. She had been at her father's home since Thanksgiving, and acting strangely. She disappeared on Saturday, and her footsteps were traced to the river St. Lawrence. A search for the body is being carried on.

Mrs. McCreary was the wife of Mr. Jas. McCreary, Gilmour street, ex-principal of the West Ward school.

Fumigating Library Books.

The library subscriber sniffed suspiciously at the copy of "The Three Musketeers" which she was about to take home. "Carbolic acid," she said. "Have you been fumigating the books?"

"No, we haven't," said the librarian, "but some subscriber has. Many of our patrons like to do their own fumigating. Usually they use carbolic acid. At times when a good deal of sickness is reported the fumigating craze is especially severe and one-third of the books brought into the library smell to heaven with carbolic acid."

SPEARING A BEAR.

Bruin's Sharp Teeth Bit Through the Copper Sheathed Weapon.

"Twice in my chase of bruin I have made use of a bear spear as my weapon of attack," writes Count Eric von Rosen, "and I may take this opportunity to maintain that the use of a spear entails no greater cruelty than any other mode of attack and that every hunter should be armed with one in reserve, since these powerful beasts have a vitality that triumphs over a stray bullet or more unless lodged in a vital region, and when wounded their retaliation is redoubtable and easily fatal. In Karelia, Finland, the bear is yet regarded as a noxious horror. The great black haired 'slagbjorn,' or killing bear, is still rampant there, and a couple of winters back I was able to wreak justifiable vengeance on some beasts that had killed over a score of cows and nine horses. News had been brought me that some of these rascals were hibernating on a small marsh bound island.

"We found no difficulty in locating their lair, and I took up my post at the entrance to it, armed only with my spear. I may explain that a bear spear consists of an ash staff some two yards long and about a couple of inches in diameter. There is a blade of steel about twelve inches in length, and the shaft is copper cased as a prevention against the teeth of bruin. As soon as my gentleman appeared I tried to stick him in the throat, but he parried adroitly, and I missed. I made another lunge and succeeded in driving my spear point through his breast.

"He started roaring furiously and snapped at my copper cased staff, then made an attempt to strike at my arm with his huge fore paw, so that I might drop my weapon. The powerful brute hung on to my spear at the one end, while I as grimly held on at the other end. His bites went through the copper plate, and he started shredding the wood beneath. Strenuously I checked his further advances, and gradually, for his wounds began to tell, his resistance weakened, and he dropped at last over the aperture of his den.

"I pulled out the spear, but so much strength still remained in him that he seized the blade and bit it with a force that left deep indentations in the steel. My companion then finished him off with his own weapon. This struggle from start to finish covered five minutes."

TWO LOCAL GIRLS WERE ARRESTED

On Sunday Night by P. C. Newhall---Remanded This Morning

Two local girls were arrested last night on Hunter street by P. C. Newhall and spent the night in the cells. They appeared before the Magistrate this morning and were charged with using such language and behaving on the streets in a way that does not become young ladies.

There was no evidence taken this morning and the Magistrate remanded them until Wednesday morning.

DID YOU EVER SEE ANYTHING LIKE IT?

All Contestants Doing Their Best to Win Out in the Homestretch—The Prizes Are Still to be Won.

Miss Maude Perry sweeps past all contestants and lands in the top position. The 100 000 class is becoming quite popular and all candidates seem to realise that to have a "look in" it will be necessary to join the procession. Miss Lila Finlay deposited a tremendous vote of 35 000 in the ballot box, and is now within apparently calling distance of the leaders.

In conversation with a contest enthusiast the other day the C.E. made the remark that the vote might reach 125 000. The contest man "thought so, too." Taking into consideration the high vote to-day, it may be necessary to revise the estimate of grand prize.

The district prizes are on display, at the four jewelry stores on the west side of George street—Clarke & Son's, Sanderson & Co., Schneider & Co., Milburn's and Warne Bros.

CONTEST GAINS GROWING RAPIDLY.

The Review's European tour and diamond contest which is engrossing the attention of this district as no contest has ever done before is daily drawing to a close. During the balance of the week and next Monday the candidates and their enthusiastic supporters will strain every nerve to come out winners in the contest for these magnificent prizes. It has been a strenuous competition characterized by the keenest kind of struggle in each list and district

The big contest is certainly gaining ground day by day, and no one can anticipate what height this good-natured tug-of-war will attain. Certain it is that 95 per cent. of the people in the territory of the contest are directly interested in the outcome, and before the end the other 5 per cent. will be closely watching the finish.

ABOUT THE SPRING HATS

If there is one thing more than another that strikes a responsive chord in the female breast it is the story of the spring hat. Feathers which lately gave promise of greatest delight are laid aside, without a regret to be replaced by the flower bedecked creations of straw, fancy braids or lace. It is a pity that we should turn our seasons about as we do, but be that as it will the next seasons head coverings are arriving in large consignments and in spite of the really and truly winter weather our hearts warm up rather than freeze up in the presence of the awe-inspiring, bank-breaking articles.

A leading milliner predicts that the season's coiffure will have to be dressed low, puffing out in the back and front to set off the hat which will set flat on the head. La Mode has wearied of the big hat with the bandeau and while she is not just ready to adopt a really small hat, she has eliminated the bandeau.

For early spring wear, the most popular thing will be the large toque with dome crown narrow rolling brim trimmed about the crown with twisted braided trimming, or flowers and finished with a cabochon of jet or silk, or flowers. The cabochon for a finishing touch will be the fad, on the early spring hat.

The Audrey shape with immense tub shaped crown and mushroom brim is a great favorite — showing up strong in the new modes —and is smart and very stylish for street wear.

Braided straws are almost the only thing used and are seen in great variety— the Peroxline braid, however being the most popular.

Of headgear for the little folks, one of the very prettiest things is the "Geraldine," a hat shaped something like an English walking hat, it it trimmed with a soft scarfe of Japanese silk, tied at one side near the back, the fringed edge hanging over the brim.

There is not a really new shape showing except in the tones of purple amethyst and old rose.

The openings will be earlier than usual this season but they cannot come too soon, for every woman is anxious to see what she is going to look like in the La Mode hat, and while she must wear the winter hat for some weeks yet, there will come a balmy spring day that will find the new hat nestling cosily in a box in the cupboard instead of being still in the hands of the milliner.

ADVOCATES PROPORTIONAL REPRESENTATION IN HOUSE

In Lengthy Speech Member of Opposition Brilliantly Presents Case in Favor of a Better System of Representing Public Opinion.

Ottawa, March 16.—F. D. Monk moved yesterday a resolution in favor of the adoption of the system of proportional representation.

Analyzing the figures of the last election, he showed that the Liberals were in a minority of the total vote. The majority of Liberals over Conservatives was 24,117, but the Independent vote was 24,893, so that the Liberal vote was 776 short of 50 per cent. The percentages were: Liberal 49.96, Conservative 47.91, and Independent 2.13.

Proportional representation, according to the Monk figures, would divide the House membership: Liberals 110, Conservatives 105, Independents 4, fractions accounting for the other two seats.

The small single member district was one of the principle evils in our system. Invariably the better men were those brought forward in the larger multiple districts.

In the large constituencies it would do away with political trickery. The electorate of Canada was not a corrupt electorate. In a constituency of, say, 5,000, it would be found there were 4,500 who could not be influenced improperly. But in such small constituencies there was always also a group of faddist, men of extreme views, who exercised too much influence in proportion to their numbers. Under the present system, Mr. Monk claimed Parliament was not a faithful mirror of the opinion of the electorate.

Mr. Fielding suggested that the motion be amended by striking out an opinion that the present system "fails to reflect the currents of public opinion," and confining it to a proposal that the question be investigated by a committee. Mr. Monk readily accepted the suggestion, and the amended motion carried unanimously.

Mr. Staples (MacDonald, Man.) moved a resolution calling upon the Government to fill the vacancy on the Railway Commission by the appointment of an "able and practicable farmer of the west." The agricultural community, he argued, did not have its proportional representation in Parliament or on the commissions. For instance, in the last Parliament there were only thirteen farmers out of a membership of 214. The interests of the farmer were not safeguarded by the Minister of Agriculture, who should have protested against the extravagant expenditures by the Militia Department.

In seconding the resolution, Dr. Schaffner criticized the appointment of D'Arcy Scott on account of unfitness for the position. "In such appointments we should forget race and creed," he said.

At last the Parliament of Canada has been permitted to scrutinize the waterways treaty.

In the absence of Sir Wilfrid Laurier yesterday, Mr. Fielding laid on the table of the House a copy of the treaty with the rider added to pacify the United States Senator William Allen Smith of Michigan. Word for word it agrees with the copy as has already been published, with the addition of the following rider:

"The the United States approves this treaty with the understanding that nothing in this treaty shall be construed as affecting or changing any existing territorial or riparian rights in the water, or rights of owners of land under water, on either side of the international boundary at the rapids of St. Mary's river at Sault Ste. Marie, in the use of waters flowing over such lands, subject to the requirements of navigation in boundary waters and of navigation of canals, and without prejudice to the existing rights of United States and Canada, each to use the waters of St. Mary's river within its own territory, and, further, that nothing in this treaty shall be construed to interfere with the drainage of wet and overflowed lands into streams flowing into boundary waters, and that this interpretation will be mentioned in the ratification of this treaty as conveying the true meaning of the treaty, and will in effect form part of the treaty."

Supplementary estimates for the current fiscal year, terminating March 31, were tabled in the House yesterday.

They total $3,521,935, of which $285,876 is chargeable to capital and $238,876 inappropriated for unprovided items. Under the latter head are included amounts to cover over expenditure of last year's items, the principal being $29,000 over expended on charges of management, $17,692 o railways and canals, and $162,347 on the Intercolonial. There is a vote of $75,000 for Toronto harbor.

For militia the sum of $300,000 is asked, of which $170,000 additional for annual drill, and $12,500 each for transport and royal military college.

HURTING CREDIT OF COUNTRY

Toronto, March 16.—R. L. Borden and Sir James P. Whitney were tendered an enthusiastic reception in Riverdale rink last night by 2,000 persons on the occasion of their joint political smoker. Mr. Borden was introduced by the late member, A. E. Kemp.

Referring to the finances of the Government, he said: "It is time for the people of Canada to wake up, to pay attention to public affairs, that a halt should be called on this career of extravagance. We have been blessed with abundant revenues. Do the people realize that these were $40,000,000 greater than when the Conservative party was in power? (and the country was well governed on less than $40,000,000). The present Government in the past year has dissipated $83,000,000 or $40,000,000 greater than the Government of 12 years ago had at its disposal, and has plunged the country into debt to the tune of nearly $49,000,000.

"If it is foolish and extravagant to destroy public credit, the Government has taken the very best means at its disposal to destroy the credit of Canada.

"I am no alarmist, but I say that the time has come to take this to heart and insist that some regard should be paid to economy, in public affairs. In the experience of the last five or six years it has been shown that five to ten millions a year has been as absolutely wasted as though it had been thrown into the sea.

"If the people could be brought into the House of Parliament, they would need no campaign meetings, no campaign speeches. The facts would speak for themselves. The Government would be turned out of power at the earliest opportunity."

Sir James took occasion in his address to score the Toronto Electric Light Co. Dr. Pyne also spoke.

STARTED TO DIG UP SEWER

But Postponed the Work Till To-morrow Afternooon on Account of the Snowstorm

Special to the Review.

Hamilton, Ont., March 16.—Detectives Bleakly and Coulter went to the Kinrade home this morning with some workmen employed by the city to dig up the sewer in an endeavor to find the missing revolver, which it is thought might have been put down the toilet and gone down the inside plumbing to the sewer. On account of the snow storm, however, the digging was postponed until the afternoon of tomorrow. Detective Miller announced this morning that there will be several new witnesses at the next session of the inquest on Friday night. He would not say what their evidence would be.

Hotel Clerk Murdered.

New York, March 16.—Lying in a small room adjoining the hotel office, the body of Isidore De Valante, night clerk of the Eastern Hotel, on Whitehall street, was found early yesterday with his skull fractured by a blow with an iron pipe and his throat cut.

The clerk was murdered by men, when afterwards rifled his pockets, took $78 from the hotel till and made an unsuccessful attempt to get into the safe, in which there was $3,000. A thumb-print, which was alongside the names of two men written on the hotel register, the police believe to be that of one of the men.

STANDARD OIL FINED $20,000

Buffalo, March 16.—Judge Hazel, in the U. S. court, yesterday denied the motion of the Standard Oil Co. for a new trial, and imposed a fine of $20,000.

The case hinged on the Standard Oil Co.'s accepting concessions from railroads in the shipments of oil from Olean, N.Y., to Rutland and other points in Vermont.

There were in all 546 counts found against the oil company, but thus far only forty have been considered. The railroads involved are the New York Central, the Pennsylvania and the Rutland.

ARMENIANS CAN RETURN TO TURKEY

Constantinople, March 16.—The Senate has adopted a bill voted in the Lower House giving the Government power to ask for a vote on account of one-twelfth of the budget. This is necessary as the budget is not yet laid before Parliament and the public servants are in need of money.

M. Zinovieff, the Russian ambassador at Constantinople, and Hilmi Pasha, have signed an agreement concerning the return to Turkey of the Armenian emigrants who took refuge in the Caucasus after the massacres in Constantinople. The refugees number nearly 60,000. They will be domiciled in the Province of Van. The Porte, however, insists that they shall possess Turkish passports.

Frank G. Bruce, a Yonkers inventor, committed suicide while worrying over the registration of a patent which had been granted him a few hors before he committed the fatal deed.

DANGER IS ACUTE

Relations Between Austria and Servia Badly Strained—War May Break Out.

Berlin, March 16.—The private advices received here from Vienna represent the situation between Austria and Servia as one of extreme gravity. It is said in authoritative quarters that Austria will send within a few days an ultimatum to Belgrade, fixing a very short period for an answer to her representations. If the answer is unsatisfactory, it is declared, war is inevitable, and may break out by the end of the week.

The Berliner Tageblatt learns that the Russian Foreign Secretary, M. Iswolsky, has issued instructions to the Russian Minister at Belgrade to warn the Servian Government to avoid carefully everything that might be interpreted as a challenge to war. Nevertheless, diplomats here regard the danger of war as most acute.

Austria Getting Riled.

Vienna, March 16.—The rumors that the Austrian Government has ordered, or is about to order, a partial mobilization of troops is officially denied. On the contrary, it is stated that the Government has decided to give Servia time to reconsider the situation.

At the same time it is undeniable that the prolongation of the present tension has been becoming a serious trial to Austria's patience, and it is stated that if Servia still refuses to demobilize or give satisfactory assurances of peaceful intentions, the Austrian generals may have to take up the work.

LOOKING FOR THE REVOLVER SEWER WILL BE OPENED

While Police Were Very Busy Following up Small Clues in Hope of Securing Information Yesterday Was a Dull Day in the Kinrade Case.

Hamilton, aMrch 16.—While it is reported that the detectives have discovered new and important evidence in reference to the Kinrade case, the local authorities say that there is nothing in it, and that no developments are expected before the adjourned inquest on Friday night. C. Montrose Wright is likely to be called as a witness to clear up the point touched on by Mr. Blackstock when he was examining Miss Kinrade, as to whether or not the matter was discussed by members of the family before the inquest.

The police yesterday afternoon secured an order from the civic sewers department to open up the sewer leading from the Kinrade house. When the plumber was at work in the house it was discovered that the plumbing was large enough to allow a package to go through. There is a trap, however, where the pipe from the house joins the city sewer, which would block any large substance, and the pipe leading from the house will be opened up Tuesday morning, when the search for the revolver with which the murder was committed will be continued.

The testimony that C. D. Hossack, the builder, will give at the inquest next Friday evening is that he saw Ethel Kinrade at 2 o'clock on the afternoon of the murder. He knew the girls well by sight and is satisfied that it was Ethel he saw. The police claim to be able to produce a woman who saw Ethel eight blocks away from her home at 3 o'clock on the afternoon of the tragedy.

C. Montrose Wright will be called as a witness when the inquest is reopened. Sadie Chambers, who has been mentioned in the evidence, was engaged at the Manhattan restaurant for some four years. Her maiden name was Moorehead, and she was visited by a woman named Mrs. Robinson.

Many witnesses remain to be examined, and as Mr. Blackstock has intimated that the inqeust will be concluded on Friday night, it is likely that an all-night session will be held.

In the absence of any definite clue much conjecture is being indulged in, and rumors will come thick and fast until the jury meets again.

Detectives were hustling about yesterday afternoon, but if they gain any information they will not give it out. So far they are in the dark, nothing having developed to give a tangible clue.

At the inquest Mr. Blackstock asked Florence Kinrade if Miss Sadie Chambers was visiting Mrs. Robinson's home while she was there, and Miss Kinrade said she remembered no person of that name.

Miss Chambers, who is in Toronto, denies that she knew Miss Kinrade or that she had any connection with the Goderich incident.

LATE TICKS FROM WIRES

Sir Wilfrid Laurier was not in the House yesterday, being slightly indisposed at his home.

Manager Orr has secured Primrose, the King's head farmer, to judge the Clydesdales at the Canadian National Exhibition.

A. W. Malone, ex-chief of police of Simcoe, has been enrolled among the employes of the tailor shop at the penitentiary.

Adam Wilson, a few months out from Scotland, was killed in a gravel pit at Hintonburg, Ottawa. A cave-in resulted from a thaw.

Jonathan Storey, a retired farmer, of Comber, died suddenly yesterday. Deceased fell on the icy road some weeks ago and fractured his kneecap.

Justice Garretson of Flushing, N.Y., has set April 29 for the trial of Capt. Peter C. Hains, charged with the murder of William E. Annis at the Bayside Yacht Club on Aug. 15 last.

Constable Smith, who was shot in Hamilton a week ago last Thursday night, and who was operated upon the next day, still complains of pains in his eye and head where the bullet entered.

Assaulted on Streets.

Amherstburg, March 16.—While walking with a young lady Sunday evening, Herbert Coyle, a well-known dredge man, was attacked and assaulted in front of the mayor's residence.

Three men sprang from behind some trees and jumped on Coyle, beating and kicking him until his cries for help brought Albert Fox and Gordon Colburne to the scene, when the assailants fled.

PREMIER WHITNEY IS VERY STRICT

Toronto, March 16.—Premier Whitney announced in the Legislature yesterday that he would move in a day or two that thereafter all Government measures be given precedence, and also that next private members' day, if the members were not present to move the second reading of their bills, he would ask the House to strike them off the list.

The Premier introduced a resolution that the petition of F. B. Davis and others applying for a railway charter, but really for a tote road for the Lake Superior & Long Lake Transportation Co., be granted, explaining that Mr. Davis, who is contractor on the National Transcontinental Railway, had hurried to Toronto as soon as he had learned of the location of the road. The papers would have been filed before but for a bereavement, and this was a case in which the House could afford to be lenient.

Several private bills were moved through the committee stage.

The following bills were introduced and read a first time:

Hon. Dr. Pyne—Respecting truancy and the Compulsory School Attendance Act.

Hon. Dr. Pyne—Respecting high schools and collegiate institutes.

Hon. Dr. Pyne—Respecting public schools.

The Toronto bill to repeal the act creating the Board of Education in Toronto was allowed to stand on the request of the Premier until more members were present. So far the Government had not given any expression regarding the bill, and before the House consented to a second reading he would like to have it more fully discussed.

The Ontario Railway and Municipal Board reported favorably on the City of Hamilton's bill.

TO INVESTIGATE CIVIC SCANDAL

Montreal, March 16.—Sir Henry Taschereau, Chief Justice of the Court of Appeal, delivered the judgment of the court yesterday in connection with the question submitted a few days ago as to the right of the Provincial Government to appoint a royal commission to investigate the maladministration of the City of Montreal.

The decision of the court was in the affirmative. The court also defined the term "matter to be investigated" as meaning anything for which the citizens asked the Government for this commission.

It is likely the Government will now go ahead and name the commission, which will, it is expected, result in interesting revelations.

DAMAGES ALONG CANAL ROUTE

Special to The Review

Ottawa, March 16—A return moved for in the House of Commons by Mr Sexsmith, M.P. for East Peterborough indicates that the government has paid $24,670 to property owners for damages caused by holding up of water in the Otonabee river between Hastings and Peterborough. The amounts which were paid between October of last year and February of this run from $60 to $1500. For similar damage at Stoney Lake the Government paid $2217.

PUT PARIS GREEN IN CUP OF COFFEE

Young Englishman Tried to End Life in Local Restaurant—Was Prevented From Accomplishing Rash Act—Said He Worked Three Months for Farmer for His Board and One Dollar.

Shortly after eight o'clock last night a young Englishman by the name of Percy Eddy, went into Mr. Jacob's "Quick Lunch" and ordered some pork and beans and cup of coffee. There was nothing unusual in this but when the young man undertook to end his life by the Paris green route, and but for the prompt action of the proprietor might have succeeded, it was evident that something was wrong.

The young man, who hails from England, has been out here for the past three years. Up to lately he had always found plenty of work, but as is often the case, had not made any provision in case of "a rainy day." He had been working for a farmer the biggest part of the winter and had according to his own story, received the large sum of $1, and his board for three months' hard work. After leaving this place he was unable to get enough work to provide him with the necessaries of life, and this, coupled with the fact that he has not many relatives in this country, made him to the conclusion that his time in this world be of very short duration.

He had only a small amount of money last night when he entered the restaurant and asked for something to eat and drink, which was soon served by the waiter on night duty. After disposing of some of the beans that had been served he entered the contents of a small package of Paris green into the cup of coffee. The proprietor coming out to the counter shortly after, noticed the greenish color on the young man's lips, and asked him the cause of it, to which he received the reply that it was Paris green. The proprietor acted promptly and sent in word to the Police Station, but the would-be suicide hurriedly left the restaurant and fortunately for him, ran into the arms of P. C. Meagher and P. C. Mcharry and was taken to the cells, where word was sent to two doctors, who arrived in quick time. After considerable time, with the aid of the stomach pump, all the poison was abstracted and all danger was past. Eddy spent the night in the cells and appeared before the Magistrate this morning on a charge of attempting to commit suicide.

He pleaded guilty, but stated he was very despondent at the time or he would not have done such an act. He told his troubles to the Magistrate and his general appearance indicated that the poor fellow was indeed up against it. He explained that he had work to go to in Cavanville and pleaded for another chance.

Eddy said that he had worked three months for a farmer in Otonabee and and all he received was his board and one dollar.

The Magistrate was evidently impressed by the young man's general appearance and his hard luck story and after giving him some kindly advice he allowed him to go. Before departing the Magistrate handed the unfortunate Englishman a dollar.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY TO-MORROW

Tomorrow is the 17th of March—St. Patrick's Day—the anniversary of the birth of the Patron Saint of the Emerald Isle. The seventeenth of March is a day dear to the hearts of the Irishmen the world over. In Peterborough tomorrow there will be a service at St. Peter's cathedral and at night an Irish play, "True Irish Hearts" will be presented by the dramatic section of St. Peter's TAS. at the Grand Opera House.

St. Patrick, the patron saint of Ireland is not, as some suppose a myth. He lived between the years 373 and 463, during the domination of the Romans over Britain. His Roman name was Patricius, which implies that he was a man of good birth, and, in fact, it is known that his father held a minor priestly office and was a man of means. St Patrick was born in Scotland, but studied in France, where he entered upon the priesthood. He was led by dreams and visions to begin missionary work in Ireland, and he spent the rest of his life in the country which has adopted him as its saint. It has been said of him "He found no Christians, and he left no heathen." According to tradition, he died at Armagh in the year 463. He left behind him a brief autobiography and an epistle to a Welsh prince, besides a hymn, which in Irish is called "The Breastplate."

So much for the Patrick of history. The Patrick of legend is a genial figure, represented now as working miracles, driving the snakes from Ireland, and again as exhibiting a really Celtic joviality and humor. Many stories are told of his witty discourses with St. Bridget, who was his fellow worker. The St. Patrick whom the Irish think of is a saint in his life and work, yet with a tender heart toward the sinner.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS RED-HOT FROM WIRES

Persians on Rampage.

St. Petersburg, March 16.—A despatch to The Novoe Vremya from Julfa, on the frontier between Persia and Russia, says that 1,000 Persian Government horsemen and 500 infantrymen are marching on Julfa from the Persian bank of the Araxes river, devastating the villages in their path and shooting down the people.

Already ten villages, four of them inhabited by Russian subjects, have been pillaged and burned. The troops are ruthlessly killing the fleeing peasants.

Many women, carrying their children on their backs, attempted to swim the Araxes to the Russian side, but they were shot down.

Province Wins Test Case.

Edmonton, March 16.—Edmonton won its appeal against a York proprietor of Alberta and Windsor. York sued for the recovery of an $800 license fee paid to the city, on the ground that the hotels were already assessed on floor space. Judge Stuart, Calgary, gave judgment for York, but the full court reversed the judgment, holding that the extra tax of $400 on each hotel was provided for by law, and was not in the nature of a license. This was a test case by the hotelmen of the city.

New Telegraph Line.

Montreal, March 16.—The announcement was made last evening that the Northern Commercial Telegraph Co. has awarded a contract to Michael Connolly to build 1,000 miles of telegraph and telephone line from Point Levis, Que., and Windsor, Ont., and it is said that operations will be started at once on the new enterprise.

Port Elgin Man Killed in West.

Winnipeg, Man., March 16.—Robt. H. B. Stephenson, aged 28, a C.N.R. brakeman, was killed while coupling cars at Roosevelt, Minn., on Saturday morning. The body will be shipped to Port Elgin, Ont., accompanied by his brothers, J. A. of Regina and Vernon Stephenson of Port Arthur.

Twenty Drown.

Rotterdam, March 16.—The Norwegian steamer Mascot collided Sunday with the German ship Margretha, about 20 miles west of the Maas lightship.

The Margretha sank almost immediately, twenty of the crew being drowned. Six were saved.

Confesses His Guilt.

Fort Worth, Texas, March 16.—Fred Morris, a baseball player, Sunday night shot and instantly killed Otto H. Meyer, a vaudeville singer, in a room in a local hotel, after having obtained a written confession that his relations with Mrs. Morris were improper.

"Meyer extended his arms," said Morris, "and told me to shoot him through the heart so that all would be over at once. I did as he suggested and would follow him beyond the grave, except for the fact that I have a little boy who I think needs me to look out for him."

Suicides With Gas.

Toronto, March 16.—James McAdam, drug fiend and suicidal maniac, was found dead in his room at the Berkeley Apartments, yesterday morning. McAdam had attempted to drown himself in the bay at the foot of Bathurst street just before Christmas.

When found, he was lying on the floor, wrapped in a blanket and with his head on a pillow. In his mouth was the connected feed tube of a small gas-heater.

Murdered, and House Set on Fire.

Monticello, N.Y., March 16.—Bernard Soloman was found dying from terrible wounds in his house here yesterday, the circumstances indicating that an attempt had been made to kill him, and that the dwelling had been fired in an effort to conceal the crime.

In a moment of consciousness he gave the police the name of a man who, he said, had tried to kill him and had set fire to the house.

Consolidated School Burned.

St. John, N.B., March 16.—The Consolidated School at Kingston, King's County, was burned to the ground Sunday night. The building was built about five years ago at a cost of $25,000 through the generosity of Sir William McDonald; insurance one-half. It is not likely the school will be rebuilt.

Canadians In Australia.

Ottawa, March 16.—J. S. Larke, Canadian trade commissioner at Sydney, N.S.W., reports that during 1908 there were only ninety-four persons of Canadian birth convicted of crime in Australia, as compared with 368 of United States origin. In none of the Canadian cases were the crimes serious.

TUESDAY, MARCH 16, 1909.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY

Tomorrow is the day of days to the wearer of the green of Old Ireland. It cannot mean, however, to the descendants of the Irish in Canada, all that it means "at home" since a new love has sprung up in "true Irish hearts," for Canada, where there is room for everybody, his wife and children. It is no belittlement of Ireland to say that with all its hallowed memories it is not to us what Canada is. Nor is England or Scotland. But that does not prevent us from lending our hearts for a day to the land of tender memories and still more tender love-making, for where is the lover like an Irish lover. The world would have been much poorer if there had been no Erin. Burke and O'Connell, Curran and Grattan, Goldsmith and Tom Moore, Wellington and Roberts! Surely these are names to conjure with.

THE BALD LAKE BRIDGE

The inhabitants of Harvey would be much more likely to get government assistance for the Bald Lake bridge if they had gone to the Ontario government first. They would have been morally certain to get a large sum from the local legislature for that purpose but going to it last practically forced it to say that it would do what the Ottawa government will do and what do you think that will be?

THE BREEDING GROUND OF VICE

"This evening Rev. Dr. Lyle, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church, spoke on "The Violence to be seen on our streets." Some people were saying that socialism was responsible, but it was not socialism, but anarchy that was abroad in our land and should be put down with a firm hand. Many people confused freedom with independence. Freedom was a God-given right, but independence was no man's right, because we were dependent on both God and society. People were beginning to find out that they had privileges and were trying in a blind way to reach those. The sanctity of the home was being invaded and authority in both the home and the school was being set at naught and the result was that they were becoming the recruiting grounds for anarchists.

The punishment inflicted upon criminals was not severe enough in many cases. There seemed to be a tendency to pity criminals despite the fact that they defied the law and order. There was divine authority for the use of the rod in the home and school, and the lash might be used with advantage in many criminal cases. Some people maintained that corporal punishment was a relic of barbarism, but it was nothing of the sort. The use of the rod was very necessary and physical punishment was not degrading or brutalising. That was an established truth based on a thousand facts. The cure was to make the home something more than where people slept and took a few meals, to put more authority in the hands of our teachers and a more strict enforcement of the law. Criminals were parasites.""—Rev Dr. Lyle, Moderator of Presbytery.

It will be remembered that a few years ago the "pitiful" amongst us in a burst of sympathetic excess suggested all sorts of first aid measures for the protection of criminals and wastrels. Another and saner portion of the community demanded protection from, as well as for the criminal and wastrel and now they are to have their innings. The emotional school has gone too far to the undoing of all semblance of law, order and decency.

U. S. AND THE BRITISH TARIFF

It is quite plain that the idea which the United States holds to is that Britain may imitate the U. S., Germany and France in adopting a really protective tariff. That would do away with the value of the American tariff, since the object of it is to keep out British goods while pouring American goods into Britain. A British tariff would spoil the whole purpose of the American tariff, hence the Americans are trying every expedient likely to jockey the British elector at the approaching general election. France has increased her tariff twenty per cent. all round. Why? So that she may introduce favoured-nation clauses without impairing the protective quality of her original tariff. France is the world's banker, growing richer every day. Yet we presume to teach France. It is wonderful, but even more mysterious than wonderful. Why are certain Canadian industries protected "up to the hilt," and certain others, such as the woollen, left with a ruinously low tariff, which is also extinguishing the wool-raising industry? Where is the principle of fair and equal treatment, or even honesty of principle, in that!

SPECIAL PLEADING

The following leading editorial in the Globe may be fairly set down as one of the wildest of its recent attempts to justify the mistaken and unjustifiable. Slowly but surely we are being drawn into the net of the G.T.P. multi-millionaires. Is it any wonder that the toilers are inclined to rebel when by utilising the revenue derived from the necessaries of life the Laurier Government betrays them into the hands of the speculator? The Money Power is the power in Canada to-day, with all its long attendant retinue of grafters and splashers. Andrew Carnegie never said a truer word than when he warned the strong against further trespass upon the weak:—

THE GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC LOAN.

"Judging by the current indications public opinion seems to be practically a consensus in justification of the proposed loan to the Grand Trunk Pacific Company to facilitate the completion of the western division of the National Transcontinental Railway within the time specified in the proposed contract. There is no reason why it should be otherwise. The loan is a temporary one made expedient, if not necessary, by the acute and world-wide financial depression of the past few months. The security for its repayment is ample for a very large part of the work of construction has been done and in a few months the road from the Rocky Mountains to Lake Superior will have a paying traffic. None of the hostile critics of the loan have any doubt that it will be repaid within a reasonable time as the loan of thirty millions to the Canadian Pacific Company was.

To those who feel inclined to question the wisdom of Parliament adopting this method of giving the Grand Trunk Pacific Company temporary relief it is worth while to point to the fact that the National Transcontinental Railway is no longer a mere enterprise, but rather a national institution. Its construction was ordered by an Act of Parliament, and not merely authorized by a charter. That statute was passed in 1903. It was explicitly amended and thus implicitly re-enacted in 1904. During the succeeding four years the work of construction has been going on with great rapidity, and with an eye to making this trunk line from ocean to ocean the best roadbed and best equipped great railway in the world. Under the statutory authority thus conferred on it the Dominion Government has been during the same four years constructing the Eastern Division which is to be operated by the Grand Trunk Pacific Company, and which is expected to be completed simultaneously with the Western Division.

In addition to all this it should be noted that the project in all its aspects has been very thoughtfully discussed both in Parliament and in the country at large. No undertaking to which Parliament was ever asked to assent was subjected to a more searching analysis than was the National Transcontinental Railway. In spite of that, and of the yearly efforts in Parliament to discredit it the people of Canada a few months ago returned to power, by an overwhelming majority, the Ministry responsible for initiation and prosecution of the transcontinental railway policy. It is obvious to every reasonable man that the work of construction cannot be allowed now to suffer even temporary interruption if a loan of limited amount is likely to tide the company over a temporary embarrassment."—The Globe.

EDITORIAL NOTES

State ownership of railways has not been a success in Switzerland.

The Manitoba School Question bids fair to be opened up again.

They are called cold snaps because they are snaps—for the plumber and coal dealer.

Canada's chief characteristic is not that of "the open door" but the open purse and perhaps also the open mouth.

British Columbia, which is by no means a thickly-populated province contains 38,000 Orientals. Thirty-eight thousand seem a whole lot for a white man's country.

There are many improvements possible in the way of altering familiar laws. Bills of sale, chattel mortgages and all schemes by which the next-to-needy may become needy and desperate should be abolished. Rescue measures should be adopted before the state of absolute distress is reached.

"The body, however, can withstand extreme cold more readily than it can extreme heat before the regulating centre becomes disordered and so other things being equal, Freezing to death is not so common in cold climates as sunstroke is in warm."—Science Notes.

$5,000,000.00 more of good Canadian capital for Mexico! During the reign of Conservatism there may have been no complete stoppage of emigration from Canada to the U. S. but there was no departure of capital. Canada now, seems to be a good country to invest out of. What else can be expected where a country is in the hands of the tariff-smashers and the corporation cliques.

In a recent debate in the British House of Commons the Irish Secretary, Mr. Birrell, denounced the "boycott" as an "abominable offence," and defended the prosecutions that had been initiated under a statute of Edward III. Mr. Redmond spoke strongly against such prosecutions, giving one the impression that if they are maintained there may be a permanent cleavage between the Liberals and the Nationalists.—Globe.

OF INTEREST

An amazing story of what the spade has revealed to modern men in the Mediterranean island of Crete of a buried civilization nearly 12,000 years old has just been told in the London, Eng., Times.

The writers declare that "the recent excavations in Crete have made it necessary to reconsider the whole scheme of Mediterranean history before the classical period.

"Ever since Plato left half told, in the 'Timaeus' and the 'Critias,' the story of Atlantis, the great island kingdom in the Western ocean beyond the Pillars of Hercules, geographers and other commentators have exercised themselves in vain to give a local habitation to the now submerged kingdom and to identify it with some known region of the habitable globe. 'As many attempts,' says Jowett, 'have been made to find the great island as to discover the country of the lost tribes.'

Interpreters have looked for the spot in every part of the globe, America, Palestine, Arabia Felix, Ceylon, Sardinia, Sweden.'

THE ORIGINAL UTOPIA

"The story—Jowett calls it a fiction—has also 'exercised a great influence over the imagination of later ages.' It is the prototype, or the parent in various degrees of propinquity, the 'Vera Historia' of Lucan, and of all those apologues or fables in which mediaeval or modern writers have essayed to enshrine their own ideals or to satirise the foibles of existing States. Of this large family, to mention only a few, are the fantastic imaginings in this kind of Rabelais, More's, 'Utopia,' Bacon's 'New Atlantis,' 'Gulliver's Travels,' Voltaire's 'Micromegas,' and many less-famous apologues.

DID UTOPIA EXIST IN CRETE?

"Is there any foundation in fact for this fascinating and widespread story? This is the question once more raised by the explorations recently conducted with such astonishing results by Dr. Arthur Evans on the site of Knossos in Crete a solid foundation in fact for what might otherwise be regarded as the mere creation of Plato's abounding fancy.

"Although many questions are still undecided, it has been established beyond any doubt that during the rule of the Eighteenth Dynasty in Egypt, when Thebes was at the height of its glory, Crete was the centre of a great empire whose trade and influence extended from the North Adriatic to Tell el-Amarna and from Sicily to Syria. The whole sea-borne trade between Europe, Africa and Asia was in Cretan hands, and the legends of Theseus seem to show that the Minoans dominated the Greek islands and the coasts of Attica

HISTORY IN STONES

"This civilisation was as ancient and as firmly established as it was wonderful. The beginning of the flint deposits found beneath the Palace at Knossos is considered by Dr. Evans to date from at least 10,000 BC. and from that time towards the development of the Minoan, people can be traced continuously. Between the neolithic age and the final sack of Knossos three great periods can be distinguished which were roughly contemporary with the three great periods in Egypt—namely, the Memphite or Old Kingdom, the First Theban or Middle Kingdom, and the Eighteenth Dynasty or Theban Empire. During these periods there was close and constant communication between Crete and Egypt. A considerable trade was carried on between the two countries, which was accompanied by a certain exchange of influence and ideas.

"On the other hand, the Minoan civilisation was essentially Mediterranean and is most sharply distinguished from any that arose in Egypt or the East. In some respects also it is strikingly modern. The many storied palaces, some of the pottery, even the dresses of the ladies seem to belong to the modern rather than the ancient world. At the same time the number of Minoan sites and their extraordinary richness far exceed anything that Crete could be expected to produce, and must be due in part to that sea-power which the ancient legends attributed to Minos.

"Thus, when the Minoan power was at its greatest its rulers must have seemed to the outer nations to be mighty indeed, and their prestige must have been increased by the mystery of the lands over which they ruled (which seemed to Syrians and Egyptians to be the far West,) and by their mastery over that element which the ancient world always held in awe. Strange stories, too, must have floated round the Levant of vast bewildering palaces, of sports and dances, and above all of the bull-fight. The Minoan realm, therefore, was a vast and ancient power, which was united by the same sea which divided it from other nations, so that it seemed to be a separate continent with a genius of its own.

SWIFT DESTRUCTION OF CRETE

"Suddenly a swift and terrible destruction blotted out the Cretan power. Confident in their long supremacy at sea, the Minoans had left their cities unfortified, and the neglect of their land defences proved their ruin. The evidence is conclusive that some shock broke the sea power of Knossos when it was still full of vigor, still growing and developing, that a raid sacked the capital and desolated the island, and that thereafter the whole Minoan civilization decayed and finally vanished.

"A new order of things arose; the Phoenicians took the place of the Minoans as traders and navigators and Asia Minor the Thalassocracies, mentioned by Eusebius, ruled in turn. It is true that Minoan influence lingered on in the art of the Aegean, but except for the legends of Minos the very memory of the Minoans perished. As a political and commercial force, therefore, Knossos and its allied cities were swept away just when they strongest and safest. It was as if the whole kingdom had sunk in the sea, as if the fate of Atlantis were true.

The writer gives much evidence to prove his point. Those who want to know further of this fascinating topic, and who desire to know the story of Dr. Evan's excavations in Crete, should get a book entitled "The Discoveries in Crete," by R. M. Burrows, Murray, 5s. net. It is a wonderful story of patient exploration and the reconstruction of ancient history.

PIMPLES, BLOTCHES AND SORES

Zam-Buk's Purifying Action on the Skin--Interesting Cure of Chronic Case.

Following we give the testimony of a lady who if she had known of Zam-Buk earlier would have been saved nine weeks of agony:

Mrs. Frederick Bryant, 169 Railway Avenue, Stratford, Ont. says: "I scalded my foot while preparing supper. Next day the skin came off and my foot was in a serious condition. I could not wear my shoe and had to lay up for nine weeks. During this time I used dozens of salves but none did any good, in fact the wound developed into a running sore. I got no rest day or night from the pain. At this point a supply of Zam-Buk was obtained and a few applications had immediate effect in soothing the pain and irritation. A small supply proved sufficient to heal the wound, although I had spent dollars in other remedies. New skin has now formed nicely over the open sore.

"Zam-Buk is the most wonderful and effective remedies I have used and I advise others to use it."

Zam-Buk is equally effective in curing burns. Mr Geo. Gilmore, caretaker of the E. Clements Block, Winnipeg, testifies as follows:

"I sustained a series of bad burns while attending to the large furnace which heats the buildings. One burn on my wrist was particularly bad and gave me great pain. I applied some Zam-Buk, and in forty-eight hours all that remained of the burn was a slight scar. Zam-Buk seemed to take the pain away like magic. It is a splendid balm to keep handy, its healing powers being simply marvellous."

There is nothing to equal Zam-Buk as a family balm. Its uses are so wide. It has been proved a sure cure for eczema, ring worm, ulcers, abscesses, piles, bad leg, suppurating wounds, cuts, bruises, chapped hands cold cracks, and all skin injuries and diseases. Rubbed well into the part affected it cures rheumatism, sciatica, neuralgia, etc. All druggists and stores sell at 50 cents per box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co, Toronto, on receipt of price.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Cables Are Steady—Hogs Are Easier at Buffalo and Chicago.

LONDON, March 15.—London cables for cattle are steady, at 12½c to 13½c per pound, dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted at 9⅞c to 10c per pound.

Toronto Junction Live Stock.

TORONTO JUNCTION, March 15.—Receipts of live stock at the Union Stock Yards were 45 carloads, consisting of 888 cattle, 34 hogs, 80 sheep and lambs and 25 calves.

Exporters.

The best load of export steers on the market was sold at $5.62½; the bulk, however, sold at $5.25 to $5.35; export bulls sold at $4 to $4.60.

Butchers.

Maybee & Wilson topped the market with 13 butchers, 1170 lbs. each, and 3 butchers, 1200 lbs. each, at $5.40 per cwt. These were bought by a local firm for butchers' purposes, which goes to show that there is little difference in the prices of cattle designated, exporters and butchers, and that there is a growing home demand for the best cattle. We have, therefore, to quote selected lots of prime cattle for butchers' purposes at $5.20 to $5.40; loads of good at $4.80 to $5.10; medium to good at $4.40 to $4.70; common, $3.85 to $4.30; cows, $3 to $4.30; canners and common cows, $1.75 to $2.65; bulls, $3 to $4 per cwt.

Milkers and Springers.

About a dozen milkers and springers sold readily at $40 to $71 each, Corbett & Hall selling one springer at the latter price.

Veal Calves.

There was a good demand for veal calves at $5 to $7.25 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

About 100 sheep and yearling lambs sold at higher quotations. Export ewes, $4.50 to $5; rams, $3.50 to $4 per cwt.; grain-fed lambs of choice quality sold at $7 to $7.60 per cwt.; common lambs, $5.50 to $6.50.

Hogs.

The hog market has been in such a condition that some dealers hesitated to give quotations. Gunns, Limited, upon being asked to give quotations, respectfully declined, but a representative of H. P. Kennedy came to our rescue, and quoted selects, fed and watered, at $7.40 per cwt., and $7.15 to drovers, f.o.b. cars at country points, which will mean $7 or thereabout to the farmer.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, March 15.—(Special.)—At the Montreal Stock Yards West End Market the receipts of live stock for the week ending March 13 were 1281 cattle, 180 sheep and lambs, 2452 hogs and 787 calves. While the supply for local consumption this morning consisted of 85 cattle, 50 sheep and lambs, 1535 hogs and 110 calves. A feature of the trade to-day was the stronger undertone to the market for cattle, and prices advanced ¼c per pound. This was attributed to the much smaller offerings than usual and the keener demand from both local and out-of-town buyers, on account of the continued favorable weather for keeping stock this period of the year. Another feature of the trade was the good enquiry from exporters for supplies, notwithstanding the fact that they claim that, even at the present high prices ruling in the British markets, cattle are losing plenty of money. However, on account of the higher prices demanded, and the general quality of the stock not being over the butchers' class here, they were not disposed to operate freely, but, as the demand for local account was in excess of the offerings, an active trade was done, and the prospects are that unless receipts increase materially values will go still higher in the near future. Choice beeves sold at 5¾c; good at 5¼c to 5½c; fair at 4¾c to 5c; medium at 4½c to 4¾c; choice bulls at 4¾c to 5c, and common stock at 3c to 4c per pound. There was no further change in the condition of the market for sheep and lambs, prices being steady, with trade quieter on account of the continued limited supply coming forward.

The demand was more than ample to absorb all the offerings, and sales of choice lots of lambs were made at 6¾c to 6¾c; and good at 5¾c to 6c, while sheep sold at 3¾c to 4½c per pound.

There continues to be a good demand for calves, of which supplies are steadily increasing, and the tone of the market is easy, with sales at prices ranging from $2 to $8 each, as to size and quality. A very strong feeling continues to prevail in the market for hogs, and prices have scored a further advance of 5c per 100 pounds, which is due to the good demand from packers and the fact that supplies coming forward are not in excess of the requirements. Sales of selected lots were made at $7.80 to $7.85, and some odd lots at $7.85 and $8 over per 100 pounds, weighed off cars. A feature of the trade during the past week were the strong cable advices received on Canadian bacon, which noted an advance in prices in the British market of 2s to 3s, and in Liverpool and London 2s to 4s per 100 pounds.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, March 15.—Cattle—Receipts, 2800 head; slow; prime steady; others 10c to 15c higher; prime steers, $6.50 to $6.75; shipping, $5.85 to $6.50; butchers', $5.25 to $6.25; heifers, $4.25 to $6; cows, $3.75 to $5.25; bulls, $3.00 to $5.25.

Veals—Receipts, 1400 head; active and steady, $7 to $9.25.

Hogs—Receipts, 12,800 head; fairly active and 10c to 15c lower; heavy, $7.05 to $7.15; mixed, $7 to $7.10; yorkers, $6.80 to $7; pigs, $6.25 to $6.90; roughs, $5.75 to $6.10; stags, $4.50 to $5; dairies, $6.50 to $7.00.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 14,800 head; handy lambs active; heavy slow; mixed sheep steady; others 10c to 25c higher; lambs, $5 to $8.25; yearlings, $6.00 to $7.25; wethers, $5.75 to $6.25; ewes, $5 to $5.65; sheep, mixed, $3.50 to $5.75.

CAVE HOUSES.

France Is Dotted All Over With These Curious Habitations.

"There are no fewer than 2,000,000 cave dwellers in France," writes a traveler. "Whether you travel north, south, east or west you find these curious imitations of the homes of primitive man. They stretch for fully seventy miles along the valley of the Loire, from Blois to Saumur, and as the train proceeds you can catch a glimpse from time to time of their picturesque entrances, surrounded by flowers and verdure. As likely as not you will see the inhabitants standing or sitting in front of their mysterious looking caverns, and unless you have learned the country you will be inclined to imagine that they possess some of the characteristics of the troglodytes of old and that their homes are mere dens. Not so, as you will find on visiting them.

"They are nearly all well to do peasants, owners perhaps of some of the vineyards that deck the slopes on all sides, and their habitations are, as a rule, both healthy and comfortably furnished. These singular houses are remarkably cool in summer without being in the least damp, while in winter they can be warmed much more easily and better than ordinary apartments. The health of the modern troglodyte is, as a rule, excellent, and it is not uncommon to find centenarians among them. This, however, is by no means surprising when we consider that their homes are not only healthful to live in, but are also comfortably furnished and fitted up.

"In the majority of cases these rock houses were not excavated for the special purpose of being inhabited, but with the object of obtaining stone for the building of houses. At Rochecorbon there is a rock dwelling carved out of a single block of stone, and the ingenious owner, in addition to making a two story villa therefrom, has provided himself with a roof garden, from which a fine view of the valley can be obtained. A similar house exists in Bourre, in which locality the disused quarries are said to date back to the days of the Romans."

Fall Costs Him His Arm.

St. Catharines, March 16.—William Patterson, a Grand Trunk brakeman, suffered the loss of his right arm at the General and Marine Hospital yesterday morning as a result of an accident at Merritton Station.

While the engine was shunting a number of cars Patterson was running alongside of a section of the train, when he tripped over the "frog" at the switch, and, falling to the ground, his arm became tangled in the moving car.

Labor Men Parade.

Boston, March 16.—As a demonstration against the sentences of imprisonment imposed upon the labor delegates, Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell and Frank Morrison, in the now prominent Bucks' stove and range case by Judge Wright in the Superior Court of the District of Columbia, more than 5,000 members of labor unions paraded on Sunday.

Strikers Must Pay Damages.

Winnipeg, March 16.—The Court of Appeal yesterday morning handed down a decision in the famous case of the Master Plumbers v. Journeymen, sustaining the decision of the lower court, which assessed damages against men individually who went out on strike, and granting a perpetual injunction against the union.

Falls Through Trap-Door.

Galt, March 16.—George Flatt, retired farmer, aged 60, met with sudden death last evening at 5 o'clock. He was in Hammill & Moore's hardware store. The trap-door leading to the cellar was open, and Flatt fell into the opening, fracturing his skull. An inquest will be held.

Earl Grey Withdraws Patronage.

Ottawa, March 16.—Earl Grey has withdrawn his patronage from the annual concert of St. Patrick's Society. It has always been the custom of the Governor-General to attend, but this year he asks the withdrawal of his name entirely.

This is because there will be a political address by E. B. Devlin, M.P., on "Ireland's Position in the Empire."

Senator Would Reform Commons.

Ottawa, March 16.—Senator T. O. Davis of Saskatchewan is out for Commons reform.

He proposes to reduce the popular representation, and a lower House of about fifty members. The present unit of representation is twenty-five thousand in round numbers. The Davis' proposition is that the unit be increased to one hundred thousand.

Winnipeg Car Employes Agreement.

Winnipeg, March 16.—After being in session nearly five hours from midnight, the meeting of the street railway employes broke up without, it is understood, reaching an agreement as to the demands for a new schedule, to go into effect on April 1, the chief demand being made for a nine-hour day, with same pay.

Bar International Officers.

Ottawa, March 16.—A bill to amend the Lemieux Act has been introduced in the Senate by Senator McMullen. It aims at the exclusion of international union officers from the United States at the time of strikes, and limits the definition of conciliator to "citizens of Canada and British subjects." Interference of anyone not a citizen of Canada and a British subject is punishable by a fine of $100.

Ordnance Stations.

Ottawa, March 16.—Militia general orders announce that ordnance stations in Canada are re-classified as follows:

First class—Halifax, Ottawa, Quebec and Toronto.

Second class—Montreal, Kingston, Esquimalt and Winnipeg.

Third class—Calgary, St. John, London and Charlottetown.

John Badgley was awarded $400 and costs against the G.T.R. at Belleville for being struck by a train on a level crossing.

BOERS PRAISE KING.

Transvaal Journal Compares Him With Wilhelm of Germany.

De Transvaaler, one of the leading Dutch papers in South Africa, in an article on "The British King," after emphasizing the nationality of the Boer race and language under the protection of the British flag, then proceeds:

"Apart from these considerations, the Dutch have special reason to respect the person of King Edward. His Majesty's conduct at the present moment stands out in magnificent contrast above that of the German Emperor, whose recent utterances have given us all a thorough insight into his Germanic Majesty's heart and inwardness.

"We have never known the [illegible] to utter anything that was ungentlemanly or in the least calculated to offend the feelings of the subjects of other monarchs, not to mention his own. His Majesty has too much good sense for that, and is too thorough a gentleman. Nor have we known him to play the Judas towards a people struggling for their independence and the freedom of their fatherland. He is too gallant a lord for that. We have not known him to place any of his Ministers in the painful position in which Prince Von Buelow finds himself, nor to make his nation a laughing-stock as the Kaiser has done.

"We deeply sympathize with the German nation. Their Emperor has done them a bad turn indeed. Comparisons are odious, and we have particular delight in making this comparison between the King of England and the Kaiser as odious as we can very well make it. The King fought us, and put us under. He did so in the face of the world. The Kaiser pretended to be our friend, and secretly he planned our destruction as a Republican nation.

"The Boers are not slow to notice this contrast between the two monarchs, and they silently bless God that they have at least no Kaiser's birthday to celebrate!"

SOME LOCAL NICKNAMES.

English Names Have Old Associations Connected With Them.

Among the old things that have died out are the local nicknames given to inhabitants of various cities or counties. There is a well-known Lancashire saying connected with a stagecoach driver, which is remarkable for its nice grades of distinction between four passengers. The old driver was asked: "Who has ta gotten i' th' coach, Jem?" And Jem replied: "Wha, there's a gentleman fro' Liverpool, and a mon fro' Manchester, and a chap fro' Oldham, and a felly fro' Wigan."

"Yorkshire," again, is a term used for cunning or shrewdness. "He's a deep 'un," says someone in one of Charles Reade's novels, "but we are Yorkshire, too." A lying old proverb says: "Shake a bridle over a Yorkshireman's grave, and he will arise and steal a horse."

A jocular nickname for men of Norfolk is "Norfolk Dumplings," perhaps because these East-country folk still maintain the custom of serving "dumplings" or pudding before meat, which in old days was a general custom, especially in economical households, for the pudding took the edge off the sharp appetite.

The Lincolnshire nickname is the uncomplimentary one of "Yellow Bellies," in allusion to the frogs and eels which abound in the fen country. A neighboring county has long been called "Bean-belly Leicestershire," and there is an old saying: "Shake a Leicestershire yeoman by the collar, and you shall hear the beans rattle."

Latest In Tower Clocks.

The new tower of the Birmingham University is to be fitted with one of the largest clocks in this country. It will have four dials, each 17-1-2 feet in diameter, made of cast skeleton iron filled in with white pot opal for illumination at night. The hands are made of strong rolled sheet copper, and each pair weigh about 150 pounds. The extreme length of the minute-hand is 10 feet 4 inches, and the hour-hand at the widest part is 2 feet. The clock itself is over 9 feet long, the frame being one solid casting, weighing alone about half a ton. It will strike the hours and Westminster chime quarters on five bells, weighing about ten tons, the largest, or hour-bell, weighing five tons. The clock will only require winding once a week, the total weight when installed, including the dials, bells, weights, etc., being quite twenty tons. The makers, Messrs. Joyce & Co., Whitchurch, Shropshire, England, have erected hundreds of important clocks in all parts of the world.

"That Reminds Me."

Many and varied are the methods to which busy men have recourse in order to keep their memory "peeled." A very successful plan is that of a shrewd London man, who has recourse to the use of pepper or snuff to jog his memory. A liberal dose spread over his handkerchief greets his olfactory nerves whenever he extracts it from his pocket, and, as he himself says, then "that reminds me." It is a somewhat uncomfortable plan, but, it must be admitted, it is decidedly effective. There is one old Government clerk in Whitehall who is an amusement to all the juniors. When he has any matter of urgent importance to attend to in the morning he invariably ties two of his fingers together with a small piece of red tape.

Bluestockings.

Boswell in his "Life of Dr. Johnson" states that in his day there were certain meetings held by ladies to afford them opportunity of holding converse with eminent literary men. The most distinguished talker of these gatherings was a Mr. Stillingfleet, who always wore blue stockings. When away his absence was so felt that the remark became common, "We can do nothing without the blue stockings"; hence the meetings at which he figured began to be called "bluestocking clubs" and those who frequented them bluestockings.

Jack London, the author, is a physical wreck in the South Seas because of continual illness.

Fiction

TWO LUNATICS.

By P. Y. BLACK.

"It was a shameful trap," he said, "on the part of my people. The doctors were very careless in their diagnosis. To shut me up in a place like this was really too bad. In a very short time, however, I expect to leave."

"Oh, dear," she thought, her eyes dimming, "they all say that! To think that the poor man will never, never, never leave! I am so glad—for you," she said aloud. "You will be overjoyed."

"Oh, I—yes. But do you know this sanitarium is not so bad?"

"Do you mean," she said gently, surprised, "that you will—er—have any regrets in leaving?"

"No," he said, "not exactly that, of course—not regrets so far as concerns myself, for it is so humiliating to be committed, you know." He paused. "But," he went on, "even in asylums one makes friends, and—one regrets—for them."

He looked down with a tenderness and a pity he could not hide, and she blushed, and for a moment there was silence. Then she said, with an obviously strained laugh:

"We are friends, of course, Mr. St. John. What an awful existence it would be here if one had no sympathetic friends! But you must not regret so much on my account. In a very short time I think my friends will take me home."

He choked a groan before she could hear it.

"The poor little thing!" he thought. "They all say that. And that decent young fellow, the doctor, assures me her case is very puzzling and her friends fear incurable. I am so glad for you," he said. "Would it not be jolly if we became friends in the world as we have been when out of the world?"

Then he blamed himself again.

"If she really likes me," he thought, "and I think the unhappy child does, I should never had said that. It is cruel, brutal, to put such thoughts in her head."

She was looking at him with the tearful smile we essay when we encourage one who does not realize that death is near.

"It would be nice—very nice indeed."

They were silent again, each sorrowing for the other.

There were many other patients strolling on the lawns or sitting in the summer houses, patients of all kinds.

Miss Tracy and St. John stood together, silent now and unostentatiously observant. A sturdily built (all the attendants were that) man was taking a patient to the iron barred house. He did not do it violently. He did it as one may see a policeman occasionally escort a quiet prisoner with a light touch on the captive's arm above the elbow. The patient was a little excited, but there was no disturbance at all. A visitor might never have noticed it. The strange thing was the unanimous backward withdrawal from the attendant's path of the patients encountered, the look of fright or dislike on their faces directed not at the captive, but at the guard.

"How they all dread him—instinctively, it seems," said the young woman who "expected to leave soon." "He is polite enough and not ill looking, but"—

"A man of great experience in his peculiar work, I'm told," said St. John musingly.

"It's his eye and mouth that do it, I fancy."

"A thoroughly ill dispositioned man, with a plausible exterior," said St. John. "I believe him capable of it."

"Of murder? Do—oh, what are you talking of, Mr. St. John?"

St. John looked very uncomfortable. Miss Tracy looked vexedly embarrassed.

"I heard some rumor of a strange death in the institution just before I came. I was thinking of it. Were you here? Have you heard anything of it?"

He was a little eager.

"How could I be here? We came on the same day. Don't you remember?"

"Ah, true!"

So they watched the attendant out of sight and turned to go inside themselves.

They shook hands, although there was no reason for it. They would meet at the dinner table in a few minutes, but—they shook hands, and that lingeringly.

"It's awfully sad," St. John pondered. "So sweet a face, seemingly so intelligent. I wish—oh, pshaw! What's the use of wishing? These things are not to be remedied. I wonder if—she'd give me a photograph."

Miss Tracy went to her room slowly.

"I am silly to be so affected by an ordinary case. There are thousands like him. But—oh, dear; oh, dear! If I'd known I was to have this sad experience I would never have consented to come—never!"

They had no opportunity to meet alone for several days. Perhaps they might have made opportunities, but they did not. Doubtless it occurred to each of these two lunatics that it was the wiser thing to stifle at once any friendship which each thought likely to cause useless pain in the future to the other.

Dr. Bell found these two of his residents particularly interesting in these days, and so did the attendant. It was strange that they both so markedly preferred the company of the sanitarium people to that of their fellow unfortunates. The young house doctor thought Miss Tracy charming and never was abrupt with her.

"Very puzzling case," he mused. "Now, why does she dwell so on that recent death? It seems to excite her too. That's morbidity, I'm afraid; bad sign."

The doctor liked St. John too. St. John's friends acted very nicely in sending him new books and boxes of cigars. The books were well chosen; the cigars were unexceptionable.

"Like all these parties," he pondered, "in the first stages you would not think there was anything much wrong with the man, but it is a little singular that he should be so interested in that unlucky death also."

As for the attendants, Miss Tracy had flowers and little things and could teach the women quite a number of new fads in hairdressing, and so forth. For the men St. John's cigar box and full pocketbook sufficed to make them extremely courteous. The man with the wicked eyes and mouth benefited most, however. It was wonderful what a lot of little things he could do for Miss Tracy. It was strange that St. John should find anything in the man to talk about with common interest.

Just once the two lunatics met. It was just before bedtime in the music room. He had sung to her accompaniment. When she rose to say good night he almost whispered to her:

"I expect to go to New York tomorrow."

"I am so glad for your sake," she said.

"And—and you—you have made my stay almost tolerable. Is there nothing you will allow me to do for you?"

"Oh," she answered, with sprightliness, "I shall not be long in going myself."

"Poor, poor little dear," he said to his pillow, "it breaks me all up to think of her staying here incurable."

Miss Tracy packed her trunk, and tears dropped on silk and linen indifferently.

"Oh," she murmured, "I do so wish I had never come here. I can never, never forget the sad, gentle way he used to look at me."

There was lively work next afternoon in the building of the Gazette. A young man sat at a desk apart in the reporters' room, and he scribbled and he scribbled. By and by the managing editor came in and looked over the busy writer's shoulder and told him that he had only an hour to finish up in. Then the great presses began to clatter, and in a little while the first edition of the Gazette was ready for the street, with an enormous black scare head on the front page.

And in the office of the Morning Jury there was also a very lively bustling, and there, at a retired desk, a young woman sat, and she scribbled and she scribbled, and late at night the presses began to rumble, and in a little while the first edition of the Jury was ready for the street, with an enormous black scare head on the front page.

The Gazette and the Jury were within a few minutes of each other in getting out. A copy of each paper was hustled into the office of the other, for rival editors watch each other's work with catlike intentness. And the Gazette office read with dismay that the great asylum mystery had been solved by the indefatigable efforts of a Jury reporter, while the Jury night staff tore its editorial hair over the flaring boast of the Gazette that its "special commissioner" had given to a waiting world the first and only enlightenment of the famous crime. There had been no time for one paper to lift the news from the other. How had the expected scoop been spoiled?

Tumultuous was the wrath in the two offices. Miss Tracy was explaining to her managing editor, with tears in her eyes, that she could not understand at all, at all, how the Gazette had got hold of it. In the Gazette office Mr. St. John stormed and swore and said that for the life of him he could not understand how the Jury had got almost the same story.

"Good heavens!" shouted St. John suddenly, and he dashed out to the Jury office. There he found a friend, with whom he conferred. The two lunatics were introduced to each other and a minute or two afterward were alone together.

They laughed a great deal at the idea of two reporters on the same strange assignment, never suspecting each other, but their laugh was not very loud. The tender pity for each other of yesterday was still in mind.

"The attendant is arrested," said St. John. "You did not get it quite right. The patient he poisoned when nursing him was an old enemy. It was not done through trouble arising between them in the sanitarium."

"Oh, bother!" she said. "It doesn't matter. We've done our appointed work. Let's talk of something more pleasant."

So they did, and when he was about to go away he said:

"You said once we might be friends in the world as well as out of the world. Will we be friends, dear Miss Tracy?"

She looked at him so smilingly, yet so tremblingly, that he put his arm around her.

"Will you be more than friend, darling?" he whispered.

"Yes," she said, and it was quite five minutes after, when some one's feet were heard approaching, that she jumped away and held up a warning finger.

"If your friend came in he'd think us mad," said she.

"Two lunatics!" he answered, laughing, as the door opened.

CANADA'S FAMOUS MEN AND WOMEN

Gladly Testify to the Great Value of "Fruit-a-tives."

Hon. Senator Costigan (member of the Cabinets of five Premiers of Canada), says:—"Fruit-a-tives is the only medicine I ever took that did me any good for Constipation."

Mrs. J. R. Flock (widow of one of the most prominent physicians in London), writes:—"I was a constant martyr to Stomach Weakness all my life and no physician could cure me, but Fruit-a-tives gave me entire relief and I strongly recommend this medicine."

Mr. James Dingwall (Superintendent of St. Andrew's Sunday School in Williamstown, Ont., for nine years) states: "I am now over eighty years old, and I can strongly recommend Fruit-a-tives for Bladder and Kidney Trouble and Chronic Constipation."

Mr. H. Marchessault (High Constable of Quebec), testifies:—"I suffered for ten years with Severe Pain in the Back. Nothing did me any good until I tried Fruit-a-tives."

Mr. W. J. McComb (the leading merchant of Trenton, Ont.), writes:—"I was a martyr to Headaches—consulted doctors — wore glasses — without the slightest relief. Then I took Fruit-a-tives and this remedy cured me."

This is the kind of evidence that convinces. Dealers everywhere have "Fruit-a-tives." 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial box, 25c. Sent postpaid on receipt of price. Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

Lord's Prayer on a Pin Head.

Mr. William L. Stuart, a young man engaged in business in New York city has performed the seemingly impossible feat of engraving the entire Lord's Prayer on the head of an ordinary pin to which he has added his name and the year, making altogether 276 letters and figures. Mr. Stuart did the work at odd times during his regular employment and with very ordinary tools, which seemingly are not adapted to such fine engraving. The pin was set in a block of wood, and a common engraver's tool was used. A simple microscope, costing only about 25 cents and known as a "linen tester," furnished the necessary magnifying.—St Nicholas.

Servia Peaceful.

Berlin, March 12.—The latest Servian note, in which that country sets forth that she does not desire to provoke war with Austria-Hungary, but maintains that the question of the annexation of Bosnia and Herzegovina should be regarded by the powers, was delivered at the Foreign Office here yesterday afternoon.

The impression created by Servia's renunciation of territorial compensation is favorable and is regarded officially as a peaceful sign.

THE RAILWAYS ARE CO-OPERATING

Single Fare for Round Trip to National Missionary Congress

The railway companies of Canada are co-operating with the committee in charge of the National Missionary Congress to be held in Toronto, March 31st to April 4th, and have granted a rate of a single fare for the round trip. On account of the annual meeting of the Women's Home Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church, a large number of ladies will take advantage of the special rates. An extension of time will be allowed by the western roads, so that delegates from a long distance may remain east until the last of April. It is expected that about 3,000 persons will be in attendance at the two meetings.

DEBATED LOCAL OPTION QUESTION

Interesting Evening at Meeting of Mark St. Methodist Church

The meeting of the Epworth League at Mark street church last night was of a very interesting nature. The young people of that church have shown a large amount of interest in the local option movement and the result was that a debate was held last evening, the topic being, "Resolved, that Peterborough should have local option." The affirmative was taken by Mr. Horace Coon, assisted by Mr. Stanley Matchett and M. T. Record, assisted by Mr. George Gamsle took the negative. The young people showed by their clever arguments that the subject had been well prepared by them and the evening was pleasantly and profitably spent by the large number present. The names of the judges were Malcolm McIntyre, B. McKee and John Kerr and the decision was given in favor of the affirmative.

GETTING READY TO BRING WOOD DOWN

Fuel and Cartage Company Repairing and Fitting up Steamer

The Fuel and Cartage Company have a gang of men at Lakefield repairing and fitting up their steamer, the Beaver, and scow, preparatory to the opening of navigation. The Beaver has been lying in the Lakefield reach of the canal all winter. As the water will be let into the reach in a day or two it was necessary to get the steamer in shape before this was done. The Fuel and Cartage Company are preparing for a big season's work as they expect to bring down 3000 cords of wood the coming season. The wood is all ready and men will go up the latter part of this week or the first part of next, to measure it up. It is located on the shores of Deer Bay, Stony Lake and Buckhorn Lake.

Teas grown at high altitudes on the mountain slopes of Ceylon, where the growth is slower and cultivation more careful than in the warm, humid climate of the valleys, are used in "Salada" Tea. High grown tea like "Salada" is not only of a finer quality, but contains more of the essential oil in the leaf than valley grown tea. This is easily proved by comparing a drawing of "Salada" Tea with any other.

Social Evening

A successful social evening was held in the Murray street Baptist church last night under the auspices of the Social Committee of the Young People's Society. There was a large attendance and a good time was spent. An informal programme of readings, vocal and instrumental solos was given, and refreshments were served. Mr Robert Lang, vice-president, of the society occupied the chair.

MANY HORSES BEING SOLD

Over 200 Disposed of in One Week at Toronto

Toronto, March 16—Trade at the Union Horse Exchange, West Toronto, this week was the best in many years. Manager J. Herbert Smith, reports having sold over 200 horses at Monday's and Wednesday's sales. Nine carloads of these horses were bought and shipped to different parts of the Northwest and lesser lots to different parts of Ontario. Prices ranged about the same as those quoted for last week's sales, with the exception of a few top notchers in the heavy draught class which sold as high as $325 each. Prices were quoted as follows; Draughters $160 to $210; general purpose $150 to $180; wagon horses, $140 to $210; drivers $110 to $160; serviceably sound $35 to $80, and $115 for a few heavy horses in this class.

Mr. Smith also reports that he is receiving letters from horsemen and breeders all over Ontario in reference to the sale of imported and Canadian Clydesdale fillies and mares to take place on March 26.

S. J. Prowse, the well known importer of heavy draught horses of Ingersoll, Ont., will sell a consignment of twenty-five imported three year old Clydesdale fillies that are now on their way from the old country. [illegible]

ANNUAL MEETING GIRLS' AUXILIARY

Of St. Luke's Church Held Last Evening—Officers Were Elected

The annual meeting of St. Luke's Girls' Auxiliary took place last night at the rectory. The president, Mrs. E. A. Langfeldt, was in the chair. After the reading of reports and routine business the following officers were elected:

First Vice-President — Miss Mary Pratley.

Second Vice-President—Miss Hazel Hickey.

Rec. Secretary—Miss Isabel Hay.

Cor. Secretary—Miss Alice Dawson.

Treasurer and Convenor of the [illegible]—Miss Lizzie Stewart.

Dorcas Secretary—Miss Lucy Baxter; assistants, Mrs. Boushiere, Miss May Moore.

Organist—Miss Florence Butcher.

Delegates to annual—Miss Hickey, Miss Bertha Curtis, Miss May Moore; substitutes, Miss M. Stewart, Miss E. Strong.

Board of Management, appointed by the rector—Mrs. Beauclere, Miss Mabel Scott.

A pleasant feature of the evening was the presentation of three prizes for best attendance. The first prize a year's subscription to the Ladies' Home Journal, to Miss Lizzie Stewart; W. A. pin, to Miss Lucy Baxter and Miss Clara Story, the latter two being presented by Mrs. N. Boswell, a former president of the G.A.

A resolution of condolence was also passed by a standing vote to express to Miss Mamie Rogers the sympathy of the G.G.A.

The meeting was closed with the benediction.

FEW CANDIDATES FOR MINISTRY

Rev. Robert Laird Makes Interesting Statement at Kingston

Kingston, March 15.—In an address before the members of the Brotherhood of Andrew and Philip, at Cooke's Church, on Sunday afternoon, Prof. Robert Laird dealt with the question of candidates for the ministry, and during the course of his remarks pointed out that the number of candidates in recent years was steadily declining in the colleges in Canada, and the same statement was also true in the old country, of England, Germany and Scotland. In recent years, in Canada, the population was very rapidly on the increase. For the last half of the last century, the population had increased a little more than half a million; then during the next five years, it increased a little more than half a million, and in the next two years the increase was as great as in either of the periods already mentioned. The church membership had also increased, and yet, in the face of all this, there has been a falling off in the number of candidates for the ministry. This went to show that the church was face to face with a very serious problem.

The speaker pointed out what might be done to secure more candidates. We should at all times use our personal influence, and by the respect shown to the ministry we could indicate to young men, that the ministry was a desirable and honorable calling.

THEATRICAL

The benefit at Wallack's Theatre, New York, last week, tendered to Mrs Lester Wallack netted $3,000.

Laurence Irving and Mabel Hackney made their vaudeville debut at the Orpheum in Boston recently.

Harrison Grey Fiske has engaged Consuelo Bailey for the role of Lulu, the chorus girl, in the forthcoming production of Roy MacCardell's comedy, "The Gay Life."

F. Ziegfeld, jr., husband of Anna Held, will sail for Paris Wednesday to hunt for novelties for The Follies of 1909.

It is said $10,000 was the sum paid for "I Wish I Had a Girl" which is the largest ever given for a song.

Mrs. Harold Gorst, a sister of Chas. Rann Kennedy, husband of Edith Wynne Matthison and author of several novels of London slum life, arrived in New York last week on a visit to her brother.

Andrew Mack will not resume his tour after Lent, as was expected, but has signed to play eleven weeks' engagement in vaudeville.

Charles Frohman announces that principal production next season will be Henry Bernstein's "Israel" without a star. The principal players will be Miss Constance Collier, James O'Neill and Holbrook Blinn.

Annette Kellerman the diving Venus, who dissolves while under water, has signed a contract, it is said, at $1,000 per week.

A man in Pittsburg is credited with going insane after seeing a play dealing upon the life of Harry Thaw.

Lillian Russell and Marie Cahill are in Chicago and have proved that women are capable not only of tolerating, but of admiring each other. A newspaper persuaded each to tell what each thought of the other. If is the newspaper, hoped for that which the critics term a "cat fight," it was sadly mistaken. The names they used towards each other were sincerely eulogistic.

RECORD SNOWFALL OCCURRED FORTY YEARS AGO TO-DAY

Was the Heaviest Within Memory of Man in This Part of the Province—Bad Flood Came in the Spring.

Forty years ago to-day occurred the heaviest snow fall within the memory of man in this part of the province. The snow set in early in the morning of the 16th March, and fell without intermission until late in the afternoon of the 19th, and reached a depth of nearly four feet on the level.

When the faithful got out and shovelled the snow from the sidewalks along George street, one could not see people walking on the other side of the street. The boys in the stores amused themselves by jumping off the roofs of the two-storey buildings into the piles of snow, which they could do and did safely. The following spring the river filled up to abnormal height and the drains along the river between the town and at Nassau were swept away, and very serious loss of life ensued, while the cut of timber was being rafted down. The lower part of the town from about where the Ackerman factory stands, was flooded clear over to the ground now covered by the C. G. E. Co.'s buildings, and communication was cut off from the cemetery until the waters abated.

SEIZED PETERBOROUGH MAN BY THROAT AND ROBBED HIM

Toronto, March 16.—The precaution that Charles Healey, fresh from the backwoods north of Peterborough, took to guard his roll of greenbacks from thieves while on a visit to Toronto, failed. Healy on his arrival in the city last week tied a roll containing $80 in a corner of his shirt. Then he started forth to see the town. On Friday afternoon he met four men on Simcoe street, and the quartette volunteered to show him around the town. They did. After a while, when the conversation drifted to horses they offered to show him something special in the animal line, too. Healy was conducted to the stable. Where it was located he does not remember, beyond the fact that he was in The Ward. There, instead of seeing a horse he had a hand clasped tightly around his throat, while several pairs of hands went through his pockets. The roll in the corner of his shirt was found almost as soon as the gold watch in his vest pocket. Then the gang decamped. Healy reported the matter to the police Saturday, and last night Detectives Archibald and Anderson, working on descriptions furnished by Healy arrested John Wass, of 158 York street, and William, better known as "Hog Eye" Tremble, 313 Adelaide street west, on a charge of having taken part in the hold-up. Both men have served terms in prison.

HAD HEAD SEVERELY CUT FELL IN CENTRAL PARK

Mr. Austin, a military tailor from Toronto, met with a painful accident at Central Park last night about 9 o'clock. He was crossing the park to the drill hall where a meeting of the officers of the 57th Regiment was held last night, when he slipped and fell, owing to the treacherous footing, and had the back of his head severely cut.

The blood flowed from the injury and Mr. Austin was insensible for a few minutes.

A passer by assisted the injured man to the drill hall. Lieut.-Col. Miller and Capt. McWilliams took him to Dr. MacPherson's surgery, where his injuries were attended to.

MR. KENDREY ON POWER DAM HE EXPLAINS HIS POSITION

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—I have been informed that it is said that my opposition to the scheme of the Water Commissioners at last Tuesday's meeting of the Board of Trade arose from the fact that the Auburn dam is in the market. Now, Sir, I wish to state again that I have never asked the city to purchase the Auburn dam nor have I approached any member of the City Council about its purchase. Further, it is a matter of indifference to me whether we sell this property or retain it ourselves. My opposition to the Commissioners' scheme is because it is indefinite and not even understood by themselves, and certainly not by the ratepayers, who are asked to vote the money to carry it out. The by-law should have been printed in all the city papers instead of being confined to one; indeed, I venture to say that a large number of the ratepayers have never read it. Then the project of coupling the water and power does not seem to be a wise one, as they will have great difficulty in securing the h.p. they claim. An independent engineer should be employed to report on the scheme before the people are asked to vote. If as the Commissioners claim the present dam is unsafe why rest their case on the same engineer's report without getting an outside opinion? This dam if it had been properly built, should have lasted longer than fourteen or fifteen years. I quite agree with Alderman Hicks' letter of yesterday, and would say with him, let us know where we are at now before we vote the money. The $15,000 for the power plant is only a drop in the bucket to the actual cost. Where is the money coming from for the rest of the equipment? Not from the commissioners and not from the City Council, but from the people. What will an up-to-date power plant cost? After spending the money how many horse-power will we have? If the city grows as it should how many horse-power will we have? If the power in ten years under the present scheme? These are questions of vital importance to the ratepayers and should be answered to their satisfaction before they are asked to provide the money.

Yours truly,
JAMES KENDREY.

PETERBOROUGH INSPECTOR GETS THE HIGHEST SALARY

The Toronto News says: The salaries of public school inspectors of the province have risen considerably the last four or five years. The days of $750, $800 and $900 a year are past.

There are in the province sixty at present whose average salary is $1,463.29 a year, with $247.01 extra for expenses.

The lowest salary paid is $1,160 for Haliburton, and the highest $2,340 for Peterborough.

Of the total of $102,618 paid them last year, the Government contributed $48,000, or $800 each.

REGIMENTS WILL BE INVITED TO PETERBORO FOR MAY 24

The officers of the 57th Regiment met in their mess rooms last night and took up the matter of the opening of the new armouries. The officers are anxious to make this one of the most memorable occasions in the history of the city and if their plans are carried out they will accomplish their purpose. It is proposed to invite the 38th Rifles of Brantford and the 19th Regiment of St. Catharines with their bands and bugle bands. The soldiers will be under canvas on the outskirts of the city at night, and during the day there will be processions and military manoeuvres.

In order to carry out this programme it will be necessary to secure assistance from the City Council as the expense of entertainment, of the privates, the camp grounds, water and light will be very heavy. It is customary for the Councils in all cities to help in this way, and Peterborough's Council will not be behind in this line. The officers of the 57th will look after the entertainment of the visiting officers and the non-commissioned officers of the visiting non-coms.

It is not certain if the armouries will be opened on the 24th, but in any case the Brantford and St. Catharines regiments will be invited here for that day.

ONE OF BEST KNOWN POULTRY EXPERTS IN DISTRICT IS DEAD

Mrs. J. Learmonth, 294 Stewart street, received word this morning of the death of her nephew, Alfred Robson, which occurred at the home of his father, Mr. Thomas Robson, just outside the village of Norwood.

Deceased, who was only twenty-six years of age, was widely known and very popular. He was a large exhibitor in poultry and other departments at the fairs in this part of the province, and was one of the principal exhibitors at the Peterborough Industrial, winning the bronze medals in 1906 and 1907. He was one of the directors of the Norwood Fair, and one of the best known poultry breeders and judges in the district.

The late Mr. Robson was a member of the Norwood Presbyterian church and an active worker in its different departments. He was much interested in the work of the Sunday school, of which he was treasurer, and was on the board of management of the church.

The death of the young man will occasion the deepest regret on the part of his numerous friends and the bereaved family have the general sympathy of the community.

SONS OF SCOTLAND SOCIAL EVENING

Enjoyable Time Spent Last Evening --- Programme and Refreshments

Clan Alpine Camp No. 26, had a very pleasant social time last night in their hall, Simcoe street, when Brother A. Weatherson, District Deputy, of Warkworth, Ont., and Brother Robt. Green, Grand Organizer, of Torotno, were present. After the initiation of members all sat down to a sumptuous spread provided by one of the prominent members. A most enjoyable programme had been arranged. Brother G. N. Gordon presided, making an excellent chairman. Among the visitors present were Brother R. Harstone, Bannockburn Camp, Warkworth, and prospective members. Songs were given by Brothers Green, with violin accompaniment; Weatherstone, MacKay, banjo solo, Mr. F. Clark; recitation, Mr. John Allan. The evening concluded by singing Auld Lang Syne and God Save the King.

District Deputy Weatherstone spoke in the interests of the Order and was given an enthusiastic reception.

SPRING AIR WENT TO HEADS OF YOUNG MEN

Bunch of Them in Police Court Charged With Disorderly Conduct—Magistrate Was Lenient

A number of cases of disorderly conduct, all by young men of the town were disposed of by Magistrate Dumble this morning at the police court. Three of the charges were for the first offence and the prisoners were leniently dealt with. Some good advice was given to the young men which they should profit by.

One young man got mixed up with a bunch of young fellows the night of the Stirling-Norwood game and like the majority of those who attended was considerably excited after the finish of the contest, and acted in a manner that is not allowed by the authorities. As it was his first offence he was allowed to go with a warning.

Another young man had been charged before with the same offence, and he was fined two dollars.

Two others who tried to pull off a show in the west part of the city were discharged with a warning. The residents in the locality did not like the actions of the young men as it was the time most people were at home in bed. They complained to the police and as a result the parties were arrested.

Black List Men

Editor of the Review

Dear Sir,—Can you tell me how a new bartender from another city, can tell who the black list people are, if they come into the bar for a drink? Is he to ask each one as he comes in the bar if he is on the black list. If you should serve a man on the black list you are liable to be fined.

Yours etc.
INQUIRER.

The maxim of English law is and always has been that ignorance will excuse no one. But the essence of crime is intent and where there is no intent there is no crime, therefore if a genuine mistake is made, the authorities will take that into consideration. But no shadow of doubt as to the intent should cast suspicion on the defendant in the case.—Ed.

Mr. Hawes' Request

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—I notice in your issue of Saturday that this man states he has been acquitted and that he was not drunk on the occasion of the most cowardly assault on the deputy fire chief, and on these grounds asks for employment. He may have been acquitted as not being guilty of an assault with intent to do grievous bodily harm such as to render him liable under the sections of the criminal code, but the people will not hold him guiltless in not trying to protect his superior from maiming at the hands of his comrades and that he was not drunk, removes the only excuse he could have except that of cowardice. The evidence as reported shows he admits he was insolent and actually began the row. As a paid official of the city, he was in part instrumental in having the services of four paid members of the fire brigade withdrawn at once, this in itself might have had a very serious effect on the property of the citizens, who were called upon to pay for these services. I would like to give this man employment. Oh yes!

P.C.I. SEVEN MADE GOOD SHOWING AGAINST LINDSAY

The Lindsay Warder says:

The L.C.I. hockey team won from a seven representing the Peterborough Collegiate Institute by the score 8-4 in an exciting game on Saturday afternoon. The visiting team were a well balanced and speedy seven, and have no mean record during the past winter having beaten the junior OHA team of Peterborough. The forward line of the Lindsay school boys was too fast however, and the victory was a well-deserved one. The half-time score was three all.

ROOTERS UPROARIOUS

An uproarious crowd of rooters kept the excitement at a high ebb, and school yells were brought into action on the slightest pretext. The game afforded plenty of opportunities for applause, too, and the little fellows were at it hammer and tongs all the time. They played clean hockey, too, Referee Randall imposing but one penalty and that for a minor offence.

FAST FORWARD LINE

As previously stated, it was the Lindsay forward line that won the game. They were lighter than their opponents by a goodly number of pounds but when it came to hockey, the smaller boys were the superior. Meldrum's work in goal for the PCI. was exceptionally meritorious and he saved his citadel by brilliant work time and again.

Pete, Jack and "Dom" the Spratt trio, and Beecroft, comprise a formidable line for a school team. The defence was a trifle light but nothing derogatory can be said against their playing. Spence has a pretty shot at the end of his stick and Wilson can pull off a winding rush when occasion offers. Greer stopped the most persistent shots and acquitted himself creditably.

THE VISITORS

Gael, Conway and Fortye were about the pick of the visitors with Meldrum scintillating in goal and Dennison playing neat hockey at point. The team played combined work fairly well, but were sorely troubled by the persistent backchecking of the L.C.I. forwards. Occasionally they would break away with a likely-looking two man rush, and they held their own pretty well in the first half.

The locals scored first in the second period and the visitors came back with a rush and evened up. Then the kids from the "little red school house" again got busy and scored three times off the reel, clinching the game.

Randall was impartial as a referee.

THINK WALTZ IS OVERDONE

Dancing Masters Appeal to King to Assist in Breaking its Popularity

London, March 12.—R. N. Compton, president of the Imperial Society of Dance Teachers, has appealed to the King to assist the movement for breaking the exclusive popularity of the waltz. He says:

"If the King would commend that one new dance be included in the programme of each state ball he would set a vogue for all the ballrooms of the kingdom. The mazurka, schottishe polka and waltz cotillion all have their places in a properly balanced programme, and on such occasions of ceremony as a state ball arranged in honor of some distinguished visitor I would suggest that some one should arrange to provide dances of a former period, as was done at the ball given by the Kaiser in Berlin in honor of the King. The gavotte, minuet, and pavane suggest themselves, and, in addition, a new dance which would become the dance of the year."

The last state ball, on July 10th, was made up as follows: Waltzes, 10; quadrilles, 3; polkas, 2; galops, 1. Mr. Compton suggests instead: Waltzes, 6; quadrilles, 2; polkas, 2; mazurka, 1; polonaise, 2; schottishe, 1 or 2; two-step, 1; waltz-minuet, 1, and a new dance, 1.

The Russian newspaper, "Rusa," has been confiscated for publishing extracts from Tolstoi.

Arrangements Being Made for Pool Tournament at Majestic Parlors.

A handicap pool tournament for the Majestic Billiard Parlors is under consideration and the proprietor of the parlors, Mr. Smyth, informed the Review to-day that the tournament would probably open a week from Monday. Handicaps will be given in consideration of the abilities of the players.

Good prizes will be hung up for competition. Arrangements for the tourney are being made now and will be published when they are completed.

BRIDGENORTH TEAM WAS DEFEATED

Fresh Air Club Put it Over Villagers by Score of 5-2

The Fresh Air Club defeated Bridgenorth last night at Brock street rink by 5 goals to 2. The half-time score was 3—1 in favor of the Fresh Air Club. The ice was in good condition and the quality of hockey played by the two teams was of a high order. Bridgenorth was a much heavier team and got away with a lot of fine combination work, but the F.A.C. were good checkers and saved their nets many times when it looked as if their opponents would score. The game was strenuous, but not rough, and Referee Munro had an easy time and gave good satisfaction to both teams.

The teams lined up as follows:

PUT PLASTER IN THE HIGH BALLS

Seattle, March 15.—Because his customers objected to plaster in their high balls, transferring their trade to a rival's place of business and thus causing serious loss, John M. Welch has been awarded a verdict of $1,000 damages against the Great Northern Railway by a jury in Judge Taltman's court.

Welch was a proprietor of a saloon on First avenue, and when the railroad bored a tunnel into his place of business, great cracks appeared in the walls and ceiling, and occasionally, he told the jury chunks of plaster were wont to splash in the refreshments his patrons.

For ten months, according to plaintiff, business was paralyzed by the dropping plaster and yawning brick and the "regulars" took their bitters elsewhere. Welch sued for $4,250.

SPORTING TALK

Fritz Muhl, who refereed the bout between Kid Batten and Artie Edmonds, in Toronto, is said to be one of the coolest and most unerring officials in the business.

RUNNING

Simpson looks like the man Longboat has to beat in the big Marathon Derby. Simpson is in grand shape right now, and will be ready to run the race of his life at 26 miles in the early April days. Longboat is 10 or 12 pounds overweight right now. He cannot get that off without weakening himself by the sweat-out process. He should have at least six weeks to get condition. Only one thing is in his favor now. He has the stamina, and while he may not run in phenomenal time, he has a grand chance to win out on that reserve power the others do not seem to possess, while Dorando, White, St. Yves, and Shrubb have all quit at that distance.

Negroes Object to Champion Johnson's White Gal—May be No Reception

Galveston, Texas, March 15.—If the colored heavyweight pugilist champion, Jack Johnston, who is scheduled to arrive here next Thursday, cannot deny that he has a white wife, a demonstration being arranged by Galveston negroes in his honor will be abandoned. It is planned to meet Johnston at the train with a band and a long line of carriages for a parade over the city.

Receptions and other functions are also scheduled, but leaders of the movement said to-night that all hinged on the truth or falsity of the reports as to the white wife.

Reception committee men say that they consider the marrying of a white woman by Johnston would be a violation of the laws and customs of the country of his birth.

RULE OF THE ROAD.

A London Policeman Explained the Matter Very Clearly.

"The first day in England," says an American traveler, "my heart jumped into my throat several times. Riding on top of a bus, the driver would always turn toward the left when we were about to pass another vehicle, and, although I knew that that was the English custom, I held on tight and got shivers anticipating a collision every time. One morning I stepped up to a policeman at King's Cross to get my bearings, and, as he was disposed to be talkative, I kept him company.

"Among other things, I asked him whether there was any rule requiring pedestrians to keep to the left. No, he told me; it was only for the roadway that the rule held.

"I then asked him why it was that in England they always turned to the left, whereas in all other countries the rule was to turn to the right.

"'Oh, it's very important to keep to the left,' he said seriously. I knew it was very important to observe the rule of the road, but why turn to the left?

"'Well,' he said, 'I'll show you. Now you come here,' and he led me to the middle of the roadway. 'You see,' he continued, 'how the traffic moves along the two sides of the road?'

"Yes, I saw, and a pretty sight it was, too—a string of all sorts of conveyances coming toward us on our right and another moving away from us on the left as far as the eye could see.

"'Well, now'—and he was very impressive—'suppose you were driving along in the middle here and another kerrige was coming the other w'y, and suppose you turned to the right, don't you see you would be getting in the w'y of all those vehicles?'

"Yes, I saw that.

"'Well, that's why we always turn to the left.'

"I learned afterward that the 'bobby' expected a tip for all the information he had given me."—Youth's Companion.

A ROYAL DESPOT.

Wurttemberg Prince Who Sold His Subjects Like Cattle.

Cruel and despotic were some of the petty princes who ruled the fatherland before the Napoleonic wars swept them away. Charles Eugene of Wurttemburg, born in 1728, died in 1793 and during his sixty-five years of life tormented his parents, his wives and his subjects. His first consort, Fredericka of Beyreuth, was worthy of him. When entering Wurttemberg soon after their marriage the girls threw masses of flowers in front of them. "What do those dogs want?" the princess asked her husband. They were always quarreling and never spoke to each other without snarling. The prince was always short of money and sold 6,000 of his subjects to England to raise the wind. He took the poor wretches from the fields, clapped a uniform on them and sent them to their destination as if they were cattle. Once he called all the young men of a certain district before him and made the following speech: "My brave boys, do you want to go to fight in the ranks of the English heroes against the savages of the continent?" No reply was made for the moment. Then a number of the youths stepped forward, and one of them said, "We do not want to be sold like sheep." The prince promptly gave orders for two of them to be seized, put against a wall and shot at once. Then while the blood was running from the mutilated bodies of the two unfortunates the prince by divine right said: "Run away. You see I do not want to impose my will on you. I think of your welfare like a father does of his children. You want to fight by the side of the valorous English." All consented. Schiller heard his father tell this story, and he himself related it in a scene of one of his plays.

Phil May's Drawings.

The late Phil May was popularly supposed to be the "lightning artist" par excellence of England. It is quite true that he could draw many wonderful things "straight off." But when a subject had been chosen for a Punch illustration many drawings were made from a model or models who first had to be discovered. By a process of selection each drawing of the subject bore fewer lines. When the drawing was published most of those who looked at it thought that it had been done with a few rapid strokes of the pen, whereas it probably represented a week's hard work.

The Root of the Trouble.

Crabshaw was too crippled with the rheumatism to leave the house, so his wife went to the doctor's to get something for him.

"So your husband would rather have a medicine to take internally for his rheumatism," remarked the doctor. "Why does he object to the liniment?"

"He doesn't," replied Mrs. Crabshaw, with a weary sigh. "You see, doctor, I object to it, because I have to do the rubbing."—Harper's Weekly.

All the Same.

THE OLD SAIL DRILL.

Perils the Modern Warship Men Do Not Have to Face.

One of the dangers and one of the hardest tasks of the man-of-war's man vanished out of his life when, with the supplanting of the frigate by the steam cruiser, the old time sail drill became a thing of the past. Fleets in the old days were continually exercised in making and shortening sail, shifting spars and all similar maneuvers aloft, says Captain J. W. Gambier of the British navy in his "Links In My Life." As the greatest rivalry existed among the crews as to which ship should carry out the evolution first accidents were frequent. Hardly a drill day passed without men being seriously injured.

Once during a drill in Kiel harbor, where the rivalry in the fleet was increased by the eagerness of foreign ships to compete with the English, an unfortunate French midshipman went head first from the mizzen crosstrees of the French flagship to the deck.

That numbers of accidents should take place in sail drill was not astonishing when one remembers that spars measuring perhaps seventy or eighty feet long and weighing two or three tons were whisked about with bewildering speed with nothing but men's hands and brains to guide them; hundreds of men crammed into a space of a few hundred square feet, where nothing but the most marvelous organization and discipline could avert death on deck or aloft.

To the landsman, who understood nothing of the difficulty involved in rapidly shifting these great masts and yards or in reefing and furling thousands of square feet of stiff canvas—perhaps wet or half frozen—the rapidity with which it was done was perhaps the chief wonder.

Ropes, running like lightning through blocks that were instantly too hot from friction to be touched, had to be checked to within a few inches, requiring the utmost coolness and presence of mind, while the officer in command had to superintend what to the uninitiated looked like a tangled mass of cordage, but which was in reality no more in confusion than the threads in a loom.

In an instant this officer might see something going wrong. To delay a single second meant a terrible catastrophe. Every one, alow and aloft, was relying on his judgment.

"Belay! Ease away!"

The order came in an instant. The boatswain's mates repeated it in a particular call which this life and death necessity soon taught every one to understand, the shrill whistles rising above the din of tramping feet and running ropes or the thunderous crash of the great sails in the wind. Death had been averted—or not. If not you looked up and saw some unfortunate man turning head over heels in the air. Your heart stood still. Would he catch hold of something, even if only to break his fall, or would he come battering on the deck? It was a mere toss up. If he was killed outright it generally stopped the drill for the day; if he was only seriously injured the drill went on, for this was part of the lesson that must be learned—that in peace, as in war, one must take his chances.

EFFORT BY PROXY.

Involuntary Attempts to Help Athletes at Exciting Moments.

In pictures of athletic competitions, chiefly hurdle races and high jumps, an occasional spectator is seen in a queer posture.

If it is a picture of an athlete leaping, ten chances to one the spectator has involuntarily raised his right leg, twisting his body in automatic expression of a desire to help the jumper. With hurdle race photographs this often may be noticed, too, and in the case of sprinters not a few men stand with faces twisted up and holding the breath in correct imitation of the athlete actually competing.

So, too, with football views. In one of a big game there was a photograph of a man on the side line watching a tackle who was crouching down in almost exact imitation of a waiting defense man who was shown at the moment making ready for his leap at the runner.

Men who follow athletics know how involuntary this is. One athletic trainer has appeared in hundreds of pictures as watching some one of his charges high jumping, with his leg swung out just as if he were making the leap himself. There is a sort of relief for the feeling of trying to help the jumper in swinging the leg up so, and almost any person is likely to find himself doing it instinctively.

It may be noticed at prizefights that some men go through the entire battle punch for punch, crossing and countering an imaginary opponent as they watch the struggle before them. Men drive and ride horses in races from the stand, making the effort in the stretch along with the jockey of their fancy. This is one of the well known features among the race crowd where there are many "grand stand riders." In wrestling matches almost any one will try, purely by instinct, to help the athlete who is down and who is bridging desperately to avoid the fall.

And yet there is rarely enough telepathic suggestion in the air surcharged with desire to bring about a result different from what naturally might be expected at the moment when the greatest wish for something else is born—that is to say, the high jumper doesn't necessarily clear the bar, nor the sprinter squeeze out the inch or so that he needs, nor the jockey whip his mount in for the head that means victory.

The retirement of Hon. L. P. Brodeur is predicted since his secretary has received an appointment in Montreal.

A LIVELY CHASE.

And the Poor Dear Girls Didn't Enjoy It a Bit.

"Aren't you afraid to go home alone, girls? If you'll wait just a few minutes John will be home, and he will be glad to go over with you."

Thus spoke Mrs. Smith to three young ladies who lived 200 yards down the road and who were about to leave her house after an evening call.

"Oh, no, we're not afraid! We'll just get out our hatpins, and then if any one comes for us we'll give battle." This was from the youngest of the three, and she flourished a long and dangerous looking pin, finally jabbing it into an imaginary foe. The two others took their hatpins in their hands, and the three, bidding good night to their hostess, made their way down the path to the gate, all on the alert and in readiness to repel attack. They were as brave and bold as ever warriors were. They turned from the front yard into the road and started toward home.

"Girls, what's that?"

The three stopped and listened, but only for a moment. Away back on the road they could hear the footfalls of a man. They went on at a rapid walk. The footsteps of the man grew nearer, and they could hear that he was walking more quickly than he had been.

The girls walked faster.

The man walked faster.

The girls almost ran.

The man was coming nearer, and he almost ran.

The girls broke from their walk and scurried rapidly on. They were but a little distance from their front gate now.

Then, oh, horrible! The man began to run after them! They did not have the strength to scream out. It was all they could do to keep on running. The villain was almost on them now, but they were just a few feet away from their front gate. They got to the gate, opened it, and their pursuer was upon them. They would probably have fainted, but they caught a glimpse of the man who had chased them, and—it was the brother of two of them.

"Well," said he, all out of breath, "you're nice ones to run away from me that way. I was going to stop in at Mrs. Smith's to bring you home, and then I saw you starting out."

The girls did not speak just then, nor for many months did they say anything of the fact that two of them could never afterward find their hatpins.—Detroit Free Press.

MISS MAUDE PERRY PLUNGES TO THE LEAD

Miss Lila Finlay Joins the Turbulent Leaders and is Now Fourth for the Trip Abroad—Wm. A. Mowry Gains on W. G. Rundle.

The last of the newspaper ballots will appear in Friday's issue of the Review. All coupons expire Saturday and none will be counted after that day. Candidates should endeavor to hand in their coupons as early Saturday as possible to ensure for [illegible] credit for them. The last standing of the candidates will be published Saturday. On Monday the contestants' names will appear but the number of votes to the credit of each will be omitted.

The representative business men selected to make the final count and award the prizes will take charge of the ballot box promptly at 9 o'clock Monday evening. The summing up should not take over two hours and the winners will be announced at the conclusion of the count. All the candidates and their friends are invited to be present at the recount. Everything is public; nothing is secret.

How Voting Helps

"Well I see I am up among the leaders again" exclaimed one of the candidates to the contest man yesterday "and you can rest assured that I am going to stay there if possible. I have found it very much easier to get votes while my score is high. Those who have promised their support see that their help is likely to do some good and are only too ready to make their promises good when I go back to them the second time."

That's the spirit that keeps a contestant "up on his toes." That's why the energetic candidates are out night and day explaining to their friends just what good hearty support means. The more certificates a candidate secures the greater is his strength and the greater are the possibilities for springing a surprise at the close of the contest.

The contest has now settled down into more or less of a struggle between about a score of candidates who have commenced to show something of their real strength. It is likely however, that, seeing the jumps taken by their competitors those standing lower in the various districts will now get busy and begin turning in their votes. It is well enough to be within reaching distance of the top at any time during the remainder of the contest. Thus far the contest has been filled with friendly rivalry that leaves no bad after-taste, and candidates seemingly appreciate the fact that they are doing themselves more good by pushing their own campaign than by "knocking" that of their competitors.

Contestants get pretty badly discouraged sometimes. Matters assume an indigo hue that shuts out the sun for a time. But it is well to remember that as the tide goes out, so it also comes in, and it is the contest man's experience that many times when prospects look the darkest they are really on the turn.

A word to the wise is sufficient but to the indifferent it is superfluous.

The live candidates are not at all having easy sailing. They are beginning to realize that those lower down in the lists are not wholly in a condition of coma; they are finding places where the supposed "small" fellows have been working with much success and are now wondering just how much strength the "little" fellows will be able to show when they so desire.

THE LAST, "THE MAIN, CHANCE" FOR ALL CANDIDATES

EACH CANDIDATE sending or bringing $10 worth of NEW subscriptions to the Review Office before 8 o'clock, on March 22nd, the close of the Contest, will be given a special certificate for 4,000 EXTRA VOTES, in addition to the regular certificates. The amount may be made up in any manner—Daily or Weekly subscription. All that is necessary is that the sum amounts to $10, and that it be NEW.

For each $10 worth of OLD subscriptions turned in until the end of the Contest a special certificate for 2,000 EXTRA VOTES will be given. This also in addition to the regular votes.

Every subscription turned in since March 8 will be counted. It is not necessary to hold back the money until you have $10. Turn the subscriptions in as you get them, and when the amount reaches $10, the certificate will be issued and it may be voted at once or held as desired.

No other offer of any kind will be made during the Contest.

Bansemer did all in his power to comfort and console her. It was to him that she clung in her despair. He had been her captor, and yet it had been he who stood forth in his might to defend her and the loved one who was dead. At nightfall the dead were buried in that faroff wilderness, their humble graves marked and recorded before the time when the government could come to give other graves in other lands to those who had given their lives. Velasquez was laid beside the Americans. Teresa, a shivering, sobbing little figure in the garb of an insurgent soldier, was supported by big Graydon Bansemer. There was no service except the short army ritual; there was no priest or pastor; there was but one real mourner—a pretty, heart broken girl who lay for hours beside the rude mound on the hillside.

Word came back at nightfall that the detachments were to form a junction at one of the big villages westward in two days. The instructions were that the wounded Filipinos should be left in the village, where native women and doctors would care for them.

"What in thunder are we to do with the girl?" was the question that came from the officer in command. More than one man scratched his head thoughtfully and looked toward the disturbing element that had come into the army. She was sitting alone and disconsolate in front of the church.

"There's no way to send her back to her friends, and we can't leave her here," said Bansemer.

"But, gee whiz! We can't take her on a hike like this," protested the sergeant. "She'll be in the way, and she'll give out, and all that. Besides, what would we do with a woman around all the time?"

"I fancy she can hike all right," said Graydon. "Major March wouldn't expect us to leave her behind. That would be heartless."

By the time the party and guides were ready to start on their forced march the opinion unanimously expressed was that Teresa Velasquez should go forward also, come what might. She had pleaded so hard and so effectually that the men were fairly swept off their feet in a storm of sympathy.

"If she gives out we'll carry her!" roared a deeply impressed young man with long red whiskers.

"And when we get up to the command we'll make them derned correspondents take turn about walkin', so she can ride a pony all the time. They've got no business ridin' anyhow."

And so with rosy confidence in the fitness of things and a just belief in the charity of Major March, the detachment marched out into the hills, the ward of the company trudging bravely beside the tall and envied Mr. Bansemer, who, by the way, aside from being politely attentive, did not exhibit any undue signs of exaltation.

The presence of a woman—and a very pretty one at that, with a sadness in her eyes that was appealing—served only to send his thoughts bounding back to the girl he had left behind. He grew more and more morose and silent as the day wore on. At times the tired, lonely girl at his side lagged and cast wondering, piteous glances at him. Her woman's intuition told her that this man did not belong where he was. It told her also that he had a secret and that one of her sex was deeply involved.

The events of the next two weeks are of small consequence in this narrative, which deals not so much with the history and mystery of the campaign in the fall of '99 as with the welfare and emotions of a single soldier at the front. Aguinaldo and Pilar had become refugees by this time, hunted and hounded from place to place with relentless fervor. Pilar was somewhere in the hills with his men, the pride of the insurgent forces; Aguinaldo's remnant had scurried off in another direction, and General Tono was on the coast with what was left of the scattered force.

The net about Gregorio del Pilar was being drawn in and tightened. The closing week in November saw him driven to the last extremity. The tragedy of Tilad pass was near at hand.

Teresa Velasquez never faltered, never tired. She proved herself to be no incumbrance. Day after day the officer in command expected the expedition which would take her back to Manila. Forces came up from the south, but none were ready to go back.

She was an inspiration to the camp. Men who had forgotten their manners completely brushed them up and danced attendance upon the girl in the Filipino uniform.

Every man prayed for opportunity to do brave deeds, and when chance came she was permitted to witness heroism that savored of the boyhood malady known as "showing off."

The reserved but considerate Bansemer was her closest friend and confidant. One evening as they sat side by side watching the preparations for supper she turned suddenly and announced that she knew he was dying of love for some one. He started, and his hand trembled.

"Tell me about her," she commanded. There was a piquancy, a gay impelling force in this girl that grief and hardship had not been strong enough to conquer.

"Nonsense!" said Graydon. "Why do you think that of me?"

"Because everybody else thinks it," she said, "and because I am a very wise person. The men are not so charitable as I, senor. They say that you joined the army because of some woman whom you could not marry. I agree with them, except that it is she who would not marry you. Forgive me if I have hurt you?"

Impulsively she put her hand upon his, her dark eyes full of pleading. The touch of her hand did not send a thrill through him. Such contact, however, caused the blood to tingle in the quick veins of the girl. He merely sat and stared into space. After a moment she drew her hand away.

"I am sorry," she said.

"There is a girl, Teresa," he said shortly.

"Yes, I know. Tell me about her."

"I can't," he exclaimed bitterly. He arose and walked quickly away. Teresa's dark eyes followed him in pity and wonder—aye, affection. Then she shook her head sadly and turned her attention elsewhere not piqued, much to her own amazement.

Re-enforcements came up two days later with the word that the commander in chief expected the campaign against Pilar to end within a week and that hard fighting was ahead. The Red Cross people were following hard upon the heels of the regiment, and field hospitals were to be established.

Every man in the band of newcomers was singing the praises of a wonderfully beautiful Red Cross nurse. The stories told of her charms were varied, but none lacked enthusiasm. Some said she was the daughter of a rich magnate come to do service in the cause of humanity; others were sure she was a great and beautiful actress who was sacrificing everything to conspicuous advertising. All, however, were agreed in the praise of her noble beauty.

The little detachment on guard turned up its collective nose and proudly pointed to Teresa Velasquez.

"Look at that," said Bob Spurrier. "Can she stack up with the hiking queen? Our girl is real quality. She's no common American. She's a grandee's daughter. There's royal blood in her. By thunder, gentlemen, she's blood kin to little Alfonso."

Teresa sought shelter from the curious though admiring eyes of the fresh arrivals.

"I don't like these new soldiers," she complained to Graydon. "I wish they had not come. They talk of this beautiful nurse, and they laugh at me. Oh, I wish I had something else to wear."

"Don't worry, little girl; you're worth ten nurses," said he.

"Alas, though I am dressed as a man, I do not feel as bold as one," she lamented.

The next day re-enforcements came up, and the whole command advanced upon Tilad pass, where Pilar, at last, had been cornered. On the 2d of December a desperate conflict took place. Pilar was intrenched in the pass near the celebrated rock known as El Obispo, "the Bishop." His resistance for a time was valorous and deadly. Corporal Parry saw him mount his horse behind the barricade 600 yards away. Parry was the best marksman in the regiment and, turning to his chief officer, asked if he should take a shot at him.

He fired, and Pilar fell, face downward, and the Americans crushed the little band of insurgents. Gregorio del Pilar was dead. His death in the great hills, after a most courageous battle against an overwhelming force, brought to an end a life that would have been worth much to the islands in after years. In his pockets were found valuable papers, letters and keepsakes. The letters were from his sweetheart, Dolores Jose, who lived at Dagupan, and they were tender in the extreme. Her lace handkerchief rested over his heart.

When the Americans, victorious and jubilant, fell back to camp, they had no small number of wounded to turn over to the tender mercies of the little company of Red Cross nurses and the surgeons.

One of the most dangerously injured was Graydon Bansemer. He was one of the first to cross the danger line. A Mauser ball from a distant hill tore through his side, leaving an ugly, gaping wound that foretold certain death.

CHAPTER XXIV.

WHEN the beautiful and mysterious nurse whose fame had gone up with the soldiers into Tilad pass arrived with others to take charge of the Red Cross hospital on the day following the battle she found the man she had been longing to see for many weary, heartsick months. She found him dying.

To the surprise of the enthralled command, she fell in a dead swoon when she looked upon the pallid face of Graydon Bansemer. She had gone eagerly from one pallet to another, coming upon his near the last. One glance was enough. His face had been in her mind for months, just as she was seeing it now. She had lived in horror of finding him cold in death.

It was Teresa Velasquez who first understood. She knew that Bansemer's one woman had found him at last. Her heart leaped with hatred for one brief instant, then turned soft and contrite. If she had learned to care for the big American herself during the hard days when he had been so tender, she also had learned that her worship was hopeless. She had felt his yearning love for another. Now she was looking upon that other. While the attendants were bending over their unconscious companion the Spanish girl stood guard over the man who had been her guardian, the man whose life was going out before her miserable, exhausted eyes.

Jane Cable stirred with returning life. Teresa was quick to see that words, not medicine, would act as the restorative. She went swiftly to the American girl's side and, clasping her hands, cried sharply into her half conscious ears:

"He is not dead! He is alive! He needs you!"

The effect was magical. Life leaped into Jane's eyes, vigor into her body. She recovered from the swoon as mysteriously as she had succumbed to it. Her sudden breakdown had puzzled her companions. It is true that she was new in the service; she had seen but little of death and suffering; but, with all that, she was known to possess remarkable strength of purpose and fortitude. That she should collapse almost at the outset of her opportunities was the source of wonder and no little contempt among her fellow workers. The words of the strange girl in men's clothing opened the way to smart surmises. It was not long before every one in the command knew that the "beautiful Red Cross nurse" was not wearing the garb of the vocation for the sake of humanity alone; in fact, it was soon understood that she did not care a straw for the rest of mankind so long as Graydon Bansemer needed her ministrations.

Ignoring the principles of the cause she served, she implored the doctors to confine their efforts to one man among all of them who suffered; she pleaded and stormed in turn, finally offering famulous bribes in support of her demands. For the time being she was half crazed with fear and dread, woefully unworthy of her station, partially divorced from reason.

The more desperately wounded were left in the village with an adequate guard, the rest of the command departing with Major March. A temporary hospital was established in the convent. There were two doctors and four or five nurses, with a dozen soldiers under command of Lieutenant Bray. It was while the apparently dead Bansemer was being moved to the improvised hospital that Jane presented herself, distraught with fear, to the young southerner who had so plainly shown his love for her. She pleaded with him to start at once for Manila with the wounded, supporting her extraordinary request with the opinion that they could not receive proper care from the two young surgeons. Bray was surprised and distressed; he could not misunderstand her motive.

He had gone on caring for her without suspecting that there was or had been another man. She had not confided in him during those weary, pleasant months since they left San Francisco behind them. To learn the true situation so suddenly and unexpectedly stunned his sensibilities. He found difficulty in grasping the importance of the change an hour or two had made. He had fought valiantly, even exultantly, in the pass that morning, her face ever before him, her words of praise the best spoils of the victory should they win. He had come down to the village with joy and confidence in his heart, only to find that he was not and could never be anything to her while the life or memory of this fallen comrade stood as a barrier.

Bray's hour following the discovery that she had deliberately sought out and found this stricken private was the most bitter in his life. His pride suffered a shock that appalled him. His unconscious egotism, born of hereditary conquests, revolted against the thought that his progress toward her heart was to be turned aside by the intervention of a common soldier in the ranks. Gentleman though he was, he could not subdue the feeling of exultation that came over him when she approached with her plea. He knew that it was a base sense of power that made him feel that he could punish his pride's offender by either denying or granting her appeal. The attitude of self sacrifice appealed to his wounded vanity. He was tempted to profit by an exhibition of his own pain and generosity.

He went with her into the convent and to the pallet on which was stretched the long, still figure of Graydon Bansemer. A surgeon was standing near by studying the gray face with thoughtful eyes. Bray's first glance at the suffering face sent a thrill of encouragement through his veins. The man was beyond all human help. The grip of death was already upon his heart.

Then the true manhood that had been his through all generations revolted against the thought that was in his mind. The man should not die if it was in his power to prevent. No matter what the cost to him, he would give his aid to her and hers. He tried to put aside the feeling that death was certain, and very soon at that.

To be continued.

IMMEDIATE RELIEF

From Coughs, Colds, Sore Throats and Hoarseness by Using Hyomei.

When you catch cold you want to get rid of it as quickly as you can. You don't want to lie around the house for a week, swallowing nauseating drugs.

Why not avoid all this. Why not relieve your cold in five minutes. Why not cure it over night. You can do it by using Hyomei, the sure and guaranteed cure for colds, coughs, sore throat, catarrh, bronchitis, and asthma.

William Grant, of Ayr, Ont., says: "Booth's Hyomei has proven to be a most satisfactory treatment for nasal catarrh and bronchial trouble. I have doctored considerably for these troubles, and conscientiously say that nothing ever used has given me such quick and lasting benefit as this remedy. I have found it especially good for cold in the head and cough. I am very glad to endorse Hyomei as an article of uncommon merit."

Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me) is medicated and antiseptic air. You breathe it into the lungs through a small pocket inhaler and its soothing influence as it passes over the inflamed membrane of the respiratory tract, stops the mucous discharge, allays the inflammation and the cold is cured. A complete Hyomei outfit costs $1.00 and Wm. Madill, druggist, Peterborough, will refund your money if it fails to cure.

INSPECTOR TELLS ABOUT LICENSE LAWS AND THEIR ENFORCEMENT

License Inspector Joseph Stewart gave a very interesting and instructive talk on the liquor laws and how they are enforced, at Park street church last night. The speaker explained his subject in a simple and interesting manner.

Mr. Stewart commenced his lecture by explaining the law in regard to hotels, stores, retail and wholesale houses. A tavern license will not permit the selling of liquor in quantities greater than one quart, and any violation of this law leaves the license-holder liable to a fine of $20 and not more than $50 for the first offence. A retail dealer cannot sell less than three half pints, and the liquor cannot be consumed on the premises, but the sale of a half pint is allowed when put up in a Government sealed package. The least a wholesale house can sell is five gallons, but the sale of a case of twelve pint bottles or a case of twelve quart bottles is allowed.

The selling of liquor between the hours of seven o'clock Saturday night and six o'clock Monday morning leaves the holder of the license open to a fine of fifty dollars, and in default of payment thirty days in jail for the first offence, one hundred dollars for the second offence, and two hundred dollars for the third offence. A fine of not less than fifty dollars could be imposed upon a holder of a license for selling to an intoxicated man. For refusing lodging to any person, unless the house was filled up, a holder of a tavern license could be made pay a fine of twenty dollars.

Mr. Stewart explained the law fully in regard to a bartender's license. A bartender must have a license, and it is only good in the place where it was made out. In case of removal a new license must be procured, and for any violation of the law a fine could be imposed. No bartender's license could be secured by a woman, but the son of a tavern-keeper could go behind the bar and serve liquor without a license.

The "black list" notice was fully dealt with by the speaker, and he explained that any person in the family of the person who was to be put on the list could order the notice to be served. It was almost impossible to register a conviction before the black list was put in force, but now it was very easy, and in his opinion the notice did a lot of good in decreasing the number of drunkards, and he gave some instances to his knowledge that proved such to be the case. Some persons addicted to the use of liquor kept away from it after being warned, for fear they would be put on the list, while others who had been served with the notice had given up the use of liquor altogether.

Mr. Stewart spoke highly of the way the liquor laws were kept in Peterborough, and commended the hotel keepers for the way in which they met the requirements of the law.

At the conclusion of the lecture the Rev. Mr. Riddeford thanked the speaker for his interesting and instructive talk, as it was a subject that everyone should be acquainted with before discussing the liquor question, which is holding such a prominent position to-day.

Thirteen-year-old Lionel Trudel, of Montreal, ran away from home to Cobalt to make his fortune.

A Woman's Sympathy

Are you discouraged? Is your doctor's bill a heavy financial load? Is your pain a heavy physical burden? I know what these mean to delicate women—I have been discouraged, too; but learned how to cure myself. I want to relieve your burdens. Why not end the pain and stop the doctor's bill? I can do this for you and will if you will assist me.

All you need do is to write for a free box of the remedy which has been placed in my hands to be given away. Perhaps this one box will cure you—it has done so for others. If so, I shall be happy and you will be cured for 2c (the cost of a postage stamp). Your letters held confidentially. Write to-day for my free treatment. MRS. F. E. CURRAH, Windsor, Ont.

QUAKERS LOST IN LAKEFIELD

Were Defeated by the City League Champions Last Night by 10–6

The Quakers hockey team went up to Lakefield last evening to play the City League champions of that place and were defeated by 10—6, the half-time score being 6—3 against them. The game was a fast one, and the Mercantile champions made the Lakefield team go their best all through the contest. Considering the small rink the local team did extremely well, but have come to the same conclusion that the other teams who have played there have come to, that it is almost impossible to defeat the Lakefield team on their own ice. The ice was in good condition and the game was not rough. Referee E. Quinlan had the players well in hand and gave good satisfaction.

The local team were considerably disappointed at not being able to procure anything in the eatable line after the game, but apart from this all report an enjoyable time.

The teams lined up as follows:

A HORSE TRADE THAT DEPUTY SHERIFF MADE A RE-TRADE

A horse trade on Saturday resulted in considerable trouble and a mix-up in which Deputy Sheriff Hall had to act as arbitrator. A man by the name of Faux, who lives near Birdsall's traded a horse with Allison Harper. The horse Faux traded belonged to his son and the animal he received in the exchange was given with the accompaniment of $10 "to boot." Let it here be understood that the last mentioned equine would have small chances of capturing the King's Plate.

Faux claimed he was under the influence of liquor at the time of the transaction and under stress of the law Harper gave back Faux his horse and Faux gave Harper his original property and the $10.

CHIEF OF POLICE STOPPED PICTURE SHOW AT BRANTFORD

Brantford, March 15.—The old story of a happy couple, the intruding actor breaking up the home, the struggle of the father for the child and the resultant proceedings in the divorce court, all blended with suggestive color were the features of the show at the Unique Theatre on Saturday, which Chief Slemin stepped in and ordered the management to cease reproducing. "The show was much too suggestive not only for children but for grown-up people," said the chief to the Expositor this morning, "and I have decided to have such things stopped in this city." He states he ordered the Unique management to cut out their show Saturday and they did it. While the pictures were being reproduced a falsetto voice behind the scenes announced the various crises of the show with "The Home is broken" and other tear-producing phrases tending to give a realistic touch to the performance. "There ought to be a law!" said the chief, "to prevent children under 16 years old from going into these places. Such scenes distort the healthy imagination of the youth, and I intend to see that the law in this respect is properly enforced in future."

MOVING SPIRIT PREVAILS MANY CHANGE RESIDENCES

The moving spirit prevails among the residents of Peterborough these days. Like the crow, it comes in the early spring and is active until the first of May is past.

A real estate agent informed the Review today that several families have already changed their place of residence and that the moving vans were in service almost every day now. The Review's informant also stated that there was not much change in rent since last fall. At that time there was a slight drop in the rent of moderately priced houses and there has been no change since that time. High class houses and those which rent for $8 to $10 per month have rent for $8 to $10 per month are renting at the same figures as a year ago. There is always a good demand for the two extremes in the line of dwellings.

MAGISTRATE ALLOWED HIM TO GO

George Thompson, who was remanded last week on a charge of begging and being a vagrant, came up before the Magistrate this morning. He explained that he had always worked in the woods in the winter time and made enough to keep him through the summer. However, the large amount of money that he brought home with him was generously spent on the many friends he made around the town. As they always assisted him when broke he thought he should be left off on the begging charge.

His brother-in-law was called, and gave evidence that the accused was a hard drinker and thought that it would be better for all concerned if he was served with the black list notice.

The Magistrate thought this would be best for the prisoner and after giving him some good advice, which Thompson agreed to act upon he allowed him to go.

FIRST AID AND AMBULANCE WORK

Interesting Address by Dr. Cameron at Meeting of St. John's A. Y. P. A.

The AYPA. of St John's church held a very pleasant and entertaining as well as instructive meeting last night in the school room. Dr. Cameron of Charlotte street church presented a very able talk on First Aid and Ambulance work as set forth by the St John's Ambulance Corps. He referred to the recent interest in the ambulance work and mentioned that it was only since the Crimean War that such work had been taken up in the British armies, and hospitals. He gave several practical illustrations of bandaging and first aid work, and suggested the advisability of the young people taking up a special class for instruction in the work next season. Refreshments were served and a profitable evening was spent. There will be no further meetings of the Society during Lent.

NEGLECTED CHILDREN

Case in Havelock Before County Magistrate Edmison Yesterday

A case of neglected children came up before Magistrate Edmison at Havelock yesterday. Several important witnesses were not present, and bench warrants were issued for them. The case was transferred from Havelock, and will be heard here on Tuesday, March 22nd. Mr. Goodwill was present in the interests of the Children's Aid Society, and the children were brought up here and placed in the shelter.

DELAY CAUSED ON THE C.P.R.

By Accident to Engine on Early Train at Station This Morning

A slight accident to one of the C. P. R. engines which brought in a section of the early morning train from the east, caused considerable delay at the station this morning. The mishap to the engine occurred when nearing the bridge, and the second section, which came in shortly afterwards, could not get past. The two sections were coupled together and left the station drawn by one engine, about one hour and a half behind time.

QUEER ENGLISH TAXES.

Babies as Well as Windows Used to Help Swell the Revenues.

In 1695 a tax of 2 shillings had to be paid by the parents of every "little stranger" born in England except by people in receipt of alms. Curiously enough, a measure proposing a tax on babies was introduced some time ago in the local parliament of the German princedom of Reuss by which it was proposed that the parents or mother when registering the birth of a child should in each case contribute a sum amounting to 10 cents.

Some time ago a good deal of merriment was aroused by a measure introduced in the legislature of New Jersey by which it was proposed to tax beards, but even this is not an original proposal. Queen Elizabeth put a tax on every beard of a fortnight's growth, while a couple of centuries ago Peter the Great insisted that all nobles who wore beards should pay 100 rubles for the privilege.

As chancellor of the English exchequer Pitt rendered himself very unpopular by the extraordinary means to which he resorted in order to improve the state of the country's exchequer. He it was who first introduced the income tax, and he also levied a tax upon horses, which caused a certain farmer to use a cow for the purpose of riding to and from market.

Even more dissatisfaction, however, was caused by Pitt's increase of the window tax, first imposed in the year that the tax on babies was enforced. This window tax caused property owners to wall up as many windows as possible, in order to reduce the amount for which they were liable.—Philadelphia Ledger.

MUST INCREASE THE NAVY GOVERNMENT TAKES ACTION

First Lord of Admiralty Reginald McKenna Justifying New Demand for Money, Says Safety of England Depends on Dreadnoughts.

London, March 17.—The safety of the country stands above all other sacrifices and no matter what the cost the safety of the country must be assured.

This was the ground upon which Reginald McKenna, First Lord of the Admiralty, justified the increase of nearly $1,000,000 in the navy estimates when they were introduced by him in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon.

"No one can suppose," went on Mr. McKenna, "that the present Government assumes the responsibility of these estimates with a light heart, but there are cases when even the most determined economist will have to make sacrifices."

It was axiomatic, the speaker continued, that Great Britain should have to maintain a navy sufficiently strong to ensure Britain's shores from invasion, the Empire from hostile attempts, and trade from destruction in time of war.

The limits of the navy must be fixed by the progress of foreign powers. Several powers were rapidly developing their naval strength at the present, but not one at a pace to be compared to Germany. Mr. McKenna explained that he only selected Germany as a standard by which to measure British requirements for arithmetical purposes, and he did not presume to any expression of feeling or opinion except one of respectful admiration for Germany's administrative and professional efficiency. The present difficulty of the Government lay in the fact that it did not know the rate at which German concentration was going on.

It is estimated that 13 German Dreadnoughts and Invincibles might be completed by 1911 as against 12 Dreadnoughts and four Invincibles which Great Britain would have by November, 1911. If Germany accelerated her construction work, she would have 17 of these ships by April, 1912.

Great Britain could not afford to take risks, and if she was to maintain her superiority, the Admiralty must be in a position to obtain the delivery of four additional Dreadnoughts by March of 1912, thus giving Great Britain 20 such vessels against Germany's possible 17.

In conclusion, Mr. McKenna said he considered that the maintenance of superiority depended upon superiority in Dreadnoughts alone.

THE ATTORNEY-GENERAL IS LOOKING FOR SUGGESTIONS

Hon. Mr. Foy Invites members to Help With Law Reform —Some of the Features of the Bill.

Toronto, March 17.—The Legislature yesterday succeeded in passing a large portion of the estimates.

The Attorney-General moved the second reading of the law reform bill. It is provided that the present judges of the Court of Appeal shall constitute the appellate division of the High Court of Justice, and these judges shall ex-officio be judges of the High Court, and vice versa, the judges of the High Court shall ex-officio be judges of the appellate division. To give permanency to the second court of the appellate division, it is provided that the judges of the High Court shall meet in December of each year and designate from their number who shall sit in this court for the following year.

To facilitate the work the courts of the appellate division will sit alternate weeks, and it is hoped thereby that the intervening weeks will enable the judges to dispose of many cases more advantageously when argument is fresh in their minds. The immediate effect of this part of the bill will be to cut out the double appeal which now exists.

A saving of printing expense to litigants in the elimination of appeal books will also be gained, and the typewritten manuscript will be sufficient.

Security for costs of a case in appeal will not necessarily have to be provided.

The clause in the bill under which the Lieutenant-Governor in council will approve of the selection of the judges of the second appellate division will be stricken out.

The question of increasing the jurisdiction of county courts has been brought up. In many of the courts the local judges have not sufficient work to keep them properly employed, while many of the high court judges are overworked. This inequality will be adjusted by the provisions of the act.

The Attorney-General expressed himself as not wedded to all which the bill contained, and would be glad of a free discussion by members of the House.

Several new bills were introduced.

Major J. J. Craig (East Wellington) would give county councils the option of forbidding autos passing through their districts on Saturday and Sunday; would have motorists imprisoned and their cars confiscated on the third offence.

Hon. Mr. Fraser's (Welland) bill to restrict the disfigurement of landscapes by bill posters was thrown out by the municipal committee.

The Bowyer bill to permit country merchants to sell harmless drugs was discussed rather favorably and referred to a special committee.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS RED-HOT FROM WIRES

A Revolt in Cuba.

Havana, March 17.—The first armed uprising against the new Cuban republic occurred Monday night within a little more than six weeks after the inauguration of Gen. Gomez as President. How serious the movement is is impossible to determine at present, all that is known being that a sergeant of the rural guard stationed at the town of Vueltas, in Santa Clara province, with a party of seven men, some other members of the rural guard and a number of peasants took to the woods, and that the troops are in active pursuit.

Orillia Youth Killed.

Port Arthur, March 17.—Raymond A. Cook, aged 19, a native of Orillia, was killed on a transcontinental construction train near Nepigon, March 11. While teaming he was caught in a rock slide in the cut. His leg was amputated, but he succumbed in a few hours.

The Pigeon River Lumber Co.'s big mills start shortly with a force of 300 men.

May Indict County Council.

London, Ont., March 17.—Justice Riddell, in his address to the grand jury yesterday morning, in a scathing arraignment of the court house of the County of Middlesex, in which the Assizes are being held, declared that if extensive improvements were not inaugurated at once he would indict the County Council for keeping a common nuisance.

Only Steerage Passengers.

London, March 17.—(C.A.P. Cable.) —The Berlin correspondent of The Standard says the Prince Oscar, the first steamer of the New Kanada line, sails for Halifax March 19, with steerage passengers only. There is no direct steamship communication for better class passengers to Canada, but this is to be altered shortly.

Panic Among Prisoners.

New York, March 17.—A panic was for a short time threatened last night among the 1,500 city prisoners on Hart's Island, at the entrance of Long Island Sound, when fire was discovered in a large frame building used as a shoe shop.

Miners' Conference at Macleod.

Macleod, Alta., March 17.—A brief conference between the mine-owners and representatives of the union was held here yesterday, at which several of the minor matters in dispute were considered and adjusted. Adjournment was then made for several days, when the main issue will be taken up.

Canadian Musician Robbed.

London, March 17.—(C.A.P. Cable.) —A musician named F. Lodge, bearing a testimonial signed W. Faultless, Toronto, was found gagged and bound at the point of death in a lonely path near the sea at Plymouth. He was robbed. It is stated Lodge returned from Canada at Christmas.

To Merge the Breweries.

Montreal, March 17.—As a result of a meeting held yesterday it was stated that the project of amalgamating all the breweries in the Province of Quebec was now a certainty.

The valuation of the properties is to be left in the hands of an American expert.

New Bishop of Cleveland.

Rome, March 17.—The Pope yesterday ratified the appointment of Mons. John Farrelly, at present spiritual director of the American College at Rome, to be bishop of Cleveland, Ohio, in succession to the late Bishop Hortsmann.

Fights Two Duels.

Eisenach, Germany, March 17.—A civilian fought two duels here yesterday with officers of the army and killed both his opponents. Jealousy prompted him to the challenge.

Drew Pay From Corporation.

Galt, March 17.—Yesterday at the Davidson investigation, Robert Soules swore the town foreman had him working on three occasions out on his farm, for which he drew pay from the corporation.

Charles Larter testified to hauling town sand to his own lot at the instance of Davidson.

Prof. Howard Everts Weed, an eminent American landscape architect, lectured to a large city hall audience last night on civic improvement work. It is one of a series of ten lectures to be delivered in Ontario.

AUSTRIANS ARE EXCITED

Battalians in Bosnia Are Raised to a War Footing---Preparations on the Quiet.

Vienna, March 17.—The Bourse yesterday was again greatly depressed by fears of the outcome of the Servian difficulty. The situation is officially admitted to be extremely grave, although not hopeless.

The Emperor yesterday received Baron Von Aehrenthal, the Austro-Hungarian Minister of Foreign Affairs, and Dr. Wenkerle, the Hungarian Premier, with whom he conferred at length on Servia's unsatisfactory reply to the Austro-Hungarian note of March 6. As a result of this conference, Austria will despatch a note to Servia before the end of the week, demanding a clear explanation of Servia's intentions.

In the meantime, to emphasise this demand, the 66 battalions, now on a peace footing in Bosnia, will be raised to a war footing which is equivalent to an additional 40,000 men. Action in this direction has already been taken by the War Office.

Public opinion is greatly excited and the belief is strong among Austrians that the country is on the eve of war. Throughout the dual monarchy there is a violent feeling against the British, Russian and French policy, which has the appearance of backing up Servian aspirations.

The uneasiness has been increased by the fact that the newspapers have been forbidden to publish anything concerning the military preparations.

WIFE-BEATER WAS SHOT TO DEATH

Charlottesville, Va., March 17.—John Armstrong Chaleper, a brother of Lewis Stuyvesant Chancler of New York, and a member of the Astor family, shot and killed an Englishman named Gillard, who was in the employ of Chalener, and who had been beating his wife, who ran to "Merry Mills," the Chalener country home, for protection.

There are seven children in the family.

Chalener, or Chanler, as his name was originally, in 1897 was committed by the New York Supreme Court to Bloomingdale Asylum, but escaped in 1900 to Virginia, where a court declared him sane. Since then he has tried in vain to have his sanity declared in New York State. He is a millionaire.

He was fully exonerated of all blame by a coroner's jury, which investigated the case yesterday afternoon.

Case Against Harriman.

Chicago, March 17.—The Chicago hearing in the Government suit against Edward H. Harriman and his associates, the Union Pacific Railroad and subsidiary railroads, to break up what Attorney-General Bonaparte termed "a substantial monopoly of the transportation business between the Missouri river and the Pacific coast," opened yesterday.

Want Protection.

Montreal, March 17.—The manufacturers of cast iron procelain enamel goods are moving in the direction of more protection against the American article. A deputation will go to Ottawa.

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT

An Epress Train Smashed Through Windsor Station, Montreal—Three Dead Many Injured.

Special to The Review.

Montreal, Que., March 17.—A terrible accident occurred at the Windsor street station of the C.P.R. this morning when the Boston express failed to stop, and crashed through the station, wrecking everything in its course. It is believed three persons are dead and many were injured.

Ambulances are still carrying people to hospitals.

Part of the train dropped through into the basement of the building.

LATER.

Montreal, March 17—It is stated that some sort of accident happened to the locomotive while the train was several miles out of the city, which blew the engineer and fireman out of the cab, and that the train ran into the station without any one to control it. It is believed that the steam was pretty well cut off the boiler but there is a sharp downgrade from Westmount into the station as the result of which the train kept up a good speed. Few details are yet obtainable as to the dead and injured but there are eight injured at the General hospital.

No one in the runaway train was killed or injured, all the casualties occurring in the waiting room into which the train crashed. Two of the dead were little girls who were waiting with their parents for an out-going train. The body of one of these children has been recovered from the wreckage but three persons all told are unaccounted for.

The engine was completely stripped in its passage through the station walls and nothing but the boiler stands in the middle of the waiting room. The offices above the waiting room were vacant today owing to the danger of the ceiling and floor coming down.

So far there is no news of the engineer and fireman who either were blown or jumped from the engine.

An unknown Pole has died since the accident making the known deaths two.

The injured include: Robert Buckingham, Westmount; J Wells and William Plante, Montreal; C E Christie, Cowansville; a clerk named Boch; Mabel Murdereth Bon Garie, hotel porter; Wm Anderson, Douglas Stewart and Cesile Delisle and Alice Goodlaf; Indian girls from Caughnawaga.

Besides the eight injured at the General hospital three were taken to the Notre Dame hospital and four to the Royal Victoria.

Mark Cunningham, the engineer of the runaway train has been found with his skull fractured and probably will die.

3 O'CLOCK P.M.

Montreal, March 17—A revised list of the dead, shows that the wife, 12 year old daughter and 8 year old son of W F Nixon, a train despatcher, of this city, are dead. The little family were all in the ladies' waiting room, waiting for Mr Nixon who was a passenger on the incoming train. Craig is the name of the fireman but so far he has not been found.

Non-Coms. to Meet

The non-coms of the 57th regiment wil' meet in their hall, Simcoe street, tonight at eight o'clock to talk over the military celebration which will likely be held on May 24th.

A Toast to St. Patrick

Here's to the land of the shamrock so green:
Here's to each lad and his darling colleen;
Here's to the ones we love dearest and most;
And may God save old Ireland—That's an Irishman's toast.

Special Fisheries Department.

Halifax, N.S., March 17.—The Board of Trade fisheries committee has forwarded to the chairman of the standing committee on fisheries at Ottawa a letter urging the reorganization of the Fisheries Department under a deputy minister, separate from the Marine Department, and the appointment of a commission to investigate the condition of the Canadian Atlantic fisheries, with a view to inaugurating a progressive educational policy.

Would Rather Have Subway.

Kingston, March 17.—City Engineer Craig has received from the Grand Trunk Railway a plan showing the overhead bridge proposed to be erected instead of a subway at the Junction. The bridge would be built 1,000 feet south of the railway crossing and would mean the closing up of Montreal street and Perth road. Mayor Couper and the engineer are strongly opposed to the company's plan and will press for the construction of the subway.

Charges Castro With Murder.

Caracas, March 17.—Suit has been brought in the High Federal Court of Venezuela against Cipriano Castro, former President, who is now in Europe, on a charge that he caused the murder in February, 1907, of Gen. Antonio Parodes and a number of his revolutionary companions.

The plaintiff is Manuel Parodes, who asks the judge to extradite Castro and impose the maximum sentence of 15 years' imprisonment.

ONLY A FEW MORE DAYS OF BUSY HUSTLING FOR VOTES

And Then the Summing up—It's all Right to Lead Now, But be Sure Your Name is at the Top Next Tuesday.

The scores are going up by leaps and bounds. The 10,000 and 25,000 plunges are getting quite common.

Each candidate is managing his own campaign and has played to win. When the final count is made it will determine the relative strength between the different policies followed out by the different candidates. The very strong candidates who have concealed almost their entire strength during the entire contest to date, will have a chance to demonstrate the value of their style of campaign work. The candidates who have believed it to be the best policy to vote enough from day to day to keep the public interested in their progress, will have to look to their laurels during the next few days if they expect to maintain their present position. Every person holding voting certificates can vote them any time up to eight o'clock next Monday night, the close of the contest. All candidates should keep busy. Don't lose out in the homestretch.

NEW EVIDENCE IS FOUND IN THE MURDER MYSTERY

Most Recent Testimony Secured for Inquest is to Effect That Ethel Kinrade Did Not Arrive Home Until 3 O'clock—How Mrs. Kinrade Took News.

Hamilton, March 17.—Facts of importance in the Kinrade mystery developed yesterday.

It is now declared positively that Miss Ethel Kinrade was with friends until 3 o'clock on the fatal afternoon, and that she should have reached her home probably five minutes later, while a witness has been found who swears Mrs. Kinrade left the residence at ten minutes past that hour. Both Mrs. Kinrade and Florence Kinrade have testified that Ethel did not go out during the afternoon.

When the inquest resumes Friday night it will not be concluded. There are nearly a score of witnesses already summoned. Most of them will testify as to movements of the Kinrade family on the afternoon of the murder. In fact, it is likely there will be more than one adjournment before the matter goes to the jury for an opinion.

One person will likely testify Friday night that Ethel was in a certain house at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, which would give her time to arrive home about the same time, if not before her mother left. Charles Hossack, who claims to have seen Ethel out walking about 3 o'clock, is positive of his identification. He says he knew the young woman and was not guided by the clothes she wore.

The police are trying to learn the name of a colored girl who, it is said, saw Ethel on Jackson street about 3 o'clock.

The police have located a new witness who is supposed to have seen Mrs. Kinrade leave her house about 3.10 on the afternoon her daughter Ethel was murdered. The witness is said to be a woman, who was sitting in her window, and fixes the time by the fact that she looked at her watch. Mrs. Kinrade stated at the inquest that she could not remember precisely what time it was when she went out.

There is another rumor in circulation which is engaging the attention of the sleuths, but which is thought to be without foundation. It is that Florence Kinrade ran into a house not far from her own on the afternoon of the tragedy, took the telephone receiver off the hook and then replaced it, after which she went to Mrs. Hickey's.

Regarding the condition of Mrs. Kinrade following her acquaintance with the fact that Ethel had met with an accident and had died, Mrs. Reeves, York street, cousin of Mrs. Kinrade, has something to say. She was present when the news was broken to the mother on the night of the tragedy, that Ethel was "hurt." She said the mother became frantic, walked floor and conducted herself in a very distracted manner. Reeves also remembers the birth of all the children.

THE MINISTER ANNOUNCES COMMISSION FOR THE I.C.R.

New Body Will Consist of Four Men Directly Answerable to the Government, Through the Minister of Railways—Road Needs a Feeder, He Says.

Ottawa, March 17.—The creation of a board of management for the Intercolonial Railway, as an experiment, was the announcement of Hon. G. P. Graham, Minister of Railways, yesterday afternoon.

The board will consist of four members, who will not be directly responsible to Parliament, but to the Government of the day, through the Minister.

Two members of the board will be high officials of the road; a third will be Mr. Butler, Deputy Minister of Railways and Canals, and the fourth will be selected from one of the big corporation railways.

Mr. Graham admitted that a serious condition confronted the Intercolonial. With the completion of the Grand Trunk Pacific, the Intercolonial would become a local only, and in view of that fact it would be necessary, in his opinion, to acquire branch lines to bring traffic, or to hand the road over to some company which would have the traffic for it.

He was not prepared to say that the crown could not manage a Government road, and he was not prepared to say that the people would agree that the Government ought to give up its responsibility.

"I have in mind," the Minister went on, "to establish a board not directly responsible to Parliament, but to the Government of the day through the Minister. After all the talk of a commission, the people will hold the Government responsible so long as it is a Government-owned road."

The board would have to meet with the Deputy Minister at least once a month and give a full and complete report of what was being done. The board would not relieve the Minister of responsibility, but it would relieve him and his Department of a multitude of details that ought not go beyond the head office in Moncton.

Mr. Graham began his Intercolonial budget statement with the statement that the people of Canada have greater courage than any other people in the world in taking hold of transportation problems. Even with the completion of the new Transcontinental Railway he felt sure that the commerce of Canada would be sufficiently large to tax the carrying capacity of the railways for some years to come. After observing that there was 23,716 miles of railway in operation and 4,327 miles under construction, the Minister went on to tell of the progress being made in the construction of the Grand Trunk Pacific.

Discussing the Intercolonial, a large quantity of the new rolling stock had been purchased out of revenue, and if the wages of the employes had not been increased in 1907-8, there would have been a surplus of $221,000. The capital expenditure on the road last year totalled $4,888,404. On the P.E.I. Railway the deficits were $390,461.

Notwithstanding handicaps, the Intercolonial was as well managed as any railway in the country, hired no more men and paid no more for work done.

On the basis of average cost of train mileage the I.C.R., with 1.192 cents in 1907 and 1.295 cents in 1908, was lower than the average for Canada, 1.380 and 1.304 respectively. The Grand Trunk came next with 1.267 and 1.154.

One source of the comparatively low earnings of the I.C.R. was the lower standard of the freight it carried; another was the competition of water rates. If the C.P.R. freight rates were not 28 per cent. higher than those of the I.C.R. rates it would have lost nine million dollars. On the same basis the loss to the C.N.R. would have been $1,760,698, to the G.T.R. $2,970,000, and the T. & N.O. $166,462, the rates on the latter road being 48 per cent. higher than on the I.C.R. by reason of the superior class of freight it carried.

"How is it," asked Mr. Borden, "that the I.C.R. statistics are so good and the showing so bad?"

"Just because the rates are so low. The I.C.R. gives lower rates to the people than any other railway on the continent," said Mr. Graham.

His idea was that the I.C.R. should be "hooked up" to one of the transcontinental roads. He also expressed the view that either some branch lines must be acquired to serve as feeders, or lease the road to some company that would have traffic for it.

At yesterday's meeting of the Commons' railway committee a bill was reported to extend for five years the charter rights of the Montreal Terminal Railway Co. An application from the St. Mary's and Western Ontario Railway Co. for power to construct a number of branch lines was opposed on behalf of the Ontario Government as an unwarranted interference with the provincial rights. The bill, however, passed without division.

A bill to sanction the construction of a branch line of the Canadian Pacific Railway Co. from Piles Junction to Grand Mere in Quebec as well as various extensions of the C.P.R. system in the west was also adopted. A vigorous protest was made against any further renewal of the company's rights in regard to the construction of a line from Lanigan to Prince Albert.

A SWITCHMAN IS INDICTED

Brantford, March 17—At the Spring Assizes here yesterday true bills were returned on two indictments against Joseph McGuire, formerly Grand Trunk switchman in the local yards, for criminal neglect and manslaughter.

Justice MacMahon, in his address to the grand jury, called attention to the increase in the number of lunatics in the asylums, many of them made up by recent arrivals, and the presence of undesirables throughout the province.

The jury recommended that the Dominion Government should make provisions for very rigid inspection at all ports of entry, so that all persons of criminal record or in any way unsound in body or mind should be prevented from entering.

FRIEND OF DUMB ANIMALS IS DEAD

Boston, March 17.—George Thorndike Angell, "the friend of dumb animals," as the veteran leader in the humane educational movement in the United States was called, died early yesterday, aged 85 years.

In 1868, after seeing two horses run to death in a race, he became interested in humane work for dumb animals, and, prompted by the action of Henry Bergh, who in that year started the New York Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, Mr. Angell established the publication of Our Dumb Animals.

He traveled many times throughout the United States and in scores of other countries in pursuance of that work and caused to be established more than seventy thousand "bands of mercy" in America and England.

A DYING CHURCH

A distinguished cleric the other day lamented the decline in number of those entering the ministry. The population increased, while the ministry decreased. What must be the inevitable result? Those who have given most thought to this question, especially amongst the clergy themselves, aver that it is due to the decline in faith. The critical tendency of recent times has driven many young men into a condition of hopelessness or indecision which is resulting disasterously for the cause of Christ. It is not as if there had been no recent attempt to encourage men to enter the ministry. Every effort has been put forth. The outlook is serious.

THE DEFICIT

The fiscal year for the Dominion closes March 31st. The expenditure for eleven months has been $106,306,-945, and the receipts $75,504,822, which leaves for the eleven months a deficit of $30,802,322—a deficit of nearly 31 millions for eleven months! The great North Sea bubble has burst and deluged us with spray. We have spent our substance; we are debauched and corrupt; we are being robbed in all quarters and departments, and are being asked for loans and guarantees into the bargain. We are on the brink of national calamity. The Globe will puff and bluff, and the mourer will rejoice. He never so rejoices as when the pickings are good and plenty.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The examination of Miss Kinrade by Mr. Blackstock was, no doubt, a very flashy display of cheap dramatics, but as the conduct of a crown officer it was away below par.

The present system of immigration is about as heartless and ill-managed an affair as can well be. It is almost inconceivable that the Laurier Government was returned to power.

1,000,000 men cannot get work in Great Britain. 2,000,000 men cannot get work in the United States. 100,-000 idle men in Canada. What do the platitudinarians expect to come of it?

It is not consistent with our unformed idea of bookkeeping that accounts up to $100 should pass Mr. Clancy without even saluting. As a substitute for the new bill to do without vouchers for expenditures up to $100 we would suggest, since the expenders are short of change, that Mr. Clancy provide them with certificates for small amounts, which, on being endorsed, become at once and everywhere payable. If our legislators can't remember what they have been doing with anything smaller than a hundred dollar bill then let them come home at once and learn.

The report that a series of frauds on the Intercolonial Railway has been responsible for heavy losses to the national exchequer does not come as a surprise to the country. The revelations in the Department of Marine left the impression that investigation would reveal serious leakages in other branches of the Administration. —The News.

The Laurier Government reminds us of an old scow we once knew that decorated the bank of a river where it lay for many a year. It was a picturesque ruin in its way. It drew upon the affections of the people. It disappeared one day. The bottom had fallen out.

We have received a communication from the Owen Sound Board of Trade to the effect that it is desirable for the province to guarantee certain bonds to the extent of $65,000 since these will redound to the general advantage of the province. If someone would guarantee somebody else's bonds always it would no doubt redound to the advantage of a number of others. But that would not make so doing properly speaking, a government measure. Governments exist to protect the people just as much as to feed them.

OF INTEREST

Dramatic incidents of the great cruise, which has just come to the full stop in Hampton Roads, are beginning to be told about the banquet board and in the magazines and newspapers. It will be remembered that several times during the cruise the newspapers reported a "man overboard" accident, but did not stop to dwell on the details. Just what it means to stop sixteen battle ships to search for information is spread from ship to ship and the marvelous naval discipline which works like clockwork in the emergency, is described by Richard Barry in the March Cosmopolitan. As he tells it:

One night, shortly after the deck officers had gone on duty for the mid-watch, the four white ardois lanterns at the masthead of the Missouri were turned on. They fluttered for about half a minute. Then, with three rapid pulsations of the red light at the top, the signal went out and left that feet riding as before, like a trail of titanic phosphorus through the tropic seas. Z it was: and Z means that a man is overboard.

Instantly on sixteen bridges was sounded the cry "Man overboard" and from sixteen annunciators "Slow speed," was rung to the engine-rooms. The Ohio, which was just ahead, and the Maine, which was just astern, flashed their searchlights on the waters about the troubled ship. From the quarter-deck and from the forecastle of the Missouri copper life-buoys were hurled into the sea; these here cans of calcium chloride which burst into flame as they touched the water—beacons for the lost sailor.

There was a patter of bare feet on the superstructure of the Missouri three or fours harp orders, a jengling of tackle, and the life boat, which hangs ever ready on davits, swung clear of the ship's side, slipped into the ever widening white circle made by the neighboring emergency men of war. In the stern of the life boat are always provisions for two days and a cask of fresh water, for frequently in a storm the big ship loses the little one for many hours, and it is always a question with the officer of the deck whether or not he should order away the boat.

At the same time a similar boat from the Kentucky, the eighth ship in the line, had cast off. These two boats, each manned by six oars and a boxswain rapidly came together into the region of the life buoys which could be seen like stars jeweling the dusky sea. The Missouri and the four ships in her rear had veered out of column. Presently the three ships ahead veered, as well as the eight steaming a mile away on the starboard beam. For one man put of fifteen thousand the whole fleet was stopping. It seemed unfair; some strain of mercy, foreign to the storied business of war, was halting this world tour.

Meanwhile, from all that two mile square expanse of quiet sea clatter piled on spectacle, spectacle on wonder, wonder on apprehension, apprehension on curiosity and curiosity on laughter. Now ensued the quickest job an officer of the deck has to face. When a man falls overboard that officer has seven separate and distinct things to do, all at the same time, seven, count them. 1 He flashes Z on the ardois; 2, he throws his helm three points and veers out of column; 3, he stops his engines; 4, he fires a gun; 5, he drops the life-buoys; 6, he orders away the life-boat; and 7, he shifts the white truck light which has previously announced his peaceful progress at standard speed, to a red light which says he has stopped his engines, and then blinks it, which declares feverishly that he is backing.

From all over the fleet things were doing. Three pounders were barking out rusty salute charges. Ardois Z's were caracoling lusty staccato shrieks. The creamy surge that had been curving sea shavings over direct bows now churned under the propellers, and flipped up foam into the searchlights. The entire first squadron, except the Connecticut, from the Kansas down the line, had come to a stop. Finally the Connecticut, too, slowed her engines and hove to. The captain came from his bunk, climbed to the bridge and asked many questions that nobody could answer.

The admiral was roused from his emergency-cabin and hurried out, lacking a coat and in slippers, but not before he had paused to lift a stogy from a drawer, had viciously bit off the end and thrust it in his mouth. Then he went about, from flag-lieutenant to quartermaster, from quartermaster to yeoman, from yeoman to a gunman, asking nothing about the accident, imploring only for a light. And between each irrelevant question he looked aft over the rail of his bridge upon a rare sight. . . There was no temper lost. Every one waited patiently. The life-saving machinery was at work, as provided in the regulations. There was no need to worry, the incident would take care of itself.

We lay there becalmed, fumbling in the tipid dark. The searchlights played their stark wonder over the dancing nightcaps, where the silly waves tried to hide their loquacious heads. Each described its twenty-degree arc of the circle and then began over again. The life-boats wandered aimlessly. The coxswains blew their whistles. The copper buoys were gathered in. No answer, no sign of life. The hope of a nation sat down on its course; the modern armada waited. But we were obeying the la,

Finally the Connecticut grew petulant;; she began flashing her interrogatory. And the Minnesota became peevish; she blinked and sputtered with the ardois. The commander-in-chief must have been on the bridge; the other admirals, in their isolated grandeur, must have been aboard. When one of them talks, it is not with human kind; he chatters with the elements, and gossips by electricity.

At length the Missouri's ardois came to life. It began winking, blinking that red-and-white, dot, dash, dot, dot dash, dash, dot, dash; pulsating, winking, still flashing on, a long, long message.

A guffaw floated up from the deck. Some jack who knew the code had caught the message. Whispering, chatter, laughter, a ripple of merriment went over the ship. Then the searchlights were shamefacedly doused. We heard the angry slap of the davitbelt over the Missouri's side. They were buckling up the boat, and there was unmistakable disgust in that slap. From the bridge far down the line, came only blank and discreet silence; she was accepting her shame quietly. Then an orderly brought a transcript of the Missouri's message to the admiral.

"Happy to report," he read, and shrugged his shoulders. There is seldom editorial comment in the report of a junior officer. "Happy to report false alarm. Seaman sleeping in side hammock had nightmare and called out, 'Man overboard!'"

No, the Missouri was not reprimanded. The admiral and his captains only laughed and turned in.—Literary Digest.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

AN OPEN LETTER

Results so Surprising That They Seem Marvelous Are Common to Mi-o-na the One Dependable Stomach Remedy.

Mrs. J. A. Pillow, of North Street, Gananoque, Ont., says: "Mi-o-na is worth its weight in gold for quickly and permanently curing dyspepsia. I became so bad that I was a constant burning in my stomach, I would belch up gas every few minutes and could eat but very little, as the food would quickly ferment and make gas that caused a serious depression of the heart. Perspiration would break out all over my body, I would become so weak that I could not stir an dwould often fall on the floor in a helpless state. The pains in my stomach wer eterrible. I could find no position in which to sit or lie without suffering, and I was so nervous that th eleast noise affected me. Headaches were constant; I would become and dizzy and spots would appear beofr my eyes. I had no ambition to get around and everything seemed to tire me. The first box of Mi-o-na gave me more relief than anything I had previously tried. The box of Mi-o-na cured me. I am well and strong and I have not had an hour's suffering since. I will always feel grateful to Mi-o-na for the cure given me and glad to recommend."

In the face of such evidence it is easy to understand why Wm. Madill, druggist, Peterborough, feels assured in saying to you, money back if Mi-o-na fails to relieve either trivial or serious stomach trouble.

British Cattle Markets.

LONDON, March 16.—London cables for cattle are steady, at 12¼c to 13½c per pound, dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted at 9½c to 10c per pound.

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, March 16.—The railways reported the receipts of live stock at the City Market on Tuesday as follows: 74 carloads, consisting of 1227 cattle, 1131 hogs, 770 sheep, 225 calves and 16 horses.

Exporters.

No straight loads of export cattle were offered, only a few lots selected from loads of butchers' cattle, and then not more than about 30 cattle all told, which brought from $5.15 to $5.60, and the Maybee-Wilson firm sold the best six cattle on the market, 1250 lbs. each, at $5.70 per cwt. Bulls sold at $4 to $4.60.

Butchers.

The best butchers' cattle sold at prices nearly as high and in some instances higher than, some cattle bought for export. The Harris Abattoir are buying the best cattle to be had for local killing. Selected lots of the choicest cattle, as good as the best exporters, and in some instances better, sold at $5.30 to $5.60, but there were only 31 cattle out of about 4100 sold as fat that brought these prices, and, therefore, these quotations are no criterion to go by, in a general way. Loads of good butchers' sold at from $4.75 to $5.15; medium, $4.30 to $4.60; common, $3.85 to $4.25; cows, $3 to $4.25; canners and common cows, $1.75 to $2.65; bulls, $3 to $4.

Feeders and Stockers.

In these days of light receipts there is not a heavy trade being done in either stockers or feeders, and Messrs. H. & W. Murby report prices steady at last week's quotations. Best feeders, 900 to 1000 lbs., $3.90 to $4.25; medium of same weights, $3.75 to $4.10; stockers, 500 to 700 lbs., at $3.25 to $3.50.

Milkers and Springers.

There was a moderate delivery of milkers and springers, which sold at from $35 to $65 each.

Veal Calves.

Receipts were larger, over 250 calves being on sale, which caused prices to be easy, at $3 to $7.25 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

Receipts of sheep and lambs were larger than for several markets. Export ewes sold at $4.50 to $5 per cwt.; rams, $3.50 to $4.25; lambs, grain-fed, $7.25 to $7.75, and common, $5 to $6 per cwt.

Hogs.

Mr. Harris quoted selects, fed and watered, at the market, $7.40 per cwt., and $7.15, f.o.b. cars at country points.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, March 16.—Cattle—Steady; prime steers, $6.50 to $6.75.

Veals—Receipts, 200 head; fairly active and 25c lower, $7 to $9.

Hogs—Receipts, 2100 head; active and strong to 5c higher; heavy, $7.10 to $7.15; mixed, $7.05 to $7.15; yorkers, $6.50 to $7.05; pigs, $6.25 to $6.40; roughs, $5.75 to $6.15; dairies, $6.60 to $7.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 1800 head; slow; lambs and wethers 10c lower; lambs, $5 to $8.15; wethers, $5.75 to $6.25.

New York Live Stock.

NEW YORK, March 15.—Beeves—Receipts, 765; nothing doing, feeling weak; dressed beef slow, at 8c to 10c.

Calves—Receipts, 167 head; market steady; some late arrivals unsold; Indiana and Ohio veals, $5.50 to $8.50; culls, $4; dressed calves slow; city dressed veals, 9½c to 14c; country dressed, 8c to 12c.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 942; all Chicago lambs; sheep nominal; lambs steady, quality considered; all sold at $8.50.

Hogs—Receipts, 2617; feeling steady; no sales reported.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, March 16.—Cattle—Receipts estimated at 2500; market steady; beeves, $4.60 to $7.25; Texas steers, $4.50 to $5.40; western steers, $4.10 to $5.60; stockers and feeders, $3.40 to $5.40; cows and heifers, $1.90 to $5.70; calves, $6 to $8.25.

Plenty of Coal.

Reading, Pa., March 17.—Figures computed here show that there was yesterday sufficient anthracite coal on the surface to supply the trade for the next eight months.

It is claimed that the Reading Co. has at least 2,500,000 tons of coal at its storage yards at Abrams, Landingville and Mahanoy City and that nearly a million more tons will be added by the end of March.

Woman In Jail For Debt.

Winnipeg, March 17.—Mrs. Stevenson, who admits having $16,000 in cash and $2,000 worth of diamonds, is now in jail because she refused to pay a judgment for $5,654, which has been entered against her. Mrs. Stevenson appealed to a higher court, where four judges disagreed.

CONFESSIONS OF A TRAINED NURSE

(Copyright, 1909, by the New York Herald Co. All Rights Reserved.

NEW YORK, Saturday.

EVERY nurse gives her pound of flesh to her patient, for she feels it almost a disgrace to lose one of them, and to each she lends unstintingly the best she has, asking only their recovery for her reward. But I was told of a case not long ago where the nurse was more than faithful, and yet—but you shall hear the story. It is a story of a nurse and her patient.

The man was taken sick in a strange city and brought to a hospital. The doctors gave him every aid in their power, but with hardly any expectation of success. Only his nurse refused to give up hope. She was always confident, tireless, indomitable. They pulled him through triumphantly, and right glad she was, for you must know that after a time a personal note had entered into her professional interest and she rejoiced and was grateful that the life of this man was granted her.

There is no time when a person so reveals his own inmost self as when he is sick. All the little shams and artifices crumble away. The peep the nurse had been permitted of this man's nature had revealed such lunate chivalry and nobleness, and a mind of such breadth and kindliness that before she realized it her heart had gone out to him.

Of course, she never let him know this. In the quiet hours of the night watch, when she was wont to build her "castles in Spain," her patient was always a part of the dream. Though in his delirium he had often called for "Ellen," she nevertheless persuaded herself that this must be some favorite sister or friend, and continued to be happy with her precious secret. One day the man asked his nurse to write a letter for him. The letter was addressed to his wife.

He explained to the nurse that there had been a slight misunderstanding. He had left home in anger and, having been taken sick shortly after he reached the city, his wife had consequently not had a word from him in all these weeks. During his illness he had had time to think things over, and he had decided that after all there were many excuses for her, and he was most penitent for the worry and anxiety his behavior and his long silence had caused her. In this strain of humility and love and contrition he dictated the letter. A few days later he received a reply. Joyfully he told his nurse that it was "all right." And she had to smile her sympathy and say she was glad.

A Nurse's Broken Heart.

Every day after that he sent a letter to his wife, written by his nurse. When dictating these letters he seemed to regard his nurse as a sort of machine, devoid of feeling or opinion, for he poured out his heart to his wife, revealing bits of personalities, and such depths of love and passion as most of us are usually incapable of expressing to the loved one himself, and never to a third party. Can you imagine the feelings of his nurse as she sat quietly beside his bed automatically writing?

I sometimes smile when I read the yearly reports or statistics of a hospital. What do they really show of the life of a hospital? What do they know of the fears and anxieties and hopes and sufferings of each patient, and of the labor and skill and sympathy and heartaches of the doctors and nurses? This man was put down as an interesting case, and remarkable recovery. And when he was strong enough he was discharged as cured. He left the hospital gladly. He did not forget, however, to thank the nurse for her care, and when he got home his wife sent her a very beautiful gift.

And the nurse? Well, she just kept on nursing. But she left this hospital in a little while and came to New York to work. She said that she wanted to find a bigger field.

Peggy told me this story, and though I never asked, somehow I believe that it is her story. It was always a very quiet little Peggy that I have known, despite her quick wit and her big heart; so I have felt that some time back in the West, where she comes from, she must have lived her moment that is due each one of us. Then the spark went out, and for the rest of her life she has simply worked.

A nurse's personal feelings are in truth considered very little, and she is called upon to do many things, pleasant and unpleasant, apart from her nursing. Once for many weeks, besides my regular duties, I had to "act a part."

A Mysterious Message.

Dr. Wendall, for whom I had done a great deal of work, called me up one morning and in his usual short, abrupt way asked if I could go on a case for him that afternoon. I said yes at once, for I had not been well for the last few months and had done little work. The nestegg had had a big piece snipped off it, and consequently I was ready to accept the first case offered to me. After explaining briefly something of the nature of the case he said:—"Don't bother to bring any clothes with you now. You can pack your trunk, and if you suit these people you can send for it to-morrow." "If I suit!" I exclaimed, surprised. But he had already rung off.

I immediately called up his office for an explanation or more explicit details, but he was not in and had evidently 'phoned from the house of some patient. I had half a mind to ring up the address he had given and leave word I would not come. But Dr. Wendall had done many little favors for me, and I realized that my non-appearance would undoubtedly place him in an awkward position. Besides I needed the money, and I guess I have a little dramatic instinct tucked away in me, for I scented a situation. So I determined to risk it. I packed my trunk, leaving word that I would 'phone for it if I wanted it, picked up my satchel and marched forth to face the unknown.

When I arrived at the house I announced myself as the nurse and was asked to step into the parlor. Presently two young men appeared and, after greeting me, they sat down as if I had come for a social visit and proceeded to talk, not of the patient, but of myself. I realized at once that they were trying to draw me out, that I was being overlooked and closely scrutinized inside and out.

Instead of embarrassing me this sort of inspection put me on my mettle and I answered all their questions easily and cautiously, telling them all I desired they should know and no more, and watching in turn to see the impression I was making. After talking to me for a short time the two men excused themselves and left the room for a few minutes.

Called On to Act a Part.

When they returned the older one said:—"I know you must think our conduct very strange, but the selection of the right person for Mr. Harding's nurse is of vital importance to us, and though Dr. Wendall recommended you as suited in every way for the place we wanted to satisfy ourselves, for we dare not risk a mistake. We have decided that you can fill all the requirements if you will accept the position after hearing what we desire of you.

"The doctor has assured us that there is no hope for Mr. Harding, that his death is simply a matter of weeks. Naturally [illegible] our one desire to make his last days on earth as comfortable and happy as possible. We have done everything we can, but he has one great longing that we have so far been unable to gratify. He has a young granddaughter, my wife, to whom he is devoted. She had lived with him for many years, and when she married and went out West the old man missed her sorely. All during his illness he has been asking for her, but my wife is not very strong, and just now she would be unable to stand the journey. He pleads and begs to see her, and will not, or cannot, understand why she does not come.

"Lately he has been more than ever insistent, and as his mind grows weaker this one idea of seeing my wife becomes more dominant. There are no other young women in the family who might divert his mind from her, and so when the doctor ordered a nurse it occurred to my brother-in law here, Rose's brother, that if we could find some one who would be able to pretend she was Mr. Harding's granddaughter—discovery would be irretrievable—Mr. Harding in this way might be satisfied and quieted. This idea was not so unreasonable as might appear at first glance, for Mr. Harding's eyesight and hearing are failing, and therefore a partial resemblance to Rose in face and figure would make this plan feasible.

"We outlined our scheme to Dr. Wendall and he agreed to it. He mentioned your name at once, claiming that you not only resembled very strongly the picture of my wife we had shown him, but also that you possessed the necessary tact, presence of mind and kindness of heart to successfully carry through our plan.

"It may seem to you a very foolish subterfuge to resort to, even wrong to so deceive him, but Mr. Harding has been exceptionally good to each and every one of us, and so we have decided that it is only right to do what little we can to give him one last ray of joy, even if it is a false one. Will you help us?" And without a minute's hesitation I said yes.

Pretending to Be "Rose."

I was then drilled carefully in my lines and cues. I was to call him "Granddad." My husband's name was Ned Manning. This brother was Will; he was a lawyer and I was very fond of him. There was an older brother—Max—who was a manufacturer of straw hats, whose wife's name was Charlotte. They had four children, named—really, I have forgotten all of their names now. But at any rate I was told about all the family who were apt to come in, and also about the domestic arrangements of the house, with colored Nancy as commander in chief, whose pet I had always been, and little bits of my personal history, my habits and likes and dislikes ad infinitum. I grew interested and was glad I had come.

While I went to the room assigned me to change into my uniform my "husband" and "brother" proceeded to announce to Mr. Harding "Rose's" arrival. When I entered Mr. Harding's room I heard Mr. Manning saying in a great, cheery, welcoming voice, "Well, here she comes. Here's 'Rose' at last."

A Dramatic Moment.

I took my cue and gripped hard for the first plunge. Crossing to the bed I stooped over the old man and said, "Well, granddad, I'm here."

The old man looked up at me with a puzzled expression on his face, and for a minute I thought the game was up. But I managed to smile down on him and soon a look of recognition came into his eyes, and oh, such a happy smile answered mine.

"Rose, you've grown a little thinner, haven't you?" Then, with a sigh of contentment, "I'm very glad you've come. You're going to stay?"

"Why, of course I am," I said, becoming more assured as I saw the success of my imposture.

"But why have you that dress and cap on," he asked, again looking painfully perplexed.

"Why, you see, I've come to nurse you, so I want to look as much like a real nurse as possible. Don't you remember how I used to dress up when I was little, and how you would laugh at me? You see, I haven't outgrown it."

This was a wild guess, but most children do enjoy dressing up, and I had to take a long chance, and it carried. The old gentleman immediately began talking about my childhood, and even forgot for a time that I was with him and was happy in his memories. And so the first meeting, which we had all most dreaded, having passed off so well, I entered with real interest into my work and determined to do the best I could for the old man both as a nurse and as a "granddaughter."

The whole family played their parts letter perfect. At first when they called "Rose" I would not notice, but I gradually grew accustomed to it. Sometimes the old man would discuss little occurrences of the past with which I was supposed to be familiar, and I would have to feign remembrance. It was a strain, I confess, and yet I liked it.

An Embarrassing Situation.

Sometimes the situation grew most embarrassing—when, for instance, he would insist at night that I should not watch with him, but go home with Ned. Or when he would say that Will and I used to be so fond of each other and so affectionate, and "I haven't even seen you kiss him once since you've been here." I imagine that my blushes that time were vivid enough to light up the darkened room. The knowledge that Will was watching me half curiously and very much amused lent me the necessary presence of mind to say, with a laugh and apparent unconcern, "Why, Granddad, Ned is so jealous, you know, that I have got out of the habit of kissing any one but him." Heaven be thanked Ned wasn't in the room also!

It was really pathetic the confidence and love the old man had for me—or Rose. He hardly let me out of his sight, and he seemed perfectly contented just to have me sit by him. I grew very fond of him, and after I had been with him for a short time I had stepped into my part so comfortably that I sometimes had to pinch myself to discover who I really was. I learned to know Granddad's humors and anticipate his wants and tend to him not only with the interest and skill of a trained nurse, but more with the intuition that this favorite granddaughter might have had, and so I played my part until the fall of the curtain.

The old man was growing daily weaker. One afternoon I had gone off for my usual walk, but somehow I was worried about my patient and a strange, anxious feeling came over me, compelling me to go back earlier than I expected. I was met at the door by Nancy. "Child, he's mighty bad and he's been calling for you," she said excitedly. Without taking off my hat or coat I went at once to the sick room. As I crossed over to the bed the old man opened his eyes and groped out in a blind, uncertain way, with his hand in my direction. "Is that you Rose? I've been waiting for you." Those were the last words he ever spoke. He died a few hours later.

The Result—a Proposal.

I stayed on in the house until after the funeral, a thing that I rarely do. But the family asked me to, and they had been so kind to me and I had become so attached to them that I could do no less. They seemed loathe to have me leave even afterward, and, if I must 'fess up, "Brother Bill" tried his best to keep me in the family permanently. At first he would not take "no" for an answer, but persisted and persisted. He was really very nice, and I had a mighty narrow escape. But I suppose I have shared a little piece of my heart with so many people—each of my patients gets one heart throb at least—that I have really never been able to give it all into the keeping of any one person. So I thanked him kindly and said "I'd just continue to be a sister to him."

It is never permissible to deceive a patient unless you are first positively convinced that it is the only way to help him. You run the risk of forfeiting the confidence and faith he has in you, and which are your biggest assets of success as a nurse. And if you practice deception it must be with infinite finesse.

There was one time when for the good of my patient I deliberately planned a scheme of concealment and deception and forced a woman to do her duty whether she would or not. I took no part in the play myself. I was just stage manager.

My patient this time was a man from Boston, who had been taken ill at his hotel, and I was sent there to nurse him. He was an unusually large man, not handsome—in fact, at first he struck me as almost ugly, for his features were moulded in straight, broad, simple strokes, and his forehead and face were deeply lined. But there was strength in the square chin and high forehead, and the eyes, though in repose, were brooding and sad, yet they could fire and gleam when interested, and he always looked straight at you and through you. You felt that he was capable of big things, right or wrong, but big. Here was pride and a full knowledge of sorrow, combined with great self-repression, all clearly marked. But instinctively you trusted and liked him.

The first thing he asked me to do was to write to his wife of his illness.

"Tell her not to worry, that I am not very sick," he said.

"Shall I tell her to come to New York?" I asked. I recall how he knit his brows as though I had pained him by my question, but he recovered himself in an instant and answered in a careless tone:—"No, you'd better not mention it; she'll use her own discretion."

I sent the letter off by special delivery, but it was either four or five days before we received a reply. My patient asked me to read it to him, and this was the way it ran. I remember the exact words:—

"Dear James:—Sorry to hear of your illness. Hope you will soon be better. Am busy getting ready for the Gerthon's ball this evening. Love. Hastily,

"HELEN."

Breaking Her Husband's Heart.

For a minute after I had finished reading I did not raise my eyes from the paper. I was at first abashed and then enraged at the cold heartedness of the letter. How those words must have stabbed the husband's heart! And I could realize the added pain and humiliation for a man of his nature that a third party should be a witness of his shame. But whatever he felt, he was master of himself and had evidently resolved instantaneously how best to change the aspect of the matter in my mind. Only the tightly clenched hand on the sheet and the drawn brows revealed the tension under which he held himself. His voice was perfectly calm, however, as he said:—"I am so glad my wife is taking such a sensible view of my illness. She's right to go out, isn't she? No use moping around at home; won't do any good. My wife's a very beautiful woman and much sought after. Couldn't imagine a big, ugly fellow like me would have a beautiful wife," he ended, with a pitiful attempt at raillery.

I knew all the time that he was watching me to see if I had discovered his ruse, and so I managed to smile brightly and agreed that Mrs. Williams was indeed a sensible woman and there was surely no need of worrying her pretty head. We'd take good care of him and send him home to her well and fit in short order. I could see that he was much relieved that I had apparently accepted his construction, though the letter itself galled and tortured him. And in my heart my anger was hot against the wife.

No other letters came from her, and though he could not resist a look of inquiry whenever I entered the room he never asked the question. And he never sent her another letter. There is no need to go into a technical discussion of the case. Suffice to say that my patient resisted all our best efforts and the disease would not yield. He grew worse and worse.

Secrets Revealed by Delirium.

All this time there was not a line from his wife, though he heard frequently from his brother and many friends. At times now he was delirious, and then I fully realized for the first time what his wife meant to him and the depth of his affection for her. He thought of nothing else. Her name was constantly on his lips. He pleaded with her, made love to her, praised her, admired her, encouraged her. Sometimes he commanded her to stop doing something, but this very gently, and always it was "Helen, Helen, Helen!"

During his lucid moments he would lie with sad, wide open eyes, and I was sure he was again rehearsing the same scenes. He took no interest in anything. He had given this woman the whole of his big love, the best part of himself, and since she did not care nothing else mattered. I waited anxiously day after day, hoping against hope to get some word from her.

Finally I decided that she could not possibly know how ill he was, and I determined to take matters in my own hands and write to her again. By a mighty effort I refrained from putting down my opinion of her conduct, but I told her definitely the condition of her husband, how sick he was, how her long silence had worried him, how he was constantly calling for her in his delirium, and I urged upon her to come to see him if in any way possible, and at once, for we could not tell how long he would hold out.

Three days passed and there was still no answer from her. Was it possible she was ill? Could the letter have been misdirected or miscarried? Common decency required at least a reply if she had received it. How was I to make sure of reaching her? Mr. Williams' brother had said repeatedly that we were not to hesitate to call upon him for anything that he could do. So I wrote him a letter, explaining the circumstances and asking him to use every means in his power to induce Mrs. Williams to come to her husband and at once. The next day I received this telegram:—"Am sending Mrs. Williams to-day. Arrives 2:13, N. Y., N. H. and H. R. R. Have some one meet her."

When I read the telegram the words "Am sending Mrs. Williams" struck me as peculiar, but I put it down as a curious expression due to the brother's undoubted agitation.

I went myself to receive her. I knew I should recognize her from the picture in my patient's watch and from the description he had given me of her. But all the passengers had come through the gate and I was beginning to fear that I was to be disappointed again, when I perceived the porter walking slowly up the platform, half supporting a little woman whom I recognized when they came closer as Mrs. Williams.

The Wife Who Was Unworthy.

"I have come for this lady," I said, as I tipped the man and dismissed him, and, slipping my arm around her waist I half carried her toward a carriage. She was very white and her eyes were dazed. As soon as she was seated her head dropped on my shoulder. "I want to sleep. Why won't they let me sleep," she said.

Her voice was querulous and her tones were thick. So this, then, was the explanation. I saw it all now. Her silence, of course, was due to some severe illness that she had not yet recovered from, poor thing, and the first strange note to her husband was only a blind to prevent him from worrying. What a dear little self-sacrificing woman she was! How I hated myself for my hard letter to her!

"Upon arrival at the hotel I had her put to bed and sent for the doctor. When he arrived he listened to what I had to tell him of her actions, examined her, and then a look of absolute disgust came over his face, to be followed by one of half amusement as he glanced at me.

"Miss Brown, this woman is intoxicated. Just let her alone and she'll sleep it off. But to-morrow, before she sees her husband," he said, growing serious, "I think you might give her a dose of good old fashioned preaching on the error of her ways. We'll keep this from her husband if we can."

I frankly do not think I have ever been so shocked and horrified as I was at that moment. All my old harsh arraignments and anger against the woman returned intensified tenfold. I was infuriated that I had brought this added responsibility upon myself. It was a just retribution for my interference. Had I not tangled matters worse? I had never surmised that the wife of my patient could possibly be this sort of a woman. What good could she do here now? What was to be done?

Finally in desperation I determined to try as a last resource to bring her to a sense of her duty, or if that were impossible to induce her to pretend she cared for her husband and play the part of the devoted wife for the few days or so he probably had to live. So the next morning, when she had somewhat recovered her senses, I started in. I began by giving her such a lecture as I never should have believed I was capable of. I told her of her husband's great love for her, of his belief in her, and his constant longing for her. I impressed upon her his manliness, kindness and dignity, and strength of character, and pointed out how proud and grateful she should be to possess the love of such a man.

Making a Wife Pretend.

I pleaded with her for a little tenderness and unselfishness, and I wound up by threatening her with hastening his death if she refused now to see him and show him some kindness and regard even if she did not feel it. I do not believe I convinced the woman, but I suppose I really frightened her into doing as I asked.

Never in my life have I met such an unemotional, insensate creature. Her greeting of her husband was absolutely cold, and without any feeling. But his joy to see her was pitiful. I would not allow her to remain long, firstly, because I was afraid the excitement would be too much for him, and then I was so fearful lest he should notice her indifference and so spoil all the pleasure at having her there.

When she came out I calmly told her that next time I should expect her to do better. She was perfectly gracious about it and listened to me attentively. But she again explained to me without any embarrassment that she had never cared for her husband, and she did not see why in the world she should now deceive him into believing that she did. Of course if he was very sick, as I said he was, she would do what she could to help him, but I would really have to coach her, and she never in her life had made a fuss of any one, and really did not know how. And I had to believe her, for I am sure there has never been another woman so unequivocally emotionless. I think her blood must have been water and her heart ice. It was like speaking to an automaton.

So I started in to train her to simulate some feeling. Imagine teaching a wife how to act toward her husband! She was entirely submissive—I suppose it was too much trouble to revolt—and she followed out my instructions to the letter, but without the least show of any personal interest in the matter whatsoever. She never stayed very long with her husband, but would come in and give him a casual kiss on the hair, or eye, or cheek, wherever it happened to light; asked him how he had slept, was there anything he wanted, and a few other commonplace questions, and then she would go off for the rest of the day on a shopping tour or to the theatre and not be seen again till the time for her next visit.

She did not seem at all ashamed of the condition in which she had arrived at the hotel. But on that first morning I had told her sternly and positively that if anything of the sort occurred while she was in New York I should not hesitate for a minute in turning her over at once to the police.

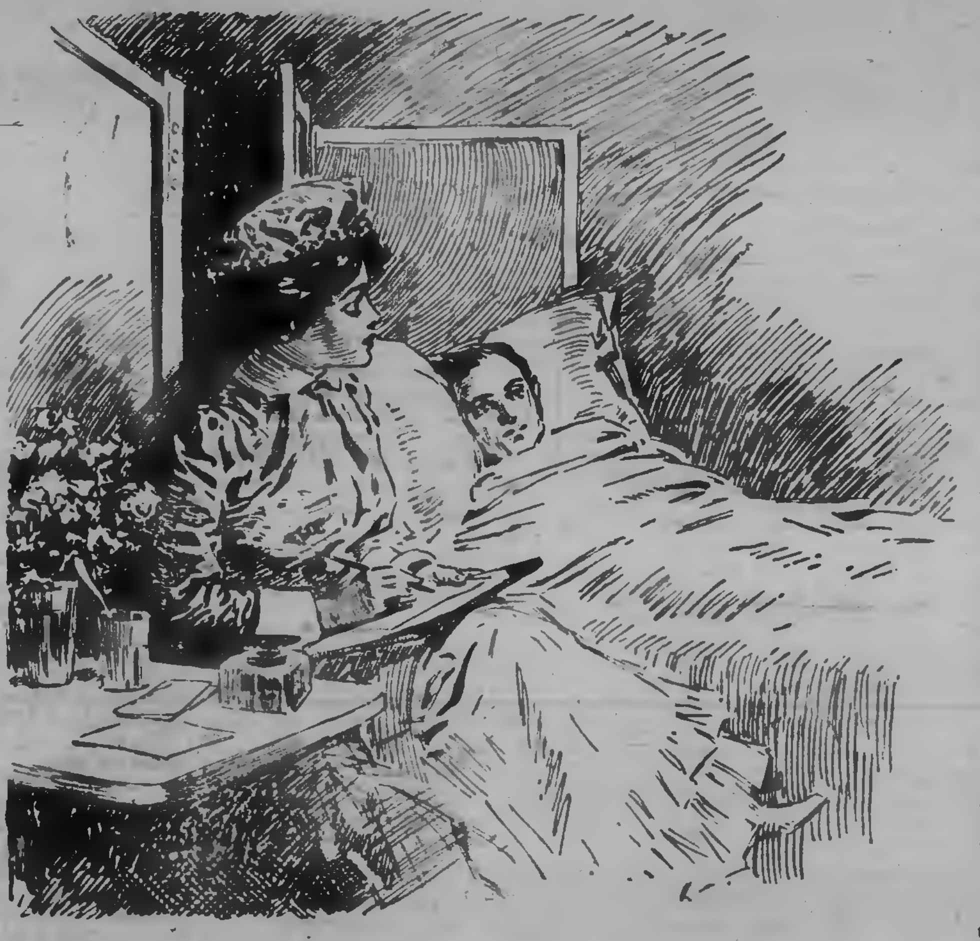
Joy and Content.

I watched over her like a hawk during the interviews of the husband and wife, prompting her, smoothing over awkward pauses, arranging my scenes with infinite care and patience. And through it all she walked calm, serene and dispassionate. Not even his joy in her presence touched her, though to me it was pathetic.

The first time he saw her he did not believe she had really come, but seemed to think it must be a part of his delirium. But when he realized that she was truly there beside him, his wife, his Helen, that she kissed him and talked to him, his happiness was too great to be borne, and for the first time I saw him give way to his feelings, and he cried like a baby. From that minute he gave up all questionings and doubts, and was as a little child in his simple, unalloyed joy and content.

She was not with him when he died, but his last words were of her. Even his death did not move her. She seemed, in fact, relieved, and I suppose she was. She left the same day for Boston, giving orders that the body be properly attended to and sent after her.

What will you say? Did I do well? I gave this man a few happy hours, then the strings dropped from my hands and this puppet woman went her way. But many a time I have wondered what became of her. Did she ever learn to live?



THE LETTER WAS ADDRESSED TO HIS WIFE.

SPECIALIZATION IN SCIENCE.

THE pitch to which specialization is carried nowadays even in such a field as scientific investigation is illustrated by the foundation in Vienna of an institution to be wholly devoted to the study of radium. The buildings, which are now under construction and will be ready next spring, stand on the Währingstrasse, next to those of the new Institute of Physics. They are the property of the Vienna Academy of Sciences, which has contributed half a million kroner toward the installation.

WAYWARD GIRLS GIVEN TWO YEARS IN THE REFORMATORY

The two girls who were arrested Sunday evening by P. C. Newhall were before Magistrate Dumble this morning to answer for their conduct, which has made them somewhat notorious in the city.

P. C. Newhall was called and stated that he saw the two girls Sunday night at 8.45 near the corner of Hunter and Chambers streets. They were stopping people on the street and attracting considerable attention to themselves. They left the corner and were followed by a number of young men. One of the girls stepped near the archway leading into the back of a grocery store, and the other one went on to a nearby hotel, and by her actions appeared to be speaking to someone in the bar-room. A young man appeared on the scene, and some of the language that was used by both parties was not very nice. The girls crossed the road and remained there for some time, and their conduct was such that he arrested both girls and brought them to the police station.

Both girls gave excuses for their presence on the street. One had to meet a gentleman friend and the other was to have met her mother and pleaded to be let go and they would go home and not come out on the streets again.

P. C. Newhall said he had cautioned them before about their conduuct on the streets and knew they had a bad reputation.

A number of other witnesses were called, and stated that from the information that they had received, the persons had a very bad reputation.

R. F. McWilliams appeared for the two girls, and asked the magistrate to deal leniently with them, as they were both young and did not stop to consider what their conduct would lead them to.

The magistrate thought that the girls needed a lesson, and sentenced each of them to two years in the Mercer Reformatory.

The girls were much affected by the sentence, and cried bitterly as they were taken to the cells.

COMPETITION AMONG DAIRY HERDS OF EASTERN ONTARIO

Special Prizes Being Offered by Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association—Peterborough County is in District No. 1.

The Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association have decided to offer special prizes for competition among the dairy herds of Eastern Ontario. They have ascertained through Chief Instructor Publow, that the average quantity of milk per cow delivered to the various factories is but 2700 lbs. The Association feels that this average is too small, so they have decided to divide Eastern Ontario into five districts and to offer four cash prizes in each district, making a total of $250.00, as an incentive to patrons, hoping thereby to raise this average.

The following groups of counties will comprise the various districts, namely:

District No. 1.—Peterborough, Ontario, Durham, Victoria, Haliburton, Hastings, less Township of Sidney, Thurlow and Tyendenago.

Dist No. 2.—Prince Edward, Frontenac, Lennox, and Addington, and the Townships of Sidney, Thurlow and Tyendenago.

District No. 3.—Leeds, Lanark, Renfrew.

District No. 4.—Carleton, Grenville, Dundas.

District No. 5.—Glengarry, Russell, Stormont, Prescott.

SPECIAL PRIZES.

$20.00 in Cash—To the patron who furnishes the largest amount of milk per cow to any cheese factory or creamery in any of the foregoing districts from May 1st to October 31st, 1909.

$15.00 in Cash—To the patron who furnishes the largest amount of milk per cow to any cheese factory or creamery in any of the foregoing districts from May 1st to October 31st, 1909.

$10.00 in Cash—To the patron who furnishes the third largest amount of milk to any cheese factory or creamery in any of the foregoing districts from May 1st to October 31st, 1909.

The above prizes will be given subject to the rules of competition as shown below.

RULES FOR DAIRY HERDS' COMPETITION.

1st. No herd or fewer than eight cows will be allowed to compete.

2nd. Figures must be taken from the cheese factory or creamery books, and the number of cows and the total and average amounts of milk mus tbe certified to by the cheese or buttermaker, and the secretary of the cheese factory or creamery.

3rd. The average amount of milk per cow must be calculated on the basis of the total number of cows from which milk is sent to the factory during the season of six months May 1st, to October 31st, 1909.

4th. No substitution of one cow for another will be allowed.

NOTE.

Example 1.—If the patron begins to send milk to the factory on 1st of May from, say eight cows, and continues to send to the 31st of October from the same herd, he is eligible. Larger herds the same.

Example 2.—If the patron begins to send milk to the factory on 1st of May with say only seven cows in milk, and in June, or at any other time, another cow freshens, and in July, or at any other time, another cows freshens, making in all nine cows, the patron is not barred from competition provided the total number of cows (9) is used for dividing the total milk to find the average amount of milk per cow, for season. Larger herds the same.

Example 3.—If the patron begins to send milk to the factory on May 1st, with say eight cows, and in June, or any other time in the season, for some cause one cow drops out of the herd the patron is not barred from competing, provided the total number of cows (8) is used for dividing the total milk to find average amount of milk per cow for season. Larger herds the same.

Example 4.—If the patron begins to send milk to the factory on May 1st, with say eight cows in the herd, and some time during the season for some cause one or more cows drop ou tof the herd, the patron will not be allowed to substitute a new milch or any other cow in order to keep up milk from the herd. Larger herds the same.

$15,000 BY-LAW WILL BE SUBMITTED ON MARCH 30th

Although there is much opposition the $15,000 by-law for the preliminary work in connection with the development of electric power at the new waterworks dam will be submitted to the ratepayers on March 30th.

Chairman Ald. McIntyre stated at a meeting of the Power Committee that it was intended to have had a joint meeting with the Water Commissioners to discuss the matter of the new dam and the proposed power development. He had since learned that Mr. T. F. Matthews was unable to be present, so that the only thing which could be taken up was in connection with securing an engineer to furnish a report on the water powers available in the city.

The aldermen discussed at some length the advisability of getting the proposed report on the water powers. Ald. Morrow was strongly in favor of waiting until some other information was forthcoming. Ald. Bradburn also supported this idea.

Ald. Hicks asked why not hand this whole business over to the Water Commissioners. Let them assume the responsibility as they have all the information, while the council had none.

Ald. Morrow pointed out that the power development at water works dam was not the recommendation of the Water Commissioners. The commissioners got a report on the available power, and that the council took the idea up of developing the power

Ald Gillespie agreed with Ald. Morrow.

Ald Hicks did not agree with this. He said the commissioners should take over the power end of the scheme now, and if they think it is all right they can go ahead with it. If they have not full information as to the cost they will not submit it until January, or at such time as they do get that information.

Ald Morrow moved that the proposed report on the water powers be left in abeyance until some other information is secured, or until April 1st.

Ald. Morrow moved in amendment that an engineer go ahead at once and ascertain for the city the amount of power available.

Only Ald. Morgan and Ald. Hicks voted for the amendment.

Aldermen Morrow, Gillespie, Bradburn and Phelan voted for the original motion and it carried.

TRAINING OF CITY CORPS

The following orders regarding the training of the city corps has been issued from militia headquarters at Ottawa:

DISTRIBUTION OF TIME.

The full period of twelve days will be taken up in the practice of the subjects laid down in the Syllabus here given, on such days or evenings as may be found most convenient to units. In the distribution of time credit will be given according to the following scale:—

(a) For an evening drill of two hours counting from the time of falling in until after time of dismissal — half day.

(b) For a forenoon (or afternoon) drill or parade, for Divine Service, musketry, inspection, etc., of less than five hours' duration—half day.

(c) For a practical tactical exerise or drill of five hours' duration—one day.

SYLLABUS.

The following is the Syllabus mentioned in the preceding paragraph:—

1. Rifle exercise. 2. Company drill, company attack, advance and rear guards, outposts. 3. Battalion drill, battalion attack. 4. Musketry. 5. One obligatory practical tactical exeriese or drill in the open air, of at least five hours' duration.

INSPECTION.

Units will be practically tested at the annual inspection in 1, 2, 3, and when practicable 5, of the above Syllabus. For musketry, definite evidence will be required that each, n.c.o. and man has fired the prescribed number of rounds with service ammunition or field ranges not being available, with miniature ammunition.

ROLL BOOKS.

Company roll books must show a clear record that the number of drills for which pay is claimed have been duly performed.

COMPANY IS GIVEN CHARTER

Electric Railway Companies Were Heard Before the Railway Committee at Toronto

Toronto, March 17— The Cobourg, Port Hope and Havelock Electric Railway Company yesterday succeeded in convincing the railway committee of the Legislature that they are entitled to a charter for a line which will run from Port Hope to Cobourg, across Northumberland county to Warkworth and Campbellford and on to Havelock, with branches to Blairton and to Marmora mining district, and other branches from Warkworth to Roseneath and Hastings.

The company includes Col. H. A. Ward, of Port Hope; W J Crossen, Cobourg; H. T. Bush, Port Hope; C. S Huycke, KC, Port Hope and Reeve Jos Knox of Havelock and J Preston, M.L.A, who introduced the bill.

The Cobourg, Peterborough and Kawartha Lakes line applied for a charter to Peterborough and for a line to duplicate the other, but this latter feature was rejected. The discussion before the committee was very lively.

TO RESTRICT THE EVILS OF DIVORCE

Whereas it is in the interest of society that the evils of divorce be restricted: Therefore, His Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate and House of Commons of Canada, enacts as follows:

1. The offending and guilty party to a marriage contract shall have no right to remarry in the Dominion of Canada after the obtention of a Bill of Divorce through the Parliament of Canada, and if such party remarry he or she shall come under the provisions of the Criminal Code relating to bigamy; and further, if such part remarry outside the jurisdiction of the Parliament of Canada, such remarriage shall be considered, for all purposes, invalid and illegal, and such party remarried shall be considered a bigamist within the territory of Canada.—First reading of Bill in Senate.

SECURE ADVICE OF THE SOLICITOR

Finance Committee Consider the Situation Existing Between City Trust and the Committee

The Finance Committee had a short session yesterday afternoon, when the resolution passed by the City Trust Commission on Monday was read. The commissioners refused to make the grant of $8,500, and the committee decided to get an official opinion from the city solicitor on the matter, and if he states that the commissioners have a legal right to grant the Finance Committee will, in all probability, approach the City Trust.

Chairman Ald. Morrow notified the committee that the City Trust Commission had decided not to grant the request of the Finance Committee to reduce their demand upon the council.

Ald. Bradburn read the section of the act covering this matter, and stated that he would like to have a written opinion from the city solicitor. He moved, and Ald. Phelan seconded that the city solicitor be asked to give his opinion on the legality of the City Trust Commissioners to grant the reduction in their demand upon the council for the purpose intended.—Carried.

When the solicitor's opinion is received there will be another meeting of the Finance Committee.

NEITHER WAS IN POLICE COURT

Complainant and Defendant in Boarding-House Case Both Stayed Away

The case of the young man, named Knapman, who was charged last week with taking his goods away from his boarding house and not paying his board bill was called at the police court this morning.

Neither Knapman or the complainant, Richards, were present and the Magistrate ordered notices served on them to appear when the case is called again.

Percy Eddy, the young Englishman who attempted to commit suicide by taking Paris green in Jacob's "Quick Lunch" Monday evening, left for Cavanville yesterday. He evidently intends to keep his word—go to work and forget his troubles.

HORSE DROWNED IN THE SCUGOG

Mr. Joseph Scott, a resident of the east ward, had the misfortune to lose a valuable horse yesterday afternoon, while drawing wood from down the river to his home.

The accident occurred at the first bend below the brick mill, by the horse breaking through the ice and falling into the cold water. The animal was rescued a few minutes later with the assistance of another man and horse, who were nearby.

He was still living when rescued, but died shortly afterwards, the cold chill causing his death. The loss is a severe one to Mr. Scott, as the animal was a valuable one.—Lindsay Warder.

SET ON ENDING THEIR LIVES

"It is a peculiar thing," remarked a Peterborough druggist to the Review yesterday "how determined people who want to carry out their plans. There is a restriction on morphine, laudanum and other deadly but convenient poisons, if such a word is convenient is permissible. However in their desire to end their lives those inclined to suicide will use rough on rats, paris green or anything else, despite the intense agony they must suffer."

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. Madill desires to announce to the readers of the Review that they have secured the agency for Parisian Sage, the marvelous dandruff cure and delightful hair dressing.

Mr. Madill is glad to state that Parisian Sage is a rigidly guaranteed hair restorer.

It cures dandruff in two weeks by killing the dandruff microbes; it stops falling hair; it cures all scalp diseases, or money back.

It is a most pleasant hair dressing, especially for ladies, as it makes the hair soft and lustrous. The price is only 50 cents a large bottle at W. Madill's Drug Store, George street, Peterborough, or by express, all charges prepaid from Giroux Mfg. Co., Fort Erie, Ont.

WORK STARTED ON NEW LINDSAY DAM

Blasting Operations are Now Going on--Satisfactory Progress

Work Started

Lindsay, March 15.—Blasting operations took place on Monday in the excavation work in connection with the construction of the new locks and dam, and the several blasts discharged in the morning loosened the rock and earth considerably and enabled the men to make satisfactory progress in the work.

Unless something unforseen happens, the operations will not be interrupted by a spring freshet. There is very little snow to melt, as compared with former years, and it is therefore expected that the river will not raise to any noticeable extent.

FOUR CAPTAINS ARE APPOINTED

To Command Boats of Otonabee Navigation Company

The directors of the Otonabee Navigation Company held a meeting last night, when arrangements were partially completed for the coming season. In the early part the company will have four steamers in commission and five the latter part. Capt. White, who is commodore of the fleet, and also marine superintendent of the company, will once more be in command of the steamer Otonabee. Capt. Frewer, who is very popular with the public since his connection with the company, will command the Water Lily. Capt. Harris will again control the steamer Monarch, while a captain for the Manita has not yet been selected.

The work of overhauling the steamer Water Lily will be commenced on Monday, March 29, and as soon as the ice breaks up the boat will be launched to make more room for the construction of the new steel frame boat. The steamer Otonabee will be placed in dry dock below the lift lock and the necessary repairs to her shafting and propellor made.

The Otonabee Navigation Company has set out to make 1909 the banner year for the tourists and travelling public, and also for the company.

MILLINERY OPENING

FINE PROGRAMME AT KINGSTON

Italian Grand Opera Co. Won Much Praise --- Delighted Large and Appreciative Audience

Those who attended last night's performance at the Grand Opera House by the Italian Grand Opera Company enjoyed probably the best operatic performance that has ever been given in the city of Kingston. Nor is this saying too much. One is usually not inclined to expatiate upon Italian opera companies. It is a splendid company from beginning to end. It's principals are essentially high class artists, the chorus is admirably well trained and well balanced the stage settings and mechanical appliances are thoroughly up-to-date, while the company's splendid orchestra of twenty-nine pieces is really exceptionally good. Indeed one would have to go to the very centre of musical things to do better in the way of entertainment than is provided by this company, and it is to be hoped that to-night's performance—with an entire new set of principals—will be well patronized, so that the company may feel disposed to return here as it is planning to do a few weeks hence.

BRANDY CHERRIES ON "BLACK LIST"

Inspector Johnson of Toronto Says They Must Not be Sold

Toronto, March 16— Brandy cherries are the latest delicacy to be brought to the attention of Inspector Johnston, and like the chocolates he says they must not be sold.

"The stone has been removed from this fruit and they are put up in bottles and sold by the grocers," he said. "Their sale is illegal, however, and anyone caught selling them may be prosecuted.

"I have notified the manufacturers about it and they promise to make no more, but that will not save merchants who already have them on their shelves."

The Inspector may also investigate other delicacies like bottled cocktails to see whether they contain liquor.

THE SALARY OF THE INSPECTOR

Editor of the Review

Dear Sir,—In yesterday's edition you had an article from the Toronto News regarding the salaries paid to Public School Inspectors.

The article was somewhat misleading in its reference to Peterborough as it referred to the county and not to the city and instead of the salary mentioned being paid to one Inspector it is paid to two, as the county has two Inspectors.

Such cities as Toronto, Hamilton and Ottawa pay their Public School Inspectors higher salaries than are paid in Peterborough.

It is, however, gratifying to know that both in the counties and in the cities larger salaries are being paid than was the case ten years ago.

Yours truly,
EDUCATIONIST

To-morrow, New Millinery Takes Prominence
In a Beautiful Opening Exhibit

OF all the opening Exhibits of a new season's fashions, the first display of the season takes precedence in feminine interest. No one knows better than fair woman herself that the hat is her crowning glory, and she is anxious to see what newness in shapes, trimmings and colors have been involved.

Ready to Show You To-morrow

Our Millinery Department has entered the realms of Spring. It is in full bloom with new hats—they are the most gracious, most charming, most becoming and bewitching hats that it has ever been our privilege to show or yours to look upon.

SIZES; large, small and "in-between". SHAPES; varied past description, yet all becoming. MATERIALS; straws, some large coarse braid, others of fine, soft weave. TRIMMINGS; flowers in profusion and of every kind, fruit, foliage, feathers ribbons and ornaments of jet, cut beads, etc.

Those are hints, but a poet and a painter with a page of space couldn't depict the almost-fragrant beauty and Spring-like charm of these hats. Your eyes tell you all to-morrow. WELCOME!

STILL HAS A CHANCE TO MAKE A SETTLEMENT

Young Man Accused of Getting a Horse Under False Pretences Given a Chance by the Magistrate This Morning

At the police court this morning Ernest Buck, who was remanded last week on a charge of obtaining a horse on false pretenses from Allan McCarthy, was remanded again until to-morrow morning to allow him to make restitution to Mr. McCarthy, as the horse has since died.

Buck was called to give evidence in his own behalf and said he had no intention of doing wrong. He admitted getting the horse from McCarthy and exchanged it for another one. He did not have the money when the notes fell due, and so could not pay McCarthy for the animal.

Mr. Gordon, who appeared for Buck, asked for a remand until to-morrow morning to allow the parties to come to some agreement, and this was granted by the magistrate.

MR. MOORE REPLIES TO MR. KENDREY

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—I observe a letter from Mr. James Kendrey in the "Review," in which he explains that it is a matter of indifference to the Auburn Company whether they sell their dam or retain it. He opposes the Waterworks By-law though he admitted the need of a new dam at the Board of Trade meeting, which is rather an inconsistent position to take. He complains that the scheme of the Water Commissioners is indefinite yet he does not follow up his assertion with any reason whatever. He also adds that the question is not understood by the Commissioners. This expression will be viewed, I believe, as a little gratuitous in view of the fact that he follows this with no more reason than his former statement. He complains of a want of fuller publication of the by-law. The Commissioners had nothing to do with the publication, but they will endeavor to remedy the defect by publishing in the papers in popular language and not in the legal phraseology of the by-law, the full report of it and of the information they have gathered during the past four years. When this has been done criticism will be in order, and the Commissioners will give every consideration to the written opinions of those who add their names.

Mr. Kendrey objects to "coupling up the water and power." I presume he means the water power for pumping on the western end of the dam and the suggested electrical development for power at the eastern end of it. The Commissioners are trying to attend to the former, which is their affair, for the benefit of water consumers and they have nothing to do in the least degree with the Council's power development. This was explained at the Board of Trade meeting and I now emphasize the fact that the two things are altogether disconnected the one from the other. If the Council's proposal is disproved of by Mr. Kendrey for the want of information or engineer's reports he should vote against the $15000 by-law, and for the other by-law for any reason he has given to the contrary. He seems to say that the Commissioners should not rest on the opinion of one engineer. They have not so rested but have had independent examinations and reports from two, Mr. Keefer and Mr. Kennedy, both eminent in their profession. The substance of these reports will be given later, and any ratepayer can see them in full at the city clerk's office.

It appears to be perfectly clear that Mr. Kendrey has confused two distinct matters and two distinct public bodies, the Water Commissioners and the Council who are working along lines wholly unrelated to each other. If the Council wishes to attach a power plant to the eastern end of the Commissioners' dam they can do so for a consideration to the Commissioners. The latter body has nothing to do with the power proposition of the Council.

W. H. MOORE.

RETURN OF HALLEY'S COMET

On account of the importance attached to Halley's comet and its approaching return to the perihelion in 1910 it will be a matter of interest to readers of the Review to know its general course of approach to the earth and its position to the earth and its position at different periods. The following data has been supplied by Rev Dr Marsh:

April 1st, 1909—right ascension 4 hours 59 minutes and 8 seconds and 14 degrees, 41 minutes and 38 seconds above the equator. Distance from sun 488,000,000 miles; from the earth 522,000,000 miles.

July 1st, 1909—right ascension, 6 hours, 33 minutes, 53 seconds, and 17 degrees, 21 minutes, 23 seconds above the equator. Distance from sun 408,000,000 miles; from the earth 498,000,000 miles.

October 1st, 1909—right ascension 6 hours, 5 minutes, 42 seconds, and 17 degrees, 41 minutes, 6 seconds above the equator. Distance from sun 319,000,000 miles; from the earth 298,000,000 miles.

January 1st, 1910—right ascension 2 hours, 33 minutes, 21 seconds and 13 degrees and 23 seconds above the equator. Distance from sun 218,000,000 miles; from the earth 158,000,000 miles.

March 1st 1910—right ascension 1 hour, 8 minutes, 51 seconds, and 100 degrees 32 minutes and 22 seconds above the equator. Distance from the sun 144,000,000 miles; from earth 202,000,000 miles.

May 16th, 1910—right ascension 6 hours, 44 minutes, 29 seconds, and 16 degrees, 31 minutes, 31 seconds above the equator. Distance from the sun 64,000,000 miles; from the earth 94,000,000 miles.

This comet was observed by Halley in 1835 and its course is about 75 years. Halley figured out that it would be again visible in 1909 and 1910 and already the mathematicians have worked out its location at different periods.

SPORTING NEWS

THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE T.A.S. ATHLETIC CLUB

The annual meeting of the T. A. S. Athletic Club was held last night at the society's rooms. The attendance was large and two important branches of summer sport were discussed. The matter of a football team for the Midland League came in for consideration, and it was left in the hands of the executive to decide whether or not a team would be placed in the league. A communication from the league was read, requesting the T.A.S.A.C. to be represented this year.

A baseball team for the City League was also dealt with, and it is pretty safe to say that the abstainers will have a hardy nine this summer.

The report of the secretary-treasurer, J. J. Hanrahan, was satisfactory, and this year the athletic section promises to enjoy greater prosperity than ever.

The officers elected at last night's meeting were:

Hon. Pres.—Rev. Dr. O'Brien.
Hon. Vice-Pres.—Robt. Begley.
President—J. Picord.
Vice-Pres.—F. Whaley.
Secty-Treas.—Wm. J. O'Brien.
Executive Committee — Messrs. J. Shevlin, J. J. Hanrahan and W. Landry.

HOW SIMPSON AND SHRUBB COMPARE IN PROPORTIONS

Toronto, March 17.—The physical contrast between the two contestants in Saturday night's twelve mile professional race in the Armouries is a remarkable one. Here are some facts and figures;

	Shrubb
Race	Anglo-Saxon
Birthplace	England
Age	31 years
Height	5ft. 6 3-4 in.
Weight	119 lbs.
Chest	32 inches
Calf	12 3-4 inches
Stride	5 ft. 5 in.

	Simpson
Race	Indian
Birthplace	Canada
Age	27 years
Height	5 ft. 11 1-2 in.
Weight	147 lbs.
Chest	38 inches
Calf	14.1 inches
Stride	5 ft. 7 in.

Shrubb worked ten miles in 62.10 at Varsity, paced by relays, on Monday and walked twenty miles yesterday. Simpson jogged for 90 minutes at the Armouries yesterday morning and worked two miles in 10.15 in the afternoon.

Simpson's record for ten miles is not quite as good as Shrubb's, but the circumstances were all against the Indian, who made his mark on a hard board floor, with many turns, while Shrubb ran outdoors, on a fast track of only four laps to the mile.

The plan of seats for Saturday night will open at nine o'clock this morning at Baxter's, corner of Yonge and streets. Accommodation will be provided in the four galleries and in four rows of chairs around the clay track which is ten laps to the mile, accurately surveyed by Major Van Nostrand.

LONGBOAT JOINS SIMPSON.

Tom Longboat came back to Toronto last night and will get to work here. "I want to train with Simpson," he said, "and I am going to do some running with him while he is getting ready for Shrubb. I guess he can beat Shrubb. He's a good man, Simpson; not as good as me; but you see if he don't beat Shrubb." The Onondaga always held a high regard for his own ability.

FIRST ROUND IN BELMONT CLUB POOL TOURNAMENT

The first round in the Belmont club pool tournament will be held at the club tonight. The schedule is a lengthy one and four matches will be played each evening until it is completed.

The winner will obtain the grand prize and also have the distinction of holding the individual club championship.

The draw for this evening's game is as follows:

R Hall vs A Belleghem.
H. Tanney vs L Mendel.
W E Smith vs W T Belleghem.
Geo Armstrong vs E A Wilson.

SPORTING TALK

To-day true Irishmen will drink creme de ment. It is a French liqueur but that must not be lost sight off for it is the only green drink sold.

The hockey season is ended. Now for baseball and lacrosse. Will Peterborough be represented in either game?

BOWLING

The Y.M.C.A. bowling scores last night were as follows:

[illegible]	151	152	150
Laing	146	92	163
[illegible]	93	123	116
Total—1280.
Ridley	115	145	119
Wasson	115	145	99
Warne	106	124	182

TO PLAY TEAMS HAVING BYES

A local paper has published an article to the effect that the proposition of the Petes playing in Toronto against City league teams would not cause the managements at the Hogtown end to fall over themselves in securing the games as they would have to be played through the week instead of Saturday. That is a wrong conception of the proposed arrangement.

There are five teams in the senior league in Toronto. As double headers will be the fixtures for each Saturday one of the teams will have a bye while the other four are playing. The suggestion is to have the locals play in Toronto against the teams that have the byes and on Saturdays and to bring a Toronto team here for a game once in a while.

Two, possibly three, C.P.R. steamers are to be built at Esquimalt for the Pacific coast service.

BACHELORS AND BENEDICTS HAD A DRAWN GAME

Exciting Game at Keene Wound up With the Score Five All---Some of the Features

Special to the Review.

Keene, March 16.—A very fast and exciting hockey match was played in the Keene skating arena last night, when the Bachelors and Benedicts clashed for village honors. After a very strenuous struggle the game resulted in a tie 5 all. At half time the Benedicts led by 4-0. The game was very fast throughout and showed that Keene has some brilliant material.

The game started with Cobalt Moore and Chittery Gall at centre. Gall getting the puck, dived for his opponents goal. He had advanced about five yards when something like a house loomed up in front of him and poor Chittery took the count for five seconds. Waxie McFarlane seeing his opportunity made a sudden dive for the puck, side stepped and sat down. Hockey Kenneally official referee sent him to the fence for two minutes for geting in his way A lively dispute followed but Waxie was shown the error of his ways and finally decorated the time keepers dock.

At the face off Cobalt Moore gained possession and after a pretty rush unassisted along the boards scored for the Benedicts in five minutes.

The play after this was very fast with honors about even and both goals were often in danger but the brilliant work of Pony Moore and Singer Norman in the nets kept either team from scoring.

The Benedicts however showed better form and team work and Barber Quinn after a mix up in front of the nets shoved one past Singer in ten minutes.

At this stage of the game both teams began to mix it up and hockey Kenneally had his hands full handing out penalties.

Saw-bones McWilliams went off for ten minutes for falling. Pony Moore got two minutes for resting on his cranium and Boathouse Dainton got two minutes for missing the puck. The Benedicts, however, handicapped as they were, pulled themselves together and Trap Shot Dinsdale and Horse trainer Elmhirst after some pretty combination work, scored in seven minutes.

With only two minutes to play until half time Cobalt Moore and Waxie McFarlane advanced wedge-fashion, carrying the puck between them for another goal just as Referee Kenneally announced the breathing spell. The half time score, Benedicts 1, Bachelors 0.

After ten minutes hard earned rest the two teams came back as strong as ever, the only change being that Disgrace Spiers replaced Boathouse Dainton who evidently found the life of the athlete too hard.

Chittery got the puck on the face off and was going right through for a goal but the bulky form of Saw-Bones was in the way and saved. He however, was put off for interfering with Chittery when about to score. In the struggle in front of the nets the Benedicts scored their first goal Stout Jack Elmhirst doing the trick.

This seemed to give the Bachelors courage and inside of five minutes had scored four more goals giving them a lead of one.

The Benedicts however, had no idea of giving up and just as Hockey Kenneally dinged the gong they slammed one past Singer, tying the score.

The final score stood 5-5.

The line-up was;

Benedicts		Bachelors
	Goal
Pony Moore		Singer Norman
	Point
Saw-Bones McWilliams		Disgrace Spiers
		Boathouse Dainton

WRESTLING

The Toronto Star says;—Yussif Mahmout's chances of defeating Frank Gotch for the wrestling championship of the world next month in Chicago are considered to be of a roseate hue. It will be Gotch's first real battle since he won the honors from Hackenschmidt a year ago, and in view of the unsatisfactory outcome of that match there will be a whole lot of people, especially in Canada, pulling for the Turk.

Mahmout has a record as long as your arm and the experts say he is duplicate of the original "Terrible Turk" who was drowned at sea, except that he is a man of ordinary size whereas his predecessor was a giant. Mahmout is said to be a wonder on the mat and not a bit afraid of Gotch's famous toe hold.

Yankee Rogers has shown some class in his Toronto matches and it will be interesting to note how he fares with a wrestler of real championship calibre. Mahmout has undertaken to throw Rogers twice in an hour, a formidable proposition for any wrestler, as even Gotch will admit and the 60 minutes should be full of thrilling incidents. The contest will take place on Thursday night at 10.30 o'clock at the Star Theatre, on the conclusion of the regular show, with which it has no connection. Mahmout will arrive Thursday morning from Buffalo.

Sold Liquor Illegally.

North Bay, March 17.—Fred Mark, a Chinaman, was fined $50 and costs for selling beer without a license, and in the afternoon, while he was running around town escorted by the chief of police, to raise money to pay the fine, the bailiffs took possession of his shop.

The proprietor of the Mackie House was fined on four charges of selling liquor without a license.

Operatives of the Canadian Detective Bureau laid the information.

COULDN'T BUY OFF SIMPSON

Longboat Wanted to Take Place of Peterborough Indian Against Shrubb

Tommy Longboat pulled another funny one yesterday, when he found the crowd in Toronto all talking of the Shrubb-Simpson 12 mile race at the Armories' Saturday night. He hunted Shrubb up and gravely offered to take Simpson's place and pay Simpson his own price to drop out.

"Get out, man!" returned Alfie. I'm not running easy marks."

"I'll beat you," returned the Onondaga as much as a wet hen.

"Why man, in your present condition Simpson will beat you and do it easily," said Shrubb. "I've got a real runner to beat here Saturday night. There would be no honor in beating you as you are now. Get in shape and I'll run you two weeks after the Marathon Derby."

When Simpson heard of Longboat's temerity he remarked:—"The nerve of him. I've got my chance now. Do you think I would sell it out? No chance. I'm out to win or go into the athletic discard."

Tom Eck simply smiles and says: "This is the year for dark horses. Remember Jack Johnson and Tommy Burns and Tom Longboat and Alf. Shrubb in the Marathon, and St. Mickes' hockey team and Kingston 14th. All considered lemons in their big events but every one came home on the bit. Watch my Ojibway Saturday night. If Shrubb beats him he'll step faster than he ever stepped 12 miles on this continent."—Toronto Star.

HELP YOUR FAVORITE TO-DAY TUESDAY WILL BE TOO LATE

All Subscribers, Either New or Old, Can Secure Voting Certificates for Their Favorite by Paying on Their Subscription Accounts. Old Subscribers Are Entitled to Voting Certificates Upon Payments of Old or Regular Subscription Accounts—Secure a Voting Certificate and Help Your Favorite.

The time has come when the little playfulness has been dropped, and contestants are now assuming a serious expression that means business from this time forth. Many who have been holding back votes are now forging to the front. Some of them want to get there in one leap, others are satisfied to make a steady, methodical advance. It's merely a difference in campaign methods.

Some are still "under cover" with a nice little bunch of certificates that count so much, while others are voting close up to their full strength. However, all of the contestants are more than pleased with their own accomplishment to date, but it will require solid and united effort on the part of their friends to enable them to maintain their position when the final count is made Monday evening. There will be many surprises; of that we are sure. Who will be the surprised parties we really do not know. The contest is still to be won.

The generous support given all the candidates is proof that all are worthy contestants for the great honors that are to be bestowed upon the most successful.

It would be well for those who feel that they are sure winners to remember that the "other fellows" feel just as sure of winning as they do.

There never was a more even fight waged by a bunch of hustlers than the one now on, and the victory is still to be won.

The next few days' work must determine the winners in the great contest. Don't hesitate to call on your friends for their support, as no one is at present anywhere near safe.

Everybody seems to recognize the fact that the vote will be very much larger than it was at first expected, and a strenuous scramble for votes is being made by all desirous of winning. No contestant is in more danger of defeat than those who feel their position secure, and are content to stop and rest where they are, while some one else keeps busy and walks off with the coveted prize. The way to win, and the only way, is to keep constantly at it.

All the candidates who have made an effort will feel proud of the generous support of their many friends. It is now your duty to your friends to "keep a-going" and make their efforts count for something. Be a winner.

THE LAST, "THE MAIN, CHANCE" FOR ALL CANDIDATES

EACH CANDIDATE sending or bringing $10 worth of NEW subscriptions to the Review Office before 8 o'clock, on March 22nd, the close of the Contest, will be given a special certificate for 4,000 EXTRA VOTES, in addition to the regular certificates. The amount may be made up in any manner—Daily or Weekly subscription. All that is necessary is that the sum amounts to $10, and that it be NEW.

For each $10 worth of OLD subscriptions turned in until the end of the Contest a special certificate for 2,000 EXTRA VOTES will be given. This also in addition to the regular votes.

Every subscription turned in since March 8 will be counted. It is not necessary to hold back the money until you have $10. Turn the subscriptions in as you get them, and when the amount reaches $10, the certificate will be issued—and it may be voted at once or held as desired.

No other offer of any kind will be made during the Contest.

Simple Home Mixture Relieves Kidney and Bladder and Rheumatism

The great majority of men and women at the age of 50 years begin to feel the first signs of advancing age in some form of kidney trouble and bladder weakness. Few are entirely free from that tortuous disease, rheumatism which is not a disease in itself, but a symptom of deranged function of the kidneys which have become clogged and sluggish, failing in their duty of sifting and straining the poisonous waste matter, uric acid, etc., from the blood, permitting it to remain and decompose, settling about the joints and muscles, causing intense pain and suffering.

The bladder however, causes the old folks the most annoyance, especially at night and early morning.

Hundreds of readers who suffer will find the following which is known as the Dandelion mixture, the most harmless and effective treatment to clean the system of rheumatic poisons, remove irritation of the bladder and relieve urinary difficulties of the old people. It is a true vitalizing tonic to the entire kidney and urinary structure, reinvigorating the entire system.

The Dandelion mixture consists of the following simple prescription, the ingredients of which can be obtained from any good pharmacy at small cost:—Compound Kargon one ounce; Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Shake well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and upon going to bed also drink plenty of water.

This prescription, though simple, is always effective in the diseases and afflictions of the kidneys and bladder and rheumatism.

Jane Cable

... By ...

GEORGE BARR McCUTCHEON,

Author of "Beverly of Graustark," Etc.

COPYRIGHT, 1908, BY DODD, MEAD & COMPANY

He sought honestly to justify himself in the hope that Bansemer's life could be saved after all.

"Leave me alone with the doctor, Miss Cable," he said. She was kneeling beside the man on the cot. Without a word, but with a dark, appealing look into the Virginian's eyes, she arose and went swiftly away. "What chance has this poor fellow, doctor?"

"None whatever, sir. He'll be dead in an hour. I'm sorry on her account. Strange case. I've heard she belongs to a fine family in the east. Poor devil, he's got an awful hole in his side."

"Have you made a careful examination? Is it possible that no vital spot has been touched?"

"We haven't had time for a thorough examination. It was better not to waste the time on him when there were others whom we have a chance to save."

"You will oblige me, doctor, by giving him the quickest and most careful attention. There may be a chance. He is one of the bravest men in the army. Don't let him die if there is a chance for him. Miss—er—the nurse—has asked if he can be moved today."

"No. But wait; I don't see why, if it will satisfy her. He will die anyhow, so why not tell her that we will start south with him tomorrow?"

"It isn't fair. She should be told the truth."

"He'd die, that's all—anyway you put it."

"You will make the examination?"

"Yes, in—at once."

"But you—you feel that it is hopeless?"

"Certainly, sir."

"I'm—I'm sorry," said Bray, walking away. The doctor looked after him with a queer expression in his eyes and then called his confrere to the pallet.

Bray found Jane waiting for him outside the door. Teresa Velasquez was standing beside her, holding her hand.

"What does he say?" cried Jane, gray with anguish.

"He cannot be moved. There is no—but little hope, Miss Cable. They are to make another examination."

"He must be saved! He must! Let me go to him now. I will help. I will give my life to save his," she cried. Bray stood between her and the door, his arms extended.

"Don't go in now, I implore. Wait. There may be good news."

"He is everything in the world to me!" she moaned.

"Come with me," whispered Teresa. Bray looked at the Spanish girl, and a new light broke in upon his understanding. What was this refugee to Bansemer? The answer shot into his brain like a flash, and he turned cold.

"Miss Cable, I think I understand your anxiety," he said, his voice trembling. "Won't you let this young lady take you away for half an hour or"—

"But I am a nurse. Why should I be kept from him? I am here to care for all of them," she protested.

"You are not fit to do duty just now," he said, "Miss Cable, I understand why you are here. It is noble of you. I am truly sorry that there is so little hope." He was leading her away from the building, leaving Teresa standing there with her eyes fastened upon the door with a look that could not be mistaken. "I would give my own life to have his spared for your sake, Jane. Forgive me, I would willingly give all I have in life for you. But I am afraid it is impossible to save him."

"Don't say that," she whispered.

"You—you would be his wife?" he asked.

"No, that cannot be. I could not be his wife."

"You mean he is married?"

"No, no, not that! You can't understand. I can never marry him. Never!"

Bray struggled for a moment with the puzzle. His eyes went slowly to Teresa. Then he suddenly understood why Jane Cable would not marry the man she had come to find. He asked no questions of himself, but Teresa would have been the result of every conjecture had he done so.

"He might better be dead," he thought, his eyes hardening. "She's found him out. Gad, I hope"— But he put it from him.

Graydon Bansemer did not die within the hour nor that day. The careful examination of the surgeons gave little additional hope. It did, however, reveal the fact that no vital organ had been destroyed or injured. The ball had torn a great hole in his left side and had gone through the body. Probing was not necessary. The flow of blood was frightful. There was a spark of life left on which to build a frail hope, and they worked with new interest.

The attention of every one was directed to this tragic struggle. The efforts of all were lent to the successful end. Jane Cable, dogged and tireless, came to be his nurse now that the life thread still held together. It is not the purpose of this narrative to dwell upon the wretched, harrowing scenes and incidents of the wilderness hospital—the misery of those who watched and waited for death, the dread and suffering of those who gave this anxiety, the glow of spiritual light which hovered above the forms of men who had forgotten their God until now.

The first night passed. There were sleepless eyes to keep company with the faint moans and the scent of chloroform. Over the figure of Graydon Bansemer hung the eager, tense face of Jane Cable. Her will and mind were raised against the hand of death. Down in her soul she was crying, "You shall not die!" and he was living, living on in spite of death. The still, white face gave back no sign of life. A faint pulse and an almost imperceptible respiration told of the unbroken thread. Hoping against hope!

Dawn came and night again, and still the almost breathless girl urged her will against the inevitable. She had not slept nor had she eaten of the food they brought to her. Two persons, a soldier and a girl, stood back and marveled at her endurance and devotion. The harassed surgeons, new in experience themselves, found time to minister to the seeming dead man, their interest not only attracted by his remarkable vitality, but by the romance attached to his hope of living.

That night he moved, and a low moan came from his lips. The goddess of good luck had turned her face from the rest of the world for a brief instant to smile upon this isolated supplicant for favor. Jane's eyes and ears had served her well at last. She caught the change in him, and her will grasped the hope with more dogged tenacity than before. The word went out that there was a chance for him. Her vigil ended when Bray came to lead her away—ended because she dropped from exhaustion.

The next morning, after a dead sleep of hours, she returned to his side. The surgeon smiled, and the nurse clasped her hands with tears in her eyes. Bansemer was breathing thickly and tossing in delirium. It was as if he had been lifted from the grave.

Lieutenant Bray was seated in front of the convent late that evening, moodily studying his own emotions. Teresa, still attired as she had been for weeks, hung about the chapel with the persistence of a friendless dog. He watched her and pitied her, even as he pitied himself for the wound he was nursing. What was to become of her? He called her to him.

"Senorita, they say he is better. Tell me, does it mean much to you?"

"Oh, senor, he has been noble and good and honorable. If he lives I shall always hold these weeks with him in absolute reverence."

"Then she does not understand?"

"She? What is there for her to understand? She loves him and he loves her. That is enough."

"She says she will not marry him. There must be a reason."

The girl's face darkened instantly and her breath came quickly.

"You—you think that I am the reason? Is it so? Because I am here in these hateful clothes? You would say that to me? How dare you!"

She burst out with tears of rage and shame and fled from his sight.

Jane came rapidly through the church door, out of the gloom and odor into the warm sunshine and the green glow of the world, her face bright, her eyes gleaming.

"He is conscious!" she cried. "He knows me!"

CHAPTER XXV.

WHEN Graydon Bansemer opened his eyes upon the world for the second time—it was as if he had been born again—he looked up into the eager, wistful face of Jane Cable. It was too much for her to expect that he could see and understand at once. He would not know what had gone before nor why she was there. His feeble glance took in her face with lifeless interest. Perhaps it was because he had seen her in that deathlike dream. Perhaps his weakness kept him from true realization. "In" any event, he did no more than to allow the flicker of a smile to come into his eyes before he closed them again. Breathlessly she waited for the lids to lift once more. She uttered his name softly, tenderly, time and again. As if hearing some one calling from a great distance he moved and again looked upward, the consciousness of pain in his gray eyes. This time he stared hard at her. His eyes grew brighter and then darkened with wonder. At last she saw the look of surprise and joy and relief that she had been hungering for. He knew her, and he was beginning to understand.

If he heard her while she knelt and thanked God for this first great ray of hope he gave forth no sign. When she turned her eyes to his face again he was asleep. But she went forth into the day with a song in her heart.

She looked about for Teresa. The girl was gone, no one knew whither. Bray alone could say that she had started toward the thicket. He pointed out the direction, but did not offer to accompany Jane when she hurried away to carry the good news to the Spanish girl who had been her stanch helper during the long vigil. Bray shook his puzzled head as he followed her with his gaze. It had come to him suddenly that the Spanish girl was not the solution to the puzzle after all.

WILL MAKE A FIGHT FOR LOWER RATES ON FREIGHT

A meeting of the Manufacturers' Committee was held yesterday afternoon when the matter of freight rates was taken up.

Ald. Gillespie, the chairman, stated that there was quite a difference between the freight rates of Peterborough and surrounding towns on coal, and he thought that it was about time something was done here. The very high coal freight rates to the city was one of the hardest propositions the city had to go up against in securing new industries.

For instance the distance from Black Rock to Toronto is 101 miles, and the rate is 60c. per ton. From Toronto to Peterborough on the G.T.R. is 94 miles and the rate is 65c. or from Black Rock to Peterborough $1.25 per ton.

This is about 1 1-2 cents a ton per mile more than is paid by Lindsay.

It was stated that when this city has water connection to Lake Ontario, coal will be delivered here at 90 cents per ton, the same rate as paid by Belleville. Belleville is 210 miles from Black Rock, and the rate is 90c. per ton. Peterborough is 194 miles from Black Rock and the rate is $1.25 per ton.

It was moved that the Manufacturers' Committee take the matter of freight rates up with the Railway Commission and the railway companies and that the Board of Trade be requested to co-operate. This motion was carried.

IRISH HYMNS AND MUSIC AT ST. PETER'S THIS MORNING

Irish music and hymns were given at St. Peter's cathedral this morning in honor of it being St. Patrick's Day. The first mass was celebrated by his Lordship Bishop O'Connor at 7.30, when the school children sang hymns and the organist played Irish airs.

The last mass was sung at 9 o'clock by Rev. Father McColl. There was a large attendance at both masses.

The convent and Separate schools of the city had a religious observance of the day.

Eugene Sue's Vanity.

Notwithstanding the extraordinary literary success which he enjoyed when his works were the vogue, Eugene Sue posed much more as a man of fashion than a man of letters. After his dinner at the Cafe de Paris he would gravely stand on the steps smoking his cigar and listening to the conversation with an air of superiority without attempting to take part in it. His mind was supposed to be far away, devising schemes for the social and moral improvement of his fellow creatures. These philanthropic musings did not prevent him from paying a great deal of attention—too much perhaps—to his personal appearance, for even in those days of beaus, bucks and dandies, of Counts d'Orsay and others, men could not help thinking Eugene Sue overdressed.

CATARRH DESTROYED MY APPETITE.

PERUNA rarely fails to restore the appetite. Immediately upon beginning the use of Peruna patients begin to eat and digest. This is the universal testimony, coming from all parts of the civilised world.

Catarrh is a very frequent cause of loss of appetite and disturbed digestion. The beneficial influence of Peruna on catarrh completely restores the appetite in such cases.

To prod the digestive organs with medicines that are merely stimulants is a poor way to remedy such cases.

"I am now cured and cheerful in spirits, all through the agency of Peruna, which has cured me effectually and restored my appetite.

"My only regret is that I did not use Peruna sooner and I would have avoided all my previous suffering and misery."

—Mr. Joseph H. Conlan.

Removed Catarrh, Restored Appetite.

Mr. Joseph H. Conlan, 487 7th Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y., writes:

"I suffered from catarrh which completely destroyed my appetite and weakened my entire system.

"I am now cured and cheerful in spirits, all through the agency of Peruna, which has cured me effectually and restored my appetite.

"My only regret is that I did not use Peruna sooner and I would have avoided all my previous suffering and misery."

Torpid Liver, Stomach Trouble.

Mr. James O'Byrne, 628 Madison St., Topeka, Kas., conductor Sante Fe Railway and member Order of Railway Conductors, writes:

"I suffered with a torpid liver and stomach trouble, which made my complexion very sallow, and I felt miserable and tired all the time.

"An aunt wrote me that she was taking Peruna with such good results that she advised me to try it, and I finally bought a bottle, although I disliked to take patent medicines.

"However, I found Peruna very agreeable to take, and effective, as I felt better in a week. I took only five bottles in all and I found that was all I needed.

"I am most grateful to you for what your medicine has done for me."

Dysentery Entirely Relieved.

Mr. W. N. Casey, Leamington, Ill., writes:

"In two weeks after beginning your treatment I was well. I used nine bottles of Peruna. My case was bowel trouble or dysentery.

"I also tried Peruna for a cough, according to directions, and it exceeds any cough syrup I ever used.

"I wish every one afflicted would give Peruna a trial."

Pe-ru-na as a Tonic.

Capt. R. B. Smith, Greensboro, Ga., writes:

"After using several bottles of Peruna I can recommend it as one of the best catarrh medicines on the market. As a tonic it has no equal.

"Peruna is all that is claimed for it."

Catarrh of Stomach.

Mr. Henry Neely, First Lieutenant, Co. "F," 88th Regiment, O. V. I., Box 623, Trenton, Mo., writes: "I suffered for years with catarrh of the stomach. Seeing an advertisement of Peruna, I bought a bottle and every dose made me feel better. Seven bottles completely cured me."

SOME IMPORTANT CHANGES IN U.S. TARIFF AFFECTING CANADA

New Tariff Bill Presented to Congress To-day—Increases Have Been Placed on Luxuries—Some Reductions Are Made

Special to J. N Barber.

Washington, March 17—In the new tariff bill presented to Congress today the duty on steel rails and most other steel is reduced fifty per cent. Iron ore is placed on the free list. Coffee is left free and no change made in the tax on beer. Refined sugar is reduced five cents per hundred pounds. Hides are free and duty on shoes is reduced 40 per cent. Lumber reduced 50 per cent. Coal is placed on a reciprocal basis and so are agricultural implements. They will be received free from any country that admits free similar articles from this country. Wool of the first and second class remains at unchanged rates. The same is true of oil. A tax of eight cents a pound is levied on tea coming from the country where it is produced and nine cents coming from other countries. In the Dingley law, tea is on the free list. The rates are increased on window glass of large size and reduced on the small sizes. The great part of the increases have been placed on luxuries and cuts have been made where they thought they would increase the revenue to best advantage. The bill includes the inheritance tax. The rates on direct inheritance are on inheritances from $10,000 to $100,000, one per cent, from $100,000 to $500,000 two per cent, and over $500,000, three per cent collateral relatives, and strangers receiving inheritance will pay five per cent on all amount over five hundred. The bill authorizes the issue of treasury certificates to the amount of $250,000,000 to run for one year.

Pig iron is reduced from four dollars per ton to two fifty. Lead bearing ore, lead contents thereof reduced from 1 1-2 to 1 cent a pound, Tin blocks or pigs from 1 1-2 to 1 cent a pound, in sheets from two cents to 1 1-2 cents a pound. White lead, white paint, and pigment contained reduced from 2 7-8 to 2 3-8 cents a pound. Varnishes from 35 to 25 per cent ad valorem. Lead dressed in bullion, lead in pigs and bars bullion reduced from 2 1-8 to 1 1-2 a pound.

The full iron and steel schedule in the tariff bill is as follows:—

Iron ore and base, slag reduced from $40 per ton to the free list; pig iron from $4 to $2.50 per ton; scrap iron and steel from $4 to 50 cents per ton; bar iron from 6-10 of one per cent to 4-10 of one cent per pound; charcoal iron from $12 to $6 per ton; beams, girders, angles, etc. from 5-10 of one cent to 3-10 of one cent per pound; iron and steel forgings from 35 per cent to 30 per cent advalorem; hoop iron or steel and steel bands and strips reduced in rates from 30 to 50 per cent; steel rails and railway bars from $7 to $3.50 per ton; tin plates from 1 1-2 cent to 1 2-10 a pound; steel ingots, blooms, slabs, etc., valued at 1 cent a pound or less from 3-10 of 1 cent a pound to 7-40; valued above 3 cents a pound, 35 per cent advalorem; round iron or steel wire not smaller than No. 13 wire gauge from 1 1-4 cent a thousand to 1 cent on such material valued over 4 cents a pound. The duty shall not be less than 40 cents advalorem; cast-iron pipe from 4-10 to 1-4 of one cent a pound, boiler tubes if not less than 3-8 of an inch in diameter from 2 cents to 1 cent a pound; wire nails no tighter than 16 guage from 4-2 to 1-4 cents a pound; tighter than 16 guage from 1 cent to 1-2 cent a pound; cut nails and spikes from 6-10 to 5-10 of one cent a lb. Rivets from 2 cents to 1 1-4 cents a pound.

Fear For Roosevelt.

New York, March 17.—The World prints this cablegram from London, which was written by The Daily Chronicle correspondent at Milan:

"The Italian police are in a state of trepidation over Mr. Roosevelt's arrival in Naples early in April and they learn with dismay that the ex-President's wife and three children intend to sojourn in Southern Italy until June."

Morgan's Daughter to Open Cafe.

New York, March 17.—Miss Anne Morgan, daughter of J. Pierpont Morgan, is going to start a restaurant. It will be opened about May 1, and will accommodate seven hundred men. The object of the restaurant will be to provide for the men who work at the navy yard in Brooklyn better food at less money than they have to pay now.

Children Sent Home.

Montreal, March 17.—Twenty per cent. of the school children here were refused admission to the public schools yesterday morning owing to their not being vaccinated. There is a great prevalence of smallpox at present.

Delisle, Miss C., Caughnawagha, scalp wounds.

Wells, Jonah, 244 Guy street, Montreal, bruises.

Bock, Wm., C. P. R. interpreter, Montreal, pinned in wreckage, legs badly bruised, doing well.

Unknown farmer, fracture at base of skull, will recover.

No one in the runaway train was killed, all the fatalities occurring in the waiting-rooms, into which the engine plowed. Two of the dead were little girls, who were waiting with their parents for an outgoing train.

The accident has features unique in railway annals. After an investigation held in the C.P.R. offices shortly after the accident, Vice-President D. McNichol gave out the following explanatory statement, based on the examination of witnesses:

"While the night express from Boston was approaching Montreal this morning a plug blew out of the engine boiler between Montreal Junction and Westmount Station with a loud report. The plug was on the side of the cab, where the fireman sat, and he was at once enveloped in scalding steam.

"The fireman at once concluded that something serious had happened and jumped from the cab window into a snow bank. He then got up and followed the train, walking along the track, and found that Engineer Cunningham had also jumped from the cab about half a mile further on. He, however, found that the engineer had not been so fortunate as himself in jumping, and that he was lying unconscious beside the track with a fractured skull.

The train dashed into the station at a speed of over 20 miles an hour. Speeding along track 7, which ends at the wall of the ladies' waiting-room, the engine ripped through the wall as though it were cardboard and careened through the room, dragging with it the heavy coaches crowded with passengers. The engine smashed its way through the second wall and across the general waiting-room, ripping up the tile flooring and opening a gap through which the truck of the baggage car fell to the floor below.

The outside wall facing Donegana street yielded to the impact of the pilot of the engine, and a shower of masonry clattered to the street below.

The victims were in the waiting-room, in which the engine was left standing erect, but twisted into an almost unrecognizable mass of iron and thickly plastered with dust and fragments of stone.

There were about 15 persons in the general waiting-room, while in the ladies' waiting-room, close to the wall nearest the track, sat a little girl waiting for the train. There was little warning of danger. A tremendous crash stupified them and in a moment the air was filled with flying pieces of stone and metal.

The injured were borne out on stretchers as soon as they could be reached, and were removed to the General, Notre Dame and Royal Victoria Hospitals.

Mabel Murdock, a girl in the ladies' waiting-room, was hurled through the northern door and picked up unconscious 30 feet away. She was not severely injured.

Among the injured are Don Garlepy, the oldest hotel porter in Montreal. His legs are broken.

It is estimated that the damage to the C.P.R. may reach $150,000. The engine is a complete wreck.

The Windsor Station was built over 20 years ago, and this is the first fatal accident to occur. It is an elevated station, the trains entering on a level with the second floor of the station.

The Grand Trunk had a somewhat similar catastrophe at its Montreal terminal Bonaventure Station, about seven years ago, when the Boston express ran over the stop block and hurled itself against the solid walls of the station.

Fort William demands a better train service on the Canadian Northern.

IT CANNOT BE FINISHED ON FRIDAY

Hamilton, March 18.—All hope of closing the Kinrade inquest on Friday evening has been abandoned, and it is now proposed to adjourn after hearing the medical testimony Friday evening, and probably some other witnesses, until Monday afternoon, and to continue the enquiry until all the evidence that the police have been able to gather is submitted. Unless there are developments it is likely the enquiry will be kept open for some time in the hope that new evidence may be secured.

The police yesterday failed to find any trace of the revolver in the sewer pipe leading from the Kinrade home. It was found that there was no trap, so that there is no obstruction between the house and the sewer.

Miss McLellan, 94 Herkimer street, says that she saw Mrs. Kinrade leaving her home on the afternoon of the murder at about 3.20. She remembers the time because she was waiting for a friend to call. It had been arranged that the friend was to call at 3 o'clock, and she was 25 minutes late. Miss McLellan says she saw Mrs. Kinrade leaving the house a few minutes before the friend called.

Mrs. Rudd, 76 Charles street, who claims to know the Kinrade family well, says she saw Ethel Kinrade pass the corner of Charles and Jackson street at 3 o'clock on the afternoon of the murder.

ENGINEER IS DEAD

Mark Cunningham Dies as Result of Accident at Montrerl—Death List Numbers Five.

Special to the Review.

Montreal, March 18—Mark Cunningham, the engineer of the ill-fated Boston express which crashed into the waiting room of the Windsor street station yesterday morning, as the result of an accident to the locomotive, died at the General Hospital this morning, never having regained consciousness.

This makes the fifth death. Large gangs of workmen labored all night at the station removing the debris. The express car which partly overhung Donegan street, had to be practically torn to pieces to get it away. The rest of the train was more easily moved but the big mogul still stands in the centre of the waiting room.

LATE TICKS FROM WIRES

Albert Baxter of Melvin's Settlement, Winchester Township, shot a big black bear the other day. He was after a lot of wood when his dog located the bear.

IS GETTING ALONG WELL

Legislature at Toronto Making Good Progress With Business of the Province.

Toronto, March 18.—The Legislature put through a deal of routine business yesterday. A full representation of out-of-town members enabled many bills to advance, and a considerable portion of the estimates were passed.

J. J. Craig (East Wellington) asked the House to amend the Public Schools Act. Sir William Macdonald had now withdrawn a large part of his support to the Guelph Consolidated School, and the burden on the township was so heavy that there was a danger of the entire system being impaired.

W. D. McPherson moved the second reading of a bill to improve and make certain tax titles.

The Attorney-General said the proposals were valuable, and, even if the bill did not become law this session, it should at any rate be discussed by the legal committee.

A bill to permit chartered banks to receive the amount payable for taxes was given a second reading.

G. W. Sulman moved the second reading of a bill to amend the Municipal Act by defining the word "wholesaler."

Mr. Macdonald moved the second reading of his bill to empower municipalities to produce and sell steam for heating.

In committee of supply the Premier declined repeatedly to permit any part of the estimates under consideration to stand over.

Hon. Mr. Hanna found some difficulty in explaining why London Asylum required about $3,300 for a year's supply of coal now and only $2,000 in 1908.

The Minister of Education was successful in getting most of the estimates through without discussion, and the Provincial Secretary had the sums for maintenance of public institutions passed.

Three bills were introduced to amend the Municipal Act by Messrs. Bradburn, Bowyer and Gallagher.

WELL-KNOWN BUSINESS MEN WILL ACT AS THE JUDGES

At the Final Count in the Review's European Tour and Diamond Contest—Count Will be Held at Y.M.C.A. Board Room.

All newspaper ballots to count, must be voted Saturday. All voting certificates that have been issued, to count, must be in the ballot box at the Review office by 8 o'clock next Monday night the end of the contest.

Contestants should turn in their subscription books by 7 o'clock next Monday night in order to avoid the last rush, as all money for subscriptions must be in before the ballot box is closed. Come in early and give the office force ample time to make out the voting certificates.

The final count of the votes will be made by the contest committee at the Y.M.C.A. board room. All contestants and their friends are invited to be present.

Every person holding voting certificates can vote them any time up to eight o'clock next Monday night. All candidates should keep busy.

JUDGES

Mr. E. B. Fowler, secretary of the Canadian Cordage Manufacturing Company.

Mr. A. W. Cressman of Cressman's.

Mr. T. H. G. Denne, purchasing agent of the Quaker Oats Company.

Mr. W. H. Casement postmaster of Lakefield.

Mr. Frank Moher reeve of Douro.

Mr. F. Woolcombe, of Norwood.

The above committee of well-known men will be the judges of the entire count and will award the prizes.

The awards will be made exclusively by the committee. They will be sole and final judges.

Certificates issued to any one candidate can not be voted for any other candidate. Every contestant is hereby protected against any number of candidates combining against them.

Halley's Comet

Rev. Dr. Marsh, of Springville, has a copy of a drawing of Halley's comet made in 684 A.D. According to this drawing this wanderer at that time had a bright head and short tail. When observed by Halley the comet had a long tail, so apparently there has been a change in the shape of the comet since the days of the early astronomers.

Husband Deserts on Train.

Kingston, March 18.—A young Jewish woman, named Ilverstein, born in Germany, arrived here with her child, both destitute. She says her husband and child were on route to Dakota. When she woke up in the train at Sharbot Lake she found that her husband had deserted her. She will be helped to Toronto.

DISAGREEMENT ENDS TRIAL

Switchman McGuire is Not Likely to be Tried Again.

Brantford, March 18.—The trial of Jos. McGuire, the Grand Trunk switchman indicted for criminal negligence and manslaughter, ended last night in a disagreement by the jury, which stood 7 to 5 for acquittal.

Justice MacMahon traversed the case to the next Assize Court, but it is not thought likely that the crown will again press for conviction.

Grand Trunk officials and employes gave evidence, blaming the prisoner for the Mount Vernon wreck, in which three were killed, on account of his neglecting to protect the yard engine, which he sent out to assist the freight train up grade, from an outgoing train. The specific rule of the company stated that he, as yard foreman, would be held responsible for the safe return of his engine.

KAWARTHA SUMMER SCHOOL TO BE HELD AT CHEMONG

Date Has Been Set, July 5th to 12th—Programme is Now Being Arranged—The Officers for 1909.

The Kawartha summer school will be held at Chemong Park, July 25th, to 12th. The preliminary arrangements have already been made and it is expected that the attendance this year will be larger than at any past school.

The officers of the school for 1909 are as follows:

President—Rev W G Clarke, B.A., Port Hope.

Vice-president —Rev O E Cragg, Foxboro.

Secretary-Treasurer — Rev. W P. Rogers, Millbrook.

Business Manager —Rev A H. Foster, Castleton.

Registrar—Miss Nina Sherin, Lakefield.

The programme for the school is now being arranged and among the prominent clergymen who have been secured to give instruction are the following: Prof. McLaughlin, of Victoria University, who will take up Bible study; Rev. Prof. Dousee, of Albert College, Belleville, who will deal with mission study; Rev. Frank Hardy, missionary from India, and Rev J. J. Stewart, BA, BD, returned missionary from China.

WORK WILL BE STARTED ON NEW LINE DURING THE COMING SUMMER

President Shaughnessy Makes Important Statement Regarding C.P.R. Line From Victoria Harbor to Peterborough.

A Toronto despatch says:—"Electricity is sure to become a great factor in the motive power question and as it becomes more practical developments will follow which will go a very long way, indeed, towards the solution of the dangerous problem" said Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, in an interview in his private car at the Union station last night. The president went on to say that at present the white coal as a generator of power is impracticable because there was no way of storing it.

The president went on chatting of wrecks and their causes. "If the men would only carry out the simple rules laid down for them by the company there would be a great falling off in the number of wrecks" said he. "We are adopting every reasonable mechanical device that will aid in the prevention of accidents. As soon as a stretch of road justifies double-tracking or carries sufficient traffic to install the block system it is done immediately."

The president stated that this year would see much more construction than was done last year. The link between Peterborough and Victoria Harbor will be completed but scarcely in time to aid in the transportation of grain from the west. When this branch is finished it will be a boon to the shippers as it will greatly shorten the distance between Georgian Bay and Montreal.

Albert Cook, of Orillia, was killed on the N.T.R. 90 miles north of Nepigon.

The Grand Central Hotel across the bay from Belleville was burned yesterday.

QUEEN HELENA HAS RIB BROKEN

Rome, March 18.—Queen Helena is still suffering from the effects of her accident at Messina during the days immediately following the earthquake.

An unexplained rise in Her Majesty's temperature led to a careful examination, and it was found that one of her left ribs was broken. She is obliged to carry her arm in a sling.

The Queen was hurt at Messina early in January. She was in one of the improvised hospitals when she was knocked down by a terror-stricken woman who was trying to force her way through the door of the building with the purpose of committing suicide. The impact was so great that Her Majesty suffered a hemorrhage of the lungs.

Funeral of Old Teacher.

London, Ont., March 18.—Two miles of carriages followed the body of Nicholas Wilson, the old teacher, who for sixty years continuously taught the children of this city, to its last resting-place at Woodland cemetery yesterday. The pallbearers were P. W. Westevelt, chairman of the board of education; W. Strong, school trustee; B. C. McCann and Harry Craig, from the London Old Boys' Association, and Police Magistrate Frank Love, and J. B. Davidson from the former pupils.

NEW CLUE REPORTED

In Kinrade Murder Mystery—Neighbor Saw Man Come Out of Alleyway.

Special to the Review

Hamilton, March 18—A new clue in the Kinrade murder was investigated this morning. Mrs. Wm King, 161 Markland street, saw a strange man walk to the kitchen door of her neighbor, Mrs. Arthur Taylor, about four o'clock on the afternoon of the murder. The man rapped and tried to get in but failed, Mrs Taylor refusing to open the door.

Mrs. King saw the stranger, who seemed frightened and watchful, place something on the steps, and then put the object back in his pocket, and run away. The man had come from the alleyway back of the Kinrade home.

HAS HAD BOTH ARMS BROKEN

Peterborough Man Has Been Unfortunate at Hastings.

Hastings, March 17.—On February 23rd Mr. William Bullin, of Peterborough, who was employed at the tannery here, fell and broke his arm. After having it attended to he went to Peterborough for a rest, and when he returned to work on Tuesday he had the misfortune to fall heavily on the hand of the other arm and sustained a Colles' fracture which will lay him up for another three or four weeks.

LUMBER DUTY IS HALVED; NEW U.S. TARIFF BILL

Hides and Tallow Are Placed on Free List in Proposed Amendment, and Free Entry of Wood Pulp and a Reduced Rate on Print Paper Recommended.

Washington, March 18.—Downward revision, maximum and minimum provisions, which impose an average maximum duty 20 per cent. in excess of the present tariff, and numerous provisions by which it is estimated that the revenue to the Government will be increased from forty to fifty million dollars, are the salient features of the new tariff bill which was introduced in the House yesterday by Representative Sereno E. Payne, chairman of the ways and means committee.

As was expected, the new tariff bill is made on a maximum and minimum basis, with the provision that the maximum rates are not to go into effect until sixty days after the passage of the bill.

Reciprocity provisions are contained in the paragraphs assessing duties on bituminous coal and coke and agricultural implements, by which these articles are given entry free of duty when imported from countries which permit the free importation of these articles from America.

In order to prevent the confusion which attended the enforcement of the Dingley bill on the day on which it became law, the Payne bill is not to take effect until the day after it is enacted.

The maximum and minimum provision of the bill does away with the necessity of continuing the foreign trade agreements.

The internal revenue tax on cigarettes is materially increased, while the tax on beer and whisky is undisturbed.

A cut of fifty per cent. is made in the steel and lumber schedules.

Hides, tallow, cottonseed oil and works of art more than 20 years old are placed on the free list.

The tariff on boots and shoes is reduced forty per cent., and on other leather made in proportion.

The tariff on wool of the first and second class, used principally in clothing, is not disturbed, but on wool of the third class, known as carpet wool, is reduced on the cheaper grades.

A five cent reduction is made in the duties on shoddy and waste, while wool tops are assessed six cents a pound more than the duty on scoured wool, which is unchanged.

The recommendations for placing wood pulp on the free list and reducing the duties on print paper with certain restrictions made by the Mann committee of the House are incorporated in the bill.

A reduction of one-half cent a pound is also made in the duty on starch. Zinc in ore is assessed one cent per pound for the zinc contained. The tariff on pig iron is reduced from $4 to $2.50 per ton.

Petroleum is retained on the free list and the countervailing duty provision is retained.

A provision in the bill is designed to meet the conditions resulting from the patent laws of Great Britain, which requires that patentees must manufacture their articles within Great Britain. This provision applies the same rules to patents taken out in this country by aliens as applied to Americans in the country of the aliens. Drawback privileges are extended by the bill and the method of valuation on articles upon which the tariff imposes an ad valorem duty is broadened for the purpose of preventing the practice of under-valuation.

Senator Hale, chairman of the Republican caucus, is among those who finds the bill objectionable.

"It absolutely murders the wood pulp and paper industry of Maine," he said. "This is the most important industry in our state, and we shall resist the change with the utmost possible view." He predicted that the bill would be before Congress for the next three months or more.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS RED-HOT FROM WIRES

Builders' Strike in Edmonton.

Edmonton, Alta., March 18.—There is a possibility that all the building trades unions in the city will go out on strike in the spring if the differences with the builders' exchange are not settled. The exchange refuses to recognize the trades' council in signing up agreements for the year, preferring to deal direct with the unions, and the labor unions insist on recognition of the trades' council. Considerable building is planned and a strike would mean a serious setback to the city's growth.

Mail Clerk Charged With Robbing.

Belleville, March 18.—E. T. Vandusen, mail clerk of Trenton, was tried by Magistrate O'Rourke, charged with robbing the mails.

It was alleged that there had been thefts, and that a knife, sent as a decoy to a party in Trenton, had been found in Vandusen's possession. He said the wrapper came off the parcel containing the knife, and he was going to hand it to the proper official.

Magistrate O'Rourke deferred judgment for ten days.

Suit Over Perjury Charge.

Port Arthur, March 18.—George Hodder has been served with a writ on behalf of F. C. Noice of Toronto alleging malicious prosecution in connection with a charge of perjury laid against Noice over evidence in a street railway investigation which was dismissed.

Outlook in Alberta.

Edmonton, March 18.—The campaign is not marked by any very interesting features since nomination day, but both parties are working hard in preparation for next Monday. Liberals concede Conservatives about eight seats in the coming elections, while the Conservatives look for about 15.

It is probable that McDougall and Cross will be elected in Edmonton, with McDougall heading the poll. Ewing (Con.) will give Cross a close run, as the employers of labor are lined up against the Attorney-General on account of the Workmen's Compensation Act, which, they say, works hardship on them.

TO OPPOSE THE G.T.P. LOAN CONSERVATIVES WILL FIGHT

STRIKE IN PARIS HAS BIG EFFECT

Paris, March 18.—France for a time last night was practically completely cut off from telegraphic and telephonic communication with the remainder of the world, and Paris was isolated.

Premier Clemenceau last night flatly refused to offer terms to the strikers. He told the justice of Paris, who called to see him relative to what the Government proposed to do to end the serious situation, and who suggested a bill creating a superior council of the administration which could consider the employes' grievances, that the Government would promise nothing while the employes remained away from their posts.

The letter-carriers have joined the striking telegraphers, telephone operators and mail clerks employed by the Postoffice Department.

Troops are held in readiness at Versailles to reinforce the Paris troops in case any demonstrations of a serious nature occurs to-day, which is a holiday.

There is an alarming rumor late last night that the secretary of the Railroad Employes' Union has promised to order out these men in a sympathetic strike.

The Foreign Office, in the midst of the Balkan crisis, is unable to communicate with the representatives abroad, and while the Government continues to insist that it cannot surrender to its rebellious servants, it is only too apparent that the measures thus far taken to suppress the strike movement have been ineffective.

Mr. Borden Proposes List of Questions.

Will Urge That G.T.P. be Taken Over and Completed by Country.

Ottawa, March 18.—The Conservatives have determined to oppose with vigor the proposal of the Finance Minister to lend $10,000,000 to the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway.

This was decided on at a party caucus yesterday morning. Accordingly, in the House yesterday afternoon, Mr. Borden gave the Minister a long list of questions, to which he said he wished answers before the loan bill was again before the House. The Opposition will be primed with a vast amount of information regarding the cost of the railway to the country, and it will be urged that it would be in the interests of the country to take over the road and complete it as a Government work rather than to permit the present reckless spending to go on.

Mr. Armstrong wanted to know what reason the Government could assign for not having Holstein cattle at the Experimental Farm, and if the Minister of Agriculture stated in public that he did not wish to encourage the breeding of Holstein cattle in Canada.

Mr. Fisher replied that any more breeds could not be satisfactorily dealt with. The answer to the second part of the question was, "No."

Seven companies, according to Mr. Fisher, had taken advantage of the Government bill to grant aid to cold storage warehouses, and among them the following companies in Ontario have received these amounts: Peterboro $2,100, with an equal amount to be earned; Morrisburg, $18,986 to be earned; St. Mary's, $5,100 to be earned.

In supply, Mr. Ames of Montreal exhibited photographs of a Government work on the Saguenay river, and his comments re-opened the whole question of the spending of public money for any other purpose than that for which it was voted.

It was shown that the money was voted for dredging and improvements in the Saguenay, but it was used to construct piers at the mouth of the Dumoulin river, seven miles away. On these piers a municipal bridge had been constructed and the charge was that the piers were constructed to enable the municipality to do this work.

Mr. Pugsley's answer did not satisfy the Opposition, especially Mr. Foster. The Minister said the piers were put there to prevent the silt from coming down the Dumoulin and rendering the Saguenay less useful for navigation purposes.

"Are we here," asked Mr. Foster, "to misrepresent and steal? Do we approve of stealing money under false pretences and coming to Parliament to lie about it?"

Mr. Pugsley assured the Opposition that the work had been done before he became a Minister, but he had given directions that in future no work of the kind should be undertaken if the main purpose was to utilize the piers for a highway bridge.

J. E. Armstrong (Lambton) discussed free rural mail delivery in the motion for supply yesterday.

The P.M.G., he said, had tried to make it appear that the routes already inaugurated had proved very expensive, while as a matter of fact only 44 routes had been opened with an extra cost of only $668, or $15 for each route, and the Postmaster-General had not closed the postoffices which the delivery system had made unnecessary.

Mr. Lemieux had gone about the thing extravagantly. He wanted 6,000 letter-boxes and went to the United States for them. The cost, including delivery, was $5, while the average price paid by the United States was less than $3, equipped and delivered.

Mr. Lemieux paid Mr. Thornton the compliment of saying he was quite an acquisition to the House, especially to the other side. The P.G.M. declared that he still held the opinion that free rural mail delivery was too expensive to be adopted generally, but he had been investigating the star route system in vogue in the United States, and when he made his campaign speech at Niagara Falls with the Prime Minister he had announced that the experiment would be made. Surely that was not a bribe to the electors, as the farmers could not be expected to be influenced, because the Government was only doing its duty. The system that Mr. Armstrong was anxious to have adopted here had cost the people of the United States last year $34,000,000.

KING WATCHES WILBUR WRIGHT

Pau, March 18.—King Edward witnessed two flights by Wilbur Wright yesterday afternoon and showed an equal amount of enthusiasm with the other spectators in the remarkable accomplishments of the American aeroplanists.

Mr. Wright made the first ascension alone. He remained in the air for seven minutes, performing marvelous evolutions with the utmost precision around the King and his party, and coming down to the ground without difficulty.

On the second flight, Miss Wright was a passenger. They soared to a great height, and then skimmed along the ground and disappeared in the direction of Pau. They reappeared after an interval of six minutes, descending amid applause — from the King and other visitors.

An Oddfellows lodge has been instituted at Schreiber.

The Luckiest Day of My Life.

Mr. Thomas Wylie (Box 384), Galt, says:—"It was the luckiest day of my life when I struck PSYCHINE, for I truly believe I shouldn't be alive now but for that.

"A neglected cold was the beginning of my trouble, and what seemed to be a simple ailment, soon developed into a serious and dangerous condition. I got so low that it was scarcely possible for me to walk around, and I lost so much flesh that I looked like a skeleton. I was just about ready to "hand in my checks," although only 20 years of age. The medicine the doctor gave me made me worse and I got disgusted and hopeless. Then I struck PSYCHINE.

"PSYCHINE did miracles for me. The first bottle gave me new life and courage, and in less than no time I began to put on flesh rapidly, and felt I was on the high road to recovery. My appetite returned and I "eat like a hunter," as the saying goes. My friends were surprised, and hardly knew me. In three months I was as strong and well as ever, and returned to work in the mill. I have not had a days' illness since. Nobody could wish for better health than I enjoy, and it is all owing to PSYCHINE. It should be in everybody's hands."

USE PSYCHINE EARLY

Too often PSYCHINE is used as a last resort, when doctors have failed to relieve or cure, and frequently when they have abandoned all hope. Under these unfavorable conditions, let hope be not abandoned, for PSYCHINE will prove an unfailing friend. How much better and surer would be the results if PSYCHINE were used in the early stages of the illness!

Use PSYCHINE for COUGHS, COLDS, WEAK LUNGS, LOSS OF APPETITE, WEAKNESS and that TERRIBLY RUN DOWN FEELING. All Druggists and Stores sell at 50c, $1.00, and $2.00 Bottle.

THE MEANING OF LIFE.

Tolstoy is considered one of the half-dozen greatest men of history. He is getting old now and says: "I, standing at the brink of the grave, cannot keep silent." In his article on "The Law of Force and the Law of Love," he says that the spirit of Christianity is wholly ignored by the so-called Christian people. It may be the law of necessity and that of the process of natural evolution which alone can rule the destinies of mankind. If so then Christianity has no place superior to nature and the natural order of things. "The cause of the wretched condition of the Christian nations is the absence of a supreme conception common to them all of the meaning of life of faith and of guidance for conduct resulting from faith." At the same time the great Russian thinks that the people of the world are not yet ready for the message. As a consequence Christianity has been perverted to an ignoble use. Faith has become the victim of sophistry. The fruit of life tastes bitter in the mouths of the Poor. The rich do not "believe" at all. As a great rule they are cynical unbelieving and desperately selfish. Love and above all the true SINCERITY of LOVE, as illustrated and proven by results not theories, is the only possible method of reform. We are illogical intensely so, perhaps blindly so and hopelessly so but we prefer argument to rescuing the workless. We treat it all as a natural consequence of life's great and perennial tragedy. We preach, preach, preach, but as Christians never get beyond. Of philanthropy there is plenty amongst both Christians and others. It is not that. It is practical logical common sense laid as a foundation for actual and immediate work. "Faith without works is DEAD." We are not after all far removed from the prehistoric. Whatever the cause the puzzle still remains. Vast multitudes of men who would work are compelled to starve. Even nature would be more kindly. Time awaits the man.

CHEAP LABOUR.

The danger of encouraging immigrants of a low grade of political education is made apparent by frequent acts of violence. But the desire for cheap labor cannot be gratified without the penalties of cheapening humanity. —The Globe.

What a great pity the Globe did not find this out before and why did it not protest against the import of cheap labor when it had the chance? There is something very hypocritical in this decidedly belated attempt to pretend that it is on the side of fairly-paid labor and reasonable immigration. What can be the object of the Globe but to hunt with the hounds and run with the hare. But if the Globe is sincere, why does it confine this observation to a beggarly editorial paragraph instead of repenting for its former Laurier-G.T.P. attitude by giving long articles of good weight upon so important and so vital a subject.

MR. ROOSEVELT AND SIR WILFRID.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier is at present increasingly the subject of mental analysis to a large number of thinking Canadians. He has acquired the reputation of a saint without having used his pre-eminent position to do one little thing for the moral well-being of his country. Mr. Roosevelt's crowning achievements are that he represented the people and not the politicians as heretofore and that he felt himself morally bound to do all in his power to elevate the people and protect them. Sir Wilfrid Laurier has given us a Canada after 12 years of continuous administration, reeking with dishonesty and corruption, in which the great moneyed syndicates are supreme and where the people of the "weakest" class are the victims of unemployment, poverty, despair and suicide. It is not necessary to go to statistics of those cities such as Montreal, which show 30 per cent of the working population without work or Toronto where the "people" exist in Shacktown and live on broken victuals and charity soup. The innate youth, vitality and vigor of Canada might be supposed to be equal to any strain. Yet so great is this stress that Canada, like London, has come to have its "east-end" of horror and decay. There is enough human sympathy and spirit of human justice amongst us if wisely guided and properly nourished to absorb what has come to Canada of the poor and unknowing. But the god of yesterday was Capital and the god of today is the G.T.P., which while it becomes the breeding-ground of millionaires will serve as a monument for the future, of the power it represents and of the weakness that, in the same government, gave way before it. Canada was never so low morally. A string of reports of commissioners as long as a Zulu's necklace has perpetuated our infamy on paper while a Commissions Bill to prevent the exploitation of that infamy in every day life and manners is the result and work of the Laurier administration, which has done so much to bring that condition about. If the reputation of a man "lives" for the good that he has done, how long will that of Sir Wilfrid Laurier abide? What a violent contrast, the almost ruthless reply of Mr. Roosevelt to his accusers regarding the Panama canal. He is proven innocent even before trial and the grand jury have arrested and indicted—his accusers! Did he cower behind the delinquency of his subordinates or did they take their cue from him and remain "square"? At any rate he did not earn a reputation for efficiency by the mistakes of those under him nor of integrity by the corruption of his subordinates which even a special act of parliament fails to check. It is easy to be great if it involves no greater responsibility than this. We profess to be ready to learn, but view with more complacency the rate of bank dividends than the rise in the guage of popular happiness and public strength. That this is the "golden" age in Canada, few will be uncynical enough to deny. How greatly, as Tolstoy says, do we lack sincerity.

LAW REFORM.

Hon. J. J. Foy, the Attorney-General is asking for suggestions for his new scheme of law reform. We have much pleasure in making one. Cut out appeals except in matters of great constitutional moment. Strengthen the court by raising the salaries and increasing the number of judges. The process of trial leading up to judgment will then be facilitated and with appeals cut off the useless agony of delay done away with. Greater efficiency and therefore greater speed and less expense is the natural result of a larger staff. Good men in a lower court if that court is large enough ensure against error to all reasonable degree. The county and division courts might easily be extended as to jurisdiction especially the latter. "The law's delay" which means that expense as well as delay, favors the rich and must be remedied.

EDITORIAL NOTES

An old Scotswoman, when advised by her minister to take snuff to keep herself awake during the sermon, replied—"Why dinna ye put the snuff in the sermon, mon?"

A Scottish Temperance Bill was read a second time last Friday by 174 to 64 votes. Introduced by Mr. Pirie, the measure provides that prohibition may be enforced by a majority of three-fifths of the electors in a locality, and a limitation of the number of licensed premises by a bare majority.

Another proposal in the bill is that public houses shall not open until ten o'clock in the morning. Five years must elapse before the bill comes into operation.

STATEMENTS OF A TRAVELLER

Is Sure Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured His Diabetes.

Geo. H. Watterworth, of Rodney Feels Like a Boy Again After Suffering From the Most Deadly of Kidney Diseases.

Rodney, Ont., March 17.—(Special.)—Mr. Geo. H. Watterworth, a well-known travelling salesman, whose home is in this place, makes an unqualified statement that he was cured of Diabetes by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"Yes," Mr. Watterworth said when asked regarding his cure, "Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me of Diabetes. I took thirty-seven boxes in all, but to-day I am restored to good health.

"I was also troubled with Rheumatism and Headache, my sleep was broken and unrefreshing and I was always tired and nervous. But Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me and now I feel just like I did when I was a boy."

Dodd's Kidney Pills cure Diabetes because it is a Kidney disease, and there is no form of Kidney disease Dodd's Kidney Pills will not cure. Mr. Watterworth's other ailments were caused by diseased Kidneys failing to strain impurities out of the blood and Dodd's Kidney Pills cured them by curing the sick Kidneys.

Sexton Shot Deacon.

Providence, R.I., March 18.—Hostilities between the two Federal factions of the Olney street colored Baptist Church of this city, which culminated Tuesday night when Nelson Morgan, a deacon, was shot during a fight at the church, was continued in the Police Court yesterday. Robert Russell, the sexton of the church, who is charged with the shooting, was held in bonds of $7,000 for trial.

St. John, N.B., March 18.—Peter Gorman died yesterday morning as a result of grieving over the death of his son Andrew, which occurred in Hartford, Conn., on Saturday.

$100 REWARD, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

A SUSSEX PEASANT

"Be sure that in the Western sun
His evening prayers were mutely said.
And when the long night came at last
Faith comforted his dying bed.

"Confident as the child that turns,
When tired, on a lonely road
To nestle on his father's arm,
Feeling in love a sure abode.

"So dwelled he in his Maker's care,
Resigned no longer here to roam,
And when he bade his friend farewell
Said: 'Matey, I am going Home.'"

He loved his wife, he reared his brood,
A quiet, steadfast Englishman,
A loyal worker firm in faith—
Better the record, ye who can!

And when for us the wild down winds
Blend duly with the wistful foam,
May we no greater trouble feel
Than 'Matey, I am going Home.'"

AMENDMENTS TO CRIMINAL CODE

THE HOUSE OF COMMONS OF CANADA.

BILL 88.

An Act respecting assaults and offences against the person.

His Majesty by and with the advice and consent of the Senate and House of Commons of Canada, enacts as follows:—

1. Section 299 of the said Code is amended by adding thereto the following sub-section:—

"3. Every one who commits rape on a girl under the age of fourteen years is guilty of an indictable offence, and shall, on conviction thereof, be sentenced to death."

7. It shall be the duty of every peace officer to search any person whom he has reason to believe is possessed of the weapon commonly know as a dirk or bowie knife, or any weapon resembling it, or which is not of a character or kind calculated to be used solely for an inoffensive purpose, or any weapon know as a pistol or revolver; and if any such weapon is found in the possession of such person, the peace officer shall forthwith take him before the nearest justice of the peace or magistrate, who shall proceed to investigate the facts and, if the accused is by such justice or magistrate believed not to be a native of Canada he shall make a report to the Minister of the Interior in the matter, together with the evidence, and if the said Minister is satisfied that such person was an immigrant to Canada within four years previously, and had in his possession any such weapon, the said Minister may order the deportation of such immigrant and section 33 of the Immigration Act shall apply to the case.

8. Every vagrant or loose, idle or disorderly person may be searched for offensive or dangerous weapons.

9. Every person who has been twice convicted of vagrancy shall, on the second conviction be sentenced for an indeterminate period with hard labour, to such central prison or penitentiary as to the convicting judge or justice seems meet, and shall be there detained until the Inspector of Prisons is satisfied that he is able and willing to earn his own living, and, if set at liberty, will not be a menace to the community. If after liberation he commits any criminal offence he shall upon conviction be sentenced to be confined in a prison or penitentiary, with hard labour, for a term of no less than five nor more than ten years in addition to the sentence for the crime last committed.

10. It shall not be lawful for a justice before whom any person is brought charged with being a loose, idle or disorderly person or vagrant to discharge such person on condition that he leaves the municipality in which he then is. If unknown he shall be detained until his previous history is ascertained, and if subject to deportation he shall be deported. If two convictions for vagrancy or assault be proved against him he shall, upon conviction, be sentenced to the maximum penalty prescribed by law.

THE DAYLIGHT SAVING ACT

An act respecting the saving of daylight.

Whereas it is desirable to adopt a local time in advance of the standard time now in use, with the object of promoting a more extended use and enjoyment of daylight during summer months: Therefore His Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate and House of Commons of Canada, enacts as follows:—

1.—This Act may be cited as the Daylight Saving Act.

2.—This Act shall not apply to the Yukon Territory.

3.—From and after two o'clock in the morning of the last day of April in each year until two o'clock in the morning of the last day of October in each year the local time shall be one hour in advance of the standard time now in use.

4.—The time hereby established shall be known as local time, and when any period of time is mentioned in any Act of Parliament, deed or other legal instrument, the time mentioned or referred to shall, unless it is otherwise specifically stated, be held to be local time under this Act.

5.—Greenwich mean time, as used for the purposes of astronomy and navigation, shall not be affected by this Act.

6.—This Act shall come into force one year after the passing thereof.

George Howard, of Brantford, an insurance agent, was killed by a train while walking along the tracks.

M. R. Graf, arrested in Toronto for selling obscene postcards and other immoral literature, is wanted also in Boston, New York, Chicago and several other cities.

Recent news from the Far North reports 72 Indians dying from grippe at Fort Chipewyan and more than 150 in all at four posts in the Mackenzie River district.

LONDON, March 17.—London cables for cattle are steady, at 13¾c to 14½c per pound, dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted at 9¾c to 10c per pound.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, March 17.—(Special.)—At the Canadian Pacific Live Stock Market this morning the offerings consisted of 600 cattle, 25 sheep and lambs, 400 hogs and 1150 calves. An easier feeling prevailed in the market for cattle, and the advance in prices of ¼c per lb. noted on Monday was lost, owing to the fact that supplies were somewhat in excess of the requirements, and butchers were not disposed to provide for future wants, on account of the near approach of Easter; the buying was limited and trade on the whole was draggy. Choice steers sold at 5¾c; good at 5c to 5½c; fair at 4½c to 4¾c, and common at 3c to 4c; good cows at 4c to 5c; common at 3c to 3¾c, and bulls at 3c to 4½c per lb. Supplies of sheep and lambs continue small, for which the demand was good, and prices ruled steady, with sales of lambs at 6½c and sheep at 4c per lb. On account of the very large offerings of calves an easier feeling developed in the market, and prices ruled lower, but at the decline the demand was active and a brisk trade was done at prices ranging from $1.50 to $10 each, as to size and quality.

The supply of hogs was ample to fill all requirements, and, as the demand was not so keen as it has been of late, the advance in prices recorded Monday was not maintained, and sales of selected lots were made at $7.75 per 100 lbs., weighed off cars.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 7000; sheep active and steady; lambs slow and 15c lower; lambs, $5 to $8; yearlings, $6.50 to $7.

New York Live Stock.

NEW YORK, March 17.—Beeves—Receipts, 1814; steers dull and a shade lower; bulls steady; cows slow to 10c lower; steers, $5 to $6.20; oxen and stags, $4 to $4.90; bulls, $3.50 to $4.75; cows, $2 to $4.10. Dressed beef dull, at 8c to 10c. Exports, 3910 quarters of beef.

Calves—Receipts, 1714; veals firm for top grades; medium grades 25c higher; veals, $6 to $9.75; culls, $5; dressed calves firm; city dressed veals, 8½c to 14c; country dressed, 8c to 13c.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 7927; sheep almost nominal; lambs a trifle weak, except for choice light; common to fair sheep, $4 to $5; culls, $3; lambs, $7.50 to $8.10; culls, $4.50.

Hogs—Receipts, 4190; hogs firm, at $7 to $7.25; light pigs, $6.60.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, March 17.—Cattle—Receipts, estimated at 19,000; market weak to 10c lower; beeves, $4.60 to $7.20; Texas steers, $4.40 to $5.35; western steers, $4 to $5.50; stockers and feeders, $3.40 to $5.25; cows and heifers, $1.90 to $5.60; calves, $6 to $8.25.

Hogs—Receipts, estimated at 28,000; market mostly 10c higher; light, $6.35 to $6.80; mixed, $6.45 to $6.95; heavy, $6.55 to $7; roughs, $6.55 to $6.70; good to choice, heavy, $6.70 to $7; pigs, $5.20 to $6.10; bulk of sales, $6.70 to $6.90.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, estimated at 15,000; market steady; natives, $3.15 to $5.65; western, $3.25 to $5.65; yearlings, $5.75 to $7; lambs, native, $5.50 to $7.75; western, $5.50 to $7.80.

Bread Under Weight.

Brantford, March 18.—The police here seized sample loaves of bread from eight bakeries, said to be under weight, contrary to the standard of 1 1-2 pounds, set by provincial statute.

The bakers do not deny that the weight has been reduced to 20 ounces but state that they are selling fancy and not the ordinary loaf. The bread seized will be sent to Toronto for analysis.

The advance in price of flour was the reason for the reduction.

Defence is Good.

Galt, March 18.—In the judicial enquiry into charges of graft against Town Foreman Davidson, the defence yesterday disproved several of the charges and threw doubt on the weight of others. Davidson's son testified he had heard his father call Sole back to get his pay for work done on the farm and for which he was said to have made the town pay. The enquiry was adjourned.

Jury Think Differently.

London, Ont., March 18—The grand jury yesterday morning, after Justice Riddell, had left for Toronto, brought in their presentment, and in it they contradicted his lordship in reply to his scathing remarks about the ramshackle old court house. They reported they found everything satisfactory.

WAYS OF THE ARABS.

Dodging the Evil Eye and Tests of Filial Piety.

Very curious to the occidental mind are some of the ways of Arabia and other Mohammedan countries. A traveler says: "One of the objects of the most anxious solicitude for Mohammedan parents is the shielding of their children from the evil eye. Any person expressing admiration for a child except by pious ejaculation or the invocation of blessings upon the prophet fills the heart of the parent with apprehension. When children are to be taken into the street their faces are often even smeared with mud or greasy substances lest their comeliness should attract attention, and in order that the person of the child itself should escape attention gaudy and glittering ornaments are hung about it and written charms sewed into leather medallions suspended from its neck.

"One of the best of Arab characteristics is that of filial piety. Sons and daughters of deceased parents take upon themselves all sorts of irksome tasks accounted as expiatory of the minor faults committed by the departed ones during their lifetime and discharging faithfully every payment or obligation left unfulfilled by dead parents, for has not the prophet said that martyrdom even will not atone for an unpaid debt?

"Eloquence is accounted the greatest of all possible gifts. According to Arab tradition, the most superlative degree of eloquence was attained by King David, such being the beauty of his diction, added to the poetry of his words, that when he declaimed the Psalms even birds and wild beasts were spellbound, while on some occasions as many as 400 men died from the excess of delight induced by his reading."

QUEER ENGLISH TAXES.

Babies as Well as Windows Used to Help Swell the Revenues.

In 1695 a tax of 2 shillings had to be paid by the parents of every "little stranger" born in England except by people in receipt of alms. Curiously enough, a measure proposing a tax on babies was introduced some time ago in the local parliament of the German princedom of Reuss by which it was proposed that the parents or mother when registering the birth of a child should in each case contribute a sum amounting to 10 cents.

Some time ago a good deal of merriment was aroused by a measure introduced in the legislature of New Jersey by which it was proposed to tax beards, but even this is not an original proposal. Queen Elizabeth put a tax on every beard of a fortnight's growth, while a couple of centuries ago Peter the Great insisted that all nobles who wore beards should pay 100 rubles for the privilege.

As chancellor of the English exchequer Pitt rendered himself very unpopular by the extraordinary means to which he resorted in order to improve the state of the country's exchequer. He it was who first introduced the income tax, and he also levied a tax upon horses, which caused a certain farmer to use a cow for the purpose of riding to and from market.

Even more dissatisfaction, however, was caused by Pitt's increase of the window tax, first imposed in the year that the tax on babies was enforced. This window tax caused property owners to wall up as many windows as possible, in order to reduce the amount for which they were liable.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Five Die In Cave-In.

Quebec, March 18.—Five men met death and the sixth had a narrow escape for his life in an accident which took place in a construction camp about 20 miles north of La Tuque.

From the meagre details at present to hand, it seems that the six men were at work in a cut on the Transcontinental when a cave-in occurred, burying the unfortunate men.

One man was extricated alive, but the rescue of the other five was not accomplished before life was extinct.

Buddhist Ceremonies.

Some Buddhist ceremonies present a striking analogy to certain Christian rites. An old missionary says: "The very titles of their intercessions, such as 'goddess of mercy,' 'holy mother,' 'queen of heaven,' with an image of the virgin having a child in her arms holding a crescent, are all such striking coincidences that the Catholic missionaries were greatly stumbled at the resemblances between Chinese worship and their own when they came over to convert the natives to Christianity."—London Standard.

Despite the Jokesmiths.

Grocers never put sand in sugar.

Architects often build houses within the original estimates.

Coal dealers usually give a little overweight.

Telephone girls are nearly always courteous.

Salesladies ditto.

A Recommendation.

"Ever been in jail?"

"Countless times. But that's no detriment to a man in my business."

"And what is your business?"

"I'm a chauffeur."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Like a Streak.

"Was his auto going so very fast?"

"Your honor, it was going so fast that the bulldog on the seat beside him looked like a dachshund.—Houston Post.

Changing The Day

By Raymond Campbell

Copyrighted, 1909, by Associated Literary Press.

Alphonse set the coffeepot close to Sheldon's hand and retired to the bar, there to indulge in a glass of beer. The dinner rush was over, and he was certain that no one would come now until after the theaters let out.

Meanwhile the two young people at the table would surely chat for half an hour or so, which time Alphonse might spend with profit in discussing with the fat bartender certain nice points in the mixing of cocktails.

Meanwhile his two patrons sipped their coffee, and Sheldon lit the cigar that Alphonse had brought. When he dined alone the cigar came from the corner box on the five cent end, but when the young lady came Alphonse always brought a perfecto from the box in the ice chest with an elaborately casual "The usual, monsieur."

This was intended to impress the guest with the belief that Sheldon habitually smoked fat perfectos with red and gold sashes. Tonight Alphonse's elaborate politeness was ignored by the usually genial Sheldon.

"DEAR BOY, I AM SO GLAD," SHE SAID SINCERELY.

"Now for the news," he began as the waiter headed for the bar. "I couldn't wait for Saturday to tell you, though it is only two days off."

"Isn't it funny that we always fall back on Saturday night?" commented Bess. "I don't know when we have been out to dinner in the middle of the week."

"Never, I guess," agreed Sheldon. "You see, Saturday is a sort of holiday. I get my salary, and you get your check from the publishers, and we're both happy and content, even if not in agreement."

"We would be in agreement if you would only stop considering a proposal as an essential feature of the Saturday celebration," reminded Bess, with a show of severity. "You must go and spoil it all by proposing, Fred, when I've told you long ago that to marry would spoil my career. I am making a little name for myself in the art world, and I can't keep house and paint too."

"And I've told you," retorted Fred, "that I would not stop asking you to marry me until you said 'Yes.' I guess I've proposed to you sixty times in the last sixty weeks, Bess, and I'm good for sixty times sixty if I have to hold out that long."

"Did you ask me out to dinner to propose to me?" demanded Bess.

"Not primarily," he admitted. "What I wanted to tell you was that my big chance has come at last. Benny Groll has made a good contract, and he needs a man to put a little money and a lot of time into the business. I have more experience than money, but Ben wants me, and he'll give me a half interest if I'll come in. It's what I've been working and waiting for ever since I came to town, Bess, and this is to celebrate my good luck."

A slender hand was stretched across the table and grasped his own.

"Dear boy, I am so glad," she said sincerely. "You have worked hard, and you are entitled to your reward."

"Which is why I am going to ask for it," retorted Sheldon. "I am going to break my usual custom and propose on Thursday instead of Saturday, Bess. I want you to work for, dear. It will be pretty hard camping out with the construction gang and working on the job with the field corps. I want to come back to camp every night and feel that I have done another good day's work for you."

"Work, like virtue, should be its own reward," paraphrased Bess. Sheldon shook his head impatiently.

"I know all that," he said, "but that sounds better than it works out. I want to feel that when the job is done and Groll & Sheldon become a firm of importance Mrs. Sheldon is proud of what her husband has done."

"I shall always be proud of what you do, Fred," reminded Bess. "We two are the only ones from the old town in all this big city. We have always been chums, and of course I shall be proud of your great achievements."

"That's not what I want," said Fred impatiently. "Of course I am going after this chance, no matter what, and I'll work as hard without your promise as with it, but it will lend sweetness to the labor, Bess, if you tell me that I may work for you.

"Won't you take a career by proxy, dear? Do you want to work to the end of your days and live the loveless life? Aren't there times when you want to give it all up and just stop worrying about checks that the publishers do not send and canvases that don't sell, though you know that they are as good as some that bring big money? Don't you tire of your career sometimes, and don't you feel as though it would be nice to let some one else do the worrying?"

"And if I do?" she asked, with an odd little note in her voice.

"Then let me carry the burden," he pleaded. "Let me do the planning for you. In six months from now I shall be at the top of the heap and making money, but you can make those six months of toil very pleasant, dear, if you will only listen to your heart—and me."

"I have listened to you," she reminded, with a light laugh. "Why, Freddy, there has not been a Saturday night in more than a year that you have not urged me to marry you. I'd like to, dear, but there is my career."

"Does it all pay?" he demanded. "Is it worth all the worry and the contriving?"

"Perhaps," she said uncertainly, and Sheldon pressed the advantage.

"Wouldn't it be nice if you didn't have to scrimp and scrape and plan the spending of every penny?" he demanded. "Wouldn't it be nice to have a real home instead of a three room flat, to eat regular meals instead of chafing dish messes and to—well, to have me across the table every night instead of just Saturdays? It would be our own table, too," he reminded, "and not a table d'hote."

"Perhaps."

It was spoken so low that Sheldon had to lean across the table to catch the whispered word. But he did catch it, and his face beamed satisfaction.

"And you will marry me?" he cried delightedly.

This time he did not hear, but he knew that the coveted answer had been spoken, and he caught the hand that toyed nervously with the cup.

He spoke no word, for none was needed. Their eyes told each other messages that never have been put into words, spoken language that only lovers know—and Sheldon was content.

It was Alphonse whose discreet but suggestive cough from the doorway leading to the main room recalled them to more earthly matters and an unpaid check. Sheldon drew a bill from his pocket and laid it upon the tray.

"Keep the change," he said, "and drink to our good fortune." Then Alphonse, helping him into his overcoat, assured his radiant customer in French and English that it should be done.

In Sansin's customers tipped half a dollar only when the worse for wine. Here was a man, to all appearances sober, who tipped 60 cents. Alphonse's thanks followed them even out upon the street, where Sheldon tucked Bess' arm into his own with a new air of proprietorship that the girl found very comforting.

"Fred," she whispered, "did you know that I was tired and depressed today?"

"I was only taking chances," he explained, with a happy laugh. "I thought it out last night when I was almost certain that Benny would put the deal through. I figured that you always felt as I did when you had money in your pocketbook on Saturdays—and that you'd feel as I do two days before pay day. It was worth taking a chance by changing the day."

Bess patted his arm affectionately. "I wish you had found that out before," she whispered. "It is only from Saturday to Tuesday that I cared about a career."

Cards and Their History.

Cards are square shaped pieces of pasteboard printed with various devices and employed as a business medium by money changers. They are usually made up in packs of fifty-two, one for each week of the year. A good many people play cards for pleasure, in which case their opponents are said to be buying experience. In most card games the rule is that the cards may be cut, but not otherwise marked. This rule is not strictly observed in games in which only three cards are used. Indeed, the marking of cards has attained a high degree of perfection since the introduction of numerous card index systems. Fashions change in card games as in everything else. Old maid, for instance, is nowadays seldom played in the best clubs. Playing cards should not be confused with those sold on cricket grounds, which are rather larger, or with visiting cards, which are smaller.—Fry's Magazine.

Doubtful Quality.

"I got some free advice from Dr. Closeface last night."

"How did you do it?"

"Caught him off his guard at a social gathering."

"My free advice to you would be not to take it."

Probably.

"Some people are so inquisitive."

"Yes, but they are usually stupid."

"Stupid?"

"Yes. If I were as inquisitive as you are I would know everything."

Inevitable Conclusion.

"My wife is not at all fond of society."

"Oh, she does, does she?"

"Does what?"

"Her own dressmaking."

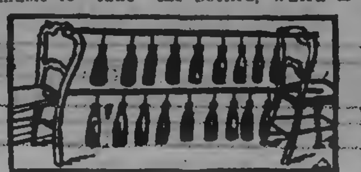
MUSICAL BOTTLES.

Odd Instrument on Which Tunes May Be Played.

An odd and not unmelodious musical instrument may be constructed of ordinary glass bottles partly filled with water. The accompanying cut shows the arrangement. It consists simply of two broom handles resting on the back of two chairs, from which the bottles are suspended by means of strings tied to the neck.

Of course it takes a good ear for music to "tune" the bottles, which is done by putting more or less water in each. It is said that all the tones and their octaves, including the sharps and flats, may be thus reproduced.



INSTRUMENT COMPLETE.

The instrument is played by means of two sticks—drumsticks are best—with which the bottles are struck. Two parts of an air may easily be played, and there may be two performers, one playing on each side.

A similar arrangement may be made with glass tumblers, as is well known, but this bottle device is more unique and striking. The notes are soft and melodious and pleasant to listen to.—Chicago News.

NAME OF THE MONTH.

A Jolly Game That Is Sure to Induce Much Laughter.

Line up, every boy and girl of you, on one side of the room, and each take the name of a month in order, from January to December.

If there are not twelve of you, then take the months' names as far as they will go, and when your leader stands up in front of you and points her finger at a child and says, "Happy New Year, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10!" the boy or girl must answer, "March, march, march!" (if that is her name) before the "ten" is said.

It is like "bird, beast or fish"—isn't it?—only different for this reason, you must not laugh. That is where the fun comes in, because you know you will laugh when you try hard not to, just as sure as you live!

Try it and see, and, remember, if you smile or forget to say the name of your month three times you must face the line and point your finger at some other month and make her laugh.

About the Clove.

Children, how many of you know where the clove comes from? It is the flower bud of an evergreen tree. When the flowers are in full bloom they are a brilliant red. The little ball at the top of the clove is formed of the curled up petals. At first the buds are a pale green; then they become red. As soon as they become this color they are ready for picking and drying. The trees from which cloves are obtained are natives of the Moluccas, or Spice islands. The trade in cloves once formed the basis of great fortunes in more than one nation. About the close of the eighteenth century the clove tree was transplanted in other countries than the Spice islands, and now a great part of the commerce in cloves is carried on in Zanzibar. The word clove comes from the French word clou, which means a nail. Doubtless the round, hard head caused its name, as it somewhat resembles a small nail.

Would Take Chances.

Mr. Philanthropist was passing a bakery when he observed a little girl gazing with longing eyes at some cakes displayed in the window. The youngster's wistful gaze was too much for Mr. Philanthropist, so he took immediate measures to satisfy her longing.

When she had in short order disposed of a rich bit of pastry she calmly asked for another.

"I should like very much to give you another," said the kindly man, "but I'm afraid it would make you sick."

"Get it for me anyhow," quickly responded the little girl. "I can git all the med'cine I need at the dispensary fer nuthin'."

A Dangerous Place.

The two tramps had been particularly lucky, and, having funds in hand, they discussed plans for the night's shelter. "We can sleep under a roof if we like," said Wiggins.

"Sure we can," responded Higgins, "but some way these lodging houses make me nervous. Supposing a fire was to break out in the night?"

"You've got it right," agreed Wiggins dolefully. "It's no place for us. They'd turn the hose on us in a minute!"

Scorched.

Mr. Crimsonbeak—What in the world is the matter with this shirt? Mrs. Crimsonbeak—Oh, I guess the girl boiled it a little too long, dear; that's all. Mr. Crimsonbeak—Looks to me as if she had fried it.—Yonkers Statesman.

Lacking Warmth.

"The critics all say that my pictures lack warmth."

"Do you work in oils?"

"Yes."

"Then why not paint in a few oil stoves?"—New York Times.

LUCKY MR. BROWN.

If it had not been for "Fruit-a-tives," Mr. Lemuel Brown, of Avondale, N.B., would still be living on stale bread and porridge, and suffering tortures with Indigestion.

His stomach was so weak that he had to give up all kinds of meats, potatoes and other vegetables, and even deny himself the comforts of a cup of tea. Fortunately, Mr. Brown read about "Fruit-a-tives," bought a box and was so much improved by taking the tablets, that he used four boxes altogether. "I have been a great sufferer from Indigestion for fifteen years. About two years ago, I read about Fruit-a-tives and concluded to give them a trial. I used nearly four boxes of "Fruit-a-tives" and they have made me feel like a new man. I can eat all kinds of hearty foods and enjoy tea and coffee." "TRUE IRISH HEARTS" WAS A DISTINCTIVE SUCCESS

Probably the Most Satisfactory Play Given by T. A. S. Dramatic Section—All the Parts Splendidly Taken and Piece Went Without a Hitch—Pleasing Special Numbers

The dramatic section of the T.A.S. enjoys the distinction of always producing an excellent play as a St. Patrick Day entertainment, but last night the amateur players of the society probably surpassed any of their previous efforts when they presented the romantic Irish comedy drama "True Irish Hearts." This picturesque presentation deals with life in Erin in a realistic and appealing way and gave plenty of opportunity for the clever cast to display their ability as a company and individually and they took advantage of every opportunity.

It was evident from the way the members of the company took their parts that the different roles had been thorough rehearsed and that good judgment had been displayed in the selection of those to take the various characters. The play went smoothly from the first to the last act and there was not a hitch all evening. This must have been intensely gratifying to the company and the audience by its continued applause and laughter showed its hearty appreciation.

The highly commendable work of the clever amateurs bespeaks much for their abilities but stage manager George Lynch must not be overlooked in the distribution of praise for the all round success of the play. Mr. Lynch has acted as director of the rehearsals which have been held for some time and his attention to detail accounts in a very large measure for the clock-like way in which everything in connection with the piece was carried out. There are many little points of interpretation that count for a great deal in presenting a play and Mr Lynch is a past master in making the most of these. His capable direction and stage management was given evidence of in the excellent manner the drama was interpreted and in the placing and good taste showed in the use of the scenic accessories.

In this latter department the settings were elaborate and descriptive and the audience must have been surprised at the number of attractive stage pictures presented during the play. Every act was appropriately staged and the effects in the fourth act, in which there were four scenes were particularly good. "True Irish Hearts" was staged just as well as any professional production would be and the audience were probably agreeably surprised by the large amount of effective scenery which was used.

It will be remembered that the "Come Back to Erin," company which appeared here a short time ago were in financial difficulties in Peterborough and on instructions from Mr A. J. Small, of Tornoto, to whom they were indebted a seizure of their effects were made. These are still at the Grand Opera House and Manager Turner kindly allowed the management of last night's performance to use them.

The company was also lent great assistance by Stage Manager and Property Manager Tamblyn and the obliging and efficient stage staff of the opera house. In the production of all the amateur shows at the Grand this season the above mentioned have been most painstaking in the assistance they have given the players and the stage managers.

A feature that caused much favorable comment was the splendid way in which the different characters were "made up" The work of making up was all done by Mr Irving Beers and the results in this regard could not have been more satisfactory.

The costuming of the play called for a wide selection and the costumes were in keeping with the parts assumed. They were almost to the minutest detail, and strictly correct. They were supplied by the well-known costumer, Mrs. McKinnon.

Pleasing variation were the several vocal solos and the two duettes sung by Miss Lavina Hallihan and Mr. Geo. Lynch and Mr. Sam Hoolihan's step dancing specialty. The duettes sung by Miss Hallihan and Mr. Lynch were "Life is a game of see-saw," and "Would you care?" "The eyes that come from Ireland" was sung with sweetness and much expression by Miss Hallihan, and she was presented with a bouquet at the conclusion of the song. Miss Hallihan's singing of "Come back to Erin" met with an enthusiastic reception, and as an encore number she gave "I'll dream of you." Mr. Lynch gave an original and clever rendition of "Blow the smoke away."

As a step dancer Mr. Hoolihan dispenses the shuffles with true professional skill and the audience were not content until he had danced to a hearty recall.

All the specialties met with the warm approval of the audience, which was a record one in respect to size.

The story of "True Irish Hearts" is a pretty and interesting one, and possesses a strong human interest. A pretty love story is told, and the plot also deals with the machinations of George Wolfe and his treacherous assistant Batt Mooney, and shows their discomfiture and downfall in the last act to the unanimous satisfaction of the audience.

The caste of characters was as follows:

Lanty Lanagan, A Boy with a True Irish Heart ... ...
Mr. George Lynch
George Wolfe, By Name and Nature
Mr. Fred Derocher.
Batt Mooney, Better known as Moon-Face Batt ... ...
Mr. James O'Brien.
Miles O'Connor ......A Young Lawyer
Mr. John Gorham.
Dennis Doyle, A Jolly old Fisherman
Mr. Sam Hoolihan.
Sheriff Burke ...A Limb of the Law
Mr. Claude Brady.
Miss Rose O'Neal...The Rose of Kerry
Miss Fanny Holmes.
Danny ... ...Her Brother
Master Joe Clancy.
Mrs. Brady ... ...
Miss Helen Kane.
Kitty Brady ....Her Daughter
Miss Lavina Hallihan.

Mr. George Lynch was seen to decided advantage as Lanty Lanagan, the boy with a true heart, and acted with a naturalness and abandon that made his merry appearance on the stage a welcome one. He displayed his originality as a comedian, and gave the character the proper interpretation in every particular.

As George Wolfe Mr. Fred Derocher was admirable, from the standpoint of his acting, although by no means from the nature of the part he portrayed. In the uncongenial role of Wolfe he showed a splendid conception of the role, and his voice and articulation were splendid. Both in his make-up and his acting Mr. James O'Brien was superb as Batt Mooney, and gave a subtle and most intelligent rendering of the part. Mr. John Gorham acquitted himself with distinction as Miles O'Connor, a young lawyer, and the lover of the Rose of Kerry. Mr. Sam Hoolihan gave proof of being a clever and expressive character actor in his interpretation of th erole of Dennis Doyle, the fisherman. Mr. Claude Brady, as Sheriff Burke, made a splendid "limb of the law."

Miss Fanny Holmes assumed the leading feminine role, and won great approval from the audience by her talented work. She acted with ease and naturalness, and sustained the part in an interesting and very able way. Little Joe Clancy was a favorite with the audience, and did surprisingly well as "Danny." He took hi spart with sprightliness and confidence. The little fellow had considerable work to do, and many lines to memorise. Miss Helen Kane assumed a difficult character part when she appeared as Mrs. Brady. She was delightfully quaint and pleasing, and no amateur actress in the city could have filled her role in a more acceptable manner. Miss Lavina Hallihan was charming as Kitty Brady. Miss Hallihan is one of the most gifted stars in the firmament of local amateur players, and always acts and sings in a captivating manner. She was probably never seen in a more suitable part than the one she took last night, and that in itself is sufficient praise.

Miss Maggie Doherty was the musical director of the play, and officiated most satisfactorily in that capacity.

TORONTO MAN AND HIS TWO CHILDREN WERE SUFFOCATED

Special to the Review.

Toronto, March 18—Samuel Tanner, aged [illegible] years, and his two children, Sarah, aged 10 and Robert, aged 8, were suffocated by the fumes of illuminating gas during last night, their bodies in one bed being found this morning, by other occupants of the house, 3 Rideau Ave. Tanner was a widower, his wife and the mother of the children having died in Ireland over a year ago. He had been in Toronto since Nvoember last, living with his nephew, John Tanner. He is thought to have blown out the gas while intoxicated, the result of celebrating St. Patrick's Day.

BANQUET WILL BE HELD BY PARK-ST. ATHLETIC CLUB

Representatives of Church League Hockey Teams Will be Invited—Name of Club Changed—Have Purchased Old Church Property.

A most enthusiastic meeting of the men of the Park street church and congregation was held last night to wind up the hockey season business, and to hear the report of the energetic secretary-treasurer, Mr. Herbert Reid. The report was most gratifying, showing a balance on the right side.

It was decided to hold a banquet on the evening of the 30th inst., to which representatives of all the Church League Hockey Clubs and others will be invited.

It was also decided, owing to some misunderstanding, to change the name of the club from "The South City A. A.A." to the "Park Street Athletic Club," in order that all members of the club might be eligible to play in any future games of the church league.

The church has also purchased the lot on which the old church building stands, and given it over for the use of the men. The pastor of the church, Rev. W. C. Riddiford, who is deeply interested in all that tends to help men to do right, occupied the chair and explained the purpose of the club.

WAS TOLD TO LEAVE THE TOWN

Young Man Charged With Vagrancy Discharged on His Promise to Leave Town.

Eli Kidd spent last night in the cells and appeared before Magistrate Dumble this morning on a charge of being a vagrant. He was discharged his promise to leave town.

Kidd explained that he tried to get lodging last night but was unable to do so any place and as a last resor tapplied at the station and was accommodated. He admitted he had been drinking, but did not get into any trouble. He had been working in Chicago and had intended to go back yesterday as he could get a good job.

The Magistrate advised him to get out of town as soon as possible, and Kidd promised to do so.

MUST PAY FOR LOSS OF HORSE

And Was Allowed to go on Suspended Sentence.

Ernest Buck, who was remanded yesterday to allow him to reach an agreement with Mr. McCarthy, in regard to the horse which he secured from him on false pretences, was before the Magistrate this morning. He was allowed out on suspended sentence

Mr. Gordon, who has looked after the prisoner's interests in the case, told the court that Buck had been unable to get any security, but if allowed to go out on suspended sentence the prisoner would reimburse Mr. McCarthy for the loss of his horse and pay the costs of the court.

The Magistrate told Buck that he deserved to go to jail, but he was willing to give him a chance to settle his debt with Mr. McCarthy, which the prisoner promised to do.

OTTAWA HOTELMEN ARE SUMMONED

For Infraction of Liquor License Act—Leading Hotels Included

Ottawa, March 17.—Six hotelmen will appear in the Police Court tomorrow morning to answer to charges of infractions of the liquor license law laid by spotters of the Ontario Government, who have been in Ottawa for several days. They are the proprietors of the Russell, Grand Union, Windsor, Brunswick, Alexandra and the St. Louis. It is understood that two or three of the hotelmen will have to answer to more than one offence. Under the old act a heavier fine was imposed for a second offence, but in many cases the inspector did not enter the charge as such. The new act, however, imposes a penalty on the inspector if he fails to press a charge as a second offence when such can be done. The act also stipulates that for a third offence within two years the license shall be canceled. This, however, does not apply in the case of some of the proprietors who will be up tomorrow on three charges. As far as this section of the act is concerned, the second offence must be committed after a conviction for the first and third offence after a conviction for the second.

The proprietor of the Cecil hotel will also appear on a charge of selling liquor to a minor.

CITY COUNCIL MUST FATHER THE POWER BY-LAW FOR $15,000

Matter Was Discussed by Special Power Committee and Water Commission Yesterday Afternoon and Latter Body Refused to Take Charge of Power Development for the City.

The city council will have to father the bylaw to raise $15,000 for the preliminary work in connection with power development at the new waterworks dam. At a joint meeting of the Power Committee and Water Commissioners yesterday afternoon the commissioners stated that power development for the city wasn't their scheme, that they did not and do not recommend it to the council and that they wish it distinctly understood that the $15,000 bylaw has absolutely nothing to do with their bylaw for $120,000 for a new dam. The two bylaws are separate and under the control of two distinct bodies.

The commissioners, however, also stated that their two outside engineers had estimated the amount of electrical power that could be developed and also estimated the cost of the power house, sluice ways, wheel pits. The commissioners did not think the council would go far wrong by submitting the bylaw. It would be bad policy to allow 600 or 800 horse power go to waste.

The special power committee then decided to go ahead with the bylaw and have it submitted on March 30, at the same time as the water works bylaw.

Chairman Ald. McIntyre stated that the object of the meeting was to discuss the power bylaw. The committee found that there was a division of opinion as to the amount of information available.

Mr T. F. Matthews stated that he considered the power committee was at fault. There had been ample time from the time the Water Commissioners submitted their report to secure all the information the people desired.

Ald. McIntyre asked if the commissioners would sanction the bylaw if the committee submitted it.

Mr Moore replied that the commissioners would sanction nothing.

The commissioners also stated that the people should have more information. The commission has not got that information. All they know is the cost of the power house foundation and sluice ways.

Mr. Matthews stated that he did not recommend the submission of the bylaw at the present time. He said the power house could be built more economically now. Had the commissioners had their way they would not have the power bylaw submitted at the same time as the water works dam bylaw.

Alderman Hicks still maintained that the council should have more information.

Ald. Gillespie stated that he thought the council would not be far out by building the power house now and take a chance on securing the machinery and putting up the pole line at a reasonable cost.

Mr Moore stated that it would be better to submit the power bylaw later on as there would be plenty of time to do so. By submitting the two bylaws together both may be defeated while if submitted at different times both would probably be carried. The power house however, could be built somewhat cheaper when the dam is built than later on.

Ald. Morrow stated that the committee had prepared a circular which they intended to have printed and placed in each house and there were some on the committee who wanted the commissioners to sanction it.

City Clerk Armstrong was then asked to read the circulars for the benefit of the commissioners.

Mr. Moore stated that he wanted it distinctly understood that the two bylaws were controlled by two separate bodies.

Ald. Hicks said he would like to see the water works dam bylaw go on now and the commissioners make provision for the construction of the power house at a later date. Then the council could get the information required and submit the bylaw in January and then hand it over to the commissioners. He wanted the responsibility put up to the commissioners if the power bylaw was submitted now. He said he had not sufficient information at the present time.

The commissioners said the city had all the information they had secured.

Mr. Matthews said that the power bylaw was simply a matter for the council to consider.

Ald. Gillespie said that personally he was quite prepared to go on with the power bylaw now with what information they had, and was convinced that the people would support it.

"I suppose then that the commissioners are now washing their hands of the whole thing," said Chairman Ald. McIntyre.

The commissioners said they were.

ITALY IN A STATE OF FERMENT; THE RECENT ELECTIONS THERE

Rome, March 13.—The prevailing impression in Italy is fear for the so-called Vatican peril. Pope Pius IX., who evidently wished to prevent a repetition of the anti-clerical riots of two years ago in Rome, when priests and nuns were beaten and insulted and the pilgrimages had to be suspended for a long time, thought that if the Italian Catholics were allowed to vote in the recent elections, so many Socialists, Republican, Radical and anti-Clerical delegates would not be returned to Parliament, and that consequently the relations of Church and State could be improved. For this reason the Holy Father removed the non-expedit, and thus hoped to be in co-operation with the State in combating the enemies of monarchy. The result has been quite the opposite of what he expected the anti-Socialists and anti-Clericals have triumphed, and furthermore, the intervention of the Vatican in the internal politics of the States had been interpreted as an attempt at the formation of a Catholic party, which has for its object the ultimate restoration of Rome to the Holy See. This is what constitutes the so-called 'Vatican Peril.' The anti-Clericals, who, until now, were considered the enemies of the present form of government, have become the defendants of national institutions against the 'intrigues' of the Vatican, and before long the Conservatives will join hands with them for the overthrow the common enemy—the priest. This may seem a paradox, but it is fact which is proved by the following incident;—The King has already praised the work of the present anti-Clerical municipal administration of Rome, 'undertaken,' he said, 'with a modern conscience,' and during the recent elections he afforded another proof of his anti-Clerical feelings by advising the members of the court and the servants in the household to vote for a Socialist candidate and thus contribute towards the defeat of a Catholic Conservative, supported not only by the Vatican, but by his mother, the Dowager Queen Marguerite. It is not unlikely that when Parliament is opened Victor Emanuel in his speech from the throne will make some illusion to Rome. The new Parliament, which counts among its members some unfrocked priests, will probably institute divorce laws, the abolition of religious institutions, and other measures hostile to the Vatican. Anti-Clericalism will undoubtedly increase and the anti-Clerical riots which the Pope hoped to prevent, may be repeated.

Rome, March 14.—The second ballots for the members of the Chamber of Deputies were held today. The results do not alter the Government's position, but emphasize the increased strength of the Socialists and Radicals, who have won about thirty more seats in the new Parliament. The Extreme Left, thus reinforced, will practically take the place of the old constitutional opposition, foreshadowing the advent of a Socialist and Radical ministry, probably at no great distance of time.

Rome, March 16.—The general elections, in which the first ballot was taken last Sunday were continued in Italy today. Today's returns indicate that more than 300 deputies out of 500 have been elected who are favorable to the present ministry. At least 100 representatives of the Extreme Left party have been returned to the House.

MR. KENDREY REPLIES TO MR. W. H. MOORE

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—Mr. Moore's reply to my letter certainly proves my contention, that this whole scheme is premature and has not been properly digested by either the Water Commissioners or by the Council. "The Commissioners," says Mr. Morrow, "got a report on the available power and the Council took the idea up of developing the power." That seems to be the extent of the Council's information on the subject of either dam or available power. Mr. Moore says "the Water Commissioners and the Council are working along lines wholly unrelated to each other." "The Water Commissioners have nothing to do with the power proposition of the Council, etc." Now Mr. Editor, would it be a sensible thing for the ratepayers to ratify any part of either scheme until the controversy between the Council and the Commissioners is settled.

The commissioners say that the council will not go "far wrong" by submitting the bylaw for $15,000. They say it would be "a crime" to allow 600 or 800 horse power to go to waste, and yet after these strong expressions when Chairman McIntyre put the question last night to these same commissioners, "I suppose then that the commissioners are now washing their hands of the whole thing," the commissioners replied that they were. Mr Moore says that I evidently confused the two matters and the two "public bodies." I assure Mr Moore that my mind is quite clear on the subject. I understand what he means by the commissioners' dam, and know something also of the council's power scheme. But I think that this talk about the "Commissioners dam" the "Council's power proposition" and the two distinct "public bodies" should be discontinued. As I understand the matter, they are both acting as trustees for the corporation of the city of Peterborough and if either of them can convince me that there will be even 400 horse power available after the requirements of the water works five years from now I will vote for both bylaws.

Yours truly,
JAMES KENDREY.

SHOULD BE NUMBERED

Many Residences in City Without Street Numbers---Matter Should be Remedied

According to a gentleman who is in a position to know what he is talking about, there are a large number of residences in the city that are not numbered—that is they have no figures placed on the outside designating the street number.

As a result of the number being missing, delivery men, post men, strangers in the city and others too, are frequently caused much inconvenience and annoyance.

It is said that the south end of the city is worse in this respect, many houses there being minus the street number.

The suggestion has been made that the city should secure a supply of metallic figures and remedy the existing state of affairs. The assessors in making their rounds could make a note of houses without street numbers and the city could then send a man around to put up numbers where they are needed.

FRESHETS ARE NOT LOOKED FOR

Unless a big snowstorm comes, spring freshets will not be much in evidence this season. There is very little snow throughout the country and no matter how quickly it may fall, freshets will hardly be caused. It is not expected that the Otonabee river will rise very high this spring, which will be a marked contrast to a year ago when the water was higher than even the "oldest inhabitant" could remember. There is a good deal more snow in the north country than in the vicinity of the city.

Turkey and Russia are said to have reached an agreement on the Turko-Bulgarian question.

The By-law

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—Is it not about time that the Council or the Commissioners or whoever is trying to run this waterworks dam should publish at least the by-law for ordinary humble tax-paying citizens to read?

COMMON SENSE.

The Commissioners will publish the by-law at once.—Ed.

Sarcastic

To the Editor of The Review:

Dear Sir,—Could you tell an unfortunate ratepayer, who has the right to vote on the Water Commissioners' Dam Power By-law? Are they freeholders only? If so, have they votes in each ward in which they own property? The people I mean, you know, who pay the taxes eventually, who, in fact, mortgage their lands for the benefit of all and any who come and go as they please. Or, can this latter irresponsible (as far as permanent liability goes) class place the mortgage on the freeholders? If not, what a sad blow this will be to the commissioners, especially Mr. Law, commissioner, that this iniquity was not embodied in the special act appointing Water Commissioners of Peterborough with their most extraordinary powers. Why was this "implement of torture" overlooked, "oh, astute one"?

Yours,
MORE LIGHT.

Winter Causes Skin-Torture

WINTER'S trying conditions so affect the skin that at about this period it often breaks down. Skin "breakdown" is shown by the appearance of pimples, rashes, ulcers, or red patches. When you go out, does your skin itch or smart? Have you red blotches under the skin, which give your face patchy, unpleasant appearance?

Or perhaps you have some skin complaint not on the face or neck—hidden from sight, yet which causes you hours and hours of pain? Some patch of rash, or sores due to blood-poisoning, which hitherto have defied all your attempts at cure? If so, don't delay in applying Zam-Buk.

The herbal medicinal properties of Zam-Buk are so perfectly and uniquely blended that the skin can absorb them at once, and thus the cells are stimulated to healthy activity. Zam-Buk attacks and eradicates disease germs directly, and stands on guard, as it were, holding off all germs which, if admitted, would set up festering, until the healing process is complete. Rashes, tetter, ulcers, face blemishes, old sores, eczema patches, Spring eruptions all these are removed by Zam-Buk. Mothers will find it the ideal balm for children's sores and babies' rashes. Herbal, healing, and health-producing, it is without equal as a family balm.

DOCTORS SAID "NO CURE."

Sores Defied all Remedies for 7 Years.

DON'T think, because some eruptions or sores which afflict you have defied all remedies, that Zam-Buk cannot overcome them. Mrs. J. M. McCormick, of Invermay (Sask.), says:—"About seven years ago, my face broke out in rough red blotches, which burned and itched, and smarted in turn almost beyond endurance. I commenced to try every known remedy I could get for face and skin troubles. Some of them gave a little relief, some none; but no matter how much I used them, as soon as I went out, the trouble started all over again. I consulted doctors, and they told me there was absolutely no cure for me, but that I should have to wait until I outgrew the disease.

"Finally, my husband sent for a supply of Zam-Buk. We applied a small sample to a small patch of the disease. To our delight, the portion treated with Zam-Buk very quickly healed. We then obtained a proper supply, and began the Zam-Buk treatment.

"I am now delighted to state that, after having used a few boxes, I am free from the old trouble, and completely cured. I will never be without Zam-Buk in the house as long as I live, and to all who are troubled with skin disease in any form I would say, 'waste no time in obtaining a supply of Zam-Buk.'

"Since proving it in my own case, I have obtained a supply for an old lady who had an ulcer on her leg for thirty years. Three boxes of Zam-Buk were sufficient to close the wound."

ZAM-BUK IS PARTICULARLY RECOMMENDED FOR

Cuts, burns, bruises, sprains, piles, festering sore, ulcers, scalds, blood-poisoning, eczema, scabs, chapped hands, cold cracks, chilblains, ringworm, scalp sores, bad leg, diseased ankles, and all other skin diseases and injuries. Rubbed well into the parts affected, it cures neuralgia, rheumatism, and sciatica. All Druggists and Stores sell at 50c. box, three for $1.25, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price.

KAISER AND SAM ANDERSON MAY WRESTLE IN PETERBORO'

Peterborough people are likely to see a real electric flash wrestling match here at an early date. An endeavor is being made to have a match pulled off here between Sam Anderson, who claims the middleweight championship of America, and Charlie Kaiser, who delighted the Peterborough fans by his great work when he met Hurtubise here.

Anderson is a top-notcher, and as has been shown by his challenges published in the Review, is anxious for a crack at Young Hackenschmidt and Yankee Rogers.

If Kaiser and Anderson ever get going here the electric sparks would fairly sizzle out of them by their speed.

FRED SIMPSON BARRED FROM THE BIG MARATHON DERBY

The Toronto Star says:—

Tom Longboat, the Indian.
St. Yves, the Frenchman.
Alf. Shrubb, the Englishman.
J. J. Hayes, the Yankee.
Dorando Pietri, the Italian.

These are the entries in the Marathon Derby at the Polo grounds, New York, on April 2.

Marathon Derby?

Why call it the Marathon Derby when good men are left out? Why not let Matt Maloney, the conqueror of Pat White, the Irishman, and Pat White in?

Why not give John Svanberg, the Swede, a chance?

And how about Fred Simpson, the Ojibway Thunderbolt, who is to run Alf. Shrubb in the Armouries Saturday night?

Irrespective of the result of Saturday night's race, Simpson deserves a chance at the Marathon distance.

He beat Longboat in the English Marathon, and crossed the tape seventh, and finished as strong as a horse. He is a grand distance runner, and if he entered there would be a whole lot of Canadian money wagered that Canada would win on her team of Indians.

As it stands now, the Land of the Maple has to depend on "the daddy of them all," with only two weeks to get into condition.

"Why is Simpson barred?" Tom Eck was asked to-day.

"I don't know," was the reply. "They simply won't let him start. I think they really are afraid of him. They know how good he is at that distance."

The dangerous man in the Marathon Derby is the Italian, Dorando.

Shrubb is a whirlwind, and may possibly hang on the full distance outdoors but if Dorando steps along the way he did at the Garden Monday night Shrubb won't hold him.

IF LONGBOAT IS RIGHT.

Longboat in shape will run over him in 2.48 time but can the Onondaga marvel get into condition for a 2.48 Marathon journey in two weeks. True, his let-up gave him strength and ginger, but how about speed and reserve for such a gruelling as Dorando's recent effort promises the man who heads him.

Tom Longboat arrived in town last night, and announced his intention of training under Tom Eck's supervision along with Fred Simpson. If Longboat will obey Eck implicitly until April 2nd he will be in as good condition as mortal man could get him in the time at his disposal.

Y.M.C.A. TRACK AND FIELD CLUB PROPOSE MEET FOR MAY 24th

The Y.M.C.A. Track and Field Club met last night and the prospects for the coming athletic season were discussed.

A constitution was adopted. An emblem was decided on. It is to be a block P. with an arrow running through it.

An athletic meet on May 24th was talked of and if nothing interferes a big event will be put on.

This summer promises to see an active season in the Y.M.C.A. track and Field Club. Such a body in connection with the Y.M.C.A. is a most desirable organization and should do much for the furtherance of track and field sports in the city. No doubt it will be the means of developing many good athletes this year.

HARTLEY TELLS OF THE SIX DAY RACE IN NEW YORK

The following readable account in connection with the six day race in New York was told the Toronto News by Davy Hartley:

David Hartley, the famous little pedestrian of Peterborough, strolled into the News office yesterday afternoon while on his way back from New York City and told of his experiences there in the big six day go as you please race, held in Madison Square Garden last week.

The little man of iron was not yet entirely over the effects of his grueling contest, but he stood the test better than many a younger man; in fact, he came through the ordeal in fairly good shape. This is all the more remarkable as he was the oldest man entered—he has turned fifty-six years of age—and for four days of the six he was doing practically two men's work. He was struggling along single handed against teams of two men, and that he finished in last place was no disgrace. But if he had had any sort of a partner he would have been up amongst the leaders. He covered exactly 420 miles in the six days. He hoofed every inch of this distance. He was paired up with first one and then another contestant during the early stages of the race, but the distance gained by these men was all deducted.

The winners Cibot and Orphee, went 732 miles and six laps between them and Hartley figures it out that with a mate he could have finished at least second. Fred Davis, the Hamilton Indian, captured second place. He, too, had lots of hard luck, but at last found a partner, a Greek who stuck to him.

"That is probably the last six day go as you please that will ever be pulled off in New York City," said Hartley. "These events are far from being as popular as they were twenty years ago and as a direct result the box office suffered.

"I was lucky to get my expense money. All the men will get their money alright but the promoters are way out of pocket. They came to me on the Thursday and told me if I finished they would give me my expenses, and they kept their word. They treated us fine too, even though the affair was a failure. I guess they will be at least $30,000 in the hole when they come to balance up.

"You see they sent men all over to get the runners. The promoters sent to France, Italy, Germany, Canada—in fact in every corner of the globe. After the contestants arrived they were paired up by the management I fancy were alone. The most of them arrived three weeks or a month before the race to train. They had quarters at Coney Island and all their expenses were paid during that time. Then during the race they had a first class restaurant fitted up, in the Gardens, where the contestants could eat all and anything they wanted. All this counts up so you see how soon the figures began to climb. Along towards the end of the race, it was almost necessary to have two trainers for each man. The promoters paid for all this too.

"I arrived in New York just two hours before the race began and I did not get a chance to snatch a bit o' rest before I started out. When I began to look for my partner, Anthony Higgins, of Montreal, I found that he had not shown up so I got hold of some one else and we jogged along for a day taking turns at the grind. He soon gave up as did another young fellow who took cramps.

"Then I kept on alone, going for stretches of five and six hours at a good steady pace. I did not run any although some trotted for a few miles now and again. I was waiting all the time for some one to drop out but not one was good enough so they told me to keep on alone to the finish.

"The last day of the race there were many pitiable, yet laughable scenes. None of the men could sleep much with all the excitement and noise going on and the strain began to tell heavily on them towards the last. One poor fellow marked out a narrow path in the track and if any of the others stepped on that strip he would go wild. He often went to the referee about it.

"Then another contestant imagined his competitors were pouring sawdust down his back. There was nothing there but he went to the referee and showed him all the imaginary sawdust. There was one Jew who was struggling along trying to fight the stiffness which was gradually overcoming him. He would plod on a few steps and then raise his arms over his head, after which he would throw himself forward for a few more feet. Such scenes were awful.

"At times the fainting men made one think it was a battlefield, but this was what the crowd wanted. Once in a while rich ladies handed me bills while I was going around. The New Yorkers seemed to take a fancy to me as I was so old and I made quite a lot on these contributions.

"Nearly every one collapsed after the ordeal was over. I lost over 15 pounds through the race, but I will soon regain this.

"By the way I stayed over to see Svanberg, the Swede, race Pat White, of Dublin in a ten mile jaunt. They raced on the same track which was about twelve feet wide. I believe White spiked the Swede in the final sprint as the latter fell when just about 200 yards from the finish and when he came in his leg was bleeding badly."

Hartley's feet are in pretty good condition considering what he has gone through. Yesterday he was still wearing moccasins to ease them.

The Shah of Persia has agreed to call a convention to prepare a constitution for the country.

BRANTFORD IS BEHIND $500

Pro. Hockey Team Did Not Pay There This Year---Salaries Too High.

Brantford, March 17.—The wind-up meeting of the Brantford professional hockey club had a good representation of the 25 local promoters at the meeting. The financial statement showing the season's operations in full was presented by the secre-treasurer. The club this year has a deficit of about $500 to face. Injuries and hard luck account for the deficit.

OTHERS DOWN, TOO.

Compared with the Berlin and Toronto showing Brantford's obligations are apparently small. Berlin's incorporated stock company is reported $2,100 in the hole, while Alex. Milne is said to have dropped $1,500. Buck Irving's Galts, a team that played hockey to win, made $1,000 for the owner. In Galt, however, the salaries were not as high as locally.

CUT SALARIES.

The general feeling prevailed at the meeting that there would have to be a reduction in salaries next year. The other managers apparently are agreed on the same thing. The Brantford management paid the salaries of the injured players while they were out of the game.

Toronto pros drew the biggest gates here, with Berlin next. Galt was not well thought of until the finish. The gates ranged from $400 to $700 there being a couple around the $200 mark.

MUST HAVE PROS.

Fred Westbrook was confident the team would be going next year on a better basis and salary limit would be agreed on. Brantford people, he said, would never stand for anything but professional hockey and he thought the game would be a bigger drawing card than ever next year.

EDMONTON GAVE THEM RAW DEAL

Shamrocks of Winnipeg, Say Whitcroft's Team Got Cold Feet.

The Winnipeg Free Press says:—The Shamrocks and Maple Leafs play at the Winnipeg rink to-night.

At the last moment Edmonton flunked on the return series here handing the Shams a very raw deal.

When the Irishmen went to Edmonton they played for their expenses and Edmonton made over $1,000 on the two games. Whitcroft's men were under contract to play two games here under the same conditions but yesterday a wire was received that the team had disbanded. Manager McNeil of the Shamrocks, said last night that the matter would likely be taken to the courts as it was clearly a breach of contract. The Edmonton series as events turned out, put the Irishmen up against it in more ways than one. Had they not gone to the Alberta capital they would have made the trip east after the Stanley Cup, and then if they had not arranged to play Edmonton here this week Ottawa would have been brought west.

The Shamrocks while naturally indignant at the cold deck rung in by the Albertans lost little time in arranging games with their old rivals the Maple Leafs. With Joe Hall back from the east, the others home from Weyburn, Joe Lee has all his team again except Winchester. It is likely Penwarden will keep goal. Forrester and Holden will occupy their usual positions while the forward line will be composed of Kean, Nesbitt, Hall and Jackson. The Shams will play the same team as at Edmonton. Two games will be played to-night and Friday.

A CROSS ON HIS BACK.

It Was Made With Chalk, but Was Too Heavy to Carry.

There is a story of an envious tailor current with the French peasantry. He fancied that his neighbor, who received a pension for the loss of an arm incurred while fighting for his country, was better off than himself. Both men went to pay their rent on the same day.

"That's a lucky man," said the tailor to the landlord. "He gets well paid for his arm."

"But who would be willing to part with an arm, even if he were paid for it?" said the landlord.

"I would," declared the tailor.

"You!" cried the landlord. "Why, man, you wouldn't be willing to bear anything of the sort, no matter how much you were paid for it."

"I wish some one would try me."

"Now, see here," said the landlord, who had studied human nature, "I'll tell you what—if you'll wear even so much as a chalk mark on your back I'll remit your rent as long as you wear it on your coat so it can be seen, the condition being that you tell no one why it is there."

"Agreed," said the tailor eagerly. "That's an easy way to pay rent."

So the chalk mark in the form of a cross was made on the back of his coat, and the delighted tailor sallied forth upon the street.

Strangers and acquaintances hailed him to tell him of the mark on his back. Jokes were made at his expense, children laughed and pointed at him, and his wife annoyed him with questions and with conjugal familiarity told him he was a fool. The usually amiable man grew surly and morose; he shunned men, women and children and frequented back streets. Before the week was up the tailor found himself embroiled in a quarrel with his best friend, his wife had threatened to leave his house, and he considered himself miserable and ill used.

Finally one night he took off his coat and rubbed out the chalk mark and said: "There! I would not wear that cross on my back another week, no, not if I could have all the money there is in Paris!"

ROBIN HOOD NOT A MYTH.

Hero of Sherwood Forest Had a Court Place Under King Edward II.

Many famous men have their names linked with Sherwood—King John, the three Edwards, Richard III., Cardinal Wolsey and Charles I.—but the hero of the place, the "genius loci," is Robin Hood.

Some think that the famous outlaw of the ballads was a myth, a mere poetic conception and a creature of the popular mind, but Mr. Hunter in his research into the person and period of Robin Hood holds that he was born between 1285 and 1295, living through the reign of the second Edward and into the early years of the third. He was of a family of some station seated near Wakefield and supported the Earl of Lancaster in his rebellion against the government. When the earl fell and his followers were proscribed Robin Hood took to the woods and supported himself by slaying the wild animals found in the forest and by levying a species of blackmail on passengers along the great road which united London and Berwick. This continued for about twenty months, from April, 1322, to December, 1323, when he fell into the king's power, who for some unknown reason not only pardoned him, but gave him a place at court. Anyhow, a man of the name of Robyn Hode was a "varlet" of the king in 1324.

Dr. Spencer T. Hall says that Robyn was created Earl of Huntington by a London ballad writer hard up for a word to rhyme to Little John. Be this as it may, Robin Hood will always be the hero of romance, and those who love romance will refuse to believe that he never existed.—London Globe.

Mansfield's Lonely Meals.

There were two meals which Mansfield always ate alone—breakfast and the light repast of broth and oysters late in the afternoon. An empty stomach attacked his nerves and set his temper on edge. In the morning he was in no convenient mood until he had the invariable coffee and bacon. After a somewhat rigid abstinence during the balance of the day and evening the fatigue of a performance edged his nerves till his midnight supper, which, with a troop of friends about him, warmed him into the sunniest humor of the day. A book or play was the companion of his solitary meals.—Paul Wilstach in Scribner's.

The Very First One.

The visitors in the historical museum gazed curiously at a small feather pillow which nestled in a glass case.

"I don't see anything unusual about that pillow," remarked one of the visitors, turning to the guide.

"It's a very valuable pillow," replied the guide. "That is Washington's original headquarters."—Lippincott's.

A Zoological Question.

The director of the zoological gardens was on his vacation. He received a note from his chief assistant, which closed thusly: "The chimpanzee seems to be pining for a companion. What shall we do until you return?"

Two Words.

"There are two words that I feel sorry for."

"And they are?"

"Blithering and egregious. Nobody ever uses 'em except to call some one an idiot or an ass."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Representatives of the mine owners and of the miner's union are in conference in McLeod, Alta.

Humor

SHE NAMED HIM.

And the Experience Was Also Worth Much to Hezekiah.

Hezekiah Horsefly smiled knowingly as he stood in the crowd in front of the fortune teller's booth with one hand on his silver watch.

"She'll tell you your past—she'll tell you your future—she'll even tell you your name!" roared the barker through his megaphone.

"To a squash she can't do it!" muttered Hezekiah to himself.

"If she can't tell you your name she'll refund your money!" yelled the barker as he sized up Hezekiah and seemed to know what was passing in his mind.

"By heck, I'll do it!" exclaimed the man from Podunk. "I'll hev some fun fur nothin'!" And a moment later he had paid $2 in advance and was sitting face to face with Mme. Tabasco, "the famous gypsy queen."

"You are going on a long journey," she began as she studied his hand.

"Yep; that's what they all say," sneered Hezekiah. "Go on and tell me my name or gimme my money back."

"A blond lady whom you have never seen has fallen madly in love with you, and"—

"I don't keer a punkin seed if she has!" he broke in angrily. "I'm here to be told my name."

"But I warn you to beware of a short, fat man," continued the fortune teller. "He will"—

"And I don't keer a bumblebee about a short, fat man!" exclaimed Hezekiah. "I want my name or there'll be sum trouble around here. You know you can't tell it."

"You would have me tell you your name?" she asked.

"That's what I'm here fur, grandma," he flippantly replied.

"Very well, sir. But first let me tell you your future; let me give you a warning that will be worth fifty times the small sum you have paid. A dark man will soon cross your path, and if you"—

"I kin take keer of all the dark men that cross my path. I'll give you a minit more to tell me my name."

"Very well, sir," said Mme. Tabasco as she touched a bell, and a smile came over her face. "Your name is 'Sucker.'"

And after Hezekiah Horsefly had been hustled out by the bouncer he agreed that the fortune teller had hit the nail on the head.—A. B. Lewis in Judge.

A SECOND GRAND PRIZE ADDED IN REVIEW CONTEST

Making a Grand Prize for Each District—But One Grand Prize May be Won in a District—The Highest Vote in the Entire Contest Secures First Grand Prize, Choice of Trip of Europe or Gerhard-Heintzman Piano—The Second Grand Prize, an $80 Solitaire Diamond Ring, Will go to the Candidate With Highest Vote in District Not Winning First Grand Prize.

TEN PRIZES IN ALL--FIVE FOR EACH DISTRICT

The subscribers of the Review have made this contest a gratifying success. We are always ready to do our part, and therefore add another very valuable prize to the nine already announced. Nothing is taken from the other prizes to allow this offer. This award is given in addition. This ring is of exactly double the value of the regular district prizes, and does not displace any of the regular prizes. This insures five awards in each district. Should the first Grand prize, European tour or Gerhard-Heintzman piano, be won in the city (district No. 1), then the second grand prize ($80 solitaire diamond ring) will go to candidate, lady or gentleman, in District 2, having the highest vote. In the list where either of the grand prizes are won there will be three winners—first or second grand prize, first district prize and second district prize. If the first grand prize should be won in District No. 2, then the second grand prize will go to the candidate, lady or gentleman, in district No. 1, who polls the highest vote.

No district can win two grand prizes. This arrangement is as fair to one district as to the other.

MISS PERRY FAVORITE TO-DAY

For the past week no candidate has been able to hold first place for more than one day. Miss Adams held first place last Saturday, being displaced on Monday by Miss Moore. On Tuesday Miss Perry was in the lead and yesterday Miss Adams was again in first place. To-day Miss Perry forges to the front again.

This nip-and-tuck race is not only interesting, but exceedingly exciting. During the past few days Miss Dawson has always been dangerously near the top. While the scramble for first place has been in progress, other contestants have been gradually climbing the vote ladder, those most noticeable being Miss Lila Finlay, who increased her score 10,000 today, and P. G. Towns. Miss Finlay is very near the 100,000 mark and Mr. Towns is just touching 90,000. The Reviw contest is nothing at all if not at fever heat. Well, it will all be over Monday evening. We expect all the candidates and their friends to be preant at the final count.

The standing to-day:

FIRST GRAND PRIZE

Miss Maude Perry.

SECOND GRAND PRIZE

Miss Rose P. Moore.

FIRST DISTRICT PRIZES

Miss Maude Adams.
Miss Lila Finlay.
Herb. McMillan.
P. G. Towns.

SECOND DISTRICT PRIZES

Miss Birdie Dawson.
Miss Murtin Colin.

THE LAST, "THE MAIN, CHANCE" FOR ALL CANDIDATES

EACH CANDIDATE sending or bringing $10 worth of NEW subscriptions to the Review Office before 8 o'clock, on March 22nd, the close of the Contest, will be given a special certificate for 4,000 EXTRA VOTES, in addition to the regular certificates. The amount may be made up in any manner—Daily or Weekly subscription. All that is necessary is that the sum amounts to $10, and that it be NEW.

For each $10 worth of OLD subscriptions turned in until the end of the Contest a special certificate for 2,000 EXTRA VOTES will be given. This also in addition to the regular votes.

Every subscription turned in since March 8 will be counted. It is not necessary to hold back the money until you have $10. Turn the subscriptions in as you get them, and when the amount reaches $10, the certificate will be issued—and it may be voted at once or held as desired.

No other offer of any kind will be made during the Contest.

ALL BALLOTS EXPIRE MARCH 20. NONE COUNTED AFTER THAT DATE

ONLY FOUR DAYS MORE. The manager of this contest has often seen four days' work win a grand prize in these affairs. It's the finish that counts. Fight to the last ditch.

All active candidates have received many promises of support from their friends. Go to these same friends at once and show them that it is greatly to your advantage to secure their subscription NOW. They have no doubt put you off several times. The time has come when you need their help. The last day is almost here. If they are in good faith with you they will comply at once.

Only four more days to go, and no matter how much of the campaign you have made there is more to be gathered the next few days and they will, beyond doubt, have the most vital bearing on your final standing. Don't give up the ship until the final count by the judges next Monday night. Never mind this talk about what the other candidate has in reserve. Believe that when you hear the judges call them off on the closing night.

In the meantime get all you can. Then, if you're beaten you can feel that you did not quit when you had a good chance to win. Imagine how you would feel to find that you were awarded a district prize when a few more subscriptions would have landed one of the Grand prizes.

SURVIVAL OF THE FITTEST.

Thus far in the race you have proven your mettle and shown that you are worthy to stand out among the few who have the personality and the grit to accomplish big things. You have shown that you are a success in life. Had you been a failure or only a person of mediocre ability you would never have survived the hard hustling of the past two weeks in this great "war of the worthy," and no matter whether you win or lose, your showing has been one to be proud of and one that your enemies as well as your friends will be forced to admit.

You can't all win. There are ten prizes and there will be ten winners. But every contestant in the race will be a winner in many ways. They will have won the respect and admiration of every citizen of this vicinity who has watched this trial of strength and who can do no other than admit that the men and women in this race who fought it out to the last ditch and never cried "enough" or never acknowledged that they could be defeated are possessors of all the requisites which go to make successful men and women in modern times.

Your connection with and showing in the heat of this friendly competitive struggle can but add to your chosen community.

Now, keep your stride the last four days of this magnificent effort. Draw on every resource, muster every possible reserve; guard against every possible surprise; don't overestimate your antagonist, and last but most important of all—don't underestimate your adversity, no matter where he stands to-day. It does not all show in the columns of the paper, and you can't believe half you hear, but get every vote you can, anyway. Make a finish such as your achievements of the past seven weeks have led your friends to expect of you, and you can't lose.

Jane Cable

...By...

GEORGE BARR McCUTCHEON,

Author of "Beverly of Graustark," Etc.

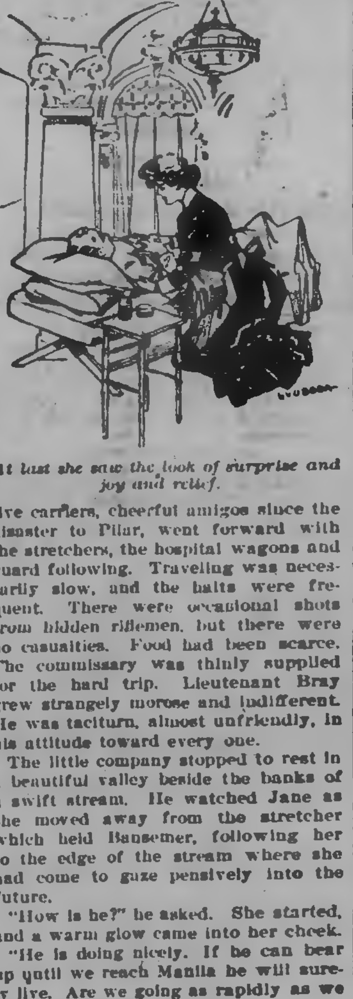
—COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY DODD, MEAD & COMPANY

Jane found the slim, boyish figure lying on the ground, deep in the wood. She had been crying and made no attempt to subdue her emotions when the American girl came up to her; instead she bitterly poured out her woe into the ears of the other. She told her of Bray's insult—as she termed his unfortunate speculation—and she told how it came about.

"I am a good girl, Miss Cable," she cried. "I am of a noble family. You do not believe it of me? No! He had no right to accuse me. I was a prisoner. Senor Bansemer was my rescuer. I loved him for it. See, I cannot help it; I cannot hide it from you. But he is yours. I have no claim. I do not ask it. Oh," and here her voice rose to a wail of anguish, "can you not procure something else for me to wear? These rags are intolerable. I hate them! I cannot go back there unless I have"—

"We can give you a few garments, dear," said Jane. "Come! You shall wear the nurse's uniform. We are to start on the long march to the coast tomorrow. They say that all of the wounded can be moved by that time."

It was three days, however, before the little company left the village and began its slow, irksome march across the country toward the coast where the ship was to pick up the wounded men and convey them to Manila. Native carriers, cheerful amigos since the disaster to Pilar, went forward with the stretchers, the hospital wagons and guard following. Traveling was necessarily slow, and the halts were frequent. There were occasional shots from hidden riflemen, but there were no casualties. Food had been scarce. The commissary was thinly supplied for the hard trip. Lieutenant Bray grew strangely morose and indifferent. He was taciturn, almost unfriendly, in his attitude toward every one.



At last she saw the look of surprise and joy and relief.

The little company stopped to rest in a beautiful valley beside the banks of a swift stream. He watched Jane as she moved away from the stretcher which held Bansemer, following her to the edge of the stream where she had come to gaze pensively into the future.

"How is he?" he asked. She started, and a warm glow came into her cheek.

"He is doing nicely. If he can bear up until we reach Manila he will surely live. Are we going as rapidly as we should, Lieutenant Bray?"

"Quite, Miss Cable. It isn't an easy march, you must remember." After a long silence he suddenly remarked: "Miss Cable, I've got a rather shameful confession to make. I've had some very base thoughts to contend with. You may have guessed it or not, but I care a great deal for you, more than for any one else I've ever known. You say he is to get well. For days I wished that he might die. Don't look like that, please. I couldn't help it. I went so far at one stage as to contemplate a delay in marching that might have proved fatal to him. I thought of that way and others of which I can't tell you. Thank God, I was man enough to put them away from me. Wait, please! Let me finish. You have said you will not marry him. I don't ask why you will not. I love you. Will you be my wife?"

She stared at him with consternation in her eyes. He had gone on so rapidly that she could not check his rapid speech. Her hand went to her brow, and a piteous smile tried to force itself to her lips.

"I am sorry," she said at last. "I am sorry you have spoken to me of it. I have felt for some time that you—you cared for me. No, Lieutenant Bray; I cannot be your wife."

"I know you love him," he said.

"Yes, it is plain. I have not tried to hide it."

"You must understand why I asked you to be my wife, knowing that you love him. It was to hear it from your own lips, so that I would not go through life with the feeling, after all, that it might have been. Will you tell me the reason why you cannot marry him? He must love you."

"Lieutenant Bray, he would marry me tomorrow, I think, if I were to consent. It isn't that. It would not be right for me to consent. You profess to love me. I have seen it in your eyes—oh, I have learned much of men in the past few months—and I determined if you ever asked me to marry you to ask a question in return. Do you really know who I am?"

He looked his surprise. "Why, the daughter of David Cable, of course."

"No; I am not his daughter."

"His stepdaughter?"

"Not even that. You come from a proud southern family. I do not know who my parents were."

"Good heaven, you—you don't mean you were a waif?"

"A waif without a name, Lieutenant Bray. This is not self abasement; it is not the parading of misfortune. It is because you have made the mistake of loving me. If you care less for me now than you did before you will spread this information throughout the army."

"Believe me, I am not that sort."

"Thank you. Knowing what you now do, could you ask me to be your wife?"

"Don't put it just that way," he stammered.

"Ah, I see. It was a cruel question. And yet it proves that you do not love as Graydon Bansemer loves."

"Some day you may find out all about your parents and be happy. You may have been abducted and"— he was saying, his face white and set. Somehow he felt that he was chastening himself.

"Perhaps," she said quietly. "I might not have told you this had not the story been printed in every newspaper in the States just before I left. You see, I did not know it until just a few months ago. I thought you might have read of me, I—I am so notorious."

"Jane, dear Jane, you must not feel that way!" he cried as she started quickly away. "It's"— But she turned and motioned for him to cease. There were tears in her eyes. He stood stock still. "She's wonderful!" he said to himself as she walked away. "Even now I believe I could— Pshaw! It ought not to make any difference! If it wasn't for my family— What's in a name anyway? A name"— He started to answer his own question, but halted abruptly, squared his shoulders and then, with true southern, military bearing, strode away, murmuring:

"A name is something; yes, family is everything."

Jane went at once to Graydon. His great gray eyes smiled a glad welcome. She took his hand in hers and sat upon the ground beside him, watching his face until they were ready to resume the journey.

"Would it not be better if he were to die?" she found herself wondering, with strange inconstancy to her purpose. "Why could it not have been I instead of he? How hard it will be for us to live after this! Dear, dear Graydon, if—if I only were different from what I am."

Not a word of his father's conduct toward her, not a word of blame for the blow his father had struck. She held him to no account for the baseness of that father. Only did she hold herself unfit to be his wife.

Fortune and strength went hand in hand for the next two days, and the famished, wornout company came to the coast. The wounded men were half delirious once more for lack of proper attention and the hardships of travel. But the ill wind had spent its force. Bray's instructions were to place his charges on board ship at San Fernando de Union and then await further orders in the little coast town. It meant goodby to Jane, and that meant more to him than he was willing to admit despite all that she had said to him. He went to her when the ship was ready to leave port.

"Goodby," he said. "I'm more grieved than I can tell you, because I believe you think I am a cad."

"Lieutenant Bray, a cad never would have helped me as you have helped me in spite of yourself. Goodby!"

He went out of her life in that moment.

There were vexatious delays, however, before sailing. Almost at the last moment Jane was approached by Teresa Velasquez, now partly dressed as a Red Cross nurse. The Spanish girl was nervous and uneasy. Her dark eyes held two ever changing lights—one somber, the other bright and piercing.

"I have decided to wait for the next ship," she announced briefly.

"You are not going with us?" cried Jane in surprise and distress. "What has happened?"

"It is impossible. I cannot go with you. Pray do not ask for my reason. Goodby. Will you say goodby to—to him for me?"

Jane was silent for a long time, studying the eyes of the Spanish girl.

"I think I understand," she said at last, taking Teresa's hands in hers.

"It is better that it be ended here," said Teresa. "I have endured it as long as I can. You have been good to me, and I want to say goodby while there is love for you in my heart. I am afraid to stay near you—and him. Don't you see? I cannot go on in this way."

"Oh, Teresa!"

"Yes, yes; I know it is wrong. But how can I help it? I've loved him ever since I first saw him—saved his life."

Jane was astounded. The thrust pierced her to the quick.

"Saved his life?"

"Yes, though he does not know it. It was when we were prisoners of the Filipinos. My poor brother was dying. From the convent Aguinaldo and his men were watching and directing the fight on the plaza. They paid no attention to me—a girl. The noise of the fighting men was terrible, and I climbed up to a window where I could see. Suddenly below me I saw two men fighting apart from the struggling mass. In an instant it flashed through my mind that the Filipino was overpowering the other—was going to kill him. Although I hated them equally, there was something in the young soldier's face—I could not see him murdered. I seized a pistol that was lying near me and fired. The Filipino fell. In terror of the deed and fear of discovery I ran to my brother. In a moment the Americans broke into the convent. You know the rest."

Jane was suffering the keenest pangs of jealousy and asked excitedly:

"You—you did that?"

"And finally, when I had learned to care for him and he was wounded, to have been denied the right of nursing him back to life—my place usurped by you! Surely I have as much to be proud of as you, and I love him a great deal more!"

"As much to be proud of"— Jane was saying, for the moment all the warmth gone from her voice, the flame from her cheeks, but her meaning could not have been understood by the other, who proudly, defiantly tossed back her head. Beautiful indeed was this brown skinned, black eyed girl as she stood there pleading her rights to an unrequited love, a heart already tenanted by another, and that other the woman before her.

"Now, can you imagine," the girl went on, "how it has hurt me to see you caring for him, to see his eyes forever searching for you? No?" They were silent a moment. A wistful look was in her eyes now and her voice unmistakably recognizable when she resumed: "Ah, he was so good and true when I was alone with them—before you came! I pray God now that he may be well and that you may make him happy."

"Alas, I am afraid that can never be! You cannot understand, and I cannot explain."

"Your family objects because he is poor and a common soldier? Yes?" She laughed bitterly, a green light in her eyes. "If it were I, no one could keep me from belonging to him. I would"—

"Don't! Don't say it! You don't understand!" Jane reiterated.

"Dios, how I loved him! I would have gone through my whole life with him! He must have known it too."

"He was true to me," said Jane, her figure straightening involuntarily, a new gleam in her eyes.

HARTLEY QUITE A FIGURE SAYS NEW YORK TIMES

Referring to the six-day race a New York the New York Times says: "Hartley, an old go-as-you-please and distance walker, from Peterborough, Canada, where, by the way, Fred Simpson, the thunderbolt Indian, hails from, was quite a figure in the race. He lost his partners and finished last. He stayed through and will probably get his transportation home. Hartley is said to be over fifty.

A SENIOR CITY LEAGUE SHOULD HAVE SUCCESSFUL SEASON

The baseball season is near at hand and before long the different clubs around town will be making preparations for this year. What about a senior city league for this season. There are lots of good ball players in this town and a senior league should be a big success if properly looked after. This would not interfere with the intermediate league, which will see its third year this season. Players have been developed in the intermediate league who would make good in senior company. The object of a senior league would be the same as that of the city hockey league, as Peterborough is in the same condition as regards players in both games. It is up to the different clubs around town to discuss this matter and there are lots of good officials who could be secured to push the scheme along if the clubs show that they are willing to do their best to help.

TRYING TO GET FRANK GOTCH TO WRESTLE AT THE GRAND

Mr. A. J. Small, who books the attractions for the Grand Opera House here, is trying to get Frank Gotch billed to wrestle in Peterborough. If he does he will probably be matched on handicap terms against Yankee Rogers or some other heavyweight of distinction.

Mr. J. J. Turner, sr., was in Toronto yesterday and Mr. Small mentioned the possibility of getting Gotch to appear in Peterborough. This was referred to a short time ago in The Review, when Gotch was corresponded with, but no definite terms were arrived at.

Gotch should draw a big house in Peterborough.

RUNNING

The demand for tickets when the seat plan opened at Baxter's yesterday for the Shrubb-Simpson race indicates the keen interest that is felt in the good distance runners. Toronto people, though loyal supporters of the sport, have had little opportunity to see the men at home, and the Armories will be thronged on Saturday night but the place is so big that there should be opportunity for all who desire to witness the contest. The Englishman has hosts of admirers here, and he will undoubtedly set himself to give the opposition a taste of his quality. The forces now opposed to him include Longboat, and "Red Hawk" Jackson, these two Indians having turned in to do all in their power to have the Hiawatha tribesman at his best on Saturday. It would be a proud night for the red race if Simpson should surpass Longboat by beating Shrubb at the white man's own distance.

The officials for the race will be;

Starter—Geo Cotton.

Referee—Col Sir Henry Pellatt.

Timers—Rev J D Morrow, Louis Scholes, Thomas Flanagan and Sergt. W H Grant.

Judges—Maj. J A Currie, MP, and Controller J J. Ward.

Scorers—Captain Mitchell, Captain Darling and Captain Biggs.

Only officials and ushers will be in uniform. About fifty of the latter will have charge of the seating of the crowd. The Band of the Grenadiers will play during the evening.—The Globe.

MIDGETS WON FROM THISTLES

At Brock-st. Rink by 3-2--Both Teams Played Good Hockey.

From Kingston.

The Midgets defeated the Thistles at the rink last night by 3—2. The half time score was 2—1 in favor of the Thistles. The young lads put up a good game of hockey and should be heard of later when they get a little more experience. The Thistles had the best of the score at half time, but after the resting spell the Midgets went at it strong and put in two goals and kept their opponents from scoring. Callaghan scored the first goal of the game for the Midgets, and Lees and Lang scored for their team in the first half. Stratton scored the second goal for the Midgets and Parker put the last counter in for his team which won the game a few minutes before time was called.

Wilf. Fortye gave good satisfaction to both teams by his work with the bell.

The teams were;—

Thistles.		Midgets.
	Goal
Hill		Latimer
	Point
Phelan		White
	Cover point
Matthews		Callaghan
	Rover
H. Lees		Stratton
	Centre
B. Lees		Parker
	Right wing
Laing		Barrie
	Left wing
Morrow		Halpin

The Thistles challenge the Midgets to another game of hockey as soon as the rink can be secured.

SPORTING TALK

The Lindsay Warder is taking a few determined knocks at four evening contemporary, the Examiner, and has the following in yesterday's issue;—

Whether Lindsay can or cannot beat St. Michael's is a question that only a game between the two can decide. When the Peterborough Examiner says Lindsay cannot the statement is by no means authorative. There are more things happening in this world than the Examiner ever dreamed of. Of course what prompts the statement to come from Peterborough is that the Kingston Soldiers once beat the crack Peterborough intermediate team and St. Mikes beat Kingston this year. Experts admit that the soldiers have gone back though and one of their best men, Van Horne, was off. St. Mikes won from them this year. Think it over Peterborough and hand out something better.

Simpson has reached a critical point in his running career. Should he win from Shrubb, Saturday night in Toronto, as his many admirers are sure he will, his road to further honors should be pretty smooth, but should he not make a good showing—well, you know what generally happens.

Sam Fitzpatrick, who handled Johnson in his fight with Tommy Burns, and who is now looking for a job, says that Jeffries can easily defeat the negro. He has changed his mind considerably since he lost his job with Johnson, but the boilermaker doesn't need any more handlers.

MY! SUCH VERY BAD ENEMIES

The following account of the Mohl-Abdallah match at the Star theatre will amuse the Review readers:

For ways that are dark and tricks that are wily the heathen Turk wrestlers are peculiar.

Hassan Abdallah, the Oriental grappler, who took on Fritz Mohl last night, at Riverdale Rink, pulled off the "greasy pig" stunt on the German, and all but broke the bout up in a scrap.

The Turk had won the first fall in 6.30, when he shifted from a bar Nelson and took head lock, but during the resting time he was anointed with camphorated oil. When he came out again the German caught the trick and protested.

"No! no!" grunted the swarthy Oriental.

"Ja! Ja!" said Fritz.

Referee Harry Rosenthal looked the Turk over, and decided that he had salad oil or some other top dressing on him. The Turk immediately rolled and rubbed himself around the mat like a big dog, and they went on. The Turk got the second fall in 45 minutes.

It was a grand battle. The German outweighed the Turk 45 pounds, but the Oriental, a ball of powerful muscles, picked him up bodily several times and hurled him over his head. Mohl came down like a ton weight, but fortunately escaped broken bones. They had two or three rough clashes, and once in a battle royal following a strangle, the Turk slipped in on Mohl. The German, half blinded with sweat, accidently gathered the referee's leg in along with a chunk of Turk anatomy and brought him down with a bump, much to the joy of the crowd. The Turk is some wrestler, and by his speed and strength showed that he will give Rogers or any of the other near-champions a tight fit. He wants to meet Mahmout, who wrestles Yankee Rogers here Thursday night.

HOCKEY

The Chieftians and Bridgenorth hockey teams will play at Brock street rink tonight from 7 to 8. The ice is in good condition and the game should be a good one. The Chieftians defeated Bridgenorth last year, but the boys from Mud Lake claim they will reverse matters when the teams meet tonight. Bridgenorth have played here several times this winter and appear to have a faster seven than that which represented them in the City League last season.

AXLE BROKE AND CAUSED DELAY

G. T. R. Train From Toronto Met With Accident Last Night---Engineer Injured

The GTR. train from Toronto which arrives here at 9.05 pm. was about two hours late last night on account of the engine meeting with an accident at Lindsay. The axle on the drive wheel broke and another engine had to be secured to bring the train to Peterborough. The driver, Mr. Peter McCluskey, had his leg injured in some way and stayed here over night to have it treated. He returned to his home in Toronto today. Mr McCluskey is a popular railroad man and his many friends will be sorry to hear of the injury to his leg and will hope that he will soon be able to report for duty again.

HE IS CHARGED WITH BIGAMY

Campbellford Man Married in Canada With a Wife in England

Albert Edward Lewis, who has just served a term in the Cobourg jail for theft committed in Campbellford, was brought back to town last Thursday, and in the absence of Police Magistrate G. A. Payne, was brought before Mr. T. J. Horkins, J.P., on a charge of bigamy. It was proven that on the 25th of March, 1908, Lewis was married in England, and the following day he sailed for Canada alone. On the voyage out he fell in love with Kathleen Mary Blake, and on April 15th they were united in marriage at Christ Church here.

Wife number one, in England, having learned of the second marriage, applied for a divorce. Lewis was committed to jail to stand trial. The second Mrs. Lewis has been in the Salvation Army Home in Toronto since last October. — Campbellford Despatch.

A JOKE ON THE RATEPAYERS

Brantford People Shovelled Snow all Winter and Now Find That They Need Not Have.

The Brantford civic authorities have pretty much of a joke on ratepayers who have been shovelling snow all winter on the understanding that if they did not do so, they would be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law, etc. It turns out that the City Solicitors have recently investigated the snow shovelling by-law and finds that it is almost as old as Noah and his ark, having been passed in 1869. The solicitors have written to the City Council that the Aldermen had better pass another by-law before next winter.

LAND GRANT TO THE C.N.R. THE GOVERNMENT'S OFFER

Premier Whitney Makes Statement In House.

Ontario Will Give Two Million Acres Under Certain Conditions.

Toronto, March 19.—Four thousand acres a mile for the 500 odd miles between Sellwood and Sudbury is the subsidy to be offered the Canadian Northern Railway by the Ontario Government, mineral rights and pine timber to be retained and the land to be given in the clay belt and not in the mineral region. This, said the Premier, was giving about one-eighth of the clay belt, in order to bring it all into conditions fit for settlement.

So Sir James Whitney, before the rising of the Legislature yesterday evening announced the policy of the Government towards the Canadian Northern Railway in response to the request of the railway committee for assistance.

The C.N.R. which is now partly built west and northwest from Sellwood had made application for railway aid. They made alternative requests. In the first place for the portion of track from Sellwood along the north of Lake Superior down along Lake Nipigon to Fort William they asked for a Government guarantee of bonds for the purpose of building the line.

As an alternative the railway asked for a grant of land and a cash subsidy. This the Government declined to consider.

Sir James' main argument with which he concluded was that while the Government might build an extension of the T. & N.O. Railway westwards the people would value more highly a proposal to give 1,500,000 or 2,000,000 acres, which were now valueless, than the proposal to spend $25,000,000 in building a Government road.

"We will retain the minerals ourselves, and we will retain the right to say when the portion of lands given to the company shall be put on the market, and at what price it shall be sold."

"If the railway company agrees to this, a bill will be prepared containing all the checks, guarantees and conditions I have mentioned, and will be brought down this week."

The Legislature yesterday sat in committee of supply, and took up the estimates of the Minister of Agriculture.

Allan Studholme denounced the payments to the Salvation Army for immigration purposes. He concluded by moving that the votes to assist the Army and other immigration services be struck out.

Premier Whitney attacked Mr. Studholme's views. It was absurd to say the jails were overcrowded with undesirable immigrants.

"I speak of what I know and the hon. gentleman does not know," said the Premier. The Salvation Army did what no other agency did, or attempted, hand-picking the immigrants, so to speak.

Hon. W. J. Hanna announced that $3 a week would be paid by the Government for patients in sanitaria who were paying not more than 70 cents a day.

LATEST ABOUT THE MURDER

Names of New Witnesses Not Divulged--Do Not Want Them to be Interviewed

(Special to The Review.)

Hamilton, March 19.—Thomas Hobson, the Kinrade family solicitor, this morning produced a clipping from a Norfolk, Va., paper of May 14th, 1908, in which Miss Elliott and Col. F. C. Warburton, Miss Kinrade's mysterious friends, are mentioned as being among the guests at a society affair there, showing that these persons are living personalities. Geo. Lynch Staunton, K.C., the other solicitor for the family, refuses to divulge the names of the two witnesses who, he claims, saw the murderer leaving the Kinrade home. He does not want these persons interviewed by newspaper men, he says.

Crown Attorney Washington this morning informed Mr. Staunton that he would subpoena any person likely to shed light on the deed.

The jurors threaten to close up at 12 o'clock to-night and refuse to make an all-night session of it.

Rifle Trophy For Service Corps.

Ottawa, March 19.—Lieut.-Colonel J. Lyon Biggar of Ottawa has offered a cup to be competed for in rifle shooting by teams from the different companies of the army service corps throughout Canada. There will be a series of four matches, for teams of ten men, the aggregate scores to count.

Fast Train Jumps Track.

Charlotte, N.C., March 19.—A fast passenger train on the Atlantic Coast Line jumped the track at Pikeville, a flag station between Goldsboro and Wilmington, shortly after midnight, killing the engineer and fireman and brakeman.

Blind Pig In Grocery.

Windsor, March 19.—Jos. Charles and his wife, Rose, were fined $60 and costs by Magistrate Leggatt yesterday morning for running a "blind pig" in their little grocery store in Anderson Township.

SIR JAMES GOWAN HAS PASSED AWAY

Venerable Knight Dead at His Home at Barrie---Citizens Mourn His Death.

Barrie, March 19.—Yesterday the citizens here were mourning the death of their most distinguished citizen, Sir James R. Gowan. The venerable knight had been enjoying his usual health up to 9 o'clock Saturday evening last, when he was seized with a fainting spell, which confined him to his bed. Gradually his strength declined till at two o'clock yesterday morning the end came. Despite his more than 94 years, he retained remarkable clearness up to the last.

Sir James Gowan was born in Ireland on Dec. 22, 1815, and for the last 75 years has been a resident in Canada. As a student, he enrolled in the militia in the rebellion of 1837, and participated in the fight at Gallows' Hill, afterwards receiving a commission.

He was called to the Bar in 1839, and at the age of 29 he was appointed judge of the judicial district of Simcoe, which office he resigned after 40 years' service. He fathered many law reforms and was more than once offered a Superior Court judgeship. He acted as judge and arbitrator in different royal commissions and was one of the three judge investigating the C.P.R. scandal.

Although a nonogenarian he kept in close touch with public affairs till a short time ago, and till his last illness possessed a memory and intellect almost unimpaired by age. He was a staunch imperialist, a consistent Conservative, and through his long and active life maintained a high standard of consistency and rectitude.

The funeral, which will take place at 2 p.m. Saturday, from Ardraven, his late residence, to Union cemetery, Barrie, will be of a private character.

"Ruinous," Says One.

Norfolk, Va., March 19.—E. C. Fosburgh, president of the North Carolina Pine Association, controlling a majority of the mills in Eastern Virginia, Maryland, North and South Carolina, declared here yesterday that the 50 per cent. reduction on lumber proposed by the new tariff bill will be ruinous to lumber manufacturers and mills generally on the entire Atlantic Coast.

"Wireless" to Relieve.

London, March 19.—The postoffice authorities are trying to arrange a wireless telegraphy service between London and Paris, with the object of relieving the congestion due to the strike of the French telegraph and postal employes.

WILL SWEAR HE SAW MAN

New Evidence in Kinrade Case--Inquest Will be Resumed To-night.

Hamilton, March 19.—Yesterday afternoon it was announced that a new witness had been found who can give very important evidence concerning the Kinrade tragedy, and if what is said is true, it will throw a new light on it, and substantiate Miss Florence Kinrade's story. This person—the name has not been made public—it is said, saw a man leaving the Kinrade home on the afternoon of the tragedy.

Mr. G. S. Lynch-Staunton, K.C., who will look after the interests of the family at the inquest, was spoken to yesterday afternoon, and asked if it was true that such a witness had been found.

"Yes, it is true," said Mr. Staunton, "but I did not intend that the fact should be published yet." He refused to discuss the matter further.

This is the first time any witness has been found who saw a man leaving the house that afternoon about the time of the tragedy, and if his evidence is positive it will clear up one of the most mysterious points in connection with it: the point that a man could leave that house at that hour and make his escape without being seen.

STRANGE REQUEST OF LORD BURTON

London, March 19.—The will of the late Lord Burton shows that the gross value of the estate entered at the principal probate registry is $5,000,000 at least, as far as at present can be ascertained.

After naming executors the will directs that, "before my body be placed in the coffin the spine and spinal marrow of the neck shall be completely severed by a competent surgeon, and my heart removed and placed in a separate vessel to be enclosed in the coffin."

Michael Arthur Bass, first Baron Burton, who was the principal director of Bass & Co., Limited, and of the Southeastern Railway Co. He was highly esteemed by royalty.

Ask For Cent Postage.

Washington, March 19.—One cent postage is provided in a bill which Representative Bennett (New York) has introduced. The measure provides that, beginning Jan. 1, 1910, the rate of postage on all letters mailed within the United States for domestic points, including drop letters, shall be one cent per ounce or fraction.

Mme. Mojeska Very Ill.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 19.—Mme. Helena Modjeska, the famous Polish actress, is seriously ill at her home on Bay Island, near Newport, Orange County. Mme. Modjeska's husband, Count Bozenta, is in constant attendance at his wife's bedside.

DEFERRING OF ELECTIONS DISCUSSED IN COMMONS

Martin Burrell Moves Resolution Condemning System of Holding Over Certain Constituencies, But Vote is Lost by Grit Majority of 46.

Ottawa, March 19.—The House divided last night on Martin Burrell's motion condemning the practice of deferring elections beyond the regular day. Forty-six was the majority rolled up, being one less than the Liberal majority in a full House. Sir Wilfrid Laurier was at home, not having recovered from his indisposition, but he was paired. Mr. Sifton appeared in the House for the first time since he met with an accident while riding in Washington. He was applauded by the Liberals.

Burrell moved "that the House is of the opinion that for the purpose of enabling the electors to exercise the full rights and privileges of their franchise, the general elections should be held on the same day throughout all the provinces of Canada." Under the system of deferred elections the franchise was "a crippled, a maimed thing, which has been robbed of half its value." He would not take the ground that in the past all deferred elections had been unjustified, but he did hold that the 4,000 electors in constituencies where elections had been deferred had been practically disfranchised. The opinion of these people had been stifled.

It was possible to hold all the elections on the same day. In 1900 the Yale-Cariboo election was simultaneous with the others. In 1908 the election was deferred.

Mr. Burrell advocated a fixed term as in the United States.

Mr. Congdon (Yukon) said the matter was not one of fair play or justice, but one of geographical considerations. He agreed that the elections should all be held on the same day, but it was not practical in the Yukon, and he proposed to submit some amendments to the election act to provide that the returning officer may be communicated with by telegraph.

Mr. Fielding said the principle of simultaneous polling was accepted by all parties, but owing to geographical conditions it was impracticable. Mr. Burrell had adopted the way which was the least calculated to bring about the reform desired. He could have introduced a bill to remove the exceptions to the act, but he chose to take another position and introduce a resolution which must be regarded as a want of confidence motion.

Mr. Monk recalled instances of Government supporters submitting a grievance in this way and the Government accepted the resolution with good grace. Deferred elections were a substantial grievance. In Gaspe, Chicoutimi and Saguenay there was serious contests until it was ascertained which party was to sit on the Treasury benches. The electors had been practically disfranchised.

This Hon. Mr. Lemieux denied. He had had to fight for his life in every general election in Gaspe.

Hon. Mr. Templeman agreed that it would be possible to have polling in Kootenay on the same day as other parts of the Dominion, but in Comox-Atlin (the Minister's own constituency), it would be impossible. The constituency was three-quarters as large as Ontario. The only communication was by steamboat and dog train. Had he not been elected by acclamation in February, and had a poll been necessary, half a dozen polling-places would have been without ballot-boxes.

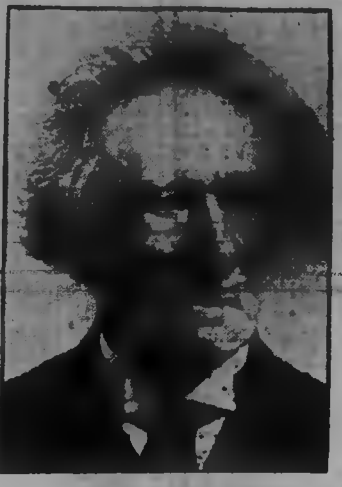
Ruttan (Prince Albert, Sask.) declared his constituency was in the same position.

Mr. Goodeve said that in his own constituency his Liberal opponent, months before the election, declared that deferred elections were vicious in principle and unfair in practice, and he pledged himself that the election would be held on the same date as elsewhere in Canada. But the Liberal candidate declared that he had written and even wired to the Government at Ottawa that his personal and political honor were at stake, but despite this the Government purposely delayed the writ.

Ralph Smith pointed to Mr. Burrell's election as a disproof of his argument that deferred elections were invariably favorable to the Government returned at the general election. He hoped, however, the Government would reduce the number of deferred elections. He did not believe that there had been any necessity for one in Kootenay.

Mr. Fowler argued that deferred elections were the enemy of the country, because it gave the opportunity for the worst kind of argument, that the people must vote for the party which was going to exercise the patronage.

The Death of a Grand old Man



SIR JAMES GOWAN.

The New Hats

Restaurants of the fashionable hotels at tea time nowadays seem veritable flower gardens, for the sudden mildness of the weather has caused an outburst of spring hats of all lines and descriptions. Perhaps it would be nearer the truth to say the hostelries resemble large green houses of potted plants, the majority of the hats certainly being of an inverted flower pot shape. Flowers for millinery trimming seem to be the keynote of up-to-date fashions, as practically every feminine head is buried in bright blossoms mixed with dull green leaves. One unusually effective hat seen in a Fifth avenue tea place recently had a large round crown entirely covered with small pink moss rosebuds, embedded in soft moss. Another was composed of green English ivy with clusters of tiny berries, while a third was built with variegated pansies laid over delicate lavender chiffon. One or two old-fashioned poke bonnets also were in evidence, and in their favor be it said they are more than becoming, always presenting an attractive frame for a fresh young face. The velvet ribbon ends, tied loosely beneath the chin, give a charming finish to the whole picture. A male observer, gazing curiously on the latest millinery effects, was heard to remark he "supposed all the women were covering their heads with mansard roof affairs as a protection against sand and other ballast that might fall from passing balloons and airships."

Teacher's Tragic Death.

St. Catharines, March 19.—A particularly sad death was that of Miss Vera Veitch, teacher of S. S. No. 8, Wainfleet, the school, near Beckett's bridge. Miss Veitch went to Toronto on Saturday and was seized with a fainting spell. Friends had her removed to the station and she returned to her home. Medical aid was called, and it was discovered that she was suffering from appendicitis.

Chances of recovery had been wholly removed by the jarring of the journey home.

TWO KILLED IN A WRECK

Engineer and Yardsman Lose Lives at Adamville Junction Yesterday Morning.

Montreal, March 19.—At Adamville Junction, on the C.P.R., early yesterday morning, a head-on collision occurred between a light engine and a freight train.

Engineer Truax and Yardmaster Garvin Shanks were both killed instantly.

The others of the train crew escaped without serious injury.

Shanks, the yardmaster, had been in the service of the company ever since it started.

Mark Cunningham, the engineer of the Boston train, which on Wednesday crashed through the wall of the ladies' waiting-room of the C.P.R. Windsor street depot, died at the General Hospital yesterday morning at 7.45, making the fifth victim of the accident.

Coroner McMahon opened an inquest yesterday morning into this fatality, when Conductor Harvey stated that at Highlands, the first station after the St. Lawrence is crossed, and eight miles from the city. Engineer Cunningham made some slight repairs, and when the train stopped Harvey asked him how long it would take, and the engineer replied only a few minutes. Everything was all right when the train left Montreal Junction, five miles from the city, and it was not until the train swept past Westmount Station, where they should have stopped, that he noticed something was wrong.

RINGLINGS TO OPEN IN GOTHAM

Have Now Secured Controlling Interest in Barnum and Bailey Show

The Ringling Bros.' World Great Show will take possession of Madison Square Garden New York, where they open on the 25th. That means that for the first time in twenty-five years Barnum & Bailey's "Greatest Show on Earth," will not be seen in New York. The Ringling Bros. now are the kings of the sawdust, for they not only own the show which bears their name, but also own the show founded by P. T. Barnum. The Ringlings have elected that the Barnum show shall open this year in Chicago while their show, which has increased in size and merits of its acts until it has now no superior or equal will be presented in New York. The Ringlings are now determined to make their advent in New York the marking of a new epoch in the circus business.

Railway Liable For Fire Loss.

Cornwall, March 19.—At the spring Assizes held here this week before Chief Justice Falconbridge, a verdict for $424 damages was awarded D. F. Campbell, a Roxboro Township farmer, against the C.P.R. for fire damage caused by engine sparks.

SECOND GRAND PRIZE PLEASES CANDIDATES

Great Satisfaction Over the Addition of Another Valuable Prize—Candidates all Working at a Terrific Pace.

Voting yesterday was confined to a smaller number of candidates, but it was very exciting while it lasted. Both Miss Moore and Miss Dawson patronized the ballot box very liberally, the former getting the lead by 1,252 votes, a small margin at this stage of the contest. But 5,000 separate Miss Perry and Miss Adams. Herb McMillan and W. G. Rundle remain stationary, both apparently waiting for the other to move. Wm. A. Mowry is also playing a waiting game. Watch this list tomorrow. Misses Finlay, Colin and Holcombe were non-voters yesterday. P. G. Towns made the usual climb.

As tomorrow will be the last voting day until the finish, it is certain that the score will go up all along the line.

In yesterday's Weekly the name of Mr. Blackmore appeared as one of the judges from Douro. This mistake was occasioned by a misunderstanding over the 'phone. Mr. Frank Moher is the judge who will look after the interests of the candidates in the country.

JUDGES

Mr. E. B. Fowler, secretary of the Canadian Cordage Manufacturing Company.

Mr. A. W. Cressman of Cressman's.

Mr. T. H. G. Denne, purchasing agent of the Quaker Oats Company.

Mr. W. H. Casement, postmaster of Lakefield.

Mr. Frank Moher, reeve of Douro.

Mr. F. Woolcombe, of Norwood.

The above committee of well-known men will be the judges of the entire count and will award the prizes.

The awards will be made exclusively by the committee. They will be sole and final judges.

Certificates issued to any one candidate can not be voted for any other candidate. Every contestant is hereby protected against any number of candidates combining against them.

The standing to-day:

FIRST GRAND PRIZE
Miss Rose P. Moore.

SECOND GRAND PRIZE
Miss Birdie Dawson.

FIRST DISTRICT PRIZES
Miss Maude Perry.
Miss Lila Finlay.
Herb. McMillan.
P. G. Towns.

SECOND DISTRICT PRIZES

ALEXANDER SHARPE GRANTED RELEASE FROM PENITENTIARY

Was Sentenced Here in 1901 to Fifteen Years at Kingston---Shot William Hull in Methuen Township---An Interesting Case Recalled.

The people of Peterborough and community will well remember the trial here before the late Justice Lount, of Alex. Sharpe, who was charged with the murder of William Hull in Methuen township. The trial was in March, 1901, and on the 25th day of that month Sharpe was given fifteen years in Kingston penitentiary, the original charge of murder having been reduced to one of manslaughter. A feature of the trial was the brilliant and convincing address to the jury of Mr. F. D. Kerr, the prisoner's counsel, whose plea on that occasion is regarded as one of the ablest addresses given at any criminal court held in Peterborough.

Ever since Sharpe was sentenced Mr. Kerr has endeavored to secure his pardon, and has received a letter from the Department of State, Ottawa, notifying him that Sharpe has been granted his freedom on conditional liberation.

The court room was crowded on the days of trial on account of the interesting facts in connection with the tragedy. Hull alienated the affections of Sharpe's wife, and the latter went to Hull's house with his rifle and shot him down.

Much sympathy was expressed for the prisoner when he was on trial, partly on account of the fact of the circumstances in connection with the crime and partly because the accused man was a cripple.

THE LETTER.

The letter telling of Sharp's pardon is as follows:

Ottawa, March 18, 1909.

Sir.—Adverting to your letter of the 9th, ultimo, addressed to the Honourable the Minister of Justice, with a view to securing some exercise of the Royal prerogative of mercy in behalf of Alexander Sharpe, a convict in the penitentiary at Kingston, I am now commanded to inform you that His Excellency, the Governor-General, has been pleased to order this prisoner's release under a license of conditional liberation, and that the warden of the penitentiary is this day so instructed.

I have the honor to be, sir,
Your Obedient Servant,
J. POPE,
Under Sec'y of State.

F. D. Kerr, Esq.,
Barrister at Law,
Peterborough, Ont.

OFFICIAL ATTEMPT TO BREAK PRISON

New York, March 19.—After 16 hours spent in sawing two of the seven-eighths-inch steel bars of his cell with improvised saws made of nickel table-knives, Francis Louis Boissanade, who was set to the task of making an official attempt to escape from the detention prison at Ellis Island, by Immigration Commissioner Robt. Watchorn, last night, he gave up the attempt.

Boissanade last August effected a real escape from the same cell with the connivance, Watchorn thinks, of one or more of the keepers. To prove the truth of Boissanade's assertion that he had escaped by sawing the bars of his cell in 13 1-2 hours with table-knives, he was made to undergo the test which has just failed. Had he succeeded Watchorn had promised to intercede for his liberty.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS RED-HOT FROM WIRES

Boiler Blew Up.

Gore Bay, Ont., March 19.—News has reached here that at Silver Lake, near Silverwater, Manitoulin Island, the boiler in James Crawford's sawmill blew up, seriously scalding five mill hands, namely: J. F. Gwinn of Pembroke; James Hazzard, Barney Addison, J. Ladiseur and a man named Cronk. Gwinn died of his injuries.

Crockett, M.P., Assaulted.

Fredericton, N.B., March 19.—O. C. Crockett, M.P. for York, was taken to task on Queen street yesterday by A. E. Hanson for some remarks he made in Parliament concerning Hanson's work on the St. John river survey. Warm words ensued, and Hanson struck the M.P. twice in the face.

Insurance Bill on Tuesday.

Ottawa, March 19.—The insurance bill will be taken up in the banking and commerce committee on Tuesday next.

Representatives of insurance companies and others will be heard before the full committee at two sittings, after which the bill will be referred to a sub-committee for final consideration, before being sent back to the Commons.

Case Falls Through.

Brockville, March 19.—Jacob Cossman, charged with disposing of a quantity of goods while insolvent with a view to defrauding his creditors, was discharged from custody by Judge Reynolds. Witnesses from Toronto, Montreal and Brockville were heard.

THE WARNING OF ROSEBERY; PRESS BLAMES GOVERNMENT

For Overlooking Naval Preparations.

Announcement Made Regarding Fleet---An Appalling Disclosure Regarding Fleet.

London, March 19.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Lord Rosebery writes The Times that the announcement in the Commons on Tuesday was the most critical he remembers. Its gravity lies not so much in the question of the navy that is to be secured, because as soon as the nation realizes the threat to its predominance, it will vote all that is possible,, "but what," he says, "becomes of the blue water school with which most of us are in sympathy? Their argument is based on the fact that we had a predominating fleet, which made the islands practically impervious to invasion; that that fact now should be relegated to the region of doubt in the matter of security is not permissible, and so the real issue of the revelation in the Commons is to make us enquire anew strictly into the validity of our arrangements for territorial defence. Are they adequate? Will the territorial army, even if its ranks be filled, be sufficient? Those are the real practical, urgent questions to-day?"

The Evening Standard says:

"The Prime Minister and Mr. McKenna have been frank with the House of Commons. The country has had to wait a long time for the acknowledgments made on Tuesday night. We emerge from a maze, not upon safe ground, not even upon grounds of equality with rivals who may some day become enemies, not upon any summit of a two-power standard; rather upon a quivering morass.

The Westminster Gazette says:

"What we have to contemplate—it is sufficiently serious—is the probable addition of four to the number of German ships which we had expected to be in commission by April, 1912. That addition must be met on our side, if it is to be met at all, by laying down four additional ships in time for them to be in commission by the same date."

The Evening News says:

"The debate in Parliament on the navy estimates must occasion grave universal concern. Well might the Ministerial front bench fidget under Mr. Balfour's words. The German program had admittedly eluded our calculations, yet here we are providing for four possible Dreadnoughts which, even when they are certainties, will only place us on level with the one-power standard.

The Pall Mall Gazette says:

"That the whole national and the empire will be profoundly moved by the revelations in the House of Commons is a proposition which no serious person will dream of denying. Not only is it now revealed to us, as in a flash, that all our calculations of the maintenance of the two-power standard are in a fair way to be upset, but we have also to reckon with the fact that for all practical purposes the Austrian navy of the future must be reckoned as part of the German navy."

The Globe says:

"Never in living memory, never, perhaps, in Parliamentary history has it been the lot of the First Lord to make so sensational and appalling an announcement. Not even now, in spite of their avowals, does the Government show any signs of an endeavor to put us on an equality with Germany."

RUPTURE

Established 1856. Nearly Half a Century in Toronto, Ont

J. Y. EGAN, Specialist, Office -- WEST KING ST., P. O. BOX 291, TORONTO.

THE MOST RELIABLE and Successful Authority—Greatest success in the treatment of Hernia (Rupture) Varicocele (False Rupture) of all known agencies in modern times. He who makes a specialty of one department must certainly be more experienced and capable than those having "many irons in the fire." Don't put off your case, believing it to be simple. Remember neglect often proves fatal. Have your case attended to now, and thus avoid danger. Stop wasting time and money elsewhere, but come to one whose life-long study has taught him what to do. Do not despond or be deterred from seeking further advice, or because of repeated failures consider your case incurable. Because others failed in your case you have become discouraged. This is the very time you should consult me, as my reputation has been made in curing hopeless (so-called) cases. Come and have a talk with me.

LADIES suffering from any form of Rupture should not hesitate having their case attended to at once. Everything strictly professional. Write Toronto office for fuller particulars.

MOTHERS Look to your children—have them cured, while young. Don't allow them to grow up handicapped in the race of life, with rupture. Reliability my guarantee.

MY CHARGES are within reach of all, the poor man as well as the rich. Terms can be satisfactorily arranged, no reason why you should not consult me at once, during this visit.

VARICOCELE FALSE RUPTURE

MEN OF ALL AGES SUFFER from this affliction. There is no affliction that so completely unfits man for the duties of life as Varicocele. The tendency of these conditions is to grow worse and more complicated—leading to nervous debility, wasting, lumbago, exhaustion, etc. Do you intend to allow this affliction to impair your vitality? It is doing so now and if not checked will result in the above conditions. No matter how serious your case may be, time afflicted, or the failure experienced in trying to be cured by medicine—free trials, or Electric belts—my Histone system will cure. No temporary benefit, but a PERMANENT one. NO OPERATION necessary. No detention from business.

AGRICULTURE AND WAGES

The time is coming when the farmer will insist on the public's acknowledging farming to be a business in which the farmer has invested his capital upon which he is entitled to a fair return. An elaborate investigation has produced some curious results. If a farmer be allowed merely 6 per cent. on his capital invested, i.e., on the actual price of his farm, and if he be allowed 10 per cent. on his implements merely to provide against the time when they shall have to be renewed and if he is allowed the other accessories that go to make up the usual sinking-fund for material used and worn down and out, it will be found that wheat must be sold at $1.20 a bushel to enable him to get a return on his own labour of $600 a year, and of half that for his wife's exertions. What does this all show? It shows simply that the farmer is recognised not as a man-of-business, but as a mere labourer who may be considered lucky if he gets any return for his labour at all. His wife is economically speaking, an unpaid slave. Wheat at $1.00 means that he and his wife get a bare pittance. When wheat is at a given price other things on and out of the farm are as a rule in proportion, hence the price of wheat may be taken as the standard of calculation and comparison. It is high time, therefore, if the farmer is not to continue at the tail of the hunt, particularly that he should look after his interests. The farming class is plainly made to play the under dog. Fortunately he can never be out of work and thrown on the streets or it would be hard to say what would become of him. When the autos knock him and his family off the road as well, the time for action has surely come.

DOUBLE-TONGUED SCHOOLS

The Toronto Globe has joined with the Montreal Star and La Patrie in expressing approval of the suggestions made by Mr. J. W. Johnson, of Hastings, in the debate on the address in the Ontario Legislature. His proposal was that colloquial French schools should be established in Toronto with a view to giving Ontario people a speaking acquaintance with the French language. The idea of the newspapers approving of this plan is that industrially and socially Canada should become more of a unit.—The Sentinel.

This bold and novel proposal appears on further consideration to afford an excellent opportunity of "getting together" with our French-Canadian brethren and removing the dyke that has separated us so long. The idea amongst the French-Canadians that we, of the same race, for we insist that now, after so many generations, we are one Canadian people, have or had a rampant desire to put them under an iron heel, is not founded on fact. We sincerely admire and respect our Quebec brethren. On the other hand, we cannot believe that they cherish other than kindly feelings towards us. Why, then, pray, should we not all unite? Our languages are the only barrier. To remove the barrier we must do as Quebec people do—speak the tongues of both sides of the dyke. Mr. Johnston's proposal is a good one. There is no prejudice against the French language here. Every effort has been made to learn it as an accomplishment. Why, then, should we not go at it in earnest and if our accent is a little rough, our good intentions will atone. Voila! Vive Canada. We are not French; we are not Irish; we are not English. We are Canadians "all compact." Once more, and this time altogether: "Hurrah for a United Canada!"

THE GLOBE AND SIR JAMES

If that promise of the Ontario Government not to grant any more railway subsidies is broken we may continue to speak of Sir James and even Gentle James, but Truthful James will be quietly dropped.—Globe.

This remarkable testimony of the Globe to the firmness and honor of Sir James Whitney in the very face of the Liberal Opposition's attempt to get him to guarantee the Owen Sound railway bonds, is significant. It is just as severe a condemnation of Mr. McKay and his cohorts (to the number of 37 all told) as can well be. ed.torial notes notes

EDITORIAL NOTES

"I am sick of opinions I am weary to bear them. My soul loathes this frothy food. Give me solid and substantial religion. Give me an humble, gentle lover of God and man; a man full of mercy and good fruits; without partiality and without hypocrisy; a man laying himself out in the work of faith and patience of hope the labor of love."—John Wesley.

A clerical friend sends us a sample of a new form of Mass prayers for children in which, by way of preparatory prayer, the child expresses himself as approaching the altar "wearied of the world of sin" and seeking sadly for grace and peace. That reminds us of a penitentiary we once visited, where the prisoners were fervently singing a hymn to the Guardian Angel in which there was a petition to keep their "young hearts from guile." There is considerable employment awaiting a commission for the reform of prayer books. Amid all the laudable efforts made for the fitting worship of God some one ought to undertake to fit the petition to the petitioner.—Catholic Union and Times.

A bill has been introduced into the Provincial Parliament in Toronto, by Mr. Damase Racine, member for Russell, which will probably arouse a good deal of discussion. The bill provides that liability for Separate school taxes shall rest in the land rather than in the individual, and its opponents claim that under it, if a Roman Catholic supporter of Separate schools wishes to sell his farm while the debentures of a Separate school, of which he had been a supporter, are still unpaid, any Protestant who may purchase said farm will be compelled to become a Separate school supporter until the debentures are paid.—The Christian Guardian.

Writing to the New York Herald, Michael Walsh, of Brooklyn, thus pointedly defines modernism;

I see by the French, English and some American papers that the encyclical of Pope Pius X. on "modernism" continues to occupy the public mind. So many meanings are given to the word that I want to tell your reader what the "modernism" condemned by the Pope really means. It means an attempt to measure revelation by the natural, the finite by the infinite, heaven by earth, the Creator by the creature, God by man. It is nothing but atheism. If the Pope erred in condemning "modernism," then "the gates of hell have prevailed" and Christ was not true to His promise.—The Catholic Register.

The Irish papers just to hand contain reports of the Home Rule convention in Dublin which must make even the friends of Home Rule hesitate in the advocacy of such a measure for Ireland. This convention was promoted for the purpose of convincing the English people that Ireland wants Mr Birrell's new Land Bill. It is true that the convention voted in favor of it. But this verdict was secured by packing the meeting with a rowdy element that absolutely prevented the question being discussed by the delegates present. The meeting was an exhibition of turbulence that is almost without parallel in a country whose politics have always been turbulent. Mr William O'Brien, who a few years ago was the ideal of the Nationalists, was refused a hearing, while Father Clancey, who supported Mr. O'Brien was hustled from the platform. The scenes which are reported in the press of both sides are of the most disgraceful character, and such as to convince unprejudiced observers that the men who dominate national sentiment of Ireland are absolutely unfit to give parliamentary government to any country.

A parish priest at Ulster, writing of the event says that "on all hands it was recognised that the convention was a disgrace." Special significance is given to this from the fact that at the opening of the convention Mr. Redmond said that Ireland's capacity for self-government would be judged by the conduct of that assembly.

Upon the basis of Mr. Redmond's own statement the judgment of the people of the United Kingdom must be that Nationalist Ireland is absolutely lacking in capacity for self-government. The convention was as nearly as possible identical in character with what Ireland's parliament would be. It was composed of properly elected delegates whom it must be assumed were representative men in their own districts and they converted the Mansion House into a bear garden.—The Sentinel.

It there is one evil that afflicts the Church of God to-day more than another it is neglect of hearing Mass on Sundays and holidays. Catholics are becoming more and more neglectful in this respect. If there is one sin which calls for an effectual remedy in our day it is the sin of Mass-missing. Catholics are gradually getting out of the habit of going to Mass on Sundays. The custom of their forefathers is not observed. They begin by excusing themselves on trivial grounds; but excuses failing, they finally drop the habit entirely; and it is no exaggeration to say that in the city of St. Louis, which is a Catholic city and compares favorably perhaps with any other in America, not one-half of the Catholics attend Mass on any one Sunday. It is a terrible state of affairs; because when they cease going to Mass they start on the down grade that ends in perdition. The bad Catholic begins by neglecting Mass; then he neglects his prayers, and then he ceases to be a Catholic at all. We are asked to explain the great defection from the Church. It has been told us time and again that if we had held our own people we would to-day be 25,000,000 instead of 15,000,000 in this country. What has become of those other 10,000,000 Catholics? Ten millions of Catholics lost! Ten millions of children of Catholic parents! Ten millions of descendants of noble heroic Catholic forefathers! What has become of them? They are lost and never will be recovered. And how did they come to be lost? Was there any great provocation to apostasy? Was there any time when Catholics renounced the faith in large bodies? The Catholics have always held their own in this country and the Church has always gone on in the even tenor of her way; but there was much leakage. Catholics have been dropping out imperceptibly. We do not know how or when, but they have been dropping out; and the result has been this terrible defection.

Now how does this defection begin? By staying away from Mass. Catholics begin by giving themselves excuses on Sunday morning from going to Mass; and the habit of excusing themselves brings about the sense of indifference; and soon when they have no excuses to offer at all they stop away. The parents stay away, and of course the children stay away; they have only to stay away a few years when both parents and children are lost.—Rev. Father D. S. Phelan in The Catholic Register.

AN AMERICAN VIEW.

(The New York Sun.)

Mr. Goldwin Smith in a recent letter says it is difficult to reconcile the Italian catastrophe with a belief in this world being the work of a benevolent Providence. I think Mr. Smith is right. Such things are mainly responsible for the widely spread agnosticism of the present day. The facts of this life, when impartially examined, do not seem to justify such a belief. A great many intelligent people believe that the power that rules the universe, whatever it is, has been obtaining a reputation for benevolence under false pretense. What can be more saddening to a person of a kindly nature than the study in a moral light of the history of humanity, with its terrible wars, its crimes of one race upon another, of man upon his fellow man, its outrages of one set upon the other?

Who can say that on some of the millions of planets pervading space the same sad story is not taking place at the present time? If the evolutionary theory is accepted as true and God is eliminated a similar course of development must have arisen innumerable times in the past and will arise innumerable times in the future.

Still these things, while they are playing a prominent part in the skepticism of the time, may in the long run produce a reaction in the opposite direction. Who would not like to see it all come to an end? Such a hope may drive humanity eventually to one of the historic faiths which is capable of breasting the waves of agnosticism for a sufficient length of time. That faith, in my opinion, will be Catholicism. There is certainly no opportunity for a new faith. Such a religion as Christian Science may have a temporary success, but it will not be lasting, mankind has reached too high a stage of intellectual development to pay much heed to new prophets. It has seen too many of them come and go and their teachings die out for that. It knows that if religious truth exists at all it exists in one of the ancient faiths.

Protestantism showed its inherent weakness by trying to compromise in the beginning with the agnostic host. Catholicism with the great wisdom that has guided it through other crises, has made no compromise. It has recognized such men as Huxley, Maudsley, etc., in their true light as enemies who would tear it up by the roots if they could. It has carefully watched the course of the agnostic leaders, while committing itself neither to one side nor the other. There has been no "Theology of an Evolutionist" emanating from the Papacy.

What has been the result of these different policies? Protestantism to-day is rapidly passing. The Protestant clergy are engaged in all kinds of quackery to sustain themselves, a sure sign of religious decay. The Emmanuel movement, of which we hear so much now, is a specimen of this. Many of them, particularly the preachers in the fashionable churches, have no more religious belief than the people over whose heads they preach. Protestantism was never anything else as a religion than an absurdity, bottomed on free-thinking. Twenty-five years hence and it will be as dead as the dodo. By that time the religious element in it will be drawn into Catholicism; the rest will pass on to agnosticism, and the two real antagonists, the Catholic Church and agnosticism, will be facing each other.

The Catholic Church, too, probably has a considerable number of skeptics among its clergy, but they are not allowed to feed upon the body of the Church. The Church shows that it still possesses vitality by weeding them out as they show their heads. Catholicism, while it is losing a certain portion of its membership to agnosticism, is still steadily gaining converts from Protestantism. Protestantism, on the other hand, is steadily losing ground everywhere and gaining nowhere.

It will not be many years before it will be evident to all that the last great stand for religion is to be made by the Church of Rome, that "Popery" which arouses the ill will of Mr. Goldwin Smith, and of which another, Carlyle, predicted the death seventy years ago.

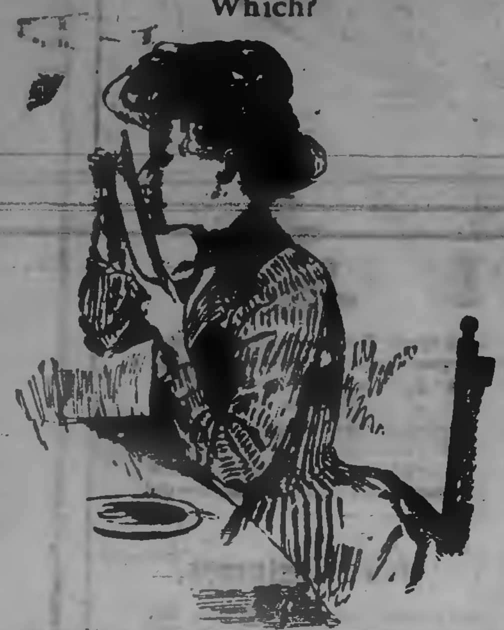
LET US LAUGH AND BE MERRY

Which?



"Now I wonder if I'm economical, cleanly, greedy or dirty?"

Completely Satisfied

"AND so you enjoyed Venice?"

Returned Traveller—Oh, Venice was just to my taste. Why, when I reached the Grand Canal I just sat down beside it and drank it all in.

Speech Proved It

Hewitt—She said that she was glad to know me.

Jewett—That shows that she didn't.

Railway Dilemma

AMONG the passengers on a train winding its way through the mountains of West Virginia was a testy hypochondriac who since the train left Washington, hours before, had kept the porter on the jump ministering to his whims.

At one point the nervous one had fallen into a snooze—a fact upon which the unhappy porter was congratulating himself as being in the nature of a much needed respite.

Finally, however, the alleged invalid awoke with a start. "Porter," he cried, "am I riding with my back to the engine?"

The porter grinned. "Two engines on now, sah," said he.

"Two engines! And I with my back to 'em?"

"Not exactly, sah. Dere's one engine at each end, sah. Steep grade, sah. Must have one engine to pull and another engine to push."

"Merciful heaven!" moaned the hypochondriac. "What am I to do? Riding with my back to the engine always makes me dreadfully sick."

With Pleasure

TRAMP—Please, ma'am, can you assist me along the road a bit?

Mistress—Well, personally, I am sorry to say I cannot; but wait a moment till I have unchained my dog here. He will do so with pleasure.

Nothing in It

"AS a Lenten penance," said the spiritual director, "I recommend that you scrub the steps of the church edifice."

"How lovely!" said to herself the frivolous lady of high social standing.

"At the same time, it is essential that not a newspaper shall be notified."

The light of high resolve faded from the beautiful brow, leaving the lady in a drear, gray mood.

At the Cafe "Des Enfants"

THE entire table had been watching him with intense disgust for some minutes. Those nearest him had moved to seats as far removed as possible, but the hungry one was unconscious of the attention he was attracting by his method of attacking his food.

After finishing his soup literally to the last drop the man attacked a bone in the simplest possible fashion. The last display was too much for the man opposite him. With the moral support of the entire table he leaned forward and suggested:—

"Don't you think you would be more comfortable if you took that out on the mat?"

Anything to Oblige

THEY were a very young and obviously bride and bridegroomish looking couple. On entering the little tea shop in the upper avenue the maid tactfully led them to a private room which chanced to be vacant. Tea was ordered and served. As the waitress was leaving the room the young man discovered an important fault in the service.

"Oh, waitress," he said, "may we have a spoon here?"

"Sure," said the girl; "I won't come back for ten minutes and you can have the room all to yourselves."

Forgot

RYER—Why so sad, old man?

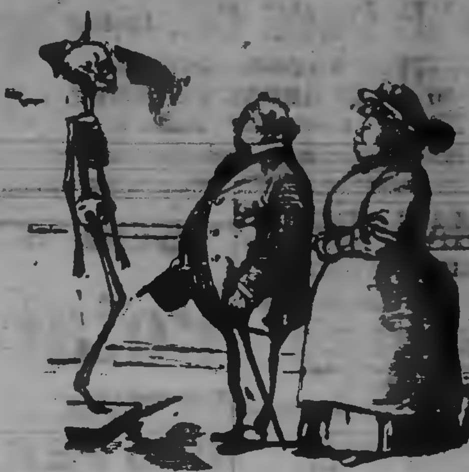
Dyer—Somebody promised to loan me $10 today and I've forgotten who it was.

Dangerous Literature

"LET me leave you some of our booklets," said the steamship agent; "they give illustrated descriptions of a number of our trips to the most remote parts of the world."

"Take them away," said the bank cashier fearfully; "if the directors saw 'em on my desk they would have my books overhauled sure."

Attenuated



He—See, Samantha, that shows how terribly thin some folks are.

Dust!

THERE is a Wilmington man whose nerves sometimes give way under the constant fire of questions from his talkative eight-year-old son.

"Dad," asked the youngster just as the old man had one evening settled down for a perusal of his newspaper. "Dad, am I made of dust?"

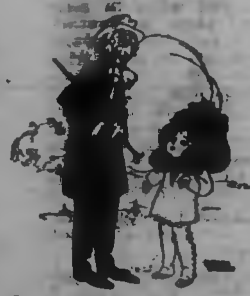
"I think not!" responded the unhappy parent. "Otherwise you'd dry up now and then."

Sex Question

BENHAM—The paper tells of a woman whose dress was made of postage stamps.

Mrs. Benham—I thought postage stamps were used only on mail matter.

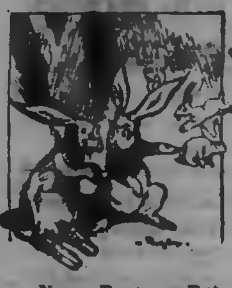
All



"And you haven't any little brothers or sisters?"

"No, sir; I'm all the children we've got."

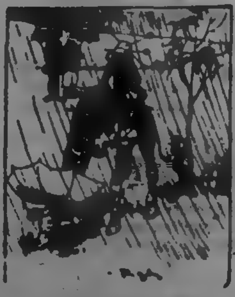
Superstitious



New Bunny—But why have so many of you only three legs down in these parts?

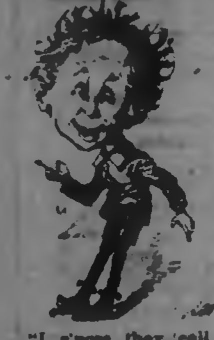
Old Bunny—Well, there's a negro hunter down here, and the only thing he seems to care for is our left hind leg.

Impracticable



Jimbo—What do you tink? I rigged my umbrella up on dis giraffe and de ole fool insists on eatin' grass every time it rains.

The Reason



"I s'pose they call me Henny because I [illegible] around the house so much."

Our National Products

GAS.

GAS is of two kinds, natural and unnatural. Natural gas is found in Pennsylvania and parts of the West, and unnatural gas is found in Washington and at most public dinners, where it reaches its most dangerous form.

Gas is distributed through meters at the rate of about one foot of gas to two feet of meter. It is highly volatile, and under suitable pressure is rapidly changed into money. Much of it is manufactured directly from hot air.

Gas is used to illuminate dark places, such as insurance companies and authors' readings. In the form of stocks and bonds it is a splendid irrigator.

Although useful mainly at night, it is used by all cooks who have gas stoves in their kitchens. It is also used in the winter time for heating purposes, in about the following proportions:—Heat, 25 per cent; smell, 75 per cent.

BABIES.

Babies are raised in all parts of the country except Newport and Fifth avenue. They furnish one of the best illustrations of the prodigality of nature, for it is necessary to produce a great number for one who amounts to anything.

Babies are used for various purposes. They furnish a basis for the blanket industry and keep two people living together who would otherwise not be compatible. They create trouble, relatives and noise and have on occasions been known to turn night into day. Always popular with the masses, they are treated with indifference by the best people.

Babies are divided, roughly speaking, into the following classes:—

The Homely Baby.—This species exists in the families of all other people.

The Good Baby.—This species is common to one's own family.

The First Baby.—This species lives with the parents and sometimes survives their mistakes.

The Lovely Baby.—Exists only in the conversation of women.

WIDOWS.

In one sense widows are the bulwark of the nation, because each year they make possible so many marriages.

They are not indigenous to any one locality, but may be observed in all well populated districts.

Widows may be with or without—with children they help to make life more interesting; without children they can cover more territory and are therefore more dangerous.

They serve a useful purpose in keeping the number of our bachelors reduced to a minimum.

Owing to specialists, health cures and systems of eating food the number of widows is constantly on the increase. On the other hand, they themselves do the best they can to keep their own number down.

THOMAS L. MASSON.

Cheerful Giver

"MAMMA, didn't the missionary say that the heathen didn't wear any clothes?"

"Yes, dear."

"Well, mamma, then why did papa put a button in the contribution box?"

No Lack of Intelligence

FOREIGN Adventurer—The American girl is dull and stupid, even if she is rich. Why, I haven't found one of them who can say more than yes or no.

Yankee—Indeed, and which have they said to you?

Farewells

STELLA—Did she give a farewell dinner to her bridesmaids?

Bella—Yes, and probably the first one she cooks herself will be a farewell one to her husband.

In Time to Come

JONES—Where are you going?

Brown—I'm going to the engine house to borrow a net. We just received a telephone message that a man fell off the top of the skyscraper, and we want to catch him when he gets down this far.

Physical Impossibility

MAUDE—Do tell me, Alice, did Charley go down on his knees to you when he proposed?

Alice—Nonsense! Why, how could he have gone down on his knees to me? Why, I—well, where do you suppose I was anyway?

Familiar Proverbs

TEACHER—Which little boy can tell me what it is that comes in like a lion and goes out like a lamb?

"Please, miss, it's our landlord when he gets the back rent."

Consistent

Many men who believe in a spirit world vote the prohibition ticket.

Sympathy

ONE of the attachés of the American Embassy at London was riding in a compartment of an English railway carriage, the other occupants of which were a clerical looking man and a mechanic, who, contrary to the average Britisher's custom, was disposed to be a trifle talkative.

The mechanic had asked the clerical looking individual—who, it afterward transpired, was a Bishop—for a match, and, when he had lit his pipe had put the question:—

"A parson, sir?"

The Bishop hesitated. Finally he replied:—"I was once."

The mechanic lifted his brow in surprise. "Drink, sir, I suppose," he added, sympathetically.

Evident

"JUST let Crumper try to pull my ears! I can tell you he'll have his hands full."

His friends looked closely at his ears and nodded their entire assent.

Explained

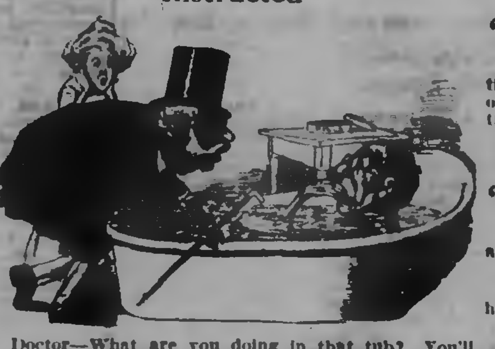
"BRIDGET, how does it happen that I saw you giving that wretched policeman a piece of mince pie in the kitchen last night?"

"'Cause I forgot to fill up the keyhole, mum."

Come and Go

ONCE I had a servant girl
Who never did things wrong;
She knew her place, yet never seemed
To keep it very long.

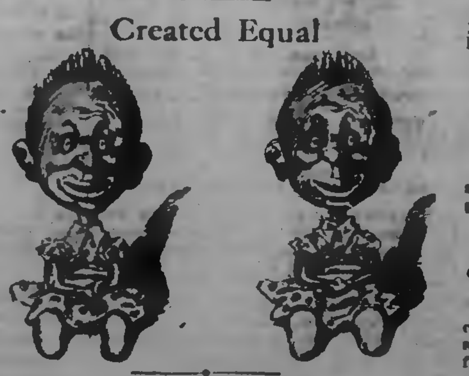
Instructed



Doctor—What are you doing in that tub? You'll catch your death.

Patient—But, doctor, didn't you tell me to take the pills in water?

Created Equal



Matter of Degree

IF you want to do the community,
You must do it well.
You may do it with impunity,
If you do it well.
Then 'fess up and get immunity,
If you do it well.

It Jarred Him

HOWELL—How did you come to break your engagement with that girl?

Powell—I had reason to think that she hadn't enough practical knowledge to make her a good helpmeet.

Howell—What gave you that idea?

Powell—I told her one day that the hens weren't laying, and she said she supposed that would affect the price of egg coal.

Cold Comfort

"FATHER, what is an empty title?"

"Well, an empty title is your mother's way of calling me the head of the house."

Treasures

"I MADE enough money in Wall street last week to buy a house and lot."

"Did you buy it?"

"Well, no; but I wish I had."

Night Watches

DOCTOR—Now, take this medicine and you will sleep like a baby.

Patient—Why, doctor, if you mean our baby, I guess I'll not take it.

Kill or Cure

"DID your wife feel better after she got the medicine?"

"Well, hardly. Soon as she read the wrapper she got three new diseases."

Genius

"PA, what is writers' cramp?"

"It's being cramped for money, my son. All writers suffer from it."

Knew His Lesson

SUNDAY School Teacher—To-day's lesson teaches us of the influence of kings and queens, but there is a higher power. Which little boy can tell us what it is? Well, Willie, what is it?

"Aces," was the confident reply.

Progress

"Most of our politicians came over in the steerage."

"Well, it didn't take them long to get into the saloon."

A Canine Magnet

A Hypercritical Canine

"WELL, what's the matter now?" asked Mrs. Dudgeons, as her husband entered the room. "You've got a face as long as from the Battery to Harlem and as dark as the subway."

"It's that wretched little shrimp of yours again!" answered Mr. Dudgeons, disconsolately. "He's chewed up my new pair of embroidered slippers this time!"

"How dare you call my little darling Too Sweet a shrimp?" cried the wife, indignantly. "Where is he? What have you done to the poor thing?"

"Oh, nothing. As he had started on the slippers and already rendered them useless, I thought he might as well finish them."

Mrs. Dudgeons arose in an agitated manner. "I must go and see about it. The dye from the colored threads might poison him!" And she hurried away.

"I hope it will," muttered Mr. Dudgeons as she made her hurried exit. "By Jove! life would be more bearable if that destructive little beast wasn't in the world. What does a woman want with such a stupid toy anyway? Just because her friend Clara had an imported English poodle, I have to buy her one too. I hope the next time he dines on belongings of mine he may die of acute indigestion!"

When Mr. Dudgeons returned to his "den" all was serene once more. His fond mistress had rescued the slippers, or rather had rescued Too Sweet, as she would have put it, and so her husband proceeded to do some writing, for he was a literary gentleman, and was at present engaged on several poems of a reflective character for one of our big magazines.

One evening about a week later when hubby came home he was met on the threshold by his wife, in a greatly perturbed state. She was crying and wringing her hands.

"Well, what's the matter now?" inquired Mr. Dudgeons, using the identical words his wife had used to him on the occasion of the famous slipper episode. "Has the cook left?"

"You have got your wish," sobbed his wife. "Too Sweet is dead—dead!"

Mr. Dudgeons suppressed a mad impulse to yell "Hurrah!" in deference to his better half's grief. He merely said quietly:—"I'm sorry, dear, but I'm afraid I'll have to leave you to do all the mourning. You know Too Sweet was a great trial to me and"——

"You won't be quite so unconcerned when you hear all," broke in Mrs. Dudgeon, laying tragic emphasis on the last word.

"You mean the manner in which Too Sweet met his untimely end?" asked her husband with a twinkle in his eye. "Why, has he eaten another pair of slippers?"

"Worse than that!" said Mrs. Dudgeons, drying her eyes.

"Well, go on. I'm prepared for anything."

Mrs. Dudgeons burst into a hysterical laugh.

"The poor little love lost his rag doll this morning," explained the lady, "and he simply had to find something. So he wandered into your den, jumped up on your desk and ate up your latest poem—you know, the one for Scribbler's. Ten minutes later the unfortunate creature was dead!"

Mr. Dudgeons stood dumfounded.

"You don't seem to see the joke at all," observed his wife in cutting accents. "At all events you can never say again that your verse doesn't yield results. It has been tried on a dog—and the dog died—which is what you wanted. If you had been clever enough to conceive the plan yourself you might have been rid of Too Sweet long ago!"

His Patriotic Excuse

AS he appeared to be in a rather jovial mood she looked him over suspiciously.

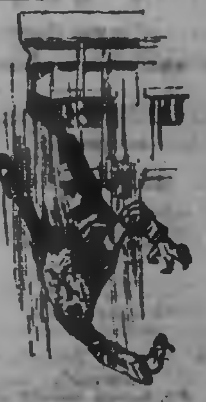
"Henry," she said, sternly, "you have taken a drink. Now, own up to it like a man."

"Well, Helen," he replied, sheepishly, "I did take a cocktail."

"You drank a cocktail! Whatever tempted you to drink that abominable concoction?"

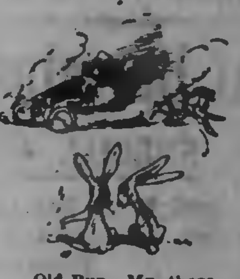
"Well, you see, it was this way, my dear. I remembered it was George Washington's Birthday and as I thought of the great man I wished I had something to recall him more vividly than the mere remembrance of his name. So I thought of the story about the cherry tree and then I went in and ordered a cocktail just to see the cherry. That is the honest truth."

After telling him it was a great pity he was not as truthful as George she excused him through patriotism.



A Drop Too Much.

Fatal



Old Bun—My, those puff wagons are bad. Three of us were run over last week, and there hasn't been that many of us shot in five years.

Danger

THE $15,000 POWER BY-LAW

To the Editor of the Review.

Sirs—We wish on behalf of the Special Power Committee of the City Council, to explain to the electors the position in regard to the by-law to authorise the borrowing of $15,000, which is to be voted upon on March 30th. This sum is intended for the purpose of paying for the foundations forebays, wheelpits, tail race and power house for developing electrical power at the eastern end of the proposed new waterworks dam, leaving the matter of providing money for purchasing the machinery for the power house to a future time, but making provision to have everything ready for the installation of the machinery when it is purchased.

The water commissioners having come to the conclusion that it is necessary to build a new concrete dam at the waterworks property asked the Council to submit a by-law to the electors for that purpose, which the Council has done. At the same time the Commissioners informed the Council that when the new dam is completed there will be 1,200 horse-power available there and that of this 500 horse-power will be enough to supply the needs of the waterworks department. This would leave 700 horse-power that would be available for other purposes and the Council is of opinion that it would not be good business to have this quantity of power running to waste, and that steps should be taken towards developing it so that it could be utilized in the interests of the city.

One way in which this power could be used would be to utilize it to supply the street lighting. At present the city pays nearly $8,000 a year for street lighting. This contract will not expire for nearly five years yet, so that the city cannot count upon doing its own lighting sooner than that. But it will not do to wait until the contract expires before taking action towards being ready to do that work when the time comes. It will take two or three years to complete the work of building the new dam, pumping station, power house, etc., so that when that work is completed there will be from two to two and a half years left in which to instal the electrical machinery. That would, no doubt, leave time enough to erect the power house and do the work that it is intended to do under the authority of the by-law which is now submitted to the electors. But when the unwatering is done and the machinery and appliances are on the ground for the purpose of constructing the dam the foundations, forebays, wheelpits, tail race, etc., for the power house can be constructed much more cheaply than if that work is left to be done some time in the future after the work on the dam is completed. The estimate of Mr. W. J. Kennedy, of Montreal, the Water Commissioners' engineer, is that this power-house, etc., work will cost $15,000, the amount stated in the by-law. The amount on that sum will be $637.50 a year, so that if the power-house should be completed two years before it is required it would cost $1,275 for interest for those two years, but it is believed that more than that will be saved on the cost of the work by having the plans made out and the work done at the same time as the dam is being constructed.

While the waterworks department reserved 500 horse-power, the street lighting will take from 200 to 300 horse power, which will leave 400 to 500 horse-power still available. If a market for this power is found, as for instance, by the location of a new factory here, another by-law could be submitted and the electrical machinery could be put in at once, and the whole cost of the two years' interest would not have to be charged against the saving of having the power house, etc., constructed at the same time as the dam.

By going on with the work the city will be ready in ample time to do its own street lighting when the contract expires, it will save money by doing it while the dam is being constructed and may gain a great deal by being in a position to furnish power to some good industry.

These are some of the considerations which have influenced the Committee of the Council to ask the ratepayers to approve of the by-law authorising the issue of debentures for $15,000, and if they are good business reasons, as we believe they are, we hope the ratepayers will vote for the bylaw.

Yours respectfully,
H. RUSH,
Mayor.
A. A. McINTYRE,
Chairman Power Committee.

Owing to Mr. Hughes' authoritative position in educational matters, the lecture will be of especial importance and interest.

CHOIR LOSING TWO MEMBERS

Charlotte St. Vocalists Say Good Bye to two of Their Number

The choir of Charlotte street church was entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Harmer, Charlotte street, last night, when a very pleasant time was spent. During the evening Miss Sydney Lee and Mr. F. Armstrong, who are leaving for the west, were presented with tokens of appreciation from the choir, Miss Lee receiving a beautiful amethyst necklace, and Mr. Armstrong a scarf pin. Many expressions of regret were heard from those present regarding the departure of these two valuable members of the choir. Miss Clarry spoke of their long and faithful services in the choir, to which they had always been loyal. Miss Lee was a valued member of the quartette, and will be greatly missed.

A vote of thanks was moved to Mr. and Mrs. Harmer for their hospitality, after which the gathering broke up with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" and the National Anthem.

Miss Lee leaves in a few days for Gilbert Plains, Man., and Mr. Armstrong goes to Moosejaw, Sask.

HORSE DROWNED CROSSING POND

Mr. Joseph Little, of Dummer, had the misfortune to have one of his horses drowned in Payne's pond one day lately. Mr. Arthur Payne was driving the team and was hauling logs from the woods to the mill across the pond, and on this particular trip Mr. Little was riding behind. When about half way across the ice gave way precipitating the team and load into the water in such a manner that one of the horses' heads went below the ice and before it could be extricated it was drowned.—Norwood Register.

CELEBRATED THEIR SILVER WEDDING

The genial and efficient steward of the Peterborough Club, Mr. William Stanley and Mrs. Stanley, celebrated Tuesday evening their silver wedding. A large number of valuable and serviceable presents testified to the very high esteem in which both Mr. and Mr. Stanley are everywhere held. England and Canada the land of their birth, and the land of their adoption, both contributed in this and other ways to the felicity of the occasion. A large number of friends spent the evening at the family residence in singing good old English songs. Mr. and Mrs. Stanley both being from Yorkshire, that somewhat large county was largely favored in the selections. About eleven o'clock refreshments were served and the evening closed shortly after with the National Anthem and Auld Lang Syne. It was an event to be remembered and the happy couple will have the good wishes of all who know them for a long and prosperous life.

Spring Millinery Exhibit Saturday
Throngs visited our Millinery Exhibit on the opening days and expressions of admiration were prevalent. This season is decidedly "floral"—the displays are veritable exhibitions of the most exquisite flowers so arrayed as to produce the most artistic effects. What is nicer than flowers—representations of nature's own handiwork? The shapes too, are indeed masterpieces of the art—altogether we believe that our showing for this Spring caps all previous years for women's millinery. Visit our parlors on Saturday and view the display of New York models.
Women's Exquisite Costumes
Among the beautiful costumes that are on exhibition this season, our showing cannot be equalled for exclusive style. An elegance pervades the whole that is luring to the eye and pleasing to the artistic sense. Note our popular priced suits at $15, $18 and $20.00—They're stunners.

ABOUT AGE OF NORMAL STUDENTS

A circular has been issued from the Education Department at Toronto in regard to prospective students at the Normal schools and the faculties of education. The age of admission is practically raised one year. Any student desiring to enter a Normal school must be 18 years of age before the first of September, while those entering the faculties of education must be 19 years of age before the first of September. The circular states that no deviation will be allowed from this rule.

HAND CUT BY CIRCULAR SAW

Belmont Road Resident Victim of a Painful Accident

Norwood, March 18—A most unfortunate accident occurred just before noon yesterday at the farm of Mr. J. W. Rorabeck on the Belmont road about one and a half miles east of this village. A wood sawing was in progress. Mr. Rorabeck had been feeding the wood up to the saw when something got into his eye. He stepped aside to remove the obstruction and John Graham, who had been assisting him took his place. He had scarcely got started when in some manner his hand came in contact with the rapidly revolving circular saw and almost before he knew what had happened his left hand was almost severed from the rest of his body at the wrist joint. Drs. Ford and Pettigrew were speedily summoned and attended to the wounded member.

The victim of the unfortunate mishap is a young man about 23 or 24 years of age. He is the second son of Mr Robert Graham of the Belmont road.

Next Dress-making Class to Commence at Y.W.C.A. March 22nd
Wanted, ladies to learn dress cutting, dress-making and coat making. No accomplishment you can acquire will prove to you of such everyday lifelong value as a practical knowledge of dress making. The Millinery Displays Are Attracting Much Attention

The spring millinery openings at the stores around town are now in full swing. The different millinery stores have spared no expense to secure the best and latest designs in this particular line, and as a result the windows and show-rooms present a pretty and pleasing sight. This city has always been to the front in the window-dressing line, and the work of the local artists this spring calls for many flattering remarks.

A pretty design is to be seen in Creamman's windows. Two sets of large pillars with a smaller one in the centre are all joined together with brass rods, which are covered with apple vines. On the centre pillar is a brass Cupid holding an electric light, and this is covered with vines. The floor of the window is in white and the pillars are green and white with gildings of brass. Back of the centre pillar to the left stands a figure of a lady in a white princess gown with hat to match. The hats, which are displayed in the window, are exclusive styles, and are trimmed extensively with flowers, and their size is a noticeable feature.

Mr. Edwards had charge of the windows, and his ability is very much in evidence in this branch of the work.

Mr. Ernie Wilson has charge of the millinery display in Turnbull's window. A large basket of white lilacs, mixed with green foliage, shows up in a pleasing manner. A directoire gown in the centre of the window is shown to good advantage on a figure. The draperies are of white, with clusters of flowers suspended in different parts of the window. A number of hats in the latest styles are arranged in a manner which is very pleasing. The dress goods display in the southern window shows some of the latest shades in a very attractive manner.

In Richard Hall and Son's window, the spring opening is announced in gold letters on an arch which is set on two large pillars. On the pillars a display of apple blossoms makes a pretty effect. Baskets of fruit are set on pedestals arranged around the window. New shades in dress goods are shown, which include the new Taup, the Catiba, the Lustera and a peacock green. The window was dressed by Mr. Jimmie McNicol who deserves great credit for his work.

Fair's, as usual has a very attractive display of millinery in their south window. An old fashioned wind mill, which is literally covered with different kinds of flowers, shows up very prominently. Different styles of hats are displayed in a clever manner. In the north window the "Hipless form," the latest style in feminine costuming, is demonstrated, and the work in both windows reflects great credit on Mr. H. E. Wood, who arranged the windows in such an artistic manner.

HUGE POWER SCHEME ARRANGED FOR 100,000 HORSE POWER

Ottawa, March 18.—The contract for the excavation and concrete work of the second largest waterpower development scheme in Canada has been let to Francis B. Gilbreth, New York. This is on the St. John River, at Grand Falls, New Brunswick, 200 miles north of St. John and about two miles east of the state of Maine, and the total expenditure will be over $5,000,000. The plant will generate 100,000 h.p. and will be distributed to various cities throughout New Brunswick and Maine. Among other features the work involves the construction of a number of shafts in rock excavation 130 feet deep; a power chamber 30 by 260 feet and 130 feet deep; a tail race 28 feet in diameter and 2,400 feet long and a power house 260 by 360 feet. The intake shafts will be nine in number and each 12 feet in diameter. The total head developed will be 135 feet. The plant will be of increased local interest in the fact that the chief engineer is J. B. McRae, Ottawa, who was also associated with the building of the big dam at the Chaudiere.

FAIRS HAVE FORMED CIRCUIT; WILL HAVE GOOD ATTRACTIONS

In order to ensure vaudeville attractions of the highest order, the directors of the Peterborough, Belleville, Oshawa, Lindsay, Newmarket, Barrie fairs have combined to form a three weeks' fair circuit. The special afternoon and night performances at the fairs in these towns will be better than they have ever been before as higher class artists can be secured to perform on a regular circuit than could be gotten to do so for irregular "stands."

Secretary Hall, of the West Peterborough Agricultural Society, informed a Review reporter to-day that it was an assured fact that the grand stand performances this year would be superior to those of past seasons, and every endeavor would be made to have them as attractive as possible.

ITALIAN SINGERS IN "IL TROVATORE"

Sang Verdi's Opera at Grand Last Night—An Unusually Excellent Company

The singing of "Il Trovatore" by the Italian Opera Company at the Grand last night was a surprise and a delight to the very appreciative audience that heard it. While the announcement that the company would appear here caused considerable interest, it was not for a moment anticipated that their performance of Verdi's masterpiece would be one of such character and fine balance.

The organization is composed of artists of high standing in the realm of grand opera, and all the soloists excelled themselves in the flawless singing and remarkably fine interpretation of their roles.

There was not as many present last night as there should have been and the management has booked a return engagement of the company in order that the citizens may have the opportunity of hearing them. The opera to be given will be decided upon by the vote of the subscribers to the plan.

The stars of last night were given excellent support by a large and clever chorus which sang in excellent voice. The orchestra was a particularly excellent one, and their accompaniments were wonderfully true and sympathetic.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Review does not hold itself responsible for opinions expressed by its correspondents

Re Street Numbering

Editor of the Review

Dear Sir,—I noticed with pleasure, an article in the Daily Review of the 18th inst. regarding a question that I have for a long time wondered that no one was taking up.

I refer to the article re the numbering of the residences, and places of business in the city. After reading this article I thought I would take a walk along George street, between Charlotte and Hunter streets, and count the places of business not having a number on and I found, to my surprise, that there were over forty places of business without a number on between these streets. I have been in a good many cities in my time, but Peterborough, I think would take the prize for lack of interest in many small things, that perhaps are not considered of very great importance, but which go a good way toward the comfort and convenience of the citizens.

I should also like to draw your attention to one or two other things I have noticed. One is in regard to the placing of the names of the streets. Of course, we have the names on the granolithic sidewalks, so far as they go, but of what use is that in the winter season when the walks are covered with snow; or to a stranger who may be riding on a street car, and wishes to know where to get off. At this point I would also wish to call the attention of those in authority, that even the street car conductors seldom, if ever call out the names of the streets they are passing.

There are a few places still left, I see, where "ther elics of old decency" are still in evidence, on the street corners, but they appear to have been left there by mistake, from the long ago and almost forgotten past, as no new names have apparently been put up to keep them company for years.

One more thing and I am through, that is the, I might almost say, disgraceful way the streets are lighted; one almost needs to carry a lantern on some of the principal streets of the city on a dark night, when we are not favored with the light of the moon and stars. I have for a long time been thinking of writing to the papers on the slip-shod way the city seems to me to be run, but have refrained from doing so, hoping that some one more capable would tack the matter up and I am glad to know that at last the ball has been started rolling, and I hope it will not be allowed to stop until our city fathers are compelled to give these things their attention.

I am, yours, etc.

BACHELORS DANCE AT LAKEFIELD

The bachelors of Lakefield gave a social evening in the town hall on Wednesday evening, which proved to be a very enjoyable affair. About one hundred couple were present and spent a few pleasant hours tripping the light fantastic and other amusements. At twelve o'clock refreshments were served, after which dancing was resumed and continued until an early hour. Music was supplied by a local orchestra, and Mr. A. Moore, of Peterborough, acted as floor manager. Everyone present was delighted with the affair, and the committee are to be congratulated on the success that attended their efforts.—Lakefield News.

5000 Facts About Canada

The 1909 edition is out of that most useful and valuable booklet, "5,000 Facts about Canada," compiled by Frank Yeigh, of Toronto, who is widely known throughout the Dominion as an authority on things Canadian. Nearly 25,000 copies were sold of the 1908 edition, the demand coming from every part of this continent and the British Empire. The idea worked out, that of a concrete fact in a sentence, is an excellent one, the data being arranged under such self-indexing titles as area, agriculture, banking, commerce, finances, mining, railways, wheat fields, etc. The wealth of material contained in small space is a revelation to even a well informed Canadian of the standing and resources of the country. The book is published at 25 cents a copy by The Canadian Facts Publishing Co., 667 Spadina Avenue, Toronto, Canada, or may be had from newsdealers.

Three special trains will carry Doukhobors from Broadview to southern British Columbia.

SPORTING NEWS

THE CHIEFTAINS WON FROM BRIDGENORTH TEAM BY 10-6

The Half Time Score Was 5-4 in Favor of Bridgenorth—Chieftains Finished Strong—Mud Lake Team a Heavier Bunch.

The chieftains defeated Bridgenorth last night by the score of 10-6. The half time score was 5-4 in favor of Bridgenorth. The Bridgenorth team had the better of the argument during the first half but the Chieftains played a better game in the second half and succeeded in getting away with the big end of the score. Bridgenorth is represented by a faster team than that which played in the City League last season and are a husky bunch for a team like the Chieftains to go up against. They check well and are always on the puck. The forward line works well together but are a little off in shooting. F Joplin at centre is a hard worker and is always prominent. Cullen and Conway on the wings are fast but do not shoot accurately. Mann, at rover does a lot of nice stick handling and was one of the best men on the Bridgenorth team. Cullen and Stubbs made a great defence, while Kelly is always conspicuous by his good work between the nets.

The Chieftains played their usual fine game last night, although the team have not had much practice together lately. Koyl replaced Ken Crane at right wing and made good He has a fine shot but had hard luck in his shooting last night. Fortye, at right wing, played his usual cool game and Burritt and Hall were always prominent by their fast work. Wallace and Munro on the defence, checked well and figured in some fine rushes. Lees in goal, was all to the good, handling some difficult shots in clever style.

Fred Craig refereed and gave good satisfaction to both teams.

THE GAME

It just took Burritt two minutes to score the first goal for his team on a fine shot from the side.

A few minutes later Fortye shot but Kelly made a nice stop. Bridgenorth were having the best of the play but Fortye and Hall combined for a nice rush but the shot went wide. Joplin scored the first goal for his team in ten minutes and two minutes later put another counter past Lees. Bridgenorth were working hard and the Chieftains were not working very well together. They were holding the puck too long instead of passing it and missed many chances to score on this account.

After five minutes of fast play, Joplin scored again for his team and Cullen secured another counter two minutes later.

Things did not look very bright for the Chieftains who were having a hard time getting away from their husky opponents. Finally from a mixup in front of the Bridgenorth goal Hall scored for his team and did the trick again in three minutes.

The puck was travelling up and down the ice and the goaltenders were having a busy time.

Fortye put a nice one at Kelly, who handled it in clever style and Conway secured the puck and beat Lees with a hot one after four minutes play.

Hall secured the next for Chieftains in one minute and the first half ended with the Chieftains having the better of the game.

SECOND HALF

After the resting spell Bridgenorth pressed matters and the Chieftains had a hard time defending their nets. Wallace was the first to score doing the trick after five minutes fast play. The Chieftains claimed another goal shortly after but it was not allowed.

The Bridgenorth team were only one to the good at this stage of the game and were trying hard for counters but were prevented by the good work of the Chieftains defence.

After four minutes Wallace tied the score and the Chieftains began to brace up.

Burritt got the next counter in one minute and from the face-off the forward line combined for a nice rush but the shot went wide. The Chieftains were outplaying the Bridgenorth seven but Kelly's good work in the nets prevented many scores.

After eight minutes of hard playing Fortye put in a counter for his team and one minute later Mann put one past Lees for Bridgenorth.

Burritt scored again for the Chieftains in one minute and for a while many other shots were sent at Kelly but his fast work prevented scores. Mann got the last goal for Bridgenorth on a shot in front of the nets and Burritt put the last one in for his team after a nice lone rush. The game ended with both teams working hard with honors about even.

The teams were;—

Chieftains		Bridgenorth
Lees	Goal	Kelly
Munro	Point	Cullen
Wallace	Cover point	Stubbs
Burritt	Rover	Mann
Hall	Centre	Joplin
Koyl	Right wing	Cullen

THE INTERMEDIATE BASEBALL LEAGUE TO HOLD MEETING SOON

A meeting of the Intermediate Base Ball League will be called for in the near future. This league has been very successful in the past two seasons. West Ends won the Review Cup the first year and the Strathconas captured the honors last year. Many good players have been developed and some good baseball should be played this year. Much of the success of the league is due to the work of Mr J. M Lang, the president and the other officers who have discharged their duties to the satisfaction of all the teams. The constitution is a good one but efforts will be made this year to improve it considerably. The teams concerned in the league are asked to get busy and talk matters over and be prepared to attend the first meeting to discuss the prospects for the coming season which will soon be here.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CURE Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head

ACHE is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.

Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them.

WRESTLING

Referring to the Rogers-Mahmout bout in Toronto last night, the Globe says;—

Rogers staged entirely on the defensive and appeared to have the advantage of condition on the foreigner. The latter is smaller than Rogers, but compactly built. Only twice in the first period did he have Rogers in trouble. He did not appear to have speed and showed little science. In the last five minutes of the bout he went at Rogers like a lion, but Yankee slipped, wriggled and spun out of all the holds the Turk could get. It was only in the last five minutes that the challenger of Gotch showed his strength and then he picked up the burly Rogers and dumped him around the mat like a child.

The consensus of opinion of the big crowd was that Mr Turk will have to show a great deal more than he turned loose last night to win from the world's champion when they meet in Chicago for the title in three week's time.

Mahmout will go against two grapplers in Hamilton tomorrow night—Fred Ulrick, the Buffalo giant, and Charlie Conkle.

CRESSMAN SEVEN TIED THE F.A.C.

At Brock St. Rink Last Night—Both Teams Score Three Goals

The Examiner and Cressmans played a tie game last night at Brock street rink from 7 to 8 o'clock. Three goals were secured by each team and although both worked hard to break the tie neither team succeeded in doing so. Both teams played with six men and the contest was interesting and exciting. Duffy Hillier gave good satisfaction as referee.

The teams were;—

TENNIS CLUB TO BE ORGANIZED

In Connection With the Y.M.C.A.—Meeting on Tuesday Night

There will be a meeting in the Y.M.C.A. parlor on Tuesday, March 23rd, to organize, if desirable, a tennis club in connection with the Y M.C.A.

The Board of Directors have given the use of the lot next to the building for this purpose, and there is space enough for two first-class cinder courts.

Exchange that old bicycle for a 1909 Massey-Harris or Ra cycle. See our re-built bicycles 10.00 to 25.00. Banks, under the Market Clock. d6

HOT ROAST FOR "PRO." HOCKEY

As we remarked some time ago, this pro. hockey business will prove rather an interesting experience for the villages that have tried to make it go. Brantford has come through with a loss of $500. Berlin is out some $2,100, and the others run likely somewhere between the two figures. All they got out of it was unsatisfactory hockey, charges of selling games, and all the rest of it. We have no desire to mix in that sort of thing, and when pro. hockey is played on a reasonable basis—where the hired men will receive a reasonable amount for their services after hours of honest toil—then there will be some interest to it. But when it comes to paying an ordinary no-account person the wages of a president for a few hours' toil a week, it is about time the hamlets cut it out, and started giving their own chaps a chance. There is more joy in Stratford over their Midgets and a junior championship than in Galt, with a bunch of hired men who are liable to sneak out in the night if they can get an extra dollar somewhere else. Back to original principles for ours.

TALKING ABOUT A DISTRICT LEAGUE

The hockey season is about wound up and base ball will then assume control of the sportive element of the town. There is talk of a town league being formed and of a district league composed of teams from Omemee, Millbrook, Bethany, Mount Pleasant Cavanville and Franklin. Some of these have already organized and Omemee will soon do likewise.—Millbrook Mirror.

SPORTING TALK

According to the Toronto sporting editors, Yussif Mahmout won't have much of a chance against Frank Gotch when they meet for the world's championship next month.

MURPHY FOR EDMONTON

Peterboro's Left Fielder of Last Season Will go to Western Canada

Toronto, March 19—There will be an exodus of Toronto ball players to the West this spring. Dinny McGuire of St Mary's has accepted the managership of the Edmonton team of the Western Canada League, and has signed the following local players to take West with him; Johnny Brennan, third base; Tommy Smith, pitcher; Bill Nye, catcher; Con Murphy, outfielder.

ROGERS WON THE HANDICAP BOUT

Only Lost One Fall to Mahmout Last Night — Will Now Meet Hassan

Toronto March 19.—At the Star Theatre again last night Yankee Rogers again demonstrated his wonderful cleverness at the wrestling game when he met Yussif Mahmout the Turkish wrestler, who came here with a great reputation and succeeded in defeating the foreigner in a handicap match. The Turk undertook to throw Rogers twice within an hour. After wrestling thirty minutes without result a rest of five minutes was taken. In the second period Mahmout rushed matters at once, and after ten minutes he succeeded in gaining a fall with a half Nelson and body and scissors hold. After another short rest the wrestlers went at it again, the Turk showing wonderful strength and Rogers wonderful cleverness. Time and again the Turk got his opponent in dangerous positions, out of which Rogers extricated himself to the great delight of the big audience. During the last five minutes of the match the house was in an uproar, as Rogers was working with might and main against the Turk's fierce attacks. Once the Turk lifted Rogers off the floor and swung him around four or five times and letting him drop jumped upon his prostrate body. Rogers however, quickly assumed a defensive position. Then the Turk redoubled his efforts but Rogers worked himself out of two or three dangerous holds. The wrestlers were hard at it when time was called.

There were loud cheers for Rogers when Mr. Curley, the referee, announced that he had won the match.

Announcement was made that Rogers and Hassan Abdallah, the Turk, would meet in a match to a finish at the Star Theatre a week from to-night.

LINDSAY PLAY P.C.I. TO-MORROW

Collegiate Team of Lindsay Will Play the Local Collegiate Team.

One of the best games of the season will be pulled off at Brock street rink to-morrow afternoon between two and three o'clock when the Collegiate team of Lindsay, meet the local Collegiate team in the return game. Lindsay won the game up there last Saturday by 8—4 and it was one of the best games played there this season. The local team put up a good argument and are not the least bit anxious as to the result to-morrow. The ice there is somewhat larger and this will enable the P.C.I. to get their combination going which is worth going a long way to see. The Lindsay team will bring down their strongest line-up and will be accompanied by a large number of rooters. The game will start at two o'clock and there will be skating afterwards. The admission will be ten cents and no doubt a large crowd will be on hand to see the struggle.

The teams will line up in the following order;—

Lindsay.		P.C.I.
Greer	Goal	Meldrum
Wilson	Point	Denison
T. Spence	Cover	Wallace
T. Spratt	Rover	Matthews
Spratt	Centre	Geale
Beecroft	Right Wing	Conroy
D. Spratt	Left Wing	Fortye

RUNNING

"I would like to rid the Toronto sporting public of a popular mistake," said Alfred Shrubb yesterday. "While I am running Fred Simpson at twelve miles and I like that distance, ten miles is my favorite distance and I do not hold the record for twelve miles—my records cease at eleven miles. Deerfoot, the famous Canadian Indian runner, holds the twelve mile record. He made it in 1863. The pro. record is 1.02.02 1-2. The amateur record is Sid Thomas' 1.02.43. True, I did 11 miles 1136 yards in an hour and might have broken Deerfoot's record if I had continued. I had 2.02 1-2 to do the other 624 yards in, but I was a very tired young man and delighted to be able to pull up with the hour's work done."

THE OFFICIALS

The officials for the race will be;

Starter—Gen Cotton.

Referee—Col Sir Henry Pellatt.

Timers—Rev J D Morrow, Louis Scholes, Thomas Flanagan, and Sergt W H Grant.

Judges—Major Currie, MP, and Controller J. J. Ward

Scorers—Capt Mitchell, Capt Darling and Capt Biggs.

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, March 18.—Receipts of live stock at the City Market, as reported by the railways, were 114 carloads for Wednesday and Thursday, consisting of 1582 cattle, 2799 hogs, 621 sheep and lambs, 235 calves and 16 horses.

Exporters.

No straight-loads of exporters were on sale, only a few odd lots, that were picked from amongst the butchers'. These sold at about the same quotations as were paid during the week, ranging from $5.25 to $5.80, and there may have been two or three cattle that brought $6.00; export bulls sold at $4 to $4.60.

Butchers.

Prime picked lots, equal to best exporters in quality, sold at $5.15 to $5.30; loads of good, $4.70 to $5; medium, $4.40 to $4.70; common, $3.85 to $4.30; cows, $3 to $4.30; canners, $1.75 to $2.65; bulls, $3.25 to $4.

Feeders and Stockers.

There was a light trade in stockers and feeders especially in the best quality cattle of good weights, on account of this class being invaded for killing purposes. H. & W. Murby report handling about 75 cattle during the week, as follows: Best steers, 1000 to 1100 lbs., $4.25 to $4.75; steers, 900 to 1000 lbs., $3.85 to $4.40; stockers, $3 to $3.50.

Milkers and Springers.

Trade in milkers and springers ruled about steady, as there was a fairly large delivery for the two days. Prices ranged from $35 to $65.

Veal Calves.

The market for veal calves was not quite as strong on account of a larger number being on sale, but prices ruled about steady. Prices ranged from $3 to $7 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

The market for sheep and lambs remained strong. Export ewes, $4.50 to $5 per cwt.; rams, $4 to $4.50 per cwt.; lambs, grain-fed, $7.25 to $7.75 per cwt.; common lambs, $5.50 to $6.50 per cwt.

End of a Revolutionist.

Havana, March 19.—Former Capt. Havastida of the Rural Guards, the principal instigator of the uprising in the Province of Santa Clara, who was arrested on Tuesday night, was shot and killed while making an alleged effort to escape. Heretofore this has been a common method in Cuba of dealing with inconvenient prisoners.

G.T.R. Man President.

Chicago, March 19.—Wm. McNab, of the Grand Trunk, was yesterday elected president of the American Railway Engineering and Maintenance of Way Association, which has been holding its annual convention in this city.

Sensational Arrests Soon.

Quebec, March 19.—It is rumored that the Government are contemplating sensational arrests to-day or tomorrow in connection with recent bank forgeries at Levis.

Representatives of the mine owners and of the miner's union are in conference in McLeod, Alta.

Obliterate Party Lines.

Washington, March 19.—That party lines will be eliminated during the consideration in the House of the Payne Tariff Bill was indicated by the action of Representative Broussard of Louisiana, in withdrawing yesterday from the meeting of the minority members of the committee because he differed with their views on the tariff.

With few exceptions, each member of the House will fight for the interests of his home district.

Completes Long Trip.

Gimli, Man., March 19.—Sergt.-Inspector Pelletier, R.N.W.M.P., arrived here yesterday morning after the longest and most northerly trip ever made through Northern Canada. He left Edmonton in July, and proceeded to Fort Churchill by way of Cape Fullerton. Thence he came down the great Nelson river to Norway House and across Lake Winnipeg to Gimli, which is at the head of the railway.

Big Explosion Kills Three.

Wallace, Idaho, March 19.—Three men have been killed by an explosion in the plant of the Coeur de Alene powder works.

Friction on a copper screen in the mixing-room during the process of manufacture caused the disaster. In this room was stored more than 2,000 pounds of nitro-glycerine, which exploded, together with five tons of giant powder stored nearby.

James Burney Grand Master.

Napanee, March 19.—The election of officers of the Grand Orange Lodge of Ontario East resulted: Grand master, James Burney; deputy grand master, Lieut.-Col. John Hughes; junior grand master, Fred Forde; grand chaplain, Rev. R. H. Stacey; grand treasurer, Robert Gordon; grand secretary, F. M. Clark; grand lecturer, George Stevens; grand director of ceremonies, Major A. W. Bell; grand auditors, Geo. E. McGorgan and T. M. Thompson; grand deputy chaplains, Revs. R. Fulcher and R. H. Leitch, Geo. McConnell, S. A. Dupreau; deputy grand secretary, T. C. McConnell.

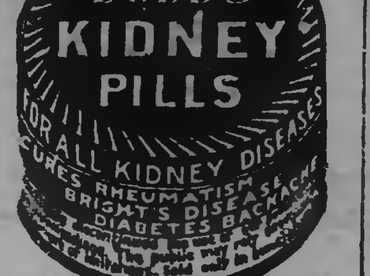
Ottawa was selected as the next place of meeting.

Can Meat Be Condemned?

London, March 19.—The importers of American meats have decided to test the legality of the regulations of the Local Government Board, which gives the local health authorities absolute authority to condemn meat, which in their opinion, is unfit for food, and have taken action against the municipality of Southampton for condemnation of a consignment of meat.

The Origin of "Navvies."

Railways may be said to run in the blood of Lord Brassey. His father, the humble son of a Cheshire yeoman, was among the first and the most successful exploiters of labor by navvies, or "navigators," as they were termed, in the construction of railway tracks. Engineers in England, Europe and America sought his services, and so many were his undertakings that he came to have an army of 75,000 in his employ. Nearly 7,000 miles of railway were laid down under his direction, and the cost ran to close on £80,000,000.



CLEANING IS ECONOMY

Often an article of apparel is much better than it looks, and instead of being discarded its usefulness can be prolonged by a thorough cleaning, pressing and repairing. That's the kind we do. Bring the garments or phone us and see. Goods called for and delivered.

MISS ROSE MOORE FIRST
MISS BIRDIE DAWSON SECOND

Miss Maude Perry and Miss Maude Adams Only 5000 Votes Apart—McMillan Stationary—P. G. Towns Nearing 100,000—Other Candidates Laying Low.

ONLY THREE MORE BUSY DAYS

All Contestants Are Hard at Work Trying to Cinch the Victory, Which is Still in Doubt—The Race is so Close That a Stroke of Good Fortune for Any of the Leaders Would Land Them in First Place.

THREE DAYS MORE. Great ings can be accomplished in that . All the live contestants rea- this, and know that a little real ustling by most any one in the t can make a great difference in r appearance of the score. The po- tions are so easily changed that the ghest man or woman in the race ands just as much fear of his low- t rival as the fellow next to him. e veteran contestants who have n able to stand the terrific pace the past five weeks, are rounded to the last quarter and are squar- g away for a finish that will com- and more attention and create comment and contain more rprises than any six Dominion elec-

Almost a score of candidates have n able to withstand the killing pace, and, win or lose, can al- ays be proud of their achieve- nts in the fight for the Review's and list of prizes.

Many new leaders have forged to e front, some of them from far n the list, who have worked so ietly and voted so consistently, ver being far in the rear and ne- r forging to the front until they ched the conclusion that it was to show their friends that they anything but "dead ones," and fuse a few of the boys and girls who have settled it all with themselves and have it all "doped out" as to whom they must look out for and what particular fellows they have to beat to win.

Time is getting short indeed, and if you would prevail your efforts must increase proportionately. The wise ones are not letting a moment pass without doing some figuring or accomplishing something to better their standing in the race.

Bear in mind that the contest has not closed and will not close until 8 o'clock on the night of March 22nd. The standing shows that a great many changes can be made in that time. There are any number of candidates who are thinking deeply, with the intention of jumping in and winning at least a district prize. The person lowest in any of the lists can easily accomplish enough during the remaining three days to win one of the district prizes. In many cases five or ten yearly subscriptions will send the candidate above the occupants of the winning positions.

Even if your friends have been helping you up to the present time don't depend entirely upon their efforts at this last minute, as it were.

Now is the time of need. A contest is merry war and war is—a tough time and the levy increases the longer the war lasts so it is time for you to go back for the second installment—the second "war tax," as it were.

There's lots to be done yet. Many call backs to make on those fellows who gave you a dollar when they could well afford to let you have five. Don't let any guilty man escape if he calls himself your friend.

THE LAST, "THE MAIN CHANCE" FOR ALL CANDIDATES

EACH CANDIDATE sending or bringing $10 worth of NEW subscriptions to the Review Office before 8 o'clock, on March 22nd, the close of the Contest, will be given a special certificate for 4,000 EXTRA VOTES, in addition to the regular certificates. The amount may be made up in any manner—Daily or Weekly subscription All that is necessary is that the sum amounts to $10, and that it be NEW.

For each $10 worth of OLD subscriptions turned in until the end of the Contest a special certificate for 2,000 EXTRA VOTES will be given. This also in addition to the regular votes.

Every subscription turned in since March 8 will be counted. It is not necessary to hold back the money until you have $10. Turn the subscriptions in as you get them, and when the amount reaches $10, the certificate will be issued—and it may be voted at once or held as desired.

No other offer of any kind will be made during the Contest.

"BELLVIDERE" HAS CHANGED HANDS

Summer Hotel Purchased by Mr. T. Z. Webster of Lakefield

Norwood, March 18. — "Bellvidere" summer resort at Crowe's Landing, Stony Lake, changed hands last week, Mr. T. Z. Webster, of Lakefield, having purchased the property from Mr. J. R. McKelvie, of this village. The deal was closed n Friday. The new proprietor will set to work at an early date to get the place in order for the coming season. Mr. Webster is unable as yet to speak definitely in regard to future plans, but he intends to make a strong bid for a full share of the tourist trade, which will likely mean the enlarging of the premises at no distant date. The cottagers at the upper end of the lake will miss the genial faces of Mr. and Mrs. McKelvie whom they had come to know as a kind and obliging host and hostess. Doubtless however, the new occupants of "Bellvidere" will endeavor not to be outdone in this respect.

GRUESOME SIGHT ON TORONTO ST.

Toronto, March 18.—Pedestrians on Yonge street beheld a gruesome sight near the corner of Agnes street yesterday noon, when a coffin containing a corpse was tumbled out into the roadway from a wagon, in which it was being driven to the Union Station.

Lipi Kroll, Jewish undertaker, 12 Agnes street, was taking the body of a Jew to the station for shipment. His horse, becoming frightened, bolted and threw the occupants off the wagon, living and dead, to the street.

Kroll's nose was broken and his face cut and he was taken to St. Michael's Hospital, while a friend, replacing the ghastly burden in the wagon, drove it to the station.

"Ah, you are lucky, senorita! I love you, and I could hate you so easily! Go! Go! Take him with you and give him life! Forget me as I shall forget you both!" And, impulsively taking from round her neck an Agnus Dei which she was wearing, she placed it in Jane's hands and added, "Give this to him, please, and do not forget to tell him that I sent goodby and good luck."

Jane would have kissed her had not the blazing eyes of the other forbade. They merely clasped hands, and Teresa turned away.

"My uncle lives in Manila. He will take me to Madrid. We cannot live here with these pigs of Americans about us," she said shortly. A moment later she was lost in the crowd.

Jane's heart was heavy when the ship moved away. Her eyes searched through the throng for the slight figure of the girl who had abandoned a lost cause.

CHAPTER XXVI.

WHEN Jane brought Bansemer back to Manila, wounded almost to death, Colonel Harbin had her installed regularly as a nurse for Bansemer, a concession not willingly granted. Those days were like years to her. She was thin and worn when she came down from the north, but she was haggard with anxiety and despair when the two days of suspense were ended.

Ethel Harbin was her ablest ally. This rather lawless young person laid aside the hearts with which she was toying and bent her every endeavor to the cause of romance. It was not long before every young officer in the city was more or less interested in the welfare of Graydon Bansemer. She threw a fine cloak of mystery about the "millionaire's son" and the great devotion of her cousin. The youth of the army followed Ethel to and from the hospital for days and days. Without Ethel it is quite doubtful if anybody could have known what a monstrous important personage Private Bansemer really was.

At the end of a fortnight he was able to sit up and converse with his nurse and the occasional Ethel. Dr. G., chief of the ward, remarked to Colonel Harbin:

"He'll get well, of course. He can't help it. I never knew before what society could do for a fellow. He's got a society nurse, and he is visited by a society despot."

"Do you think he will be able to do any more fighting? Will he be strong enough?"

"I don't see why. The government won't let him do it, that's all. He can claim a pension and get out of service with an honorable discharge—and maybe a medal. He'll be strong enough, however. That fellow could go on a hike inside of a month."

"I suppose we'll all be going home before long. This war is about over," growled Harbin.

"No sirree! We'll be fighting these fellows for ten years. Ah, there's your daughter, colonel. Good day."

With the first returning strength, freed from lassitude and stupor, Graydon began whispering joyous words of love to Jane. His eyes were bright with the gladness that his pain had brought. She checked his weak outbursts at first, but before many days had passed she was obliged to resort to a firmness that shocked him into a resentful silence. She was even harsh in her command. It cut her to the quick to hurt him, but she was steeling herself against the future.

When he was able to walk out in the grounds she withdrew farther into the background of their daily life. He hungered for her, but she began to avoid him with a strange aloofness that brought starvation to his heart. While she was ever attentive to his wants, her smile lacked the tenderness he had known in the days of danger, and her face was strangely somber and white.

"Jane," he said to her one day as he came in from his walk and laid down his crutches, "this can't go on any longer. What is the matter? Don't you love me—not at all?"

She stood straight and serious before him, white to the lips, her heart as cold as ice.

"I love you, Graydon, with all my soul. I shall always love you. Please, please, don't ask any more of me. You understand, don't you? We cannot be as we once were—never. That is ended. But you—you must know that I love you."

"It is sheer madness, dearest, to take that attitude. What else in the world matters so long as we love one another? I felt at first that I could not ask you to be my wife after what my father did that night. That was as silly of me as this is of you. I did not contend long against my love. You have never been out of my mind night or day. I was tempted more than once to desert, but that was impossible, you know. It was the terrible eagerness to go back to you and compel you to be mine. My father did you a grave wrong. He"—

"But my father did me a graver wrong, Graydon. I have thought it all out."

"Nonsense, dearest. You have saved my life. You must save my love. These last few weeks have knit our lives together so completely that neither of us has the right to change God's evident purpose. I love you for yourself, Jane. That is enough. There has not been an instant in which I have felt that any circumstance could alter my hope to marry you. You say you have no name. You forget that you may have mine, dearest, and it is not much to be proud of, I fear, in the light of certain things. You must be my wife, Jane."

"I cannot, Graydon. That is final. Don't—don't plead, dear. It will not avail. Look into my eyes. Don't you see that I mean it, Graydon?"

"By heaven, Jane, your eyes are lying to me! You can't mean what is back of them. It's cruel; it's wrong."

"Hush! You must not become excited. You are far from strong, and I am still your nurse. Be"—

"You are my life; you are everything. I can't give you up. It's ridiculous to take this stand. Be sensible. Look at it from my point of view."

"There is only one point of view, and love has nothing to do with it. Come, let us talk of something else. Have you heard from your—your father? Does he know you've been injured?"

He looked long into her tense face and then muttered, with the sullen despair of the sick: "I don't know. I've had no word from any one."

"The dispatches have doubtless given your name. One of the Chicago correspondents was talking about you recently. Your father will surely write to you now."

"Are you eager to have him do so? I should think you'd hate his name. I can't help caring for dad, Jane. I tried to curse him, but he really has been good to me. I don't see how he can have done the things they say he's done."

"There may be a mistake."

"That's good of you, dear, but you forget your mother's statements and all that Rigby says—all that. Oh, I've gone over all of it, and I am convinced. I wonder what has become of him. He was afraid of—of—well, there was talk of an arrest before I left. I have not looked at a newspaper since I saw the headlines that awful morning. God, how they must have hurt you!"

"I, too, have not looked at a newspaper since then, Graydon," she said simply. He smiled wearily, and there was response in her eyes.

He took her hand in his, and they sat silently side by side on the bench for half an hour, their thoughts far away, but of one another.

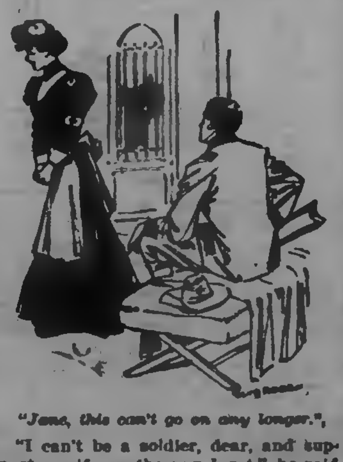
"Graydon," she said at last, "are you going to remain in the army?"

"No; I am through with it. My discharge is to be recommended. I'm disabled."

"You will be as strong as ever, dear."

"Do you want me to stick to the army? I am only a private."

"You can do greater things out in the world, I know. You will be a great man if you don't lose heart, Graydon."



"Jane, this can't go on any longer."

"I can't be a soldier, dear, and support a wife on the pay I get," he said with a smile.

"You shouldn't marry."

"But I am going to marry," he said.

"I have decided to become a nurse. It is my intention to give my whole life to"—

"The Red Cross?"

"No. The hospitals at home—the hospitals for the poor and homeless."

Ethel Harbin was coming through the grounds toward them. Her face was clouded by a dark frown, and she was visibly excited.

"It's all off," she announced as she came up.

"Where is the usual hero?" asked Graydon.

"I'm through with the real army. They've dismissed me. That is, father and mother have. They are driving me to the Salvation Army," she exclaimed, seating herself beside Graydon. "I wish I were Jane and my own mistress."

"Dear me, Ethel, what an ambition!" said Jane. "What has happened to upset you so?"

"Father has."

"I should have asked who, not what."

"I suppose they expect me to marry a Salvation Army man. They say Harry isn't good enough. I think he is a very moral young man."

To be continued.

DIRECTORS REVISED PRIZE LIST OF THE EXHIBITION

Met in Council Chamber Yesterday Afternoon—Races Will be a Feature Next Year—The Business of the Meeting.

The directors of the West Peterborough Agricultural Society met increased. Some additional classes yesterday afternoon in the council chamber. The chief object of the meeting was for the revision of the prize list although other matters of importance were dealt with.

The prize list was gone over and several revisions made in it. The entry fees for cattle were reduced somewhat and the prizes for hogs were made for poultry, fine arts and ladies work. An important addition was made to the classes in horses when it was decided upon to have a class for perchons.

A special feature of next exhibition will be the races. The directors were unanimously of the opinion that the horse racing events appeal strongly to the public and decided to offer good purses and get the attention of prominent turfmen.

A committee was appointed to sell subscriptions and arrange for advertising matter.

BREAK IN WATER TANKS CAUSES GREAT DAMAGE

Special to the Review

Parkersburg, W. Va., March 19—Three hundred thousand dollars damage, one man missing, four persons fatally injured and forty houses wrecked as the result of a break in two water tanks on Prospect Hill about 5.30 a.m. The break was due it is believed, to dynamite. The contents of both tanks swept down a high hill, carrying all before it.

STALLION SHOW HERE ON SATURDAY APRIL 17TH

An announcement of much interest to stallion owners and breeders, and to all lovers of fine horse flesh, is the news that a stallion show will be held on the Peterborough market Square on Saturday, April 17th, at two o'clock in the afternoon.

The classes will be for Clydesdales, imported and Canadian bred, Shires, Percherons, Standard-bred and Hackneys [illegible]

There will be no entry fee charged, and the only condition of entry is that those entering be members of the West Peterborough Agricultural Society. There are over twenty-five stallion owners in this district, and all of them are expected to exhibit them at the show.

An expert judge will be brought to the city to judge the entries, and any interested in fine horses should not fail to see the show.

ALMOST LIKE VALENTINE DAY

St. Patrick's Day Postcards Were in Big Demand in Peterboro'—Mails Were Heavy

The St. Patrick's day mails, both going out of Peterborough and coming in, were the largest of the kind ever handled by the local Postoffice staff.

So great was the demand for Irish postcards in Peterborough that some of the local dealers were almost sold out completely before the 17th had arrived. If there had been more postcards in the city it is thought that the mails would have been even heavier than they were.

One feature emphasized by a local Postoffice official is largely responsible for the great sale of postcards this year was that no objectionable ones, like some of last year's, were handled by local dealers.

The next big Postoffice rush will come at Easter, when the mails will again be swelled with extra matter.

DECORATES CAKE WITH TRADE MARK

Chinese Cook Makes Novel Pastry for London Missionaries in China

(Taken from the London Advertiser, March 13)

Mrs. S. Percy Westaway, (daughter of Mr. Wm. Moore of West London), who, with her husband, are now located at Chentu Sz Chuan, West China, supported by the Dundas Centre West Methodist Church, writes a descriptive letter of the events transpiring in her present home and among the incidents related in her most interesting letter received this week is one that brings out the Chinaman as an imitator, and shows his ideas of advertising matter in certain Canadian newspapers. This Chinaman evidently knew that the advertisement was a most characteristic and attractive one, and from the manner in which it is displayed thought it was an advertisement of some confectioner in this country. The advertisement of Dodd's Kidney Pills has been printed for years as a trade mark in almost every paper published and has become well known. The following is taken from the letter and fully explains the circumstances:

A GOOD LAUGH.

"Once in a while we find something to have a good laugh at. Let us tell you this incident. The West China Educational Union was holding meetings in the city; one session met in this house. We in Chentu follow the English custom and serve tea and cake at 4 o'clock. Mrs. Carson was going to serve tea to the members and we wished to help. I was still in bed, so told the cook, to make a cake. Our cook is a pretty old fellow, about 30 or 35 years of age, and has worked 'for the foreigner' for a long time. He can make a good cake when he so desires and this day he made a layer cake, icing it with white with red trimmings. He delights to get a new recipe or find some new way of decoration. The London Advertiser, after we have finished with it frequently finds its way to the kitchen and as a proof that the cook 'reads it' we give this: About three o'clock Percy went into the kitchen to see how things were getting along. The cake was there, iced with white and decorated with red, forming three rows across the cake, and this is what Percy saw and read:

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

"On the table beside the cake was that well-known advertisement—the circular box with this inscription. He, poor fellow, had taken it for a well-made cake and decorated his like it. They are splendid imitators, and clever in their way, every one of them. The cook knows considerable English, but when he tries it on us we pretend not to understand him."

W. F. MACLEAN TELLS OF DISHONORED TWO-CENT TICKET

Deals With Two Favorite Topics.

Consideration of the Estimates at Ottawa---Railway Debate Postponed.

Ottawa, March 20.—The House of Commons spent practically the whole of yesterday's session in committee of Supply, steady progress being made with the estimates for the Intercolonial Railway and other works. It had been expected that opportunity would be taken to renew the discussion of the proposals submitted by Hon. G. P. Graham in his "budget" speech, and Mr. Turriff was ready with a speech on the acquisition of the branch lines. the chairman, however, pointed out that a debate on the general policy of the Department would scarcely be relevant to any of the particular items under discussion, and accordingly it was decided to postpone the consideration of the Minister's proposals until a later date.

On motion to go into supply, Mr. W. F. Maclean took occasion to get in another word on his favorite topics—the two-cent rate and the C.P.R stock issue. He read a letter from a correspondent, who complained that while traveling from Toronto to Montreal on the Grand Trunk 10.15 p.m. train with a second-class ticket he had been held up by the conductor and compelled to pay an extra $3.85. Mr. Maclean contended that passengers on the Grand Trunk had a right to travel at the rate of two cents a mile, and that the Minister of Railways or some other member of the Government should look after the public interest in that matter, particularly in view of the decision of the highest court of the Empire. Reverting to the C.P.R. stock issue, he declared that the process of "melon-cutting" was having a prejudicial effect upon the securities.

Hon. Mr. Graham doubted whether the writer of the letter had any grievance. Under their contract, as held by the Privy Council, the Grand Trunk had to run one train every day from Toronto to Montreal for second-class passengers, but it did not follow that a second-class passenger had a right to choose the fastest and best train on the route, as the night express undoubtedly was. He did not believe that at the present time the railways ran through a population dense enough or had traffic enough to give a general two-cents-a-mile rate and enjoy a reasonable profit. With regard to the C.P.R. stock issue, Mr. Graham had nothing to add to what he had already said.

On the item of $95,000 for the Hudson Bay Railway, Hon. Mr. Graham explained that the vote was for survey work. A question had been raised as to whether Port Nelson had not a better harbor than Fort Churchill, and it had been stated that the route to Port Nelson was 60 miles shorter than to Fort Churchill. The Government desired to have the fullest information as to the respective merits of Port Nelson and Fort Churchill. Construction of the road would not be started this year, for the same reasons that had weighed in respect to other undertakings, but there was no idea of abandoning the project.

When the appropriation of $375,000 for Toronto harbor improvements were reached none of the members for Toronto were present and the item passed without discussion.

ATTEMPTED TO TAKE HIS LIFE

Milk Dealer at Toronto Feared Arrest and Tried Suicide.

Toronto, March 20.—Being dunned for money all the time drove Herbert Gordon Jones, aged 19, of 28 Oxford street, to attempt suicide yesterday afternoon.

He is the driver of a wholesale city dairy milk wagon and he stopped his horse on West Richmond street, in front of a lane running south from Richmond, dropped the weight, walked down the lane for about 20 yards, produced a 32-calibre bulldog revolver, sat down in the mud, placed the gun against his breast and pulled the trigger several times. It did not go off, and then he pointed it at his forehead and kept on pulling the trigger until the weapon exploded. Jones was found and taken to St. Michael's Hospital.

The bullet was found flattened against the skull exactly where it had entered.

In his pouch was found a note to his wife, saying: "My darling wife, Good-bye! God bless you. It's Geo. Weston that has drove me to this. He was going to have me arrested, and I could not stand it. So God bless you and good-bye. Bert."

The money troubles amounted to about $35. He owed Geo. Weston, proprietor of the Model Bakery on Soho street, $10.

FREE COURSE FOR TEACHERS AT AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE

Important Move of Prov. Department of Education---Normal School Students to be Given Free Training in Elementary Agriculture, Horticulture and Industrial Arts--Of Much Local Interest.

Teachers in training at the Normal school here are deeply interested in the announcement of the Ontario Department of Education that it has decided to give free teachers training courses in elementary agriculture and horticulture and industrial arts at the Ontario Agricultural College, at Guelph.

This departure on the part of the Provincial Education Department is of the greatest importance and will prove a history making event in Canadian educational affairs.

Full particulars of the proposed courses only reached the city today, and has aroused the greatest interest amongst local educators at the Normal school and the teachers in training there.

During recent years a great impetus has been given to the teaching of elementary agriculture, horticulture and allied subjects, and the recognizing the importance of this phase of education the provincial department conceived the idea of giving free courses in these subjects to teachers who prove themselves worthy of such recognition. The session will open at Guelph Agricultural College on April 19th, and will extend to June 29th. While attending the teachers expenses such as board and lodging and travelling expenses will be paid by the department.

In calling attention to this important course the department says;

"The object of this course is to train teachers in the scientific principles and practices of modern farming so that the country or village school may adequately sympathize with and direct the life interests of country boys and girls."

"The instruction will be given in lecture room, laboratory, workshop, garden and field. The theory and demonstration of the lecture and laboratory will illustrate the out of door practice; it will be elementary in character, the needs of pupils in the rural school being kept always in view. Most of the instruction will be of a practical nature and much of it will be given out of doors. There will be a relatively small amount of time given to book work.

"The whole college equipment of garden and orchard, farm and experimental plots, stables, workshops, museums, campus, greenhouses, laboratories, forest nurseries, experimental wood lot, and dairy and poultry farms will be at the service of students for observation.

"The course is for teachers who have to deal with public school pupils, and not for students preparing to become experts in the science of agriculture.

"Special attention will be given to the subjects of school gardening, botany, horticulture, field husbandry, physics and entomology."

The one important condition attached to this course is that the applicants are required to pledge themselves to three years' service in teaching in Ontario schools.

A certificate in elementary agriculture and horticulture will be granted to those students whose work, as represented by regular attendance, garden, practice, individual experiments, laboratory work, collections, written records and final tests shows satisfactory progress and ability to carry out this work in the schools.

The courses are open only to teachers-in-training at the Normal schools who pass the April examinations for second-class certificates and fulfil the other conditions prescribed by the department.

The course in elementary agriculture and horticulture is intended primarily for rural school teachers; that in elementary industrial arts for teachers of graded urban schools. Students are not permitted to take both courses or parts of each course.

TEN WEEKS' TERM.

The term will be for ten weeks, commencing Tuesday, April 20th, and closing Tuesday, June 29th.

Another attraction to teachers taking this course is the fact that those who will obtain diplomas or certificates while at Guelph become entitled to a yearly bonus of $30 from the Provincial Government.

The examinations to qualify for the free course at Guelph will commence at the Peterborough Normal school next Wednesday, and will continue for about two weeks. About thirty students will write on them, but all of these will not go to Guelph.

HON. FRANK COCHRANE WINS IN HOT DEBATE AT TORONTO

LOOKING UP STOLEN BRASS

American Detectives Promise Many Arrests Throughout Ontario.

London, Ont., March 20.—Eight detectives from large railroads in the United States are in this city to-day looking up stolen brass. Local officers stated yesterday morning that about two tons of it had already been located here, and that arrests will speedily follow.

It seems that during the last few months railroad shops close to the border have been rifled by a gang of junk thieves. The stolen property has been sent to collecting points, from whence it has been shipped across the line, chiefly into inland cities, as bona fide shipments from one legitimate dealer to another.

It is expected that arrests here will be followed by a succession of arrests in several points throughout the province, whereby it is thought information will be elicited which will lead to the apprehension of the guilty parties who have been doing the actual stealing on the other side.

Two weeks ago 200 pounds of brass stolen from the Grand Trunk car shops at Stratford were recovered in a local junk shop.

Ottawa Member Rebuked by Premier.

For Insinuations Against Minister of Mines---Gillies Limit Has Good Prospect.

Toronto, March 20.—A heated discussion arose in the Legislature yesterday when D. J. McDougal, member for Ottawa, asked for particulars concerning the agreement and settlement in connection with the O'Brien and Alpha Mine case.

The Minister of Lands and Mines, Hon. Frank Cochrane, replied that no agreement of any kind was in existence, and the main issue had been fought out in the last election.

The member for Ottawa came back with the statement that as the money had been paid to a near relation of the Minister, he should prefer to have the matter made clear.

Hon. Mr. Cochrane retorted: "I am not accustomed to insinuations. State plainly what you mean."

"It is said that the Minister of Mines paid out this settlement money to a near relation," was Mr. McDougal's reply.

This brought Sir James Whitney to his feet, and he characterized the remarks by Mr. McDougal as a puerile attempt to corner the Minister of Lands and Mines.

"I do not believe," he said, "that there is a man in the province who knows more about the subject than the hon. member from Ottawa.

"And," continued the Premier, amid applause, "the fact that the Minister of Lands and Mines turned down, and was not influenced by, the interests of a near relative, shows that he was made of material far above the ordinary clay.

"I am astonished that the hon. member for Ottawa should put himself in the position of wilfully misunderstanding what was said three or four times."

W. Reed asked the Minister regarding the Gillies limit.

Hon. Mr. Cochrane stated that the last shaft sank had not turned out as well as had been expected, but he had hopes that the operation would eventually show a profit of $100,000. So far only preliminary work had been undertaken.

Beyond this discussion the estimates were passed without controversy.

In response to a query, Hon. Dr. Reaume said the Government were giving attention to the drainage problem throughout the province, and drainage works were being established in connection with colonization roads.

Hon. Dr. Reaume also stated that the plans of the new wing for the Parliament buildings will be on exhibition in the legislative library on Monday.

Mr. McGarry's bill to incorporate the Ontario Veterinary Association was sent to the agricultural committee.

The Premier took a firm stand against the bill prohibiting any but certified embalmers to practice in the province. He did not approve of the principle of requiring a man to have a certificate with a seal "as big as your head" on it before he could do business. The bill was withdrawn.

Several new bills were introduced.

THE INQUEST AT HAMILTON IS POSTPONED ONE MONTH

Authorities Need More Time in Solving Kinrade Mystery Medical Testimony is to Effect That Girl Lived Perhaps 15 Minutes After Shot in the Head.

Hamilton, March 20.—An adjournment of the Kinrade inquest to Thursday, April 22, was the real surprise of the enquiry last evening.

The hearing of evidence concluded at 10 o'clock, and shortly afterwards the crown examiner announced that evidence to be brought forward would necessitate a considerable delay. It is understood that the crown has very important evidence under investigation. Should it be found competent to complete the enquiries in hand, the inquest may be resumed at an earlier date.

The medical evidence was the important feature of the proceedings last night. Dr. Edgar submitted this in a very clear and direct way, and Dr. Balfe, who was present at the autopsy, swore in a sentence to his colleague's accuracy.

This evidence went to show that the murdered girl lived for at least ten minutes, probably fifteen minutes, and perhaps more, from the time she was first shot in the head. It would take fifteen minutes for the minimum quantity of blood estimated to have flowed on the carpet and soaked in the hair from the scalp wound. This was carefully estimated by medical men on the results of standard experiments by physiologists.

Had the victim been dead, there would have been no bleeding afterwards, said Dr. Edgar. The wounds in the breast were made at least 15 minutes after the wounds in the head. One of these entered the heart, and this bullet was not found, being carried probably into one of the large arteries. Death must have occurred in a minute afterwards. The heart was found contracted and hard as a stone, as the doctor testified.

The burning of the clothing indicated the approach of the revolver within a foot of the victim. The bullets were exhibited to the jury and others, and were of 32 calibre, about half an inch long.

Eight wounds, the result of seven different shots, were found in the body, and five bullets were found in it.

The other witnesses of the evening appeared to have been called in connection with the family story though they were contradictory in detail of nearly all the previous testimony given.—Mrs. Clara Rudd and Charles Hossack fairly contradicted each other on the color of the costume they believed to have been worn by the person they saw during the afternoon of the murder, and swore to be Ethel Kinrade. Mr. Hossack was certain it was brown, and Mrs. Rudd that it was blue. As a matter of fact, it was a blue dress that Ethel Kinrade wore the day she was murdered.

Other evidence was in regard to the seeing of a strange man—in support of the tramp theory — and of street railwaymen in regard to seeing Florence Kinrade running across the street. One conductor also stated that Mrs. Kinrade had been a passenger on his car, and he had said there had been a shooting, on which information she had alighted and run to the house.

Mrs. King repeated her story, published yesterday, of seeing a frightened stranger in the alley next her home about the time the shooting seems to have occurred.

The court-room was more crowded than ever last night, but the disturbance was less, and a noticeable improvement was effected by using gas mantles for illumination. Standing prominently in the front rank of the crowd was Earl Kinrade, the younger brother of the family. His bright red hair and pallid face were strikingly conspicuous, and he chewed away unceasingly all through the proceedings.

Mr. Lynch-Staunton was present for the family and freely explained to the reporters how the evidence tallied with the family evidence.

A new line of enquiry was instituted by the crown last night which will have the most important bearing on the evidence already given.

The crown is in possession of information that renders it practically certain that the investigation will be successful.

It is of an unexpected nature, and will give an entirely new turn to certain phases of the story before the public.

It would be unjust to the crown to embarrass the efforts of detectives by any premature disclosures, but the activity of crown officers may be relied upon by the public.

Every long lane if open to travel will show a turning, and it will not take a month to secure the important link now being sought.

FINE NEW BUILDING

To be Erected on George St. Between Grand Hotel and Fanning's Laundry

Mr. J. J. Lundy, owner of the vacant property on George street, between the Grand Hotel and Fanning's laundry will construct four stores, three stories high on the lot, the work to be commenced at a very early date. Mr J. E. Belcher, CE, is the architect in charge.

A Review representative was shown the plans by Mr. Lundy today and they call for a substantial and modern building.

The first floor will be used for the stores, the second for steam heated "flats" or dwelling apartments and the third floor will be used as a hall for concerts, dancing, etc. On this floor, of course, there will be no division into compartments but only the one large hall.

The building will have a frontage of 90 feet and will be sixty feet deep. It will be constructed of red brick.
